MANCHESTER

The company of home talent of ladies and gentlemen, who were in rehearsal for several weeks, gave the drama "Old Cabin Home" on Friday evening 27th and were greeted by a sixty dollar house that, from indications, enjoyed the fun that had a place from beginning to finish. On the rise of the curtain the whole company, in dress and color, made quite a hit followed by Aunt Dilley's Home, with the boys and girls in their antics, was characteristic of old plantation times where she was seated in her rocker enjoying the fun. But from the size of her horse whip her kind admonitions were backed by compulsory rules all had to obey. The camp meeting scene was fine and introduced uncle Toby, who came forth ministerial looking in manner and sayings, for he was part ministerial in dress, and soon had the congregation excited to a shouting time with well given songs which he much enjoyed. But before the collection period arrived all had gone to sleep and the collection hat was empty, much to his disappointment. In act 3 all were back to Aunt Dilly's home in song and glee. Simbo as Old Black Joe was fine. Massa in de cold, cola ground, and them Golden Slippers in full chorus was worthy of special notice. A company of ladies and gentlemen, chaperoned by Mrs. A. C. Coss, motored here from Baltimore and enjoyed the fun of the play. Music was furnished by the home orchestra with Mrs. W. W. Wentz at the piano.

Dr. W. W. Davis, of Towson, Md., was here on Sunday morning at the service in Trinity Reformed Church and held the congregation to the closest attention in his appeal for the cause he represents. The Lord's Day Alliance which is being misrepresented by those who are ready to throw away law and order and have amusements and their like wide open. The base ball scheme is but an opening wedge to have the others in full sway in the face of the fourth commandment.
