Easton Star.

EASTON, MD.

TUESDAY, APRIL 30, 1878.

W. L. ROBSON, Editor.

There is no apparent change in the European situation. The preparations for war continue, but in the best informed circles, the impression prevails that there will be a diplomatic solution of the difficulty without war.

There is no kind of doubt that John Sherman participated largely by his importunities, advice, and promises in the great presidential steal of 1876. Now, is it well for the American name and credit, that such a political rogue as Sherman should be at the head of the Treasury Department? If he would participate in one dishonest job, would he not in any other, where there was any thing to be made by it? The House of Representatives ought to force Sherman to resign, and his resignation under such circumstances might compel Hayes also to step down and out of the place that of right belongs to Tilden. Down with Sherman.

At the great dog show in Baltimore last week, at which over 600 of the finest bred dogs in the country competed for valuable prizes, some dogs valued by their owners at $50,000, $10,000, $50,000 and even $100,000. Dallas dogs were awarded a good share of the honors. Owen Norris, Esq., of Miles River Neck, took the first premium for best fox hounds; and Bonnes, raised by Dr. Charles Tilghman, of this county, and entered by Mr. Latrobe, of Baltimore county, took the first premium as the finest pointer. Mr. Joseph B. Seth's English setter, Albert, was highly commended by the judges, but did not take a premium.

J. C. Keys & Co., hailing from 37 Bond Street, New York, and purporting to be adjusters of claims in the United States and Europe, are sending out letters, calculated to induce the credulous to fall into their trap. They claim to have discovered mining or other stock belonging to some one, and having first gotten hold of the signature of the party they undertake to swindle, they open a correspondence, and then if their proposed victim is green enough to shell out, they put him through a course of sprouts, and deliver the bogus stock. They are swindlers. Look out for them. Several letters from them have recently been received by parties in Easton. An investigation of the concern has been made in New York, and they are as bogus as their bogus stock.

We cannot see how Congress can now refrain from investigating the fraudulent counting in of Hayes as President, since the McLin and Dennis confessions and exposures have come to light. The prima facia case as it now stands is, that Hayes not only received the vote of Florida through infamous frauds, committed by election officers, but that Mr. Hayes had knowledge of the fraud, and rewarded with office the perjured scoundrels that committed the frauds. In this condition of the case, Congress will be derelict if it does not investigate the matter and lay the infamous case open before the country. After Congress once declares who is elected, we cannot see how the case can be opened under the constitution; but if both Houses of Congress should find and declare that the vote of Florida was secured to Hayes by fraud, and that in consequence thereof he should give place to the rightful claimant to the office, we cannot see how Hayes, as an honorable man, can continue to occupy the Presidency when it of right belongs to Mr. Tilden. The McLin-Dennis exposure is the heaviest blow yet dealt at the fraudulent President, and it will convince thousands of Republicans that the President is the creature of fraud who hitherto believed that Mr. Hayes was really elected. Senator Conkling spoke truly when he said recently, that when all the facts connected with the election of Hayes are fully made public, they will sink the President and his administration into the lowest depths of infamy. When Conkling so expressed himself, he did not know how soon the damaging facts would be made public.

We live at the bottom of an ocean of air and of necessity breathe more or less of the heavier poisonous germs constantly floating through it. To prevent such from asserting prejudicial effect upon the system, Dr. Bull's Blood Mixture should be used as its efficacy is simply wonderful.

Sending Crops Forward.

The crop correspondent of the New York Bulletin at Chicago says the farmers are not going to "hold back" for $1 on wheat this season, but are going to send forward at whatever price they can get. The farmers in this act on that experience which has taught them that "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

Mormonism on the Decline.

According to Gov. Emory, of Utah, polygamy is on the decline among the Mormons, and he gives a peculiar reason for the decline. It is attributable neither to missionaries nor to Bibles, but to the growth among Mormon women of a taste for extravagance and dress. The result is that the average Mormon finds it about all he can do to maintain one wife.

A Radical Campaign.

The election of Mr. Gorham, the secretary of the Senate, as secretary of the republican congressional committee is regarded as a notification that the campaign for members of the next House is to be conducted on a thorough radical programme. Mr. Gorham is one of the irreconcilables, and of course will carry his ideas into the management of the campaign.

