EASTON, MD.

TUESDAY, APRIL 9, 1878.

T. K. ROBSON, Editor.

The Earl of Leitrim, lately murdered by his tenants, was the largest land-owner in Ireland. He owned nearly 100,000 acres of land, and several villages.

Death of an Army Officer.

The death of C. D. Emory, of the U. S. Army, late of Queen Anne's county, Md., is announced. He died at San Antonio, Texas.

A bill which passed the Legislature, authorizing the use of steam on the York road, in Baltimore county, mysteriously disappeared before it was engrossed and signed by the Governor. The presumption is that it was stolen.

Death of a Physician.

The Centreville papers announce the death of Dr. Thomas S. Wilson, an old physician of Queen Anne's county. He died at Warrington, his residence near Queenstown.

The Army in Congress.

The House committee on Military Affairs has determined to report favorably Banning's bill for the reorganization of the army, Bragg's bill, regulating the pay of army officers, and Dibrell's bill, proposing an increase in the pay of certain uncommissioned officers.

Mr. Polk, door-keeper of the House of Representatives, has been discharged for irregularities in the discharge of his official duties, and Genl. Charles W. Field, of Georgia, elected door-keeper in his place. Under the pressure of Congressional influence, Mr. Polk appointed more officers under him than the law allowed. It is to be hoped that Genl. Field will keep strictly within the lines of the law.

It is said that Virginia City, in Nevada, is gradually moving down the slope of the mountain in an eastwardly direction. Since the water-pipes were put in, the town has moved two feet. The migration is caused by the settling of the earth over the bonanza mines. It is expected there will be a big cave in at Virginia City sometime not far hence, at least at the next great earthquake.

THE MARYLAND REPUBLICAN, published at Annapolis by Mr. Colton, has issued a gorgeous extra. It is printed on tinted paper, in gold, red and inks. The contents are brief sketches of members of the recent Legislature of Maryland; a 1000 reminiscence of present day politicians in the State, and portraits of some of Mr. Colton's celebrated chickens and ducks.

We publish this morning an interesting letter from James Alfred Pearce, of Chestertown, vindicating the memory of his father, the late Senator Pearce, from aspersions cast upon him by a Washington correspondent of the Maryland Republican. Mr. Pearce's vindication of his father is complete and unanswerable. Had the correspondent of the Republican carefully examined the record he quoted, he probably would never have made his false charge against Senator Pearce.

The unemployed workingmen in Baltimore held a demonstration meeting at the Maryland Institute building last Thursday night. Several addresses were made. It is unfortunate that there is not enterprise and capital enough in Baltimore to afford work for the mechanics of that city. If there is such a large surplus of money in the Baltimore banks, as is reported, why is it not employed to set the wheels of business going, so that the mechanics may have work, and add to the wealth of the city?

The Pacific Railroads.

Jay Gould & Co., have a heavy lobby at work at Washington, trying to defeat Senator Thurman's bill, which aims to compel the Pacific railroad companies to create a sinking fund to meet their indebtedness to the Government as their bonds mature. The Senate appears to be very decidedly in favor of making the roads toe the mark. These roads are largely indebted to the Government for interest on their bonds advanced by the Federal treasury.

Anderson the convicted Returning Board forger of Presidential election returns, has been set at liberty by the Supreme Court of Louisiana upon a technicality. He was indicted and convicted of falsifying the consolidated election returns. The Court says the consolidated returns is not an official paper, and therefore not forgible. The Commissioners' returns are the legal papers. On the consolidated returns Hayes and Packard were declared elected. If the Commissioners' returns are the legal and only true returns, what becomes of Hayes' title? as they show over 7,000 majority for Tilden. Mr. Hayes is reported as greatly rejoicing over Anderson's discharge, but we cannot see how his escape betters Mr. Hayes' title. The fraud now sticks out worse than ever. It will save Hayes and Sherman, however, from their promise to protect Anderson, and that is a good deal, as it may prevent all the truth from coming out. Wells will doubtless be prosecuted for forging the legal returns, and may not escape so easily.

THE NEWS.

It is reported in New York that Madame Restelle's suicide was a put up job: that she still lives, and has left for Europe, via Canada, and that the body found in her bath-tub was one resembling her, procured for the purpose of cheating the authorities, which was an easy job, considering that her features were known to comparatively few persons outside of her own family. There were some things about the inquest and funeral that indicate that Madame's Attorney and the Coroner know more about the case than they would be willing at this time to disclose.

