THE EASTON STAR

TUESDAY, APRIL 26, 1881.

—Mattings in splendid assortment at Jump & Co's.

—Choice new season's tea, black and green at Joseph Miller's.

—For bargains in glass, china, and queensware go to Joseph Miller's.

—Jump & Co's., Ready-Made Clothing fit well, are made well, and sell well.

—Mrs. John Charles Tilghman, formerly of Easton, died in Baltimore last week.

—Don't forget the $40 sewing machine that Ball, Shannahan & Grace are selling for $25.

—Just received—A handsome line of Satine de Lyons very cheap at Ball, Shannahan & Grace's.

—Mr. Thomas P. B. Seth, of Bay Hundred, shot a gray eagle last week which measured 7 feet 6 inches from tip to tip.

—Frank Cuff has been sentenced to jail for 6 months for committing an assault on a woman. Both parties are negroes.

—Any one in want of a black silk or cashmere will find it to their advantage to examine our stock.—Ball, Shannahan & Grace.

—Rev. Robert W. Todd will lecture this evening at Music Hall on "The Quaint and Humorous in Peninsula Methodism." He will doubtless have a full house.

—Mr. John W. E. Sudler, of Sudlersville, Queen Anne's county, is dead. He was a prominent citizen of the county, and several times held offices of honor and responsibility.

—We would call particular attention to the advertisement of Mrs. M. S. Norris. The ladies who visit Easton will be very materially benefitted by inspecting her stock, and comparing prices. Low prices is her motto.

—Special attention is invited to the advertisement of "The Summer Cook" Florence Oil stoves. Also the Standard sewing machine advertisement, all of which are for sale at the S. E. cor. 7th and Arch sts., Philadelphia.

—Stevens & Hayward are pleased to inform their patrons that they have secured a stock of "Pulmona," the celebrated medecine for coughs, throat and lung trouble that has been working such wonderful cures in other sections. It is worth a trial. Price 50c. nov2eow6m

—We find Scribner's Monthly for May, just received, a most interesting number. We are not surprised at the immense circulation which Scribner has attained, for the publisher spares no expense to make it the leading illustrated magazine of the country.

—A farmer in Trappe district, whose name we have forgotten, has five ewes which have brought him sixteen lambs this spring, and all are doing well. Four of them had three lambs each, and the other four. If any body can beat this, we should like to hear from him.

—On Saturday week Frank Young, colored, was tried before Justice Hubbard, convicted and sentenced to the House of Correction for six months for stealing fish from John W. Prettyman. An appeal to the circuit court was granted to test the right of a party to appeal after trial and sentence.

—The rooms formerly occupied by Messrs. Thomas & Bateman as law offices are now used by Prof Minnick as a depot for the sale of pianos and organs. This commendable enterprise places this important line of trade on a basis never before attempted in this section. We commend it to public favor.

—The thanks of the Editor of the STAR are returned to Wm. E. Bartlett, Esq., for a basket of asparagus, the earliest we have seen this season. On the basket was a comical illustration of the circus of Friday, which is truly characteristic of our friend Bartlett, who understands so well how to take off the average African.

—Leach Brothers have put in twelve of their pipe wells and pumps in Easton, five in Oxford, one at Cordova, and they went down to Col. F. G. Goldsborough to put in another for him yesterday. They are likely to have a summer's work in this county. We understand all the wells they have put down are giving entire satisfaction.

—J. J. Jump & Co., show two new lots of Summer Silks, just received, which added to those on hand, make a magnificent collection. Strange but true: A lady last week showed us a sample of summer silk, bought in Baltimore at 90 cts. per yard; we have the same thing exact we believe at 75 cts.; saving of $3.00 in pattern, at J. J. Jump & Co's.

—The St. Michaels Comet says the measles have literally ravaged Broad Creek Neck last winter and this spring. The disease had not been in the Neck for over eighteen years, and consequently few people there were protected against it. The next time it comes, it will find little capital there to work on, it all having been used up this spring.

—Batcheller & Doris' circus exhibited in Easton on Friday. It was a good show.—About 5,500 people attended it in the afternoon, and 3,500 at night. Trains ran on the railroad and brought people from Oxford and Caroline county. We do not think we ever saw as many people in Easton at one time as were here to see the show on Friday.

—The Fish and Game Protection Association met in Easton on Monday, the 18th inst. The opinion was expressed that many partridges have survived the late severe winter.—The destruction of hawks by our gunners saved the lives of hundreds of partridges. The meeting appointed a committee to arrange for a glass ball shooting match at an early day.

