Doubt Disappears

No One in Westminster Who Has a Bad Back Should Ignore This Double Proof.

Does your back ever ache?
Have you suspected your kidneys?
Backache is sometimes kidney ache
With it may come dizzy spells,
Sleepless nights, tired, dull days,
Distressing urinary disorders.

Doan's Kidney Pills have been endorsed by thousands.

Are recommended here at home.

You have read Westminster proof.

Read now the Westminster sequel.

Renewed testimony; tested by time

M. E. Campbell, prop. meat market, 71 E. Main street, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills when I have been in need of a kidney tonic and I have found Doan's always give good satisfaction. My back ached and my kidneys were out of order. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they made me entirely well." (Statement given May 13, 1911).

On December 13, 1920, Mr. Campbell added: "Doan's Kidney Pills have done me a great deal of good and I gladly recommend them to anyone in need of a kidney remedy. I seldom have any trouble with my kidneys now and give all the credit to Doan's."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Campbell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Good Printing

THE kind of printing that pays dividends is the kind you should have. Pale, muddy, poorly arranged printed matter is worse than none. The quality of your business is often judged by the quality of your stationery—inferior printing gives an impression of cheapness that is hard to overcome, while good printing carries with it a desirable suggestion of quality.

We produce only Quality Printing. Whether you want an inexpensive handbill or a letterhead in colors, if you order it from us you will be sure of getting good work. We have the equipment and the "know how" that enables us to get out really good printing—printing that impresses people with the good taste of its users. That is the only kind of printing that

AFTER ALL

By CORONA REMINGTON

(©, 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

It was Saturday. In the garden behind the house an old man was slowly pulling up dead stalks and piling them in little heaps along the rows, and across the railing of the porch gaudy quilts and blankets were sunning themselves.

Down the front steps came a youth, slender with the lankness of recent growth.

He sauntered toward a battered, mud-spattered little red car that was standing in the front yard under a tree. Adjusting spark and gas levers, he cranked it, then got in and went rambling, rattling off down the road. As he continued on his way an idea came to him, and he hurried, now driving with a purpose.

Five or six miles farther along he left the road, and finally stopped in front of a rather big white house and cast a quick glance over the surroundings. An idea came to him, and he put a gentle finger on the button that blows the horn. After a moment he was rewarded by the sight of Elsie Armstrong standing in the doorway.

"H'lo, Harry!" she called.

"H'lo! Want to take a ride?"

"Uh-huh. Wait till I get my hat and tell mamma."

He had never before asked Elsie for a ride, nor any other girl for that matter.

Elsie came down the path swinging her hat in her hand and, unaided by her friend, jumped lightly into the open car. As she sat there beside him she was very near—nearer than she had ever been, and somehow he felt strangely thrilled. He looked with wonder at her little short nose all covered with freckles, and decided for the first time that it was really a beautiful nose; and there was something about her curly hair as it blew around her face that made him think of the poetry that he studied in English at high school.

"Got your lessons for Monday?" he asked after a while.

"All but my hist'ry and math. Got yours?"

"Mighty near."

The conversation lagged again. He had so much to say, yet couldn't say a word, so they traveled along in silence past another farm or two.

"Oh, look, Harry, at the edge of the meadow over there," she exclaimed suddenly.

"What?"

"Dogwood. The first I've seen. Let's stop and get some to take home."

He drove to the side of the road, then stopped the car and they jumped out.

"Let's run," he suggested, catching her hand.

"It's pretty here, isn't it?" said the girl after a pause.

"Uh-huh."

More silence, blissful, comprehensive silence.

"Well, I guess we'd better get our blossoms," from Elsie after a while.

They jumped to their feet and started toward the nearest dogwood tree. Harry broke the branches and handed them to her until her arms were full.

"That enough?" he asked at last.

"Uh-huh. Aren't they pretty!"

"Uh-huh."

They started back toward the car again. Back another way. As he helped her across a little ditch he kissed her.

"Oh-h-h-h!" she said breathlessly.

"Oh, what, Elsie?" he asked anxiously, fearful least he had offended.

"N-nothing only—my hand's cramped holding the dogwood."

Relieved, he took the flowers and also the cramped little hand and they went on their way, two rather sober but wonderfully happy children. As they rode homeward they said little, but, after all, what was there to say?

"I've had a good time," she told him as she jumped out of the car in her own front yard.

"Er, say, Elsie, you going to tell your mother?"

"Tell her what?" she asked innocently.

