THE RUSSO TURKISH WAR.

THE FALL OF PLEVNA.

A Severe Engagement—Osman Pasha Wounded—Plevna Unconditionally Surrendered—Russians and Roumanians Rejoicing.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—Reuter's Telegram Company has received the following dispatch:

"Bucharest, Monday, Dec. 10.—After a severe engagement yesterday before Plevna Osman Pasha, who was wounded, surrendered unconditionally. The Turks in Plevna were dying of hunger and cold. There is great joy here. Bucharest is covered with flags."

"9.40 P. M.—Plevna is now in the hands of the Russo-Roumania armies."

The Agence Russe makes the following announcement: "Osman Pasha attempted to break through in the direction of Widdin. He was attacked in front and rear, and was compelled to lay down his arms after a glorious struggle, in which he was seriously wounded. All with one voice praise his conduct."

THE MOMENT FOR MEDITATION.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The Times urges that the moment has now arrived when mediation between Russia and Turkey is possible, and it is to be hoped that the British government will use all efforts to that effect.

SERVIAN CO-OPERATION.

VIENNA, Dec. 10.—The Political Correspondence states that negotiations are pending between Servia and the Russian headquarters relative to a Servian plan of operations. Servia will place eighty-four battallions in the field. The outbreak or war on Servia's part is now only a question of days.

THE LOSSES AT PLEVNA.

BUCHAREST, Dec. 13.—According to official returns the Russian losses in the fighting preceding the surrender of Plevna were 10 officers and 182 men killed and 45 officers and 1,207 men wounded. The Turks lost 4,000 killed and wounded, and the prisoners include 10 pashas, 128 staff officers, 2,00 officers, 30,000 infantry and and 1,200 cavalry. Seventy-seven cannon were also captured. The first latch of of prisoners, numbering 10,000, have already started for Bucharest.

FRANCE—A CABINET AT LAST.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Reuter's dispatch says: "The follonwing cabinet has been formed and will appear in the official journal to-morrow: M. Dufaure, president of the council and minister of justice, M. de Marcere, minister of the interior; M. Waddington, minister of foreign affairs; M. Bardoux, minister of public intruction; General Borel, minister of war; Admiral Fourichon, minister of marine; M. Leon say, minister of finance; M. Teisserenc Dabort, minister of commerce; M. de Freycinet, minister of public works.

"The republicans are apparently ready to pass a vote of confidence in the new ministry immediately, but seem desirous only of voting the budget by twelfths until the approach of the exhibition, when they will finally pass the budget for 1878, postponing, however, the approval of the estimates for 1879 until the end of the year, so that the republican ministry may retain office until the election for a partial renewal of the Senate."

HOW THE SOLUTION WAS REACHED.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—The Paris correspondent of the Times says on Wednesday a Battle cabinet was formed. The great difficulty of finding a finance minister who was willing to undertake the collection of taxes without parliamentary sanction having been overcome by the acceptance of that office by M. John. This cabinet was intended to temporize until the end of the year, and then proceed to a plebiscite or a dissolution.

M. Ponger Quertier, in the presence of President MacMahon and cabinet violently inveighed against such a course. The President, upon becoming fully aware that it was illegal, severely condemned the advisers who prompted him to it. He wrote out his resignation and declared he would never see the Duke De Broglie again. Those present, however, pursuaded him to reopen negotiations with M. Dufaure

President MacMahon granted M. Dufaure full liberty in the choice of his colleagues. The republican ministers have been accepted by the President, and are now drawing up the presidential message, to be read to the Chambers to-morrow.

The Two Bills.—A Fable.

The two bills were waiting in the bank for their turn to go into the world. One was a little bill—only one dollar, the other was a big bill—a thousand dollar bill. While lying there side by side they fell a talking about their usefulness. The dollar bill murmured out:

"Ah, if I were as big as you, what good I would do. I could move in such high places, and people would be so careful of me wherever I should go. Everybody would make room and want to take me house with them, but, small as I am what good can I do? Nobody cares much for me; I am too small to be of any use."

"Ah, yes, that is so!" said the thousand dollar note! and it haughtily gathered up its well-trimmed edges that were lying next to the little bill in conscious superiority.

"That is so," it repeated. "If you were as great as I am—a thousand times bigger than you are—then you might hope to do some good in the world." And its face smiled into a wrinkle of contempt for the little bill.

Just then the cashier comes, takes the little murmuring bill and kindly gives it to a poor widow.

"God bless you!" she cries, as with a smiling face she receives it. "My dear hungry children can have some bread."

A thrill of joy ran through the bill as it was folded up in the widow's hand and it whispered:

"I may do some good, if I am small."

And when it saw the bright faces of the fatherless children it was very glad it could do a little good.

Then the dollar began its journey of usefulness. It went first to the baker for bread; then to the miller, then to the farmer, then to the laborer, then to the doctor, then to the minister, and wherever it went, gave pleasure, adding something to their comfort and joy.