The reputed owner of the N. Y. World, it is well known, is deeply interested in the Texas Pacific Railroad job, now before Congress. The World is endeavoring to draw off attention from the job, by devoting column after column daily to abuse of John Kelley and Tammany Hall. The trick is too thin.

The Earle of Lettrim, an Irish Lord, was assassinated last week whilst out riding on his premises. He was a hard landlord, and scores of his tenants had lately been served with a notice to quit. It is supposed that he was murdered by one of his tenants. His vast possessions and his title go to his nephew, the son of a clergyman. The London Times says the news of the assassination caused a great sensation in Parliament.

Austria and England appears to be drawing nearer and nearer together in opposition to Russia and the treaty of San Stefano. Austria is mad because she was not provided for in the treaty, by territorial extension, and England is mad because she fears her influence over Turkey is in danger. England and Russia appear to be on the very verge of war, because Russia refused to submit the whole treaty to the proposed Congress. Unless the whole treaty was submitted England refused to attend the Congress, and as it was proposed more to conciliate her than anything else, it has been abandoned. Prince Bismarck has proposed, as a means of averting war, that a European Congress be called to revise the treaties of 1856 and 1871, when Russia may put in the San Stefano treaty and urge its acceptance as a substitute for the old treaties. Lord Salisbury, the new English Secretary for Foreign Affairs, has published his circular to the powers, giving England's reasons for opposing the San Stifano treaty. It is a large protest against the policy of Russia in Turkey. After all, we do not think England intends to fight. It would be greatly to her injury to go to war with Russia to prevent the regeneration of Bulgaria, which may be Russian but never can be English. Turkey at present appears to be more friendly with Russia than with England.

Having succeeded in carrying his Presidential Election resolution through the Maryland Legislature, Mr. Montgomery Blair has transferred his operations from Annapolis to Washington. The Attorney-General of Maryland can do nothing in the matter until Congress passes an enabling act, and it is not likely that Mr. Hayes will sign such a bill, should Congress pass it. Mr. Blair may scare Mr. Hayes, and succeed in driving him from his conservative course to seek protection in the arms of the Radicals; that is about all he can do by his resolution, which is anything than a Southern measure. If Hayes will but come to terms with Blaine and Conkling and the nitries, Blair's resolution will not amount to a pinch of snuff. To prevent such a consummation, the Democrats in Congress will probably be forced to oppose the proposed act, to enable the Attorney-General to institute proceedings in the Supreme Court, to ascertain whether Tilden or Hayes was elected, when everybody knows that Tilden was, just as well as if the Supreme Court and pronounced the fact.

From our New York Correspondent.

[Expressly reported for the EASTON STAR.]

As a representative of this paper the undersigned was the holder of one of the 13,000 invitations to be present at the opening ceremonies of the great women's hotel. I was there and considering the subject of sufficient importance and interest, I will endeavor to detail some facts and figures concerning the project with my views as to its utility and benefit. About 20,000 persons visited this magnificent structure, situate at the N. E. corner of Thirty Second street and Madison Avenue, occupying 16 full lots. It is 197 feet and 6 inches in length on the Avenue and 205 feet on the streets; it is nine stories in height, being 155 feet high and is built around a court 100 feet square, in the centre of which is a fountain. The structure is absolutely fire-proof, composed entirely of iron, brick and stone and the style of architecture is the pure renaissance. It was begun nine years ago, costs $3,700,000 and is intended to accommodate 1,000 guests and 250 servants. It contains 503 sleeping rooms, six reception rooms, parlor library with 2576 volumes, and 5 elevators. This is about all I dare undertake in describing this palace, constructed by the late Alexander T. Stewart, who having died possessed of $30,000,000 no doubt desired to establish it as a monument to perpetuate that charity to the poor, or assistance to deserving helpless ones whose absence characterized his life and wealth. Should I venture into minor details and descriptions my report would extend beyond reasonable length; suffice it to say that the building is magnificent in construction, complete in its adornment, perfect in all its arrangements, and the comfort of the occupants in every particular of diet and attendance being assured, there remain but these two questions, the first of which is paramount to all others in Yankee minds is "will it pay?" and the second is "will it be useful and beneficial." About the first we need not concern ourselves very much because the founder generously considered that question before all others and would not have undertaken it if not affirmatively satisfied as to the result; the announcement is now made that it is not intended as a money speculation, but only to be self-sustaining and any deficiency would be paid by the estate. But as to the second question the public must be greatly interested and I beg to be mustered in the large army of the negative. It was originally intended as a home for poor working girls employed in the stores of the founder and others where they could live better and cheaper than formerly and still enjoy all the comforts and privileges of a home. Had this been promulgated then it would naturally have become a municipal god-send and in the stillness of the night 1,000 poor honest contented hearts would have joined in prayer to Him the giver of all, and asked his blessing upon their benefactor through whose instrumentality they were blessed. How has this illusion been destroyed? A palace is erected, furnished in conformity with its exterior grandeur and board provided for whom? For women with certificates of good moral character, who can pay from six to twelves dollars per week board and be hemmed in with stricter rules and regulations than are imposed at any hotel, or even a boarding-school. Among the thousands employed in New York city but very few earn more than seven dollars per. week, the average, only six, and from this sum they must pay their board, washing, and extra for use of bath rooms, car fare and lunch. This is the great charitable institution established by Alexander T. Stewart, projected for poor working women, and it is a good monument of its founder. any-thing else would be a mockery of his life!!! Let the dead rest in peace, but his mantle fell on an improper shoulder when it lighted on Henry Hilton.

