Lightnin' Bill Jones' Clothes For Near East, Jackie Coogan Helping

Stage stars are "bundling up their bundles." When Near East Relief issued its appeal for discarded clothing to distribute among the destitute in Western Asia John Drew, chairman of the Near East Relief National Theatrical Committee, at once got busy, and as a result it is expected that at least 1,000,000 pounds of clothing will be given by the people of the stage and screen world alone.

"Certainly," said Bill Jones, whose name off the stage is Frank Bacon, "certainly I want to do something for those poor folk out in the Near East. I've got a lot of extra clothes at the house, and you can bet I'll 'bundle up a bundle' of old clothes—and some new ones, too—and send them parcel post to Near East Relief."

Then Mr. Bacon, whose play, "Lightnin'," has run over 2,000 times in a single theater in New York city, took down from the hook in his dressing room the old familiar suit he wears in the character of Bill Jones. "I might even send them this," said the star. As a result of this suggestion the "Bill Jones" suit will be auctioned off at a big affair in New York and the proceeds used to purchase clothing for the sufferers in Western Asia.

Little Jackie Coogan, who burst into fame as "The Kid" in the latest Charlie Chaplin film, saw a photograph of a little Armenian orphan boy and very promptly said that he'd like to send some clothes over there to those "poor kiddies."

"I've got a lot of clothes, and I can only wear one suit at a time," said Jackie. Jackie's bundle, which has already been received by Near East Relief, at 1 Madison avenue, New York city, was bigger than Jackie himself.

Brigadier General J. Leslie Kincaid, state chairman of Near East Relief, is hoping that the people generally all around the state will follow the example of these stars of screen and stage and at once make up a bundle of their spare clothes to send to the Near East.

CHILDREN'S HOMES.

Among the activities of the Salvation Army not generally known, though of vital importance, are the Children's Homes.

Throughout the world, there are 87 of these accommodating about 4,000 children orphaned or dependent.

In the United States, there are five, and in Maryland one.

Poverty, desertion, sickness and death of parents all contribute to make this work for children necessary. Frequently it is found best to remove a child from its parents—then it is at once obligatory to provide a home.

Skilled dieticians plan and prepare the food for the little bodies, often wasted by inherited diseases or from long neglect and lack of nutritious food and sanitary care.

In these homes no baby is too small, too ill or too obscure of origin to be admitted, and no effort too great to bring back a child to normal condition. There are no barriers to any child who needs its care—neither race, color, creed nor condition is considered.

In New York City in one of these homes out of 120 babies under a year old, 5 were foundlings picked up on doorsteps, from the subway and from ash cans, wrapped in newspaper and entirely devoid of any mark of identification. They had been thrown out by heartless parents as refuse to die.

One of these, named by the city, John McDonald, now about three months old is a sturdy beautiful boy.

The non-institution idea prevails—and no two dresses or rompers are alike, and these homes furnish splendid examples of the Salvation Army's investment in citizenship—for it believes every baby worth its weight in gold, and by this means provides those thrown upon its bounty with a carefree love sheltered babyhood, and a good education which embraces vocational and spiritual training, as well as the regular public school education.

A model Home is at Lytton Springs, Sonoma county, California, to which place the courts of the State commit a great number of boys and girls, all of whom are cared for in the best way possible. The instruction and training comprehends all that is included in a public school education and added thereto are the most practical lessons in farming, dairying, fruit-raising, with courses in domestic science specially for the girls. Music, both vocal and instrumental, has a place in the curriculum, but the thing regarded as of supreme importance is the moral training of the young.

A good many people try to win friends for their cause by doing their best to ruin the country.

PLEASANT GROVE & REESE

The Children's Day Committee request the children to meet on this Saturday afternoon at 1 P. M. at home of Miss Jessie Matthews and at 2 P. M. at Miss Mollie Read's and all to meet at S. S. at 9.30 on Sunday for general rehearsal. Children's Day on 2nd Sunday in June at 10.30 A. M.

The receipts from the playlet given at school house cleared in all something over $40. The play may be repeated at Thomas Chapel in near future.

Glad to have had Dr. Shroyer from Seminary with us last Sunday to preach at morning service.

Rev. C. E. Dudrear, a former pastor, was with us also and visited several days among his old friends. He is well and has his home in Walkersville Fred. Co.

The Ladies' Aid will meet on Friday afternoon with 11th. instead of Saturday so as to give ladies a chance to prepare church for Children's Service.

Miss Jessie Matthews spent Saturday in Baltimore with her cousin, Miss Rhodes who is ill.

For Clerk Of The Circuit Court

To The Republican Voters Of Carroll County

Having given announcement of my candidacy for Clerk of the Circuit Court, I respectfully submit the following statement:.

The work of the office must be done by some one familiar with same and capable to do it.

It is the most important office to be filled this fall in the County. Being next to that of Judge of the Circuit Court, you can see the importance of selecting a person competent to discharge the duties of the office.

If this office were filled by appointment by the Governor, or by the Judges of the Circuit Court for Carroll county, would any one other than a person familiar with the office, and competent to perform the duties be selected?

Read and carefully consider who you shall choose and support.