At last, after a long pilgrimage of usefulness among every sort of people, it came back to bank again crumpled, defaced, ragged, softened by its daily use. Seeing the thousand dollar bill lying there with scarcely a wrinkle or finger mark upon it, it exclaimed:

"Why, sir, and what has been your mission of usefulness?"

The big note replied:

"I have been from safe to safe among the rich where few could see me, and they were afraid to let me go out far, lest I should be lost. Few indeed are they whom I have made happy by my mission.

The little note said:

"It is best to be small and go among multitudes doing good than to be so great as to be imprisoned in the safes of the few."

And it rested satisfied with its lot.

MORAL:—The doing of little every-day duties makes one the most useful and happy.

ITEMS.

While the Confederate General Hood met with reverses in one branch of the service, he has, nevertheless, been successful in placing in arms an attractive squad of infantry, since three pairs of twins, all girls, rise up to bless him.

The Moffat bell punch, in use in Virginia barrooms, is a good collector of statistics for the temperance reformers. The Richmond bell-punches registered in seventeen days 555,000 drinks.

Several children were feeding a pet bear with corn at Austin, Texas. An ear was dropped out of the reach of the bear, and a little girl handed it to him. The bear spontively pulled her to him, when a house dog, believing the child in danger, sprang upon the bear. Bruin then carried the child to the further part of the hogshead in which he slept and returned to fight the dog, under the impression that the dog would hurt the child. A party of darkies tried to protect the child from her other protectors, but the little one did not escape until her mother had killed both bear and dog with a musket.

FROM ASA GORDON, ESQ.

Williamsburgh, N. Y., March 26 1861.

Messrs. Jas. W. Fowle & Son: Gentlemen—I feel in duty called on to voluntarily to give testimony in favor of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. I was taken sick last October of a lung complaint, accompanied with a very serious cough, and after being treated a number of weeks by the best physicians they gave me over as an incurable case of consumption, and for about six weeks my friends expected that I might die any day, having entirely despaired of my recovery. At this time I read the advertisements and took Scores of the Wild Cherry Balsam, and was induced to try it myself. I have taken five bottles, and from the commencement I have been gradually recovering. My cough has now entirely ceased. I attribute the cure to Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, as I have taken another medicine since I commenced taking that. Very respectfully yours,

MRS. MILES SMITH

Messrs. Fowle & Son: Gentlemen—Mrs. Smith gives me the credit of effecting the cure of your medicine in her case. She began expectance of mine and took the Balsam on the strength of my certificate, which you saw in the papers. Her story is literally true. Yours truly,

W. H. JONES.

BLEEDING AT THE LUNG

PUTNAM, CONN., March 20, 1869

Gent emen—I avail myself of this opportunity to say a word in behalf of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, which I have made use of in my family for several years, and always with the most beneficial results. My wife being of delicate physique has since used it in her family with a hard, dry, hacking cough, whenever taking a little cold, and has always found it to give the desired relief without obtaining any relief until prevailed upon to test the virtues of Wistar's Balsam, the effect of which has been truly astonishing.

More than a year since a young man belonging in this place was taken with bleeding at the lungs in connection with a most severe cough, and was finally given over to die by our best physicians and it was evident he was in the consumption and was claiming him as a victim. Learning these facts my wife sent him a bottle of the Balsam, which he took, and to destiny, to the great astonishment of his friends, was at his accustomed occupation, snatched, as it were, from the very jaws of death. I am well acquainted with cases where I have administered the Balsam to the consumptive, and always with the best of success. These statements are simple facts, which can be vouched for at any time by calling on me at my store.

I remain truly yours, JOHN S DARLING.

THE SYMPTOMS of Liver Complaint are a bitter or bad taste in the mouth; Pain in the Back, Sides or Joints, often mistaken for Rheumatism; Sour Stomach; Loss of Appetite; Bowels alternately costive and lax; Headache; Loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; Debility, Low Spirits, a thick yellow appearance of the Skin and Eyes a dry Cough often mistaken for Consumption

Worth of Boots and Shoes thrown on the Easton Market.

The daily increasing demand for a certain quality and style of Boot and Shoe, is an evidence of the popular favor in which our stock is held by the community generally. We keep none but the best make, and sell at the very lowest prices, and we venture to assert that

We have just received the largest invoice that we have ever before ordered of those celebrated boots and shoes, being almost an impossibility to keep the demand supplied and we are offering them still, at the same low price. Persons in want of a good Boot or Shoe, should examine our stock, and they will be sure to purchase, as they commend themselves to purchasers at sight, to say nothing of the wide reputation by the hundreds who have purchased the same make before. In addition to this class, we have the most complete stock of

of every quality style and price, and we defy competition. Call early and see for yourselves, as our stock is just opened. Our stock of
