THE EASTON STAR

EASTON, MD.

TUESDAY, JULY 20, 1880.

T. K. ROBSON, Editor.

FOR PRESIDENT,

GEN. WINFIELD SCOTT HANCOCK of Pennsylvania.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

HON. WILLIAM H. ENGLISH, of Indiana.

—:o:—

FOR ELECTORS,

At Large—L. NEVITT STEELE,
" J. T. C. HOPKINS.
1st Dist.—LEVIN L. WATERS.
2nd Dist.—PATRICK WALKER.
3rd Dist.—JOHN R. McNULTY.
4th Dist.—WILLIAM H. WELSH.
5th Dist.—RICHARD W. W. BOWIE.
6th Dist.—WILLIAM M. PRICE.

A Western Democratic paper says the W. S. in Gen'l Hancock's name stands for "Will Succeed." We believe it is about right, and have no kind of doubt that the General "will succeed" his fraudulency, R. B. Hayes, in the White House.

THE Springfield Republican (Rep.) Mass.) is neither pleased with Garfield as a candidate, nor with his letter of acceptance. It says: "As far as Garfield's own statements of his principles goes, the verdict must be, thou art weighed in the balances and art found wanting."

His name is Wm. M., and not Wm. R. Price. So says Mr. Price, in reply to the remarks we made last week in the STAR, respecting the Democratic elector for the 6th district. Those papers who have the the name Wm. R., such as the Hagerstown Mail, the Maryland Union, and Democratic Advocate, &c., should at once make the correction.

MAJOR GEORGE W. MURBHY and James M. Caldwell, Esq., both leading lawyers and influential Republicans of Alleganey county, Pennsylvania, have come out for Hancock and English, joined a Democratic campaign club, and will take an active part to swell Hancock's majority in the Keystone State. The Hancock boom goes bravely on.

DR. TANNER, of New York city, is torturing himself with a forty days' starve. He has already gone 22 days without food, but finding himself growing weak and nervous and losing strength rapidly, at the end of sixteen days, last Wednesday, he drank about a pound of water, took a ride in Central Park, recovered his strength, and is now doing splendidly. It is believed he will fast the 40 days, if the Croton water holds out.

THE Hancock and English Club met again on Tuesday night, Capt. Wm. H. Smith in the chair, Capt. James A. Ridgely in the absence of the secretary was adopted, and the following committee appointed to enroll the Democratic voters, who may desire to join the Club: Capt. Edward Roberts, J. Frank Turner, Wm. Reddie, Thomas Hughlett and Caleb Griffin. The next meeting of the club will take place on Tuesday evening, August 3rd.

Our Next Congressman.

The time is rapidly approaching when the Democrats of this congressional district will be called upon to nominate a candidate for Congress.

We are not of those who place any great importance on the claims set up by counties for the candidate. Our rule is, that the best and most available man should be selected, without regard to locality, and that is generally indicated in advance of a nomination by public sentiment in various ways.

When the people want a man, they will call for him. When they do not want him, they will remain silent towards him.

Neither do we think because a man has been in Congress two or more terms, that should debar him from a re-election. If a man proves himself worthy during his first term, courtesy should give him a second election. If his talents are of such a commanding order as to make him conspicuously useful to his district and the country, and his influence in Congress is recognized as essential to the best interest of his party, then he should be continued in the councils of the nation. We have at present a most worthy member of Congress, and we believe he has faithfully endeavored to discharge his duties in the House; but it is not claimed that his statesmanship is of that superior order as to demand that he be continued in Congress, term after term, like Clay and Webster were.

And we think this is clearly indicated by public sentiment in the district, for there is no clamoring anywhere outside of Dorchester for Mr. Henry's re election, and even there it is of the mildest type.

