—Mr. W. H. Rolph, at the Paragon House, had fresh shad for breakfast yesterday morning. He has had fresh herring at the hotel for some days past.

—A few herring have already been caught in the upper Choptank river, but if the weather continues mild, we may expect plenty of them in March.

—The cheapest and best groceries can be had at G. Lacy Eaton's new store.

—Mr. A. W. Fountain has been improving his dwelling on Railroad avenue, by extending the roof at the ends of the building, and painting the weatherboarding. Mr. M. Flowers is doing the work.

—The local option men appear to be largely in the majority in the legislature, and there is no doubt that a general local option law will pass the House. The strength of parties on the measure have not yet been developed. The bill before the House is for the whole State, including Baltimore city.

—While Mr. Thomas R. Smith was out riding with his family on Dover road last Thursday, the perch pole of the carriage broke, the carriage came down with a crash, the horse started to run, and Mr. Smith and his wife and child were thrown out, bruising them some, but not doing any serious injury. The horse was taken up not far from where the accident occurred, and the wreck brought to town for repairs.

—For a nice selection of queensware and glassware, go to G. flacy Eaton's on Market Space.

—Last Thursday was a real summer day. The thermometer registered from 70 to 80. It was simply hot. It was a bad day for the fruit. Had the same kind of weather continued a week, the apricot trees would have been in bloom. Then a frost would have been fatal to them. Peaches are also in great danger of being injured by such a warm spell, for we must expect some frost if not a freeze between now and April.

A Mammoth Maryland Lemon.

This is the biggest lemon story we ever heard. The Baltimore American is responsible for it.

We acknowledge the receipt from Mr. G. R. Bowman, of Hagerstown, Md., of a lemon raised by him, weighing two and a quarter pounds, measuring in circumference, from end to end, 16 inches, and around the centre 14 inches. The average weight of the lemons on the tree, Mr. Bowman says, is one and a half pounds.

Survey of the County Wharf at Easton Point.

Mr. James M. Tharp last week made the survey of the county wharf property at Easton Point, under the order of the county commissioners. The distance from Washington street, Easton, to the county wharf at Easton Point, is just one mile, 100 yards, and 2½ feet. The county wharf is just 33 feet wide, being the width of the county road. It appears that the road to the wharf is 157 feet longer than when it was laid off twenty years ago, showing that it has been filled out 157 feet to make the wharf. Capt. G. R. Leonard's wharf, on the north of the county wharf, is also 33 feet long. His wharf on the side fronting north, is 240 feet long. R. R. Dixon's wharf extends beyond the line of the county wharf 100 feet. It fronts the river 313 feet. The greatest depth of water, 10 feet 6 inches, taken at mean tide, is immediately in front of Dixon's wharf, at the freight house. The depth immediately in front of the county wharf is but 2 feet 6 inches. The depth in front of Leonard's wharf is 7 feet. The width of the river from Dixon's wharf to Hollyday's shore is 240 feet; from Leonard's wharf to Hollyday's shore 270 feet. The width of the river from Dixon's wharf across to Dr. Atkins' shore at Dirt Point is 420 feet, with 9 feet of water in the channel. The harbor appears to be rapidly filling up, and should be cleaned out by the Federal Government.

County Commissioners.

The board met on Tuesday, February 19th, present Messrs. William Willis, Charles M. Jump and Joseph Horney. W. H. D. Harper, clerk.

The board authorized James M. Tharp, Esq., engineer, to make a general survey of the county wharf property at Easton Point, showing its lines and bounds, with a map of all adjoining property, including the channel of the river, the depth of water, and all shoals and bars in the harbor.

The board concluded the consideration of the accounts of the State's Attorney, and under the advice of its counsel, decided that the passing of the account by the judges of the circuit court was not final; that notwithstanding the passing of the account by the judges, the board still had discretionary powers in making allowances for trial fees; and under this discretionary power, it allowed the claim of Mr. Gibson for trial fees in criminal cases, as has been usual for the past thirty years, under the act of 1847.