The startling suicide of Mrs. Ann Lohman, better known as Mme. Restell astonished everybody. She was found in her bath-room in her palatial residence on 5th Avenue with her throat cut from year to year on the same day on which she was to plead to the indictment found against her by the grand jury. She lived in the handsomest house in our city and was estimated to be worth one million dollars. And so ends a career of 40 years of crime interlaced with two years in the penitentiary and two trials for child murder. Having seen her frequently I am able to endorse the description given of her personal; in former years she must have been a very beautiful woman and no one seeing her at home surrounded by her grand-children to whom she was so passionately attached would have selected her as the female hyena and murderess bereft of every womanly feeling.

The Eastern war-cloud thickens and the prospects now are that I may yet prove a good prophet and that before long a general European War will shake the Old and resuscitate the New World.

April fool is past and gone,
But other fools may yet be born.

ALEXIS.

The Pennsylvania Wheat Crop.

The Philadelphia Press of the 5th inst. says: "The latest crop returns from Pennsylvania show in the average of winter wheat an increase of 3 per cent., or 103, as compared with last year, the results of that period being accepted at 100. Winter rye stands 101, or an increase of 1 per cent. in acreage."

Yesterday I had such a bad cold that I could not speak. I used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and to-day I am as well as ever. It cost me only 25 cents.

A Story With a Moral.

Sergeant Acton of the Metropolitan police force, Washington, D. C., says his father-in-law, Samuel Entwistle, suffered with acute rheumatism for many years until he became entirely helpless. After spending more than hundreds of dollars for all the remedies and medicines he ever heard of, and using up at least a barrel of such without even experiencing temporary relief, he procured one bottle Keller's Roman Liniment, which cured him so completely as to enable him to throw aside his crutches and resume his work in the rolling mill at the government navy yard for the first time in many years, and that too without the least pain.

Governor Hampton has just received from the people of Anderson county, in his State, a birthday gift of a beautiful black Kentucky horse, he having a particular liking for black horses.

On Friday morning, Clemens Lloyd, 40 years of age, in a fit of jealousy shot and fatally injured his wife, and then fired three shots at himself, from the effects of which he died shortly after.

In ordering the discharge of Returning Board Anderson Chief Justice Manning, of Louisiana, said: "Judges may abhor a malefactor and yet refuse to condemn him contrary to law."

Ex-Auditor James Graham, late register of the Louisiana State land office, is dead, aged 67. He was surveyor of the port under President Polk, and United States marshal for Louisiana under Lincoln.

A special to the Constitution from Eatonton, Ga., states that the safe of the Treasurer of the Eatonton branch railroad was broken open and $6,000 taken; also $20,000 in notes and mortgages. There is no clue to the burglars.

A reduction of the tobacco tax has been agreed upon by the Ways and Means committee. The suggestion to fill the eight million hole it will make in the treasury by reimposing the income tax is not likely to be very popular.