There are several other gentlemen spoken of in connection with the nomination, any one of whom would make the district a respectable representative. Mr. John B. Brown, of Queen Anne's, Mr. P. W. Downes, of Caroline, T. J. F. Rider, of Wicomico, Mr. James U. Dennis, of Somerset, Mr. George W. Covington, of Worcester; Mr. James A. Pearce, of Kent; and Charles H. Gilson, of Talbot, in connection with the nomination.

We have watched the current of public sentiment pretty closely, and, with the exception of Mr. Gibson, we do not think the claims of either of these gentlemen are scarcely spoken of, much less pressed, outside of their respective counties. The talk about the so-called "Ring" being for either of them is all gammon. The fact is, it is supporting neither for the nomination, but will support the election of whomsoever is nominated, as will all good Democrats. The friends of Mr. Dennis say the "Ring" is for Mr. Covington; the friends of Mr. Brown say it is for Mr. Gibson; the friends of Mr. Malone say it is for Mr. Rider; all of which proves to our mind conclusively that the "Ring is taking no part in the contest, and whoever is nominated will be nominated on his own merits, without regard to Western Shore or official influence.

Mr. Gibson is really the only one of the candidates named in this connection who can be said to have any considerable following outside of his own county. He has the talents and the address to command a popularity wherever he is known While he is the unanimous choice of Talbot, he has a host of friends in Queen Anne's, Kent and Caroline, and not a few strong friends in the other counties where he is less personally acquainted. He is an eloquent and able speaker, and cannot fail to make a conspicuous member of Congress.

And it is worthy of mention, that while Mr. Gibson is strong with his own party, he is popular with the Republicans. The American Union (Rep.) says: "Mr. Gibson is a young man of talent, a good debater, popular with all, and would make as able a representative as has been sent from this district for many years past. In refusing him the nomination, the Democratic party might go farther and do worse."

The Easton Gazette (Rep.) says: "The Christiana Leader (Rep.) suggests that the democracy put another aspirant in the field for Congressional honors, and names Henry Page, Esq., as the man. We can't exactly see how Republicans have any put in the fight, but if they have, we would prefer to put forward Mr. Charles H. Gibson, of Easton, above any other name mentioned. Fidelity to party, ability, prominence before the people, and a determination to discharge his duty in any position he has held, entitles him to it."

These extracts go very far to show how the popular current is running; and should Mr. Gibson receive the nomination, it is not likely that the Republicans would run a man against him, as he is "popular with all." And when a man is on a flood tide, as Mr. Gibson appears to be at this time, and all the elements are in his favor, a wise party policy will dictate that that is the time to nominate him. Mr. Gibson would carry the district with a rush. He is especially popular with the young men, and would rally them to the standard of Hancock and English as no other man in the district could do. His clarion voice would enthuse the democracy from Kent to the ocean-bound shores of Worcester, and arouse a patriotic feeling that would be materially felt at the local elections in 1881.

We utter this without one spark of county feeling. We do not advocate Mr. Gibson's nomination because he is a Talbot man. We support his candidacy because we believe his nomination will be the best that can be made, and because we know the interests of his district and State, and the best interests of the Democratic party and the country will be safe in his hands. We trust the Salisbury Convention will look at the matter from the same standpoint that we do, and nominate Mr. Gibson by acclamation.

SINES' DYSENTERY COMPOUND, when taken according to directions, will instantaneously cure Cramps, Spasms, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, and all other Bowel Complaints.

The Letters of Notification.

The letters from the president and secretary of the Cincinnati convention to the nominees are as follows:

THE PRESIDENCY.