United States Treasury Department.

Captain S. A. Johnson, Chief of Bureau Records and Files and Mail, Messrs. J. H. Eldredge and Thomas B. Price, in the office of the Secretary of the Treasury, Geo. A. Bartlett, Assist. in charge of Mail Room, and scores of other well-known gentlemen in the public service after personal experience and observation have heartily endorsed Keller's Roman Liniment and recommended the same as an unequaled pain relieving and healing article.

A Mistake Corrected.

While riding in a Niagara-street car at Buffalo, N. Y., said Mr. A to Mr. B, "I was mistaken the other day." "How?" said Mr. B. "You remember we were talking of Dr. Pierce and his Invalids' and Tourists' Hotel, and I questioned the Doctor's ability to cure catarrh or consumption, and stated that a friend had used his medicines with but little or no relief. To satisfy you I wrote to my friend, and here is his reply:—

DECATUR, Ill., August 6th, 1877.

FRIEND A:

In reply to yours, just received, asking what effect Dr. Pierce's medicines had on me, I would say, three years ago I expected to die with consumption. I had long suffered with catarrh, my throat and lungs were badly affected, and my system was rapidly breaking down. I had tried many physicians and remedies without benefit. Having seen good results follow the use of Dr. Pierce's Medicines, I resolved to give them a thorough trial. In six months time I was entirely cured. No medicines stand higher, in my estimation, than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. They not only saved my life, but have made me a hearty and strong man.

Very truly yours, S. M. IRWIN.

Personal.

Col. George P. Kane, Mayor of Baltimore, is seriously ill.

Mr. William Orton, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, died in New York last week.

While the great Presidential election fraud was being exposed at Washington last week, Hayes and secretaries Devens and Schurz were junketing at Philadelphia. If Hayes don't feel mean now, he must have as much cheek as a professional bummer.

The Electoral Fraud in Florida.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 23.—The Daily Sun and Press announces that McLin, Secretary of State under Stearns, and L. G. Dennis, the "little giant" of Alachua county, have made confessions in writing of frauds in 1876, by which Florida was carried for Hayes. Dennis covers fully all the details of the Archer precinct frauds, which played so important a part before the returning boards. He says 24 ballots were put on the return of Archer after voting. McLin's confession is said to cover all the transactions before the State canvassing boards. These confessions were in the hands of the present Secretary of State Bloxham, and have been forwarded to Washington.

After Dennis made his confession eleven indictments against him, found in Alachua and Levy counties, were nolle prossed. McLin, it is said was rewarded, but how is not known. The daily Sun and Press of to-morrow morning will close an editorial as follows: "These gentlemen have unbosomed themselves, and their written statements have gone to Washington. The Archer fraud is fully developed, and the littled crookedness in Baker is laid bare, and also the secrets of the State canvassing board at Tallahassee.

Bishop McCoskry, who is still in New York, declines to be interviewed. He has, however, written a letter to an old friend in Philadelphia, Mr. Peter Williamson, of the following import:

"A miserable vagabond, who has been in prison, professes to have some letters written by me more than five years ago to a poor orphan girl. They have been published, and I suppose you have read them. The imitation of my hand writing is said to be good. We go back to Detroit, as I am too good a soldier to retreat while a gun is firing. If I am to be stricken down by the hand of an assassin I shall fall with my whole armor on."

As has already been stated, Mrs. Banister, née Fanny Richards, denies that there ever existed criminal intimacy between Bishop McCoskry and herself. The four letters, all she had received from him, were of a common-place character. She says her father had been a member of the British Parliament for Greenwich; on his death-bed he had written to Bishop McCoskry requesting him to act as her guardian, a trust the bishop had accepted; as such he had had the custody of money sent for her support by her uncle, who had been a classmate of the bishop's at Oxford. She denies that Bishop McCoskry had ever paid a single cent for her schooling or anything else, except from her own moneys; she further denies that she ever acted as the bishop's amanuensis.

The N. Y. Herald says the story about Bishop McCoskry was offered to the Herald before it appeared in the Chicago Times, but it was declined on the ground that the immorality charged had not come under the cognizance of any court of justice or ecclesiastical body, and that the press has no right to make men infamous by publishing calumnies which can be traced to no responsible source.

