[COMMUNICATED.]

THE NEGRO IN AMERICA.

The present condition and probable destiny of this race in the United States well deserves the attention of every statesman and, indeed, of every true philanthropist. As well as the most difficult problems of the day, to lay down plans which in their fulfilment will conduce to the best interest of both the negro and the white man, is a matter of no little moment. To attempt an opinion of such a question, with any degree of judgment as this. While I by no claim to profound logical subtleties of argument in this short paper, I do try to view it from a standpoint looking to the best interest of both races. If only a little understanding of this subject can but be injurious to us, and it would as certainly prove fearfully disastrous to the negro. So far as we can learn from the latest explorations of Mr. Stanley and others, as a rule, the native African has been for ages a barbarian of the wildest and most brutish character. Indeed, the owners of Africa have never been equaled in any age in their devilish brutality to their slaves. In fact, as somebody, (I think it was the late Bledsoe) said "slavery is as indigenous to Africa as its own palms."

While slavery was held in the north, there was no considerable amelioration to the condition of the slave, but after their introduction in the extreme south they made slow but constant advancement in civilization, education and refinement. The time came when without any notable preparation the slave was set free. Such a sudden transition, from bondage to freedom, and from a condition of slavery in the most degraded form of any in the world, to independence, and all the privileges of any citizen, and no sane man would have it renewed.

The African, as we all know, is not a successful rival of the white man in those qualities which make men successful in business, but the African is competed to take the lead among colored people in the land. No man claims for him social equality in development, and the great gulf between the two races can never be filled up. There are rules governing inclusion in the best society as inflexible as the decree that man must die. In the highest and purest circles of society these are most rapidly observed. There is no exclusion more exclusive than that of the young men and freshmen in our colleges. It constitutes the very foundation stone of the social fabric and nobody dare intimate that it would be better otherwise. Yet some act as if society were a mere piece of whalebone pliable. History records the fact that Minerva sprang full-armed from the brain of Jove, and so will some historical record the fact that in the nineteenth century negroes and Americans were equal in intelligence and social purity. The African is a stubbed, stunted, of aptness that in a hundred years he could attain to that excellence it took the white man hundreds upon hundreds of years to reach. We will found our arguments upon the less aggressive histories, and view him as our inferior in development if not in natural powers.

Look up the fact that his numerical strength. While the census shows an annual gross increase of negroes, the rate of decrease during the two last decades counting up to 1880 is so large that unless the causes are removed the race will be extinct in a few decades, and it will not be long before the children will be amused to murder the black man, if he should dare to live here. Besides, immigration from Africa has ceased. While the white emigration to the United States is one-half the whole African population in the States. In 1870 there were in the whole country 7 whites to 1 African; there are now more than 8.

Finally, the disparity in wealth is great. It is a fact that the white man can lay down twenty dollars for every dollar the African can produce. These assertions are based upon figures accessible to all, and with the exception of probable slight arithmetical errors they will be found correct.

Although the African is numerical and in some instances may possess in unusually large measure those properties which sometimes enable a few to triumph over superior numbers, what is the question, has he these?

I have tried faithfully to show the status of this race which has come into what we might call a hand to hand fight with the sharpest, most intelligent race on the face of the globe. We of the south profess to be the friends of this race, how fully awake must we be to ward off the inevitable destruction which awaits it if it falls entirely into the hands of those whose professed friendships is only a garb put on for the occasion.

We have not a task without its horrors. It is ours if we do a part as true then to train up the helpless of a civilization in its consummation more glorious than the victory in a thousand bloody civil wars like ours. It shall be ours if we put our shoulder to the wheel to civilize the whole African continent with these men. We fight this glorious battle at our homes, around our firesides, and God willing not one blood-stain shall mar the beauty of our victory. Let African barbarity.

But be the consequences of passive events never so great, active ones are. There are two sides to this question, black and white and black. The problem to-day is as to what is the wise course.

Assertions pro and con the question and could only degrade both nations.

There are three other moves for the African. He may live in inglorious inactivity, he may attempt to put down the white man, or he may attempt to emigrate.

