ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH, Rev. Father E. L. Brady, Pastor.—Sunday Service, 9 and 11 A. M. Mass, every day at 11 A. M.

—Ask for the Excelsior Cook. Have no other. It is the best.

—The communication of Rev. J. H. L. is unavoidably postponed till next week.

—Mr. Chas. W. Bennett will please accept our thanks for late Kansas city papers.

—Hon. D. M. Henry, M. C., will accept our thanks for congressional documents.

—The firemen's shooting match did not come off on Christmas day, in consequence of the rain.

—Ask for Sellers' Liver Pills. No others possess half their virtue. 25c. per box. Sold by all druggists.

—For North Carolina heart and sap shingles go to E. E. Jackson & Co., 18 West Falls Avenue, Baltimore. tf —Christmas day was about as rainy and disagreeable a day as we have had in these parts for a long time.

—You bet, when coughs and colds are flying about like gnats in a storm, Dr. Sellers' Cough Syrup is a sure cure.

—Hon. John Jay Knox, Comptroller of the Currency, will please accept our thanks for a copy of his late annual report.

—Shingles, laths, pickets, fencing, etc., for sale at lowest cash prices by E. E. Jackson & Co., 18 West Falls Avenue, Baltimore. tf

—If you want a nice hat for a New Year's present you can get it at J. H. Linthicum's. M. M. Higgins, also has a fine assortment.

—For seasoned flooring, weather-boarding, and all kinds of building lumber, go to E. E. Jackson & Co., 18 West Falls Avenue, Baltimore. tf —Messrs O. Hammond and C. H. Gibson will sell Mr. J. J. Grogan's personal property on the 12th of January. See their advertisement in the STAR.

—$70,000 to loan on first mortgages. Wanted and for sale—horses, cows, mules, and farming implements. Anything a farmer wants.

dec 16tf HIRSON.

—We would call particular attention to D. M Patty & Co's advertisement for men to sell nursery stock. To men out of employment this is a rare opening. nov 18 3m

—Mr. Martin Lucker, at Minnick's, has a fine assortment of clocks, watches, and fine silver ware and jewelry which are splended for New Year's gifts.

—Mr. Daniel R. Cox, of Landing Neck, having declined farming, will sell his live stock and farming implements on Wednesday, the 14th of January. See his advertisement in the STAR.

—The Baltimore weekly Sun is now supplied by Prof. Minnick at one dollar a year. Any daily, weekly, monthly or quarterly is furnished by him at publishers' rates free of postage to any address. He is agent for all the publishers.

—Those of our subscribers who change their residence at the beginning of the new year, will oblige us by letting us know their new post office, so that we may change the direction of their paper when we correct our mail list next week.

—The "Blizzard" made his descent upon us the day after Christmas, and sent the mercury in the thermometer down to 20 degrees above zero. In some places in the northwest, the thermometer has been registering the cold at from 30 to 50 degrees below zero.

—Ex-Sheriff Griffin opened at William J Shehan's old stand in the Easton market on Saturday, with a fine corn fed beef, bought of A. H. Barnett, Esq., of Trappe. If Mr. Griffin makes as good a butcher as he did a sheriff, he cannot fail to become popular among the meat buyers. We wish him success in his new vocation. Mr. Shehan is going to move out on his "Peach Blossom" farm, and try farming.

—The Ledger is on the rampage because the STAR noticed the arrival of Hon. Michael Bannon in Easton a few days ago. It says: "of the motives and purposes of his visit we know nothing," and then the writer proceeds to state what brought him here—the same as conjectured by the STAR—showing that we did the gentlemen no injustice. The Ledger writer impertinently abuses everybody he supposes to differ wit h him in his views and opinions. This is so characterister there is no mistaking from whence comes the inspiration. If Col. Lloyd can carry such a load and survive he must have a political constitution stranger than Mr. Gladstone's.

—Prof. Rider, the Jewish Rabbi, who was converted at the late Moody and Hammond revival in Baltimore, will preach at the M. P. Church next Sunday morning and evening. On Monday evening, the 5th prox., Prof. Rider will deliver his lecture at the church upon the Tabernacle of the Jews. He will appear in the full dress of a high priest, and will have a miniature fac simile of the Tabernacle, with everything used in connection with it. The lecture will be of interest to all lovers of things antiquarian. The curiosity seeker will be entertained, and all will no doubt be pleased to hear so interesting a subject treated by one who has been in a position to know whereof he speaks. The admission fee will be small. Proceeds to go to the Sunday School.