"TO GEN. HANCOCK, July 13, 1880.—Sir: The national convention of the democratic party, which assembled at Cincinnati on the 22d of last month, unanimously nominated you as their candidate for President of the United States. We have been directed to inform you of your nomination for this exalted trust and request your acceptance. In accordance with the uniform custom of the democratic party the convention have announced their views upon the important issues which are before the country in a series of resolutions, to which we invite your attention. These resolutions embody the general principles upon which the democratic party demand that the government shall be conducted, and they also emphatically condemn maladministration by the party in power, its crimes against the constitution, and especially against the right of the people to choose and install their President, which have wrought so much injury and dishonor to our country. That which chiefly inspired your nomination was the fact that you had conspicuously recognized and [illegible] the spirit of concession and fraternity in the American people for conciliation and brotherhood; under the shield of the constitution, with all its jealous care and guarantees for the rights of persons and of States. Your nomination was not made alone because in the midst of arms you illustrated the highest qualities of a soldier, but because when the war had ended, and when in recognition of your courage and fidelity you were placed in command of a part of the Union undergoing a process of restoration, and while you were thus clothed with absolute power you used it not to subvert but to sustain civil laws and the rights which they were established to protect. Your fidelity to those principles manifested in the important trusts heretofore confided to your care gives proof that they will control your administration of the national government, and assures the country that an indissoluble Union of indestructible States and the constitution, with its wise distribution of power and regard for boundaries of States and federal authority, will not suffer in your hands; that you will maintain the subordination of the military to civil power, and will accomplish the purification of the public service, and especially that the government which we love will be free from reproach or stain of sectional agitation or malice in any way shape or form. Rejoicing in common with masses of the American people, upon this bright promise for the future for our country, we wish also to express to you personally the assurance of general esteem and confidence which have summoned you to this high duty and will aid you in its performance.

Your fellow citizens,
JOHN W. STEVENSON,
"President of Convention, NICHOLAS M. BELL, Secretary,"

THE VICE-PRESIDENCY.

"HON. WM. H. ENGLISH, July 13, 1880.—Dear Sir: By direction of the democratic national convention which assembled at Cincinnati on June 22 last, it becomes our pleasant duty to notify you that you were unanimously nominated by that body for the office of Vice-President of the United States. Your large experience in the affairs of the government, your able discharge of many trusts committed to your hands, your steadfast devotion to democratic principles and the uprightness of your private character give assurances to the democracy that you are worthy and well qualified to perform the duties of that high position and commend you to them for the nomination which they conferred. While your personal qualities and your public services well merited this honor the action of the convention was no doubt designed not only to vindicate their appreciation of yourself, but as well to testify their profound respect for the democracy of Indiana, your native state, with whose manly struggles you have been so long identified, and in whose glorious achievements you have shared. The convention sets forth its views upon the leading political issues which are now before the people in a series of resolutions, a copy of which we have the honor to present to you, and to which your attention is respectfully requested. It is our earnest hope that these views may meet with your approbation, and that you will accept the nomination which is now tendered you.

"With sentiments of high esteem, we are respectfully, JOHN W. STEVENSON,
"President Convention.
NICHOLAS M. BELL, Sec'y.

THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.

Meeting of the Democratic National Committee.

The democratic national committee met at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, at noon last Tuesday. Wm. H. Barnum, of Connecticut, was unanimously elected chairman, and Frederick O. Prince, of Massachussetts, secretary. The committee then adjourned to Governor's Island to attend the presentation of the presidential nomination. The committee appointed by the Cincinnati convention to notify the candidates arrived at Governor's Island in the afternoon on a special boat, with members of the national committee and others. They were met by General Hancock in the parlor of his house. Hon. John P. Stockton made a brief address introducing the secretary who read the official notification. Gen. Hancock's reply was brief. He thanked them for the honor conferred, and stated that he would have his letter of acceptance ready shortly, in which he would say all that he had to say to them in reply. Mr. Stockton then formally notified Mr. English of his nomination. In reply he stated that he accepted the high trust conferred with feelings of profound gratitude, and that he would at an early date convey his acceptance in the customary manner. Personal introductions of members of the committee to the candidates followed.

ROBERTS' POULTRY POWDERS are guaranteed to cure Poultry of all diseases, if given before the fowls refuse to eat. Sure cure for Cholera. We have tried it, and advise all to use it.

Literary Notices.

Peterson's Ladies National Magazine for August is replete with embroidery and fashion plates, and a literary miscellany which cannot fail to please the subscribers of this truly interesting and valuable periodical.