—A promising young horse has been named Dr. Tanner in hopes that it will make him fast.[—Exchange. That might do for some horses, but we had rather take our chances on a package of M. B. Robert's Horse Powders, as they guarantee a healthy and vigorous constitution, which is essential for any horse's speed and endurance.

—Mr. Joseph Vansant had the first joint of his forefinger of his right hand cut off one day last week, by the machine that works the pump at White's brick yard. Mr. Vansant stuck the end of his finger on again, wrapped it up, and then went to Dr. Anderson, who dressed the wound and treated the case so as to save the finger. It was doing nicely at latest accounts.

—On a writ issued by Justice Robinson last week, bailiff Rathell arrested Charles F. Thomas and Charles Chaney, negroes, supposed to have found the watch of Miss Sallie B. Robinson, of Royal Oak, lost in Easton a few days before. The watch was found and the negroes discharged, on evidence that they did not intend to keep the watch longer than to secure a reward for finding it.

—Mr. Samuel Eason, of Landing Neck, brought to our office last Friday quite a curiosity in the shape of a double goose egg.—The outer egg measured 5½ inches in length, and the smaller circumference was 10 inches; between this shell and the smaller egg was the white substance usually found in eggs completely surrounding a perfect egg 3¼ inches in length and 2¼ inches in diameter.

—Mr. Charles Willis had the satisfaction of killing two dogs one day last week, which he caught in the act of killing a sheep belonging to his brother, who is farming in Oxford Neck. One of the dogs belonged to a man named Summers, and the other belonged to a man named Gibson, who lived in the neighborhood. In some places they have a dog law, which taxes all dogs in the county, and those who lose sheep by worthless curs are indemnified for the loss out of the tax on dogs. It is a good law.

—Professor J. P. Sampson, of Wilmington, North Carolina, and general agent of the Hampton Normal Colored School, Hampton, Va., a practical phrenologist, will lecture this evening at the Asbury M. E. Church, on the subject of phrenology, for the benefit of the church. The Professor is an intelligent colored man, comes here highly recommended, and will doubtless deliver an interesting lecture, illustrating his subject by practical demonstrations upon any of the audience who may wish to have their characters phrenologically deliniated.

—Mr. Robert Bartlett, Mr. John Warner and Capt. Jas. H. Benson have been appointed by the vestry of White Marsh parish to act in the matter of a cemetery at White Marsh Church. They will be at said church on Saturday, April 30th, at 10 a. m., and will be most happy to meet and consult with all persons interested; and certainly most of the people of Trappe district are interested in enclosing and improving the property, so as to protect the graves of those buried there, and to make the cemetery a proper burying place for the dead of Trappe district.

—Fine selected Orange county table butter at Joseph Miller's.

—A beautiful line of dress goods in all the latest styles and shades at Ball, Shannahan & Grace's.

—Peterson's Magazine for May is on our table. It contains its usual variety of patterns, fashion gossip, and interesting stories. The ladies cannot fail to be pleased with Peterson, as it excells in excellence in all of its specialties.

Ledsom's Corner for Sale.

Attention is directed to the sale of this valuable property, advertised by C. H. Gibson, Esq., trustee, to take place by auction, in Easton, on the 17th of May. The place is a good location for a country store.

Paper Mills Company.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Talbot County Paper Mills Company held on Tuesday, Gen'l E. L. F. Hardcastle in the chair, and Wm. R. Martin, Secretary, the following directors for the ensuing year were chosen: E. L. F. Hardcastle, I. L. Adkins, D. A. Martin, R. B. Dixon, F. C. Goldsborough, I. D. Clark, and W. W. Tunis.

Building Association.

The following directors of the W. P. B. & L. Association of Talbot county, have been elected: M. M. Dawson, W. H. Thompson, R. B. Dixon, John Mason, A. W. Fountain, Dr. J. C. Earle, Dr. I. L. Adkins, J. F. Turner, C. H. Gibson, and W. H. Councell. The Board elected the following officers: President, M. M. Dawson, Vice President, W. H. Thompson; Treasurer, R. B. Dixon; Secretary, C. O. Byerly; Solicitor, C. H. Gibson.

Store for Sale.