The Chesapeake and Ohio railroad was sold at auction in Richmond, Va., Tuesday, for $2,750,000. The purchase was made by a committee in pursuance of a plan of reorganization in which over nine-tenths of the bondhol ers under Chesapeake and Ohio mortgages have united.

Sitting Bull, in his Canadian retreat, is said to be preparing to cross the border this spring, intent upon war. It is estimated that he can muster 2,000 armed and mounted warriors, while the only available force of soldiers on the frontier to meet him is about 1,000 men.

At Helena, a colored woman, advancing from the crowd, said: "Governor Hampton! You stay Governor! We's had a better time since you was made Governor than we's had since the war!" "You stay Governor!" is likely to be made the campaign motto in South Carolina this year.

At the anniversary of the Methodist Episcopal Church Extension Society, in New York, Friday, reports were read which showed that during thirteen years of hard work 2,132 churches had been aided and $1,350,000 disbursed, $400,000 of which was in the form of loans for church extension.

William Thomas, a blacksmith working at the ship-yards in Wilmington, Del., killed his wife during a family quarrel Friday night by cutting her throat with a razor. He then attempted suicide by cutting his own throat. Thomas is under arrest, but his recovery is very doubtful. He had been drinking hard lately.

A very remarkable fact is mentioned in connection with Edison's phonograph. A lady in New York sang a verse of "God Save the Queen," which was recorded by the phonograph, and the tin-foil sent to England. The tune was there reproduced, even with a false note which the singer had given.

Gen. B. F. Butler addresses a letter to the Boston Herald, stating that he favors the stopping of the funding of the public debt in order to meet the expected deficit of $20,000,000 in government revenues, and he is surprised that New England and New York Congressmen, by opposing the proposition, apparently invite the imposition of the income tax.

The contest over the will of the late Samuel Wood, who left the bulk of his property for founding "The Samuel Wood Musical College of the City of New York," has commenced in that city with the prospect that it will be very protracted, and afford unusually fat pickings for the legal persuasion. There are no fewer than fifteen parties to the suit.

Gov. Hampton, it is said, has written to President Hayes proposing that if the federal government will enter a nolle prosequi in all federal cases in South Carolina that come under the civil rights and reconstruction laws, the State government will dismiss all the cases pending which have any political character whatever, except the indictments against Patterson and Kempton.

A change has been made in the coinage of the silver dollar. The much-abused eagle is still there, but below the general surface of the coin. The Goddess of Liberty's head on the other side has also been depressed to prevent constant friction and wearing away. The dies are working better now than at first, consequently the coins issued lately have a smoother appearance and are of much finer finish than those first turned out at the mint.

Advices from Montreal, Canada, says that the demand for a particular class of horses for England is increasing. Several car loads of from eighteen to thirty each are being taken over the Grand Trunk railway daily, destined for Europe. They are intended for military service, and are branded with the letter "3." The country east and west is being searched for suitable horses for war purposes. Large shipments of cattle are also being forwarded from the lower provinces.

Two citizens of Winchester, Mass., have determined to present an equestrian statue of Lee to the State of Virginia. Martin Milmoyle is to be the sculptor. The Boston papers say the statue will be of bronze, cast at Chicopee, and that the base and pedestal are to be of Maine and Virginia granite, trimmed with Tennessee marble; that the contract for furnishing the material on the work has been awarded to Stephen Millmore, brother of the sculptor, and that he has received $500 on the first instalment of $800.

The Philadelphia Record, in an article on the decline of the Southern trade of that city, quotes one of its prominent merchants as saying: "While we are looking out for new markets abroad we should not neglect our own markets at home; yet it is a fact that our Southern trade is gradually slipping away from us. A comparison with former years will show that New York and Baltimore are beginning to monopolize the lion's share of the Southern trade, and unless our business men wake to the importance of the situation they will speedily find that their trade is irretrievably ruined. Even now the Baltimoreans are offering extraordinary advantages over all other cities to the Southern buyers."

Erzeroum in the recent war seems to have been a vast charnel house. During the past three months 9,500 Turkish soldiers have died in the various hospitals there, and probably at least as many civilians, making a total mortality of nearly 20,000 in Erzeroum alone in about twelve weeks. In January, the weather being then very severe, a detachment of 800 troops was sent over the mountains to Erzingham. Only 300 reached their destination. They were overtaken by a fearful snow storm The colonel had his wife and three children with him in a covered araba; he and they all perished. The hospitals at Erzeroum are full of cases of frostbite, some of them as severe as any cases on record. Twenty-seven soldiers without feet are under the charge of one surgeon alone; they had all been frostbitten and their feet had to be amputated.