The August Atlantic brings some chapters of Mr. Aldrich's Stillwater Tragedy so interesting as to make readers forget the hot weather. Dr. Holmes in a characteristic poem, entitled The Archbishop and Gil Blas, sings with a pathetic felicitousness of growing old. John Burroughs, one of the most charming of out-door writers, contributes Pepacton: A Summer Voyage. Luigi Monti, the Young Sicilian of Longfellow's Tales of a Wayside Inn, writes a very interesting article on Sicilian Hospitality. Mark Twain has a very pungent rale entitled Edward Mills and George Benton, which satirizes keenly certain forms of pseudo-philanthropy. F. H. Sherwood has a curiously interesting paper on The Preceptor of Moses; Richard Grant White's English article this time is Taurus Centaurus. The political article discusses The Republicans and their Candidate. Besides these there are others highly interesting articles, altogether making a capital summer number of the Atlantic.

General Beauregard's Denial.

According to the New Orleans Picayune, Gen. Beauregard declares there is no truth whatever in the Cincinnati Commercial's story from Toledo, Ohio, that he once accepted an invitation to dine with Gen. Hancock only on condition that "those flags" should be removed. He says: "As to my ever refusing to sit at a table where old friends were to meet once more to shake hands over the bloody chasm of the past, because the 'old flag' waved over the table, it is simply absurd. I never warred against the 'old flag,' but fought for a principal: that is, to defend, as we firmly believed, our threatened constitutional rights. That old flag belonged as much to us as to the North; indeed, more so, for the immortal 'Star-Spangled Banner' was the song of a Southern poet and patriot. When we appealed to the sword we had to abide by its decision, which we have constantly done, notwithstanding the provocation of the abominable reconstruction laws, which have the appointed even their originators. I was one of the first Confederate officers, immediately after the war, who advocated quiet and peaceful submission to its consequences, advising our people to turn their attention to rebuilding their homes and to the cultivation of our fertile soil, feeling confident that sooner or later the South would regain its influence in the government of the country. Should any part of the North ever attempt secession, they will find whether the South is in earnest in its support of the Union and the old flag. The selection of General Hancock as the standard bearer of the democratic party is only a harbinger of the future."

Wicomico County Congressional Nominee.

SALISBURY, Md., July 13.—The democratic county convention of Wicomico met to-day and elected delegates to the democratic congressional convention, which meets here on the first day of September next to nominate a candidate for Congress in the first district of Maryland. The following are the delegates: E. E. Jackson, E. Stanley Toadvine, Wm. Levi Laws, Wm. G. Gordy, Benjamin Moore and James R. Billing. They are unanimously instructed to vote for Hon. Thos. J. F. Rider for Congress, and to use all honorable means to secure his nomination. Mr. Rider is a lawyer, forty-five years old, and was a member of the Legislature of Maryland for Somerset county, in 1865 and 1866. He was also a member of the constitutional convention of 1867, which created Wicomico, on the ratification of the people, as a county, and the first clerk of the court thereof, elected to serve from 1868 to 1874.

Gen. Ewing and the Military Trial.

Gen. Tom Ewing, of Ohio, who defended Dr. Mudd before the court, said a few days ago that Gen. Hunter, the president of the military court, was exceedingly overbearing. He says that at one stage of the trial Hunter had made a motion to strike out of the record certain testimony which Hon. Reverdy Johnson, as Mrs. Surratt's counsel had gotten in. The motion was lost. This so exasperated Gen. Hunter that he said: "Gentlemen, I propose to read to the court a letter written by Mr. Johnson in 1860 to show cause why he should have no privileges before this court." Gen. Ewing says that subsequent to this episode Mr. Johnson never again appeared in the court room. Of the defence of Harold and Spangler, Mr. Ewing says that it was no defence at all. Gen'l Ewing is of the opinion that popular excitement against the conspirators was such at the time of the trial that President Johnson would have been assassinated had he set aside the decree of the court through executive clemency. He thinks, too, that Johnson feared assassination if he interposed clemency, and that for this reason he was deaf to all appeals.—Washington Star.

