Preliminary

GLOSSY STARCH.

Put kerosene in starch and it will be very glossy.

[illegible]

When clean, dry it in a warm oven.

PLAIN CAKE.

[illegible] flour, one cup of butter, three eggs, one teaspoonful saleratus; thoroughly, but not too stiff. Lastly, add one cup of raisins.

TOO KEEN FLIES FROM CHEESE.

[illegible] and rubbing all every crack, crackle of hole with sifted lime.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD WITHOUT EGGS.

One pint corn meal, one of rye flour, one teaspoonful salt, one cup molasses, one pint sour milk, one teaspoonful saleratus; steam three hours, then bake fifteen minutes.

[illegible]

by spirits of camphor. Saturate a piece of flannel with it and put it in the place infested by them. It is also a sure remedy against [illegible]

TO REMOVE INK FROM LINEN.

Cover the spots with a plentiful supply of [illegible] and place the linen, and all stains will be entirely removed, without any injury to the fabric.

[illegible]

live light away by washing the crevices once a week with strong salt and water and by using [illegible]. Alum-water is also a good preventative used in the same way.

A STRONG INSECTICIDE

for spasms, cramps, sore throat and rheumatism is made as follows: Take a pint bottle and go to the drug store and have the apothecary put in it five cents worth of each ingredient, viz: gum camphor, [illegible], turpentine, sweet oil, and fill the bottle with spirits of wine, shake well and rub the parts affected.

BISCUIT.

Five cups of flour into which put two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar and one teaspoonful of salt; and if lard be used for shortening, rub into the flour two tablespoonfuls of lard [illegible] and moisten with milk. If butter be used it is desirable take one part of cream and one of buttermilk. This is also nice for the crust of meat pies.

SALLY LUNN.

Beat three eggs and one cup of sugar, and a large spoonful of butter or lard until it is very light; stir in enough flour to make a stiff batter; add half teaspoonful of saleratus dissolved in a little warm water, and pour the mixture into it, and set in a warm place to rise, which will require five or six hours; bake in a moderate oven three-quarters of an hour; eat warm for tea; it is delicious with butter.

[illegible]

Pick or shred a pint bowl of fish; wash it thoroughly in cold water until fresh enough; drain off the water, put into the spider with a quart of sweet cream or milk. When it boils add one heaping tablespoonful of wheat flour previously wet with sweet milk. Let it cook three minutes, season to the taste. Just before taking up stir in one egg and a piece of butter the size of a small hen's egg. If cream is used it will not need butter. Serve with baked potatoes; a dish for an epicure.

EGG OMELET.

Three eggs to each pint of milk, and a teaspoonful of flour or corn starch; dissolve the corn starch in a little of the milk and beat with the eggs, when they are light add the milk; have ready on the stove a hot skillet, in which a large lump of butter is melted; the mixture is then poured in, and as soon as the eggs begin to set keep lifting it from the bottom until it is all thickened; be careful not to let it remain on the fire until watery, but remove the instant it is done, and you will have a delicious omelet. Of course pepper and salt must be added to suit the taste. Do not make it until your breakfast is all ready, as it is best when just from the stove; a good cook has declared it very fine in addition to this omelet.

THE HAIR.

A very good remedy for thickening the hair and preventing it from falling out is to wash daily the scalp with sage tea, made by pouring boiling water over sage leaves, and allowing it to steep on the back of the stove. Another remedy, where baldness is the grievance, is to rub the bald place every night, before retiring, with a sliced onion and washing it off in the morning with castile soap. We have known this to raise a growth of hair on a head that had been bald seven years. It requires perseverance to be a success. Ammonia, diluted with water, (warm) in the proportion of one part of ammonia to two parts water is an excellent wash for the hair. It renders the hair clean, soft and smooth, and removes dandruff and dust from the scalp. A mixture of glycerin is washed off with pure water and dried with a towel.

ENGLISH PLUM PUDDING.