A Great Historical Work.

The National Publishing Company of Philadelphia have sent us advance sheets of The Pictorial History of the World, embracing full and authentic accounts of every nation of ancient and modern times, and including a History of the rise and fall of the Greek and Roman Empires, the growth of the millions of Modern Europe, the Middle Ages, the Crusades, the Feudal System, the Reformation, the discovery and settlement of the New World, etc., etc., by JAMES D. MCCABE, a well-known historical writer. This is one of the most valuable works ever issued by an American publisher, and it is in all respects the most complete History of the World ever published. The author does not content himself with a mere dry statement of facts, but sketches the life and manners of the various nations of which he treats, in life-like colors, and points out the causes which led to the prosperity and decay of the great powers of the world. He shows us the famous warriors, statesmen, poets, sages, and orators of ancient and modern times, and makes them familiar to the reader. The book is a complete treasury of history, and there is not a question that can be asked concerning any historical subject but an answer to it can be found in this great work. It contains 1260 large double column pages, and is embellished with over 650 fine engravings illustrative of the events recorded in the narrative, embracing battles and other historical scenes; portraits of the great men of ancient and modern times; and views of the principal cities of the world. These engravings are genuine works of art, and were matchless cost of over $25,000. The great number and high character of these engravings make this the most valuable art publication of the century. We cannot too highly praise the numerous and beautiful portraits of historical personages with which it abounds. A marked feature of the work is a complete History of the late War between Russia and Turkey, which is the only complete account of this war in print. This is an appropriate time to read the History of the World, and we predict for this book an immense sale.

It is sold by subscription only, and the publishers want agents, as will be seen by their advertisement in another column.

Really an Elegant Thing.

The new Rocky Mountain Tourist, just from the Press, is indeed an artistic gem. In point of engravings, printing and descriptive it is beyond all question the handsomest publication of the character ever issued in the United States. There are in this work no less than sixteen of Thomas Moran's exquisite drawings, and among them his famous reproduction of the Mount of the Holy Cross. Of Moran's other matchless drawings are those of Grand, Glen, Marble, Knob and Boulder Canons, Twin Lakes, Teocalli Mountain, etc. Joseph Beard is represented by characteristic hunting sketches, filling by several exceedingly attractive mountain sketches, Lancelot by spirited drawings of the remarkable rock-sculpture on White River, and Henry Worrall by full page views at Veta Pass and Wagon Wheel Gap, as well as a large number of other very finely executed sketches in different portions of the western country. The engravings are for the most part large, the full quarto pages of the Tourist enabling the showing to the finest advantage of plates seven by ten inches. The book comprises sixty-four pages, exclusive of the cover, and printed as it is upon superfine sized and calendered paper of the richest finish, the effect throughout is superb. While a very model of typographical beauty, the Tourist is none the less practical in its range of information, time, distances, railroad and stage fares, hotel and livery rates being noted with uniform accuracy and in so easy and pleasing a manner as to entirely relieve the work of everything approaching the tedious detail of the average guide book. Containing no advertisements of whatever character, the new Rocky Mountain Tourist is a fit companion to Picturesque America in any gentleman's library. Specimen copy may be had without cost by writing to W. F. White, Topeka, Kansas.

BRITISH GRAIN TRADE.

LIVERPOOL, April 5.—Business has been dull this week, with the tendency rather in rather in favor of buyers. Trade off the coast and on passage has been quiet, and in some cases prices were easier on the spot. The rates of Tuesday were barely maintained. At this market today a fair business was done in wheat, sellers conceding one penny on red American and a penny to two pence per cental on white descriptions. Flour was dull and nominally cheaper. Corn was three pence per quarter lower than on Tuesday, buyers taking to a fair extent.

An Unjust Verdict.