A Very Valuable History.

The Pictorial History of the World, embracing full and authentic accounts of every nation of ancient and modern times, and including a History of the rise and fall of the Greek and Roman Empires, the growth of the nations of Modern Europe, the Middle Ages, the Crusades, the Feudal System, the Reformation, the discovery and settlement of the New World, etc., etc., by James D. McCabe. Published by the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, Pa., Chicago, Ill., St. Louis, Mo., and Dayton, Ohio.

It is a well-known fact that the great mass of the people are compelled to rely, for their knowledge of history, upon the outline works intended for the use of schools which by their very nature are brief and only designed for the comprehension of children. There has long felt a genuine want of a more elaborate History of the World, covering the whole period from the creation to the present day, and presented in a succinct and entertaining form the history of the various nations of the world. This demand we are happy to say is being met in "The Pictorial History of the World," a work which is destined to take rank as a Standard History. It is from the pen of James D. McCabe, a well-known historical writer, who has devoted years of study and research to the production of this great work. The book is literally what it professes to be—a complete History of the World—for it gives a clear and concise account of every nation that has ever flourished upon the globe. The history of each country is related separately, and in the clearest and most comprehensive manner, and the deeds of all the great actors in the events of ancient and modern history are brought before the reader in the most vivid style. Ancient History is related in full, and the accounts of the Middle ages, the Crusades, and the great nations of modern times, are equally complete and interesting. There is not a dry page in the book. It is as fascinating as a romance, and at the same time one of the most valuable works of reference ever published. We are constantly called upon to discuss the great questions of history, and the wars and quarrels of the nations of the old world require us to be continually refreshing our historical knowledge. So many discoveries have recently been made, so many of the old ideas and traditions have been exploded and shown to be mere myths and legends, that the subject of history may be said to be almost entirely new, and he who was well informed twenty years ago will find himself on the to discuss intelligibly upon historical subjects now unless he has kept up with the advance of historical research.

The mechanical execution of the book fully sustains the high reputation of the publishers. It contains 1,200 large double column pages, and over 600 fine engravings, illustrating the events recorded in the narrative, embracing battles and other historical scenes; portraits of the great men of ancient and modern times, and views of the principal cities of the world. The engravings in this book are genuine works of art, and were made at a cost of over $25,000. The great number and high character of these engravings make this the most valuable art publication of the century. A prominent feature of the work is a full History of the late War between Russia and Turkey.

This is the most complete and valuable History of the World ever published, and the price is so low that every one can afford to purchase a copy. It is sold by subscription only, and Mr. A. Molyneaux, who is the authorized agent for this section, is now canvassing for it. ap23-3t

Various Causes—

Advancing years, care, sickness, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition—all operate to turn the hair gray, and either of them inclines it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR will restore faded or gray, light and red hair to a rich brown or deep black, as may be desired. It softens and cleanses the scalp, giving it a healthy action, and removes and cures dandruff and humors. By its use falling hair is checked, and a new growth will be produced in all cases where the follicles are not destroyed or glands decayed. Its effects are beautifully shown on brashy, weak or sickly hair, to which a few applications will produce the gloss and freshness of youth. Harmless and sure in its operations, it is incomparable as a dressing, and is especially valued for the lustre and richness of tone it imparts. It contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil or color with camphor, yet it lasts long on the hair, and keeps it fresh and vigorous.

THE NEW ILLUMINATING OIL

The "Domestic Compound"

gives a light superior to coal oil and

Is Warranted Non-Explosive.

It is the cheapest oil in use.
It is not greasy
It emits no disagreeable odor
It will not soil the finest fabric.
It burns in an ordinary lamp
Try it, and you will use no other.
It is unrivaled.

Having secured the territory for Talbot Caroline and Dorchester counties, and thoroughly tested the oil, and found it all the patentee claims for it, and intending to make Easton my headquarters for the manufacture and sale of the oil, I recommend all to get a small quantity and try it, satisfied that they will afterwards use no other oil.

Remember it is NON-EXPLOSIVE and ABSOLUTELY SAFE. J. F. KELLEY.