I will sell at private sale my entire stock of dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, and store fixtures, now in Mr. Stewart's store room, on Washington street, Easton, at cost and on liberal terms. The store can be rented, and possion given at once. This is a fine opportunity for one contemplating entering the mercantile business. JAMES T. ROBINSON.

—We understand that all the farmers' horses in this section that are given M. B. Robert's Horse Powders are able to plough from one-third to one-half more acres per day than those that are given any other, owing to their laxative, tonic, and purifying qualities. We advise all those that have not used them to do so. They are not adulterated with bran or cake meal and sold by the pound, but are put up in neat packages from pure drugs and sold for 25 cents by all druggists.

Another Man Drenched.

On Sunday night, Mr. Peter D. Hunt, who drives a stage between St. Michaels and the steamboat landing at Double Mills, in trying to secure the line thrown to him when the Highland Light arrived, lost his balance and fell off the wharf into the water. The men on the steamboat threw him a line and then drew him ashore. Capt. Crosby kindly furnished him with a dry suit of clothes. About a year ago, Mr. Hunt had his leg broken at the same place by the gang board of the steamer Enoch Pratt.

A Peaceable Town.

We mention it as a remarkable fact, that although there were over five thousand people in Easton on Friday to attend the circus, there was not one single breach of the peace committed. There was but one drunken man seen on the streets; he came from Cordova, and brought his whisky in a flask in his pocket. Officer Burrows induced him to lie down and sleep off his debauch. He slept all day, until after 5 o'clock, and got up and asked when the show would begin? Finding he had missed the afternoon performance, he mounted his horse and drove off for his home.

Cut This Out.

It is presumed that barely one-fourth of purchasers of clothing are fair judges of their purchases, and it is therefore importnt to know where you can buy with confidence, that you will get your money's worth. C. N. Oehm & Son, 230 W. Pratt st., through to 55 Hanover street, have been in the business in Baltimore for over a quarter of a century; they manufacture every garment sold by them.—Their experience enables them to give satisfaction in quality, prices, material and workmanship, and no one in want of clothing should fail to call upon them. It will pay you.

She went to the play of "Olivette,"
And near an open window she sat,
And by so doing she there met
The fate of all who rashly get
So imprudent.
She saw a notice in the weekly STAR,
"To cure a cold—Use Sines' Syrup of Tar."
So she went to her druggist, and then and there
Invested with a single quarter
In the article.
Now if you only have occasion to see,
How earnest and vehement she be
When telling how quickly and entirely
She was cured of the cold, caught on said settee
'Twill surprise you.

Dividing the Waters.

Last fall the town commissioners undertook to prevent the overflow of the big ravine that passes through the town from south east to north west, by turning all the waters on the north side of Dover road through a ditch cut along the railroad from Dover road to the railroad branch. The plan resulted in creating an overflow of the ditch along the railroad and in some ugly washes along the course of the ditch north of the depot. These washes have been stopped by an embankment lined next to the ditch with two-inch oak plank, and to prevent another overflow along the railroad, a culvert has been put in under the road leading from Dover road to the depot, so as to divide the waters, allowing a part to run down the old course, but not enough to cause another overflow of the town. It is believed the improved plan will obviate the inconvenience about the depot, caused by the plan of last fall to change the whole body of water and turn it towards the depot.

Among the Wheat Binders.