The board paid the Maryland Hospital $150, expenses of Mary Ross, insane pauper, omitted in the year 1877.

The following county pensioners were paid:—Dennis Johnson, $20; James Ayers, $20; Peter H. Fairbank, $20; Perry Thompson, $20; Mary Cloverdale, $20; Joseph Griffin, $20; Nancy Porter, $20.

The price of work on the public roads was cut down from $1 to 75 cents, when it can be obtained for the latter price.

After transacting some routine business, the board adjourned to meet again on the 26th inst.

Yellow Fever.

To ameliorate the dreadful effects of Yellow Fever take Simmons' Liver Regulator. Let it be given in large doses, that it may have an immediate effect upon the liver, and remove the accumulating bile. It so acts upon the liver, stomach and blood as to prevent the attack of this terrible disease.

Baltimore Annual Conference of the Methodist E. Church, South.

This body, of which the Eastern Shore of Maryland forms a part, will meet at St. Paul's Church, Baltimore, of which Dr. S. K. Cox is pastor, on Wednesday week, the 6th of March. Bishop H. N. McTyeire will preside. In 1866, when the Baltimore Conference of the M. E. Church united with the M. E. Church, South, it had only 610 members in Maryland and about 11,000 members in all; at its last session over 27,000 members were reported, of whom 6,416 were in Maryland. In 1866 it had but 7 churches in Maryland; now it has 106 in Maryland, and the whole church property in the bounds of the conference is valued at $938,858, of which about $350,000 is in Maryland and the District of Columbia. Mr. James Cox is the lay delegate to the conference from this county, and Col. Stephen J. Bradley from Queen Anne's county.

Wilmington Conference of the M. E. Church.

The Wilmington Conference of the Methodist E. Church meets at Chestertown on Wednesday, the 13th of March. Bishop Foster will preside. The conference is composed of about 136 members. It is expected there will be quite a number of changes this spring, and the preachers are doubtless looking out for the good appointments. The membership in the bounds of the conference is about 25,000. The value of the church property is estimated at $1,200,000. The opening services of the conference will be conducted by the Bishop, assisted by the older members. The following will be among the most interesting meetings that will take place during the session: The Missionary Anniversary, the Church Extension Anniversary; the Temperance Anniversary; and the Anniversary of the Ladies' and Pastor's Christian Union. Rev. H. Colclazier will preach a semi-centennial sermon sometime during the conference. The conference is the occasion of the visit of many of the most eminent divines of the church, among whom are Dr. Dashiel, Missionary Secretary of the church; Dr. J. H. Vincent, Secretary of the Sunday School Union, Dr. Hurst, of Drew Theological Seminary; and the venerable Bishop Levi Scott, who is a native of this conference territory. The following ministers have died during the year: Rev. J. D. Curtis, Rev. D. R. Thomas, and Rev. J. W. Weston. A memorial service in their honor will be held during the conference.

Personal.

Thomas Hughlett, Esq., of this town, has been appointed Fish Commissioner, in the place of Mr. P. W. Downes.

Mr. G. Lacy Eaton, late with Jump & Co., has opened a new family grocery store on Market space, next door below Norris' shoe and grocery.

Mr. Walter H. Thompson, of the house of Thompson & Kersey, has just retured from the city with a stock of spring goods.

Mr. William W. Gealon has bought out Mr. Silas Lane's tobacco store, opposite the Paragon House.

J. A. Bennet, Esq., of New York, lectured at the town hall in Easton, last Friday evening.

Rev. Mr. Stryker, of Trinity Chapel, Easton, has just returned from a trip to Snow Hill, his first trip to the lower counties of the Eastern Shore.

Ex-Senator James Earle, of Queen Anne's, is very ill at his home in that county.

Messrs. J. J. Jump & Co. are about to build a large addition to the rear of their store, for a carpet room.