The Wisdom of Silence.

Judge Poland, who was chairman of the Credit Mobilier investigating committee, which reported that Gen. Garfield received a dividend of three hundred and twenty-nine dollars from Oakes Ames, knowing that it was a balance coming to him on ten shares of Credit Mobilier stock, has written a letter to ex-Gov. Fletcher, of Vermont, in which he takes the ground that whatever may have been the finding of that committee in regard to that transaction, public and popular judgment has fully and absolutely acquitted Gen. Garfield of all wrong, either in act or intent, in relation to that matter. He regards this popular verdict as conclusive, deprecates any attempt to re-open and unsettle it as altogether wrong, and appeals to the republican press and to republican speakers not to re-argue a matter which in his opinion was settled many years ago. The point of his letter is that it is wise to be silent on the subject.

A LETTER has been published, written by ex-Gov. John A. Andrews, of Massachussetts, in May, 1867, giving his reasons for declining to appear for the government in the prosecution of John H. Surratt, charged with complicity in the assassination of President Lincoln. In this letter Mr. Andrews said that he did not feel "that for money or ambition he could become a sort of volunteer in this tragedy, reddening his own hand while reopening a story of blood, and endeavoring to add another life to the catalogue of victims whose fate has already afforded all the lesson and the warning which the occasion seems to demand."

It is sad but true that many children have filled untimely graves, by the neglect of their mothers to have SINES' SYRUP OF TAR, HOARHOUND and WILD CHERRY on hand. Every thoughtful mother has a bottle this season of the year for immediate use.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias issued out of the Circuit Court for Talbot County, and to me directed and delivered, at the suit of E. Amelia Wright, Executrix of J. V. B. Wright, deceased, against the goods and chattels, lands and tenements of John Lloyd, garnishee of James C. Tarbutton, I have seized and taken in execution the following property, to-wit:

ALL of John Lloyd's right, title and interest in and to that tract, piece, or parcel of land, with the improvements thereon, situate in Chapel district, of Talbot county, adjoining the lands of Mrs. Ann E. Callahan and others, and upon which the said John Lloyd now resides, and containing the quantity of 10 ACRES, more or less. Also, 1 Bay Horse, Household and Kitchen Furniture.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That on

Tuesday, 27th of July, 1880, between the hours of 12 M. and 4 o'clock P. M., I will expose at public auction, in front of the Court House, in the town of Easton, to the highest bidder for cash, the above named and described property, to pay and satisfy the abovementioned writs of fi. fa., debt, interest and costs due and to become due thereon.

WILLIAM REDDIE, july6ts Sheriff of Talbot County.

Horse Training
AT HAMBLETON PARK.

DAVID BLAZE, a rider and trainer of 45 years experience, who was raised as a Tear Boy by Charles S. W. Dorsey, and has been handling horses all his life, and well known as the best groom in the State of Maryland, has rented Hambleton Park track for the purpose of training such young horses as may be entrusted to his care. For terms apply to him personally, or by letter, at Hambleton, Talbot county, Md. He requests the patronage of the gentlemen of Talbot. DAVID BLAZE.

The Gas Question is settled.
NOT DANGEROUS
The "New Process" (?) known to Dentist (who has been in practice over six months), as Dental Applicator, was introduced in this county by T. J. Smithers in 1878.
Articles invented by Traveling Dentists are not generally used by other dentists, nor by themselves except on paper, the only place where some dentists operate skilfully.
Skilful dentists never have to travel, beg, steal, lie or resort to catch-penny advertising for practice.
T. J. Smithers is the only dentist in this or adjoining counties who has a license to use or make Rubber Plates, which is not only the best plate, but the only plate that ought to be used. Cost T. J. Smithers $300 for License.

J. H. T. HUBBARD,