Sincerely your's for service,

George L. Stocksdale,

Mortgage Sale

Of A Valuable and Attractive

Fee Simple Property

At Westminster, Carroll County, Maryland.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in the mortgage deed of Edward A. Campbell and wife to May C. Gardner, dated May 17, 1919, and duly recorded among the Real Estate Mortgage Records of Carroll County in Liber E. O. C., No. 71, folio 291 etc., and duly assigned of record, the undersigned assignee of said mortgage will sell at public auction on the premises immediately outside the corporate limits of Westminster, Carroll County, Maryland, on at two o'clock, P. M., all valuable parcel of land embracing several contiguous tracts and containing in the aggregate of land, more or less, situated just outside of the corporate limits of the City of Westminster, in Carroll Co., Maryland, on the public road leading from the Baltimore and Reisterstown Turnpike Road (now a State Road) to Corbin's Mill, a few hundred feet from said Turnpike or State Road, and with a right of way in the rear of said property through Schaeffer's or Friendship Heights Addition to Westminster to said Turnpike or State Road. The land adjoins the reservoir site of the Westminster Water Company and in addition to the frontage on the said Public Road has a frontage on the back on Colonial Avenue of said Friendship Heights Addition to Westminster.

EIGHT ACRES AND TWENTY-THREE SQUARE PERCHES

The property is improved by a modern, recently built two and one-half stories weatherboarded dwelling, with a good cellar under the entire building; a Colonial two-story porch on the front; three rooms and an enclosed porch on the first floor, and three bed-rooms on the second floor, with a bathroom equipped with every convenience and a shower-bath; and with a porcelain stationary wash-basin in one of the bed-rooms and convenient closets throughout the house. There are water and electricity throughout the house with switches upstairs and down. The house has been lately papered and painted and there are open fire-places on both floors, and the house is heated by a furnace. There is a hardwood floor on the first floor laid over the original flooring. The property is further improved by a garage and one detached chicken breeding house and a large chicken house for raising chickens which is divided into five sections and a large feeding room. There is connected to this building a large poultry house for general purposes. These buildings are arranged and equipped for the breeding and raising of chickens on a large scale and with all the necessary and convenient appliances for the same.

There is an abundance of young shade trees upon the premises and newly planted and growing shrubbery, with young peach, pear and cherry trees and grapes and other small fruit.

This property formerly belonged to Miss May C. Gardner and was purchased and lately occupied by Edward A. Campbell and wife. It is beautifully and healthfully situated and is an ideal location for a comfortable home. For further particulars apply to the undersigned or to his Solicitors.

Possession of the property can be given on the ratification of the sale.

TERMS OF SALE:—One-third cash on the day or on the ratification thereof by the Court, and the residue in two equal payments in six and twelve months from the day of sale, or all cash at the option of the purchaser, the credit payments to be secured by the notes of the purchaser with approved security, bearing interest from the day of sale.

BRISTOL PRAISES NEAR EAST RELIEF

Admiral's Commendation a Feature of Organization's Annual Report to Congress.

Washington. — Accounting for the disbursement of $13,129,117 in 1920 and a total of $60,000,000 to date, including flour, clothing and medical supplies, the annual report of the Near East Relief, incorporated by Congress August 6, 1919, has been filed with Congress by Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the relief organization. The report includes an auditor's statement by a firm of chartered accountants, whose traveling auditors in the field check all expenditures by the Near East Relief.

In regard to the business methods and efficiency of the organization Admiral Mark L. Bristol, United States high commissioner to Turkey, is quoted:

"I have been very closely associated with the work of the Near East Relief Committee for about 22 months," Admiral Bristol reports. "On the whole, the work of this relief committee has been such that Americans should be proud of this great humane effort. The Near East Relief here in Constantinople is run more like a business organization than any relief organization with which I have ever come into contact."

Over a Million Saved

According to the report, 63 hospitals with 6,522 beds, 128 clinics, 11 rescue homes, 209 orphanages, accommodating 54,600 children, and outside orphanages, caring for 56,000 children, have been maintained by the Near East Relief.

It is reported that approximately 2,790,490 Armenians are still living out of a pre-war population of about 4,000,000. In parts of Cilicia alone it is stated that 65 per cent of the Armenian Christian population perished from starvation during the war, while in the whole of Syria not less than 25 per cent perished from the same cause. It is estimated that had it not been for the Near East Relief fully half of the present Armenian population of the Near East would have succumbed.

Educating the Young

In regard to the work among the children, Mr. Vickrey says:

"A few millions of dollars wisely expended at this time in the support, education and molding of these young lives will be worth vastly more to the world than billions of dollars that otherwise may later be required in suppressing warfare and strife. This work as an expression of brotherhood should help to mark the beginning of a new era of peace and interracial good will."

The festival and handkerchief bazar held at the Warfieldsburg school on Tuesday evening was a perfect success financially and socially. The largest crowd they have ever had. The number of handkerchiefs received was beyond expectation. A few did not respond. Perhaps they have forgotten there happy school days in the old log and birch school houses. One handkerchief received from a female student of 1851, others up to 1920, over one hundred handkerchiefs in all. They came from Rocky Ford, Colorado; Chicago, Illinois; Desota, Missouri; Washington, D. C.; Hagerstown, Baltimore, Westminster, Md., and Urbana, Illinois. The teacher and pupils of Warfieldsburg school 1921, extend their thanks to all who responded.

Claimed the French are going to permanently annex the Ruhr, but this is probably only a German roorback.

There is a general agreement that everyone should have the war time pay for the goods and services that he sells, and peace time prices on what he buys.