Mr. William N. Powell, of Trappe, is going to tear down the two old houses on Washington street, opposite Mrs. Forman's, and build two handsome new dwellings in their place.

A. P. Jump, Esq., of the Baltimore bar, made a flying trip to Easton last week.

Mr. Charles E. Nicols, formerly with J. V. B. Wright, is now in business with G. Lacy Eaton, and will be pleased to have a call from his friends at his place of business on Market Space

Trappe Items.

Tarbutton's old saw mill, on the Bolingbroke road, "filled its buster" one day last week. Nobody hurt seriously.

The series of meetings referred to in a recent number of the STAR, increase in interest.

No gates have been rehung.

"Ephraim is joined to his idols; let him alone."

A number of improvements have recently been made in town residences. Dr. Chaplain has improved his property, William Mullikin has built a new kitchen, Mr. Seamour has put up a new porch.

"Paul Pry" was delighted with the late style of moonlight, and thought he knew everything, but our boys will "mash." "Paul" had better pull down his chin and "skip the gutter" back to Baltimore.

Oysters are scarcer than spring chickens.

The ministers of the three Methodist Churches here will soon leave for their respective conferences.

Have not seen a man here badly under the influence of liquor for months. We'll buck Trappe up against any town in the State for sobriety, but we didn't live here five years ago.

Mr. Micawber's last week's letter was miscarried and did not reach us till too late for publication. Here is his latest.

TRAPPE, Feb. 23d, 1878.

MR. EDITOR:—I am not so sorry after all that my last letter did not get into print. I have recently learned what I have long suspected, that Mr. Boor's head is constructed like that of the historic mullet which could not be made drunk. Of course his is a hopelessly chronic case. The puerile rage of his intellectual parasites has passed away like an obnoxious breath of air. Mine enemy presents naught but laughes as arguments, and it would be Don Quixotic in the superlative degree were I to take offence at a windmill. In view of these facts, it is not worth the while for me to pay any further attention to his effusions. I would, however, in the spirit of the good samaritan bend down over him, press back those enormous ears which adorn his classic temples, and whisper to him these words of wisdom, "hereafter, when you have nothing to say, say it." MR. MICAWBER.

Meeting of the Conference.

The Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, composed of 128 ministers and 89 lay delegates, and of which Rev. D. L. Bates is President, will hold its next annual meeting at the Methodist Protestant Church in Easton, to commence Wednesday, March 13th. The session will doubtless be a very interesting one. The opening sermon will be preached at 11 A. M. on the first day, by Rev. William T. Dunn, of Howard circuit, after which the impressive service of reading the death roll of the year will take place, to be followed by the celebration of the Holy Communion. Besides the usual routine daily business, the following important public meetings will be held: the Temperance Convention; the Sunday School Convention; the Missionary Anniversary; and the Anniversary of the Superannuated Fund Society. These meetings will bring upon the platform many of the ablest and most eloquent speakers of the conference. The following distinguished clergymen from abroad are expected to visit the conference:—Rev. Alexander Clark, D. D., Editor of the Methodist Recorder; Rev. G. B. McElroy, D. D., President of Adrian College, Michigan; Rev. C. S. Evans, of Cincinnati, Missionary Secretary of the Church; Rev. J. B. Walker, of Springfield, Ohio, College Agent of the Church; Rev. Alfred Gray, D. D., and Rev. W. H. Wills, D. D., of North Carolina, and Rev. W. M. Bitts, of West Virginia, Fraternal Messengers from their respective conferences.

The appointment of the preachers, and the reading of the appointments, may be said to be the most important matter connected with the session. The restrictive rule has been lately extended, so that ministers may be continued in one charge for five years.

The election of the President of the Conference for the next year will take place on the first day, and is one of the first things in order after the conference organizes.

Rev. Mr. Reed, the minister in charge in Easton, assisted by his official brethren, are now arranging for homes for the ministers and delegates during conference in the families of our citizens. It is to be hoped that all will be accommodated.