EDITOR STAR:—Will you please advise me if there is any legal authority upon the part of the Collector of Taxes to make a charge of fifty cents for delivery of tax bills—tax bills, say for 1879. I refer to cases where parties have failed to receive tax bills.

Does the law require the collector to deliver tax bills in person?

ALPHA.

Answer to 1st Query—We should say a collector has no right to make a charge for the delivery of a tax bill. The bill must be delivered 30 days before he can execute a delinquent. We think there must be some mistake about the tax collector making a charge for delivering tax bills—it may be for scheduling property 30 days after the delivery of the bill.

Answer to 2nd Query—We are not able to answer the second query, because we do not know that the question has ever been adjudicated by our Court of Appeals. As the collector must swear to the delivery of the tax bill and notice in making his special return, in case of a sale of real estate for taxes, we should say it would be best for the collector, at least 30 days before advertising the property of a delinquent tax payer, to deliver in person the bill and notice the law requires.

Wanted.

Sherman & Co., Marshall, Mich., want an agent in this county at once, at a salary of $100 per month and expenses paid. For full particulars address as above. nov25-1y

No More Sick Horses and Cattle.

Read the advertisement in the STAR headed "Proclamation," respecting the English Condition Powders, for horses and cattle. They have cured thousands of cases considered incurable. dec 9-1y

Furniture.

Benjamin Waskey, 208 West Pratt street, Baltimore, agent for manufacturers of furniture, mattresses, bedding, and house furnishing goods, invite a call from the citizens of the Eastern Shore when they come to the city. He is selling setts of walnut and cottage furniture made in the very best manner, as cheap as the cheapest. nov4-6m

The Children's Holiday.

There will be given at the Music Hall on Thursday evening next, the beautiful Christmas cantata, entitled Santa Claus, participated in by nearly fifty voices, under the direction of Mr. L. Dodson, Jr. The whole piece is something entirely new, abounding in sparkling music and striking tableaux, and will be rendered in new and beautiful costumes. Admission 25 cents. Tickets at Dawsons'.

A Visit to Baltimore

Will prove highly advantageous by inspecting C N Oehm & Son's immense one-price clothing establishment. A grand assortment of men's overcoats, ulsters and suits, ranging in price from $5 00 to $30 00, is now on exhibition, comprising all leading novelties for the present season. Their handsome boys & Children's oversacks, ulsters and suits for schools and dress at $2 50 and upwards are the delight of the little folks. Genuine low prices for well made garments is their motto, and we advise everyone before purchasing to call on C N Oehm & Son 209 W. Pratt st., 95 Hanover st, adjoining City Bank, Baltimore.

Don't Forget

the beautiful Cantata of "Santa Claus" at Music Hall next Thursday, (New Years evening.)

All the Difference.

It is not what people eat, but what they digest, that makes them strong. It is not what they gain, but what they save, that makes them rich. It is not what they read, but what they remember, that makes them learned. It is not the good they profess, but the good they practice, that makes them righteous. It is not what they pay for one of G. W. Beck's celebrated Excelsior Cooking Stoves, but the good things they can cook in it, that gives them pleasure.

For the STAR.

TO JUNIUS:

I cannot undertake to criticise the composition of your second letter to the Gazette, or the defense of your first letter therein contained. I have neither time nor inclination to do so, and I do not care to trespass upon the good nature of the STAR, further than I conceive to be necessary to sustain myself, with reference to the Local Option demonstration and resolutions passed at the Town Hall, some time ago. All this I assure you, arises from no consideration for you. Your vain pretense at learning that you do not possess, deserves some more severe rebuke than that I gave you in my second communication, published in the STAR. And in order that you cannot say that I write this because you are invulnerable I will simply refer to one of the many points of just and proper criticism, in your letter: The verb to lay is an active transitive verb requiring an object. How can you defend its use in the following sentence: "a man lay in a felon's cell"? I promise, if necessary, to point out twenty-five additional inaccuracies and inelegancies. One who undertakes to quote from Juvenal, when he cannot correctly write his own language, need not inform his readers that he is not at all acquainted with the pages of Blair and Whately; neither do I care to notice your innuendoes cast upon certain officials, further than to say that they prove you to be both a coward and a bad citizen—a coward, because you do not put your charges in such language that one injured by them may take hold of the words used and hold you accountable in a suit for libel or slander. A bad citizen, because if the grand jury was packed, or one of them bought liquor, or they shielded violators of the law by the manner in which questions were asked, and thereby perjured themselves, it was your bounden duty to take steps towards punishing the guilty parties. A man may be injured by a nod of the head in a meaning way, a wink of the eye, the manner in which a question is asked, or by a thousand other devices; and often, by such means, one's character is ruined unless his life is a complete refutation of the charge intimated. Thus one who says to his neighbor, "Is it true that Mr. A. was intoxicated yesterday?" or "did you hear that Mr. B. had forged his brother's name to a check?" or, with a significant nod of the head and wink of the eye, "You don't know as much about Mr. C. as I do," does quite as much harm as if he had affirmed, that A. was drunk, B a forger, and C a grand scoundrel.