"Tell her we're—engaged to be married."

"No-no, I guess not. She'd only say we're too young to know anything about love."

"I'm not going to tell dad, either, 'cause he'd just cuss and say the same thing; but we aren't, Elsie, are we?"

Elsie shook her head and stared at the ground.

"No-no, we know more about it than they do, because we're in l-love just because we're in love, and after a while when you're older you'll get in love and get married."

"Well, don't you think I'd make you a good husband?" Harry asked aggrievedly.

"Oh, yes, but then you're d-different."

"Well, good-by, dear," he said, blushing furiously, as he threw in the gears and went rattling out of the yard.

And after all—I wonder.

A Clever Cook.

A woman, teaching in a well-known college for girls near Boston, vouches for the truth of this story. She presides over one of the college dining tables at which sit a dozen students. One day some curly lettuce was brought on. A freshman looked at it and exclaimed:

"How clever of the cook to crimp it that way. How does she do it?"

UNIONTOWN

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Six was held at the home of her nephew, Charles Simpson, on Monday and burial in Taneytown. She was in her 82nd year and had been cared for in the home of Mr. Simpson for some years. Rev. Earl Cummings and Elder W. P. Englar had charge of services.

Mrs. Bourne, wife of Dr. Bourne, and son Dewey Bourne, of Tague, W. Va., were week-end guests of the former's daughter, Mrs. G. Levan, and husband.

Miss Blanche Devilbiss visited Miss Ethel Hesson, near New Windsor, last week.

Our leading poultry raiser, Harry Haines, put out his first brood of chickens last week. There were 497 at one filling of his incubator.

Word has been received of the death of Miss Fannie Davidson in Chicago. She went there ten days ago to make her home. Her death occured January 30 from paralysis. Her body will be brought to the home of Will Bowers, Thursday evening, and funeral at Winter's Church Friday morning. Mrs. A. Fritz, Linwood, and Mrs. Martha Culbertson, York, are her sisters.

The number of sick in town seems to be on the decrease.

BERRETT

This Sunday February 4th. Sunday school at Brandenburg M. P. Church at 9:45 A. M. Preaching service at 10:45. Rev. J. N. Link pastor. This will be a special sermon. Everybody come. Also congregational meeting after service.

S. S. at Messiah church at 10 o'clock.

The quarantine has been lifted at Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Grimm's. We are all glad to hear it. Not quite so glad as the family, who have been ill all winter.

Very little sickness in neighborhood, this winter, we are glad to say.

Reese Shipley was in Baltimore Tuesday.

Election of officers was held at I. O. G. T. lodge last evening.

Due to rain and snow the play which was to have been given at Winfield on Saturday night by I. O. G. L. lodge, was postponed for another week.

If weather permits, this entertainment will be given in Winfield hall this Saturday, February 3rd, at 8 P. M. "A Perplexing Situation." "Out of The Tangle" and a debate "ghoses er not ghoses." This last number consists of 8 negroes. This is a very good entertainment and we hope it will be successful. Proceeds will be used for improvements of our lodge.

PLEASANT GROVE AND REESE

Revival services closed last Friday evening. Meetings were a success. Six were added to church and fine sermons were helpful to all who attended.

S. S. and preaching following this Sunday morning. This will also be regular Missionary Day for January and February. A program will be ready. A young boy from Wilbur Arnold's class will sing solo.

Miss Jessie Matthew's motored to Baltimore last Saturday and spent day with her aunt, Mrs. Rhodes.

Word has been received from Mrs. Ruth Geyman Wilhelm, who was recently married that she likes her new home in Huntington, W. Va., very much.

Mr. Butler Gorsuch has returned from a week-end visit to Baltimore and suburbs.

Rev. and Mrs. Geo. Sanner visited home of Mr. Herb. Myerly last Tuesday and spent pleasant day.

Mrs. John Magee entertained Rev. McCaslin and family and Rev. and Mrs. Sanner for supper one evening the past week.

Mrs. Chas. Tawney and Irene visited their home town Reese and called on old friends.

Mrs. Butler Gorsuch and Mrs. Blanche Magee are in Baltimore this week visiting relatives and friends.

WINDIE HEIGHTS

There will be preaching at Harmony Grove Church Sunday afternoon at 2.30. They will elect new officers for the coming year. Everybody come out.

Miss Evelyn Bair visited Miss Evelyn Pickett last week.

Mr. Arthur Haines, who has been quite ill, is able to be out again.