If one of the many "put up" medicines prove ineffectual, all are condemned as nostrums. Is this right? Are all American citizens denounced as traitors because Benedict Arnold committed treason? Some refuse to use Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines, simply because they have used others without benefit. Dr. Pierce's preparations possess actual merit, and, if taken when indicated, the most sanguine expectations will be realized. His Golden Medical Discovery is the standard alterative and blood purifier in the market. Thousands of testimonials from those it has cured of consumption, dyspepsia, liver complaint, and various forms of skin diseases, are on file in the Doctor's office, certifying to its efficacy. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is relied upon by women to cure the many weaknesses and irregularities peculiar to their sex. For further information see the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, an illustrated work of nearly 1000 pages. Over one hundred thousand copies sold. Price $1.50, post-paid. Address the author, R. Murder in North Carolina.

WELDON, N. C., April 5.—John Young and a boy named Foster, both colored, were cutting a ditch in the lower part of this (Halifax) county yesterday, and did not returning last night search was made for the men. This morning the body of Young was found with his throat cut open with a spade. Foster was arrested quite near with the murder, and committed to jail.

The discussion in the Senate on the B. and O. Railroad bill will be found on our third page, and contains the substitute offered to the bill as now passed. The remarks of Senators McLane, Gorman, Davis and Bannon were very able. In the House the bill was opposed by Hon. Montgomery Blair in a lengthy speech and advocated by Messrs. Thomas, Baker and others. The speech of Mr. Thomas was listened to with marked attention. He has clearly demonstrated the fact that he is one of the ablest debaters in the State, and has won the confidence and respect of his brother members by his attention to his duties and the courtesy with which he treats all who are brought in contact with him. Governor Thomas has still a bright future in his native State.—Frederick Citizen.

The Will of Madame Restell.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Madame Restell's will was filed in Surrogate Court to-day. The entire estate is left in trust to C. B. Purdy and Mrs. Carrie Shannon, grandchildren of testator, but without right to sell or dispose of the principal. They are constituted executors with life interest and with reversion to their heirs after their death. Mrs. Purdy, her daughter, is left $3,000 a year.

The estate of Madame Restell is estimated to be worth about $600,000, and after deducting all claims against the estate the grandchildren will have an income of $40,000 to divide. It is believed that the heirs intend going to Europe next fall.

A Rattlesnake Story.

Mr. Jas. Davis has on exhibition in the New American Museum two large rattlesnakes, one of which the North Carolina Mountain Queen—his a pair of antlers. This is said to be the only horned snake that has ever been exhibited in this country. The snakes were snared by a mountaineer in McDowell county, North Carolina, who said that the horned snake made her appearance yearly, and then returned to a den of over five hundred snakes. All the other snakes seemed to treat the antlered one with the greatest respect, surrounding her like a body-guard and watching over her welfare.—New York World.

A Fatal Shot on the Stage.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 5.—To-night, at a variety performance here, Mdlle Volante, a trapeze performer, held an apple on her head, and Mrs. Jennie Fowler, known on the stage as Franklin, shot at the apple. The shooter stood with her back to the mark, taking aim by the reflection in a mirror The rifle was discharged, and Mdlle. Volante fell dead on the stage, shot through the forehead.

Better Advertise in the Papers.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Two merchants in Missouri have been arrested by secret service operatives for issuing advertisements in the form of national bank notes. Every person issuing any paper in the semblance of United States or national bank note currency is liable under the laws to be prosecuted and to pay a fine of $100 for every bill issued.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS are the best of all purgatives for family use. They are the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, and their extensive use, by Physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, proves them the best and most effectual purgative Pill that medical science can devise. Being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use. In intrinsic value and curative powers no other Pills can be compared with them, and every person, knowing their virtues, will employ them, when needed. They keep the system in perfect order, and maintain its healthy action the whole machinery of life. Mild, searching and effectual, they are specially adapted to the needs of the digestive apparatus, derangements of which they prevent and cure, if timely taken. They are the best and safest physic to employ for children and weakened constitutions, where a mild, but effectual, cathartic is required.

THE NEW ILLUMINATING OIL.

The "Domestic Compound"

gives a light superior to coal oil and

Is Warranted Non-Explosive.

It is the cheapest oil in use.
It is not greasy
It emits no disagreeable odor
It will not injure the most delicate fabric.
It burns in any lamp
Try it, and you will use no other.
It is patented

Having secured the territory for Talbot, Caroline and Dorchester counties, and thoroughly tested the oil, and found it all the patentee claims for it, and intending to make Easton my headquarters for the manufacture and sale of the oil, I recommend all to get a small quantity and try it, satisfied that they will have no other oil.

Remember it is NON-EXPLOSIVE and ABSOLUTELY SAFE.