To perfect a reaping and binding machine—to bind the sheaf with cord instead of wire—has for a long time been the study of agricultural machinery manufacturers. Binding with wire, which has for sometime been a success, is not satisfactory to farmers. It is expensive in the first place, and it is very objectionable to have the little pieces of wire mixed in with the straw. What the farmers wanted, was a machine that would bind wheat with twine, and do the work well, so as to dispense with the expense of paying binders, which at times are hard to get, negro men prefering to mow wheat with cradles to binding after a machine. Well, it never rains but it pours. In nine cases out of ten, when an inventor works out a new invention, and places the result of his studies on the market, he finds out that somebody else has been at work on the same thing, and his machine must compete with somebody else's machine of the same kind, for popular favor. But it is wonderful how inventors arrive at the same results by different contrivances. This is most admirably illustrated in the matter of the self binders.—There are now four different kinds in town, all binding with twine, all doing the work nicely, but all differing in the contrivance by which the knot is tried, the sheaf bound, and the cord cut. Some cut the twine before making the knot, and some afterwards, Shannahan & Wrightson have the Champion self-binder, which is most ingeniously constructed, and beautiful in its simplicity. Mr. N. Tuthill has the McCormick self-binder, for which Mr. Carter of Caroline, commands the Eastern Shore agency. It appears to be very perfect in its attachments for binding with cord.—Mr. D. C. Avery has the Osborne machine, a self-binder, unique in its construction, and with equal facility binding a sheaf as small as one's wrist or as thick as a barrel. Mr. Thomas C. Nicols has the Buckeye self-binder, claiming to be equal to any in the market, having been perfected after several years experience, and a thousand experiments. Of course we cannot undertake to say which of these machines is the best, that can only be determined by practical experiment and use by the farmers. Our farmers should examine them all and see for themselves, and buy the one that suits them best. It is not likely that they will all choose the same machine. Indeed all should be given a fair trial, and the best one will ultimately take the lead. The invention is a most important and valuable one for farmers, as the self-binder enables them to have the command of their own harvests, in fact, to do the work of harvesting with their own farm hands, without hiring cradlers and binders.—A man to drive the machine, a couple of boys to carry the wheat together, and a man to shock it, is all that is necessary to harvest the crop on a 200-acre farm. This is progress.—The self-binder is a great labor saving institution, and it cannot fail to come into general use among our intelligent and enterprising farmers. The cradles have gone, and the old reapers must go, and give place to the self-binder, just as the cradle had to give way to the reaper, as the sickle had previously given place to the scythe and cradle.

Public Business.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

The County Commissioners met on Tuesday. A levy of 18½ cents on the $100 on the assessment of real and personal property of Talbot county was laid, to pay the State tax for 1881, ordered by the acts of Assembly.—The following appointments were made: B. F. Harrison, keeper of Oxford ferry; L. Clayton Willis, keeper of Miles River bridge; Edward A. Matthews, keeper of standard of weights and measures; George E. Haddaway, collector of State and county taxes for 1881.

Gov. Thomas, counsel of the Board, gave his legal opinion, that under the law, the commissioners possessed no authority to expend more than $12,000, the amount limited be the Act of 1880, chapter 195, in the erection of a new jail. All bids being largely in excess of that amount, the commissioners decided to take no further action in the matter for the present. Accounts amounting to $292.-55 were passed and paid.

ORPHAN'S COURT.

The Orphan's Court met on Tuesday, and appointed J. B. Bennett and F. C. Goldsborough to appraise the real and personal estate of Thomas R. Hollyday, dec'd. Charles J. Thompson, adm'r of Mary Anne Haddaway, passed his final accounts and distribution of the balance of the estate. Josephine Craft, adm'r of Hezekiah Craft, presented an account of sales. Jas E. McDaniel any Mary F. Lowe, acting guardians of John H and Mary B. Lowe, passed their second accounts with each of their wards. Matthew James presented the indentures of Frederick Brown, bound to him by "The Female Directors of the Baltimore Orphans' Asylum," which were ordered to be recorded.

Masonic.

From the Baltimore Sun of Thursday last.

The Grand Lodge of Maryland, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, met at Masonic Temple last night, Grand Master John S. Tyson, in the chair, Jacob Medairy, grand secretary. It was decided to convene at Easton, Md., May 4, for the purpose of dedicating a new Masonic Temple, erected for Coats Lodge, No. 102, of that place. Thos. J. Shryock, Wm. H. King and John A. Becker were appointed a committee of arrangements. The steamer Samuel J. Pentz has been engaged to make a round trip from Baltimore, the price for tickets being placed at $1 each. Baltimore Commandery Knights Templar will escort the Grand Lodge, and it is understood that several subordinate lodges will also go from Baltimore, possibly King David's, Washington and Waverly Lodges. No intoxicating beverages will be permitted on board the boat, and as local option prevails in Easton sobriety will characterize the occasion. If the weather should prove propitious it is believed a large number of ladies and gentlemen will avail themselves of the opportunity to make a pleasant excursion to Easton.

From the Balto. Herald of Thursday.

The Grand Commandery of Knights Templar met last evening at the Masonic Temple to make arrangements for the visit of the order to Easton to participate in the dedication of the new Masonic Temple, which takes place on May 4th. The names of the committee appointed will shortly be published in a programme of the festivities to occur at the dedication. The steamer Pentz has been chartered for the occasion.

Lippincott's Magazine.