Misses Evelyn and Helen Bair had as their guests Sunday Misses Mary Barber, Margaret Poole, Catherine Smith, Marie Barber, Howard Smith, Howard Poole and Lester Grimes.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold its next meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wilson. Everybody welcome.

Mr. C. C. Barnes entertained a bunch of his young friends. They enjoyed the music and dancing very much. He invited them back to see him again next Sunday.

Miss Leona Grimes spent Thursday and Friday with Miss Lillian Grimes.

Mrs. Wm. K. Grimes and Lillian and George Grimes spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Grimes .

Mrs. Margaret Gibson and Mrs. Lee Smith spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Luther Myerly, of Friendship's Corner.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith had as their guests Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Bellison, George Grimes, and Roland Poole.

Miss Belle Easton spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Poole.

A very pleasant day was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Grimes on Tuesday. Mrs. Grimes had a quilting party and invited some of her friends to join her. As the guests began to arrive they all got busy and about 12 o'clock a dinner was served to which all did ample justice. They again returned to quilting but found it quite a task. They finished one. All departed for their homes feeling that they had all spent a very pleasant day. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. K. Grimes, Mesdames Betty Easton, Margaret Gibson, Maude Poole, Grace Smith, Elsie Myerly, Misses Belle Easton, Alma, Mary and Lillian Grimes, Aileen Willison, Louise Myerly and others.

The Ladies' Mite Society of Bethesda will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Shipley. Everybody welcome.

STONE CHAPEL

Sunday school 1:30 P. M. Preaching 2:30 P. M.

New ones on the sick list are Mr. Nathan Harris, Charlotte Lantz, Eugenia Summers, Grover Haines, and Mrs. Howard Bower and daughter Maretta. The other sick are improving.

Mrs. John Richter's death was a shock to the community. We extend our sympathy to the husband and children. The funeral service was held at the catholic church in Westminster. Interment in the adjoining cemetery. Mr. Richter's physical condition is very distressing.

Last Saturday while Monroe Dull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manny Dull, was riding on horseback from the store, after passing Weldon Duvall's, the horse frightened and ran, throwing the lad and dragging him some distance. Mr. Duvall went to the boy and found him lying on the saddle on the ground, with both boots torn off. His foot was cut under the instep and heel, which required eleven stitches. He is doing as well as could be expected. His mother is just able to be up and around after a severe spell of sickness. They have the sympathy of the community. We all hope Monroe will soon be well.

The deepest snow of the season fell on Saturday night. Several took advantage of it and went sleighing.

Our roads are terrible. One consolation the state road is coming.

Donald Cook, one of our Stone Chapel boys, who has been working in Baltimore at the Western Maryland car shops, about two weeks ago had his knee mashed and is in the Maryland General Hospital. He has his knee in a cast. We are anxious to hear of his speedy recovery.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Mr. Harry Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas Myers, left last week for Dayton, Ohio. He had been home since November.

Mrs. Noah Powell is recovering from a fall which she received about six weeks ago when she fell down the steps. She was bruised and cut about the head and face.

Mrs. Janie Myers spent last Friday with her daughter, Mrs. William Stair, of Union Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Heltibridle, and little daughter Betty Jean, spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Eckard, of Northern Carroll.

The funeral of Miss Ada Belle Geiman, who died on Saturday morning, was held on Tuesday morning in St. Matthew's church, and was attended by a large crowd of relatives and friends. She had been a great sufferer for the past 12 years, but she could always smile through her tears and say: "Not my will but Thine be done." Her pastor, the Rev. J. W. Reinecke, took his text from Job. 13-15; first clause, "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him," and spoke very freely of her beautiful Christian life. Those who attended the funeral from a distance were Mrs. Abram Geiman and son Edward, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cookson, Uniontown, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Myers, Mrs. Joseph Hahn, and Mr. Carroll Myers, Westminster. The floral tributes were beautiful. James M. Stoner was funeral director.

The Homemaker's Club will meet on Wednesday, February 7th, at 1:30 P. M., at the home of Mrs. Chas. E. Eckard. Miss Everett will be present and will give a demonstration on basketry. Everybody cordially invited to be present.

Mrs. Ethel Black and daughter Caroline spent Tuesday afternoon and evening with Mrs. E. F. Kindig.

Miss Mary E. Myers, who is attending Charles Carroll High School, has joined the orchestra and for her part has taken the slide trombone, which the teacher, Prof. Edw. P. Zepp, says she is handling very well. Success to you, Mary.