He may set himself up in open avowed hostility to the doctrine of caucasian supremacy. He may make rash impolitic attempts to seize the reigns of national government, or he may attempt to create a government imperium in imperio. In case outraged justice and sense of right must grind the race into finest dust, and leave of it but a name which should be a stench in the land.

The third and only reasonable place has in one form or another been urged again and again by the friends of the race. I do not say, I do not, I utterly oppose immediate emigration to Africa. As it has been with all other countries so it will be with the United States, it will in time not be able to contain itself and will belch out upon other shores its surplus population. It will be upon Africa's plains the United States will pour its first great stream of emigrants. As old England filled to surfeiting and overflowed into the wilds of America, so will she in her turn let loose her teeming millions into some more congenial land. Africa's rightful sons and daughters must in time grow tired of subordination and seek again their native country. We have no reason to doubt this theory because the negroes seem so perfectly contented now. Perhaps our great-grandfathers were better contented under English rule than their children are now under Republican rule. When the time comes the remainder will not be wanting.

It is not our part to stir up dissatisfaction with the present, but to drill in all the tactics of independent life; awaken self-respect, there is no doubt, to show that the African here has a grand and glorious mission; to show him that millions of fellow-countrymen will be influenced by his life. So long as he is in the hands of friends we need not fear, but in the name of God let us not permit wicked men to set him against his best interest. The African cannot rely on northern friendship. I care not how pure the northerners' designs may have been, natural prejudice will be strong, and the sons in the uttermost are that his best friends there will soon turn away with sorrow and disgust.

Let us then remember that only by our exertions can our colored people be saved from the fate their inexperienced folly would lead to. Never in the history of the world has a people under like circumstances evinced fidelity equal to that of the slaves during the late war and since. We must remember that the images have not really been responsible agents in their moves against what we conceive to be their interest. We are entirely [illegible] of him as Shakespeare said of Caliban,

"Whom nor kind treatment will not make Being capable of call it."

But that the race is capable of high civilization, and further, that if this is never reached, we will have defeated God's end in allowing him to come in contact with our civilization.

FROM S. L. GILMAN, A MINISTER OF THE GOSPEL IN GLOVER, VT.

"I have been troubled for several years with a difficulty of the heart and lungs; have applied to several physicians for help, and have tried almost every remedy recommended without receiving any assistance, but by the blessing of God your valuable medicine has relieved me. I feel it my duty to give this testimony to the world, that others may be benefited. I have recommended it to all persons suffering with pulmonary complaints."

FROM BENJ. [illegible] OF ALBANY, VT.

"Some three years since I was attacked with a severe cough, [illegible] lungs, to which was added a [illegible] form. During the first year I tried several of the most popular medicines of the day, but received little benefit. I was induced to try Dr. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, which very soon relieved me. My cough became loose, the soreness and irritation disappeared, and my general health began to improve. I continued the use of the bottle so long as it was of benefit, then I felt myself in good health. I now regard my lungs as sound and entirely free from disease. I believe the Balsam to be the best medicine for the complaint it is intended to cure."

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry

FROM [illegible] AT SOUTH [illegible]

"I was most severely afflicted with hard, dry cough with its usual accompaniment of night sweats, and was reduced to a state of extreme debility. Having given up all hopes of ever recovering my health, after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters, I was prevailed upon, through the influence of a neighbor, to try WISTAR'S BALSAM, though with no belief whatever that it would be of any material advantage to me. Before using the bottle I felt was almost convinced. My cough ceased, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elevated my depressed spirits and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor. Thus has this Balsam, as has often been marked by persons conversant with the above facts in this vicinity, literally snatched from the grave. You are at liberty to publish for the benefit of the afflicted."

AN EFFECTUAL SPECIFIC for all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen.

Regulate the Liver and you prevent CHILLS AND FEVER, VARIOUS FEVERS, BOWEL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE AND NAUSEA.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

BAD BREATH!

Nothing is so unpleasant, nothing as common as bad breath, and in nearly every case it comes from the stomach and bowels. Correct them with Simmons' Liver Regulator, and you will not hear of this disagreeable complaint. Complexion and General Health.

PILES!