Besides the usual variety of light and entertaining reading, Lippincott's Magazine for May has some articles full of information on subjects of general interest. Thus, in a paper on the "House of Commons," the well-known magazinist, W. H. Rideing, describes the general appearance and arrangements, the forms of procedure, and others details that require to be understood before we can have a vivid notion of the great debates and characteristic scenes of that ancient assembly, the prototype of all existing legislative bodies. In an article on "Oyster-Culture," W. F. G. Shanks, who has made a thorough study of the subject, shows the necessity for the speedy adoption in America of methods for preserving or renewing the oyster-beds along our coast, such as are extensively practised in France, which are here described with the aid of illustrations. "The Truth about Florida," by Louise Seymour Houghton, holds the balance between opposite views in regard to the climate and advantages of that State, both as a health resort and a field for agricultural enterprise and a field for agricultural enterprise and investment. Dr. Oswald continues his account of "Zoological Curiosities" with an anecdotal and finely illustrated paper on that "step-child of Nature," the sloth; and "Granada and the Alhambra" forms the subject of a well-written article, historical and descriptive, by S. P. Scott, with many striking illustrations.

The May Atlantic

is the first number in which Mr. Aldrich's hand as editor appears, and is a number with which any editor might well be satisfied. The leading essay, "Some Personal Recollections of Carlyle," by Henry James, Senior, is one of the most interesting of the many excellent papers called forth by Carlyle's death. "The Martyrdom of an Empire," by E. H. House, who has spent several years in Japan, gives a startling picture of the ruin wrought in that country by the greed and domination of Great Britain. Walter H. Page writes from intimate personal knowlrdge a "Study of an Old Southern Borough," which describes graphically and sympathetically former and present life in the South. Major Ben Perley Poore in his chapter of "Reminiscences of Washington," gives a very interesting account of the Fillmore Administration. J. Brander Matthews, who always writes of dramatic subjects with so much intelligence and discrimination, contributes an excellent article on "Eugene Scribe." Richard Grant White prints a letter from an English purist critic, and then shows up the critic's errors and ignorance with refreshing skill and pungency. "Lawn Planting for Winter Effect," by Samuel Parsons, Jr., will find many eager readers. The fresh installments of Henry James Jr.'s "Portrait of a Lady," and Miss Phelps's "Friends," well sustain the high interest which previous chapters of these serial stories have excited.

Election of Vestrymen.

At the parish elections of the Protestant Episcopal chuaches in this county at Easter, the following vestrymen, wardens and parish registrats wrre elected:

St. Peter's Parish—Vestrymen, Dr. I. L. Adkins, Captain W. H. Smith, Gen. E. L. F. Hardcastle, Dr. J. E. M. Chamberlaine, Dr Jno. C. Earle, M. T. Goldsborough, Col. Samuel Hambleton, Wm. R. Martin. St. John's, Miles River—Vestrymen, Chas. Lowndes, Francis Barry, C. F. Eastman, J. H. Wheeler, T. H. Oliver, R. Hough, Owen Norris, J. G. Morris; Registrar, R. Hough.

Blackwood's Magazine.

The Leonard Scott publishing Co., 41 Barclay st., N. Y., have just issued their reprint of Blackwood's Magazine for April. Like all the preceding numbers of the present year, it is full of good reading. "The Private Secretary" is continued. "Shadwell's Life of Lord Clyde" briefly sketches the career of that gallant soldier. "Vallombrosa" is an interesting account of the former and present condition of the famed monastery. "Old Scottish Society" gives a lively description of town and country life in Scotland seventy-five or a hundred years ago. "Greece and her Claims" discusses the present situation in the East. There is an amusing article entitled "Freaks of the Telegraph," enumerating many provoking blunders caused by carelessness either in writing or transmission, which, however laughable to read, must have been truly annoying to the recipients. They remind us of the printer who, in an article describing the great lubricating properties of the oil derived from a certain species of whale, and closing the list with saying, that "sailors use it for oiling their hones," converted it into "tailors use it to oil their bones."

Godey's Lady's Book for May

Is full of good things. The contents comprise a beautiful steel plate designed by Darley, representing a scene in Dickens' "Great Expectations," a double-page Colored Fashion plate, a Diagram Pattern for a child's walking dress, an intensely interesting complete novel by Estelle Thomson, entitled "A Story of the Sea," the usual number of short stories, poems, and sketches, Frugal Art Letters, Recipes, Games and Puzzles, Work Department, Editor's Cammunts on Fashions, Book Reviews, etc. And all through this old favorite there runs a pure and elevated tone.