I still believe that the resolutions passed at the Town Hall meeting were the result of Republican influence, to try and make democrats dissatisfied with their party. The republicans in this State and county seize upon anything at all that they think will bring them into power.—They are "Reformers," "Potato bugs," "Independents," "Working men," "Temperance party," "Local Opinions," or any thing at all to beat democrats. Immediately after the election a communication appeared in the Gazette charging that republicans had been beaten by whiskey men, and that anti-Local Option men had been elected to office, as if they shouldn't be as well as others. In the community and close upon this followed the town hall meeting. It may be wrong to connect the two things together, but it will be difficult to convince one that it is.

A word or two more and I have done. I make no attack upon the character of the gentlemen who passed the resolutions in question for their general honesty of purpose, intelligence and standing in the community; but I condemn them for passing a series of resolutions and publishing them, reflecting very seriously upon the characters of other gentlemen, equally honest, equally as good, and standing equally as well in the community as they, without also publishing the authority for the censure; and I affirm, that until they do publish their authority therefor, good citizens who can consider the matter dispassionately will not justify the course they have pursued. Why are not affidavits producing showing the statements made by witnesses and their names? Let the members of the Jury have an opportunity to vindicate themselves in a court of law. Why push one man to the wall for alleged violations of the Local Option law and shield another from a prosecution for perjury? The resolutions cannot be sustained or justified by saying that they were based "upon long continued knowledge and constantly accumulating proof that a law was being grossly outraged no attempts being made to produce the guilty parties," unless they who had such knowledge and possessed such proof went before the jury. Did they? If so who are they? What did they testify to? Let the public know all about it. Produce affidavits. Everybody is interested. All the Local Option men were not in the confidence of the big ones at the meeting. Nor is it sufficient to say that they who passed the resolutions acted conscientiously, or that they would confess a wrong, or that their actions were based upon pure and just motives, or that they believed they were doing right, or that that the same thing had been done a thousand times before; not only because such defense does not sound well from one of their number, but because that is no excuse for arraigning the jury for perjury—that is the effect of their resolutions nothing less—unless there was warrant for it. As good citizens they cannot charge crime upon their fellows and expect to be sustained by the community unless they produce the testimony upon which they found the charge. Produce affidavits and let the next grand jury do some investigating. Under the charge of the Court, and the interpretation of the Local Option law that any reasonable man must put upon it, the late grand jury could do nothing less than recommend the granting of licenses in Chapel district. A Local Option grand jury with a prominent Local Option man a few years since did the same thing. Do you condemn that jury or that formant? The people of Chapel in a "fair, square and open fight," decided that the sale of liquor should not be restricted within their district. Who empowered the late grand jury to make a law for them and prevent its sale?

From its very nature the Local Option law is a discriminating one, and bears in its operation unevenly upon the members of a community. While those who have the means can buy in quantities elsewhere, those who are not able to buy more than a pint or drink at a time, must either go without or aid and abet in the violation of the law, and forasmuch as it attempts to control one's appetite, it is difficult to discover violations of it, because those favored by the guilty ones, by a very plausibly argument, may justify themselves in disregarding an oath, and declining to be the means whereby one who has accommodated them should be punished therefor. No one can know what passes in a grand jury room because the members are sworn to secrecy. The manner of examining witnesses, the testimony produced, and the considerations urged cannot be divulged and while no one denies the right of one citizen publicly to criticise the official acts of another, it is insisted that it ought to be done only upon good authority. This is especially so in the case of a grand jury for the reasons stated. Their lips are sealed; they cannot say anything except under process of law, others cannot know what passes in the jury room. In the case of a petit jury the evidence is public, the arguments before a Court are public as well as the Court's decision and the reasons given for it, and the facts upon which a legislator bases his action are known as well to his constituents as to himself. If there were reasons for the censure of the late grand jury the community at large have a right to know them. I only add in conclusion that no grand juryman had anything to do with the correspondence now closed, nor were any of them consulted with reference to it.