How many suffer torture day after day, making life a burden and robbing existence of all pleasure, while the poor sufferer imagines no one else is troubled with this disease. Let such be cured by using Simmons' Liver Regulator, a safe and thorough purgative, but it is the gentlest to nature.

CONSTIPATION!

SHOULD not be regarded as a trifling ailment, as fatal results frequently follow. Almost regularity of the bowels, and any deviation from this demand prove the way often to serious danger. It is quite as necessary to health that the contents of the bowels be thrown off as that we should sleep and eat, and no health can be expected where a costive habit of body prevails.

SICK HEADACHE!

This distressing affliction comes more frequently from disorder of the stomach, arising from the imperfectly digested contents, causes a severe pain in the head accompanied with disagreeable nausea, and this constitutes what is popularly known as Sick Headache. For the relief of which, TAKE SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR MEDICINE.

APPLETON'S American Cyclopædia

NEW REVISED EDITION.

Entirely Rewritten by the Ablest Writers on Every Subject.

Printed from New Type, and illustrated with several thousand Engravings, and Maps.

The work originally published under the title of the New American Cyclopædia was completed in 1863, since which time the world has passed through a period marked in every branch of science, literature, and art, have induced the editors and publishers to submit it to an exact and thorough revision, and issue a new edition entitled

The American Cyclopædia.

Within the last years the progress and discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference an imperative want.

The movement of political affairs has keep pace with the discoveries of science, and their influence upon the industrial and useful arts and convenience and refinement of social life. Great wars and consequent revolutions have occurred, involving national changes of peculiar moment. The civil war of our own country, which was at its height when the last volumes of the old work appeared has happily been ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced. Large accessions to our have been made to the indefatigable explorers of Africa.

The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the numerous wars of the period, time, who have brought into public view a multitude of new men, whose names are in every one's mouth, and of whose lives every one is curious to know the particulars. Great battles have been fought and important sieges maintained, of which the details are sought for in vain elsewhere. [illegible]

Permanent and Authentic History

In preparing the present edition for the press it has been the aim of the editors to bring down the work to the latest possible date, and to furnish an adequate account of the most recent discoveries in science, of every fresh production in literature, and of the newest inventions in the practical arts, as well as to give a succinct and original record of the progress of Political and Historical Events.

The work will be [illegible] and careful preliminary [illegible] and ample resources for carrying it on to a successful termination.

None of the original stereotype plates have been used, but every page has been

Printed on New Type, forming in fact, a new Cyclopædia, with the same plan and compass as its predecessor, but with far greater pecuniary expenditure, and with the assistance of a corps of contributors [illegible] by longer experience and enlarged knowledge.

The Illustrations, which are introduced for the first time in the present edition, have been [illegible] for the sake of picturesqueness and artistic excellence and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science, and of natural history, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of the scenery, architecture, antiquities as well as the various [illegible] of mechanics and manufactures, although intended for instruction rather than embellishment, no pains have been spared to insure their Artistic Excellence.

The cost of their execution is enormous, and it is believed they will find a welcome reception as an admirable feature of the development, and worthy of its high character.

The American Cyclopædia is Now Complete, in sixteen large octavo volumes, each volume containing over 800 pages, fully illustrated with several thousand Wood Engravings, and with numerous Colored Lithographic Maps, the whole costing the publisher a sum exceeding exclusive of paper, printing, and binding.

Five Hundred Thousand Dollars,

BRICK AND TILE.

Salmon Brick, Arch Brick, Red Brick, Paving Brick, Well Brick, Pressed Brick, and from 2 to 7 inches vent, at all prices, from $12 to $75 per thousand.

WE are now prepared to deliver bricks in any part of Talbot county, or anywhere on the water or on railroad out of the county, at 20 per cent. BELOW OLD PRICES, for the cash. We have a heavy stock on hand, of splendid quality, and are determined to command the the brick trade of this section, if SUPERIOR BRICKS AND LOW PRICES will do it.

Our stock of Tile is very heavy, and we sell it very low for CASH; but are prepared to enter into arrangements with farmers, who may want to put in tile, and who may not have the cash, to give them six or nine months credit. The tile ought to go in, and the spring land be made productive, and we are willing to help those who are short of money.

We invite a call from all those in want of either brick or Tile.