The conference year just closing constitutes an important era in the history of the Methodist Protestant Church. It will be remembered that this church was divided in 1858 on the slavery question, after the meeting of the General Conference at Lynchburg, into two nearly equal bodies, and remained as separate church organizations, yet with fraternal feelings, until the General Conference of 1876, which happened to meet in the same city, when commissioners were appointed by the Southern division to treat for a re-union with similar commissioners appointed by the Northern division. All points of difference being amicably adjusted by the commissioners, they reported the same to their respective churches, and the re-union of the church was fully accomplished at the General Convention which assembled in Baltimore in May, 1877, after which the representatives of both churches met together in one body, re-uniting and recompacting the whole church. The union has been hailed with delight throughout the whole denomination. Indeed, after slavery was abolished there was no cause of difference between the two bodies, for both were devotedly attached to the doctrines and organization of the Methodist Protestant Church. By the re-union of the dissevered parts, the church membership has been increased to 225,000.

The ensuing session of the Maryland Annual Conference will be its semi-centennial, it having been organized in 1828, just fifty years. The past year has been remarkable for the number of its great revivals throughout its borders, and it has never been more prosperous than at present. The membership of the Maryland district is 18,500; number of churches 200; value of church property $788,000. The Western Maryland College under its patronage is a large and flourishing institution of learning, and a great help to the young preachers.

Lost.

On Monday afternoon, Feb. 18th, on Railroad avenue or Dover street or in the lane west of Aurora street, in Easton, a lady's gold watch chain, with the owner's name engraved on it. The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving the same with Thompson & Kersey.

Life in the Andes.

"My First Trip up the Magdalena, and 'Life in the the Heart of the Andes,'" was the subject of the lecture delivered at the town hall in Easton on Friday evening, by J. A. Bennet, Esq., of New York, late United States Consul to Bogota. It is a matter of regret that so many of our citizens were absent; those that attended had the pleasure of enjoying a rare treat. From the fact that the lecture had been complimented by such celebrities as William Cullen Bryant and Judge Daly, of New York, our expectations had been raised pretty high, but it affords us pleasure to say, we were not in the least disappointed. Mr. Bennet is tall and handsome; he is a modest, intelligent, and extremely agreeable gentleman; and presents a fine appearance on the platform. There was nothing whatever of egotism in the lecture. He simply told in elegant diction the story of what he had personally seen and heard in the old State of New Granada, now laid down on the map as The United States of Colombia, a country almost unknown to even many of our most intelligent people. Sailing from New York for South America, Mr. Bennet landed at San Maritha, and from thence he went by water to the Magdalena river, and up that river to Honda, thence over mountains and plains to Bogota, in the Andes. In describing his trip, he stopped at the several towns and villages on the way, to introduce his audience to the natives, graphically described the vegetable and animal life on the river, the mode of transportation, the habits and customs of the people, the soil and productions of the country, the political vicisitudes through which it has passed since the conquest, throwing in just enough anecdote and personal history to chain the attention of the audience. He represents Colombia as abounding in hundreds of millions of dollars of undeveloped wealth, with a native population too lazy and inert to develope and enjoy it. Living in a tropical country, almost under the equator, where the thermometer often registers from 120 to 130, the plantain, bananas, and other tropical fruits upon which they mostly subsist, grow wild, they need little beyond what nature has provided for them, and are not disposed to increase their desires. Although the soil upon the upper plains has been cultivated for 300 years without being manured, it is still fertile, and grows splendid crops of grain, cotton, tobacco, and fruits, while many parts of the country abound in gold. An hour and a half was occupied in reading the lecture, yet so interesting was the narrative, that the audience could have listened an hour longer without losing interest in the subject. This lecture is worthy of being repeated in our commercial cities at this time especially, as our merchants engaged in foreign trade are waking up to the importance of making an effort to extend our trade with the States of South America, Central America, and Mexico.