MANY CITIZENS.

[COMMUNICATED.]

EDITOR STAR: The negro exodus still "booms" All are familiar with the disgusting scenes of filth, poverty and wretchedness attending the first attempt, and it was thought there would not be a repetition.

Week before last there arrived at Washington city a motly crowd of negroes, compesed of men, women and children—the latter from 1 to 10 years of age. They were en route from points in North Carolina, and destined for Wyandotte county, Indiana. Arriving at Washington their funds became exhausted, and the "mess" tumbled into an African church building; a meeting was organized and loud and boisterous language became the order; some of the MINISTERS heaped anathemas upon the heads of the Southern people, and declared that the South should be laid in ashes for the reason that the poor colored man had been driven from their old homes. It is a well-known fact, that this "exodus business" was originated by the managers of the Radical party, and that it was inaugurated for the purpose of depopulating the SOUTHERN cities and increasing the VOTING population at the West.

Reaching Washington the "exodusers" found no one to meet and send them on their way rejoicing, and they were compelled to "squat down" in a small church building and beg for bread.

Such duplicity upon the part of Radical managers calls forth the condemnation of all decent citizens. It is apace with the mismanagement, wholesale swindling and stealing in connection with the Freedman's Bank. In this particular connection you took occasion some months since to offer to the colored people of this county some wholesome thoughts relative to their status, and to shew why they should act with the Democratic party. Born in our midst they can readily determine as between OLD friends and an element from abroad; remunerative wages may be had for their labor, a liberal educational system (it is universally acknowledge that the public school system in our State is the most perfect in America) has been provided for the colored race, public schools for the exclusive use of colored children are to be found in every direction, the laws are administered without partiality, and a black man has the same status before our courts as has the white man.

It is an historical fact (in connection with the changed condition of the colored race) that our State WAS THE FIRST to establish colored schools supported by general taxation.

If space would permit we could point to many reasons to shew that the colored race has every opportunity to become useful in their sphere by an alliance with the native whites of the South.

Yours Truly, M. H.

State Station.

For the handsomest and cheapest slate and marble mantles made in Baltimore, go to J. Coyle & Brother, 350 West Pratt street. They have a secret in the manufacture of slate mantles not known to other workers in slate, which enables them to sell a handsomer article for less money than any other house. Their designs cannot fail to please. nov6-1y

The Pinkney Entertainment.

Not withstanding the rain, the entertainment given by the Pinkney Literary Society at Music Hall on Christmas night was largely attended. The performance was excellent, consisting of "The Virginia Mummy," "Mrs Jarley's Wax Works," and vocal music by Professor Mortimer's singing class, Mr Charles H Hughes playing the accompaniment on the organ. Mr Mortimer's class of Juveniles sang most charmingly, and added vastly to the entertainment by filling the time between the plays with sweet songs that would otherwise have proved tedious to the audience. We have not space, to enter upon a critical notice of the performance of the several actors, but cannot dismiss the subject without paying a compliment to Mr Harry M Mason, who played "Ginger Blue" in the Virginia Mummy, and to Mr George O Garey, who played Mrs Jarley. Mr Mason certainly plays a negro character admirably, and Mr Garey made a most excellent Mrs Jarley. Some of his local hits were highly enjoyed by the audience. After the conclusion of the entertainment at the hall, the Society, the singing school, and a few invited guests partook of an elegant supper at the Brick hotel, served up for the Pinkneys by the proprietor, Mr E C Green, consisting of oysters served in various styles, bread and butter, coffee, turkey, chicken, chipken salad, turkey salad, celery, corn beef, beef's tongue, and numerous other good things. After the removal of the cloth, several toasts were drunk in pure water, no wine being on the table, and speeches made by Professor Chaplain, Mr Charles H Hughes Mr Charles G Wright, Mr George O Garey and others. The banquet was much enjoyed by all present. We understand the expense was met by the members of the Pinkney Society out of their private funds, it being a law of the Society that all money made by their entertainments shall go to the library fund, to buy books for the use of the Society. May the Pinkneys long live and flourish, to enjoy many more Christmas banquets.

THE Grantites have been christened "Third Term High Jinks."