Two loaves of light bread, such as are sold at the bakers for ten cents, one pound of raisins, one pound of currants, one pound of citron sliced thin, two grated nutmegs, one teaspoonful of powdered cinnamon, twelve eggs, one half pound of butter, or two teacupfuls of minced suet, one cup of West India molasses, and a spoonful of soda and one of cream tartar; enough flour to make a very stiff batter; break the eggs in a large pan, and after removing all the crust from the bread grate, or rub it fine and put it in the eggs with the molasses, and beat all together for twenty-four to thirty minutes. Having cut and washed the fruit put it in and stir; then the spices and soda, mixing well after the addition of each ingredient; stir in the flour with the hands; and last of all flour the fruit and mix thoroughly through the batter; add one teaspoonful of cream tartar; have the pan well buttered; be ready for the bag or mould; have ready a pot of boiling water and put the pudding in it, and let it boil about five hours, turning it frequently, and keeping the pot filled with water from a boiling kettle. This can be made a week in cold weather; and as much can be mixed, put in a smaller bag and boiled one hour. The sauce for this pudding is made as follows: To one pint of boiling water add one pound of brown sugar, (good quality) one half pound of butter, the juice and grated rind of a lemon; let them simmer fifteen or twenty minutes, then mix one tablespoonful of flour with water, and stir it in the boiling mixture, keep it hot until wanted for use. As this pudding takes some time to prepare ready, it is always best to make it the day before when company is expected, as it is as good if not better after being warmed over and leaves so much more time for other work. This receipt can be relied upon as most excellent, as we have tested it time and again, and know from experience that it is good.

APPLETON'S

American Cyclopædia

NEW REVISED EDITION.

Entirely Rewritten by the Ablest

Writers on Every Subject.

Printed from New Type, and Illustrated with several thousand Engravings

TO 20 VOLS. 8vo. and More

:o:

The work originally published under the title of the New American Cyclopædia was completed in 1863, since which time the whole circulation which it has attained in the United States and throughout the world, from the discoveries and developments which have taken place in every branch of science, literature, and art, have induced the editors and publishers to submit it to an exact and thorough revision, and issue a new edition entitled

The American Cyclopædia.

Within the last ten years the progress of discovery in every department of knowledge has made a new work of reference an imperative want.

The movement of political affairs has kept pace with the discoveries of science, and the rapid application of the industrial and useful arts and convenience and refinement of social life. Great wars and consequent revolutions have occurred, involving national changes of peculiar moment. The civil war of our own country, which was at its height when the last volumes of the old work appeared, has happily been ended, and a new course of commercial and industrial activity has been commenced. Large accessions to our have been made to the indefatigable explorers of Africa.

The great political revolutions of the last decade, with the natural result of the lapse of time, who have brought into public view a multitude of new men, whose names are in every one's mouth, and of whose lives every one is curious to know the particulars. Great battles have been fought and important sieges maintained, of which the details are only preserved only in the newspapers or in the transient publications of the day, but which ought now to take their places in Permanent and Authentic History.

In preparing the present edition for the press it has accordingly been the aim of the editors to bring down the information to the latest possible date, and to furnish an accurate account of the most recent discoveries in science, of every fresh production in literature, and of the newest inventions in the practical arts, as well as to give a succinct and original record of the progress of Political and Historical Events.

The work was begun after long and careful preliminary labor, and with the most ample resources for carrying it on to a successful termination.

None of the original stereotype plates have been used, but every page has been

Printed on New Type, forming in fact, a new Cyclopædia, with the same plan and compass as its predecessor, but with a far greater pecuniary expenditure, and with such improvements in its composition as have been suggested by longer experience and enlarged knowledge

The Illustrations,

which are introduced for the first time in the present edition, have been added not for the sake of pictorial effect, but to give lucidity and force to the explanations in the text. They embrace all branches of science, and of natural history, and depict the most famous and remarkable features of the scenery, architecture, and art, as well as the various products of industry and manufacture. Although intended for instruction rather than embellishment, no pains have been spared to insure their Artistic Excellence.

The cost of their execution is enormous, and it is believed they will find a welcome reception as the cheapest and most perfect of the illustrated work, and worthy of its high character.

The American Cyclopædia is Now Complete, in sixteen large octavo volumes, each volume containing over 800 pages, fully illustrated with several thousand Wood Engravings, and with numerous Colored Lithographic Maps, the whole costing the publisher a sum exceeding

Five Hundred Thousand Dollars, exclusive of paper, printing, and binding.

one that will supersede all others, is now offered to the public at a very moderate price less than one cent a page!

Just think!

A Sewing of Ten Cents per Day,

the price of a cigar, or many other expenditures for luxuries or frivolities of a like amount, would pay for a complete set of the Cyclopædia by a bi-monthly subscription. Thus there will be something substantial saved, and a storehouse of knowledge, indeed

A Universal Library in Itself.

Specimens with but little trouble, sent free on receipt of postage, of the American Cyclopædia, showing type, illustrations, etc., will be sent gratis on application.

Persons wishing to subscribe, can receive the whole set at one time, or one or more volumes at any time, the delivery suiting their convenience, without any cost of carriage, by sending their address to
