THE EASTON STAR

TUESDAY, JUNE 14, 1881.

E. K. ROBSON, EDITOR.

THEY HAD A $2,000,000 fire at Quebec last week.

THERE was a great loss of lumber in Pennsylvania last week, caused by the sudden rise in the rivers, in consequence of the heavy rains. Some firms lost lumber enough to cut a million of feet.

THERE was a bad wash out at Lewis Crossing, on the P. W. & B. road, Thursday night, which prevented the running of the trains, in consequence of which, we had no Baltimore mail here on Friday.

THE legislature of New York is investigating a charge of bribery. It is charged that Senator Sessions attempted to bribe with $2,000 a Mr. Bradley, one of Mr. Conkling's friends in the House. Sessions denies the charge and declares it a put up job by the Conkling men. The feeling between the Republican factions at Albany is very bitter.

THE RING.

The new ring, that is hereafter to run the Democratic party, has been definitely formed. The "Bosses" are Gov. William T. Hamilton, of Washington county, who in less than six months after his election as the State Executive, managed to get the whole democratic party by the ears, and mix it up in a general family quarrel, wants control of the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal, and is to be the next U. S. Senator from the Eastern Shore. Michael Bannon, the Governor's first Lieutenant, who boosed all the jobs of the old ring, and knows the inside outs of all the rascalities going on in both parties, is the reform champion, and is to go to Congress from the Fifth district. J. V. L. Findlay, the great persecutor of Democrats, during the war, who engineered the test oaths, and other proscriptive measures through the legislature, is the orator of the new ring, and is to have whatever he can pick up that may be laying around loose, has his eye on the office of Baltimore City Solicitor. Dr. Eli J. Henkle, the lobbyist of the Susquehanna river ship canal, is engaged to republicanize the State of Maryland, so that he may go to Washington and say to the Republican Congress I did it, and thus secure the passage of his $4,000,000 bill, and make his ten per cent, or $400,000. These are the "Bosses;" there are others, of the small fry, who are backing the ring, and will eagerly take anything they can get. No less than three Eastern Shoremen have been promised the Comptrollership for their influence, and these are active in circulating their campaign sheet, "The Tribune," which teems with libels of the democratic party. If the Ring Bosses can get control of the Democratic party, they will do so; if they cannot, they expect to go in with the Republicans and M-bone old Maryland, and take what they can get from Mr. Garfield. Its a bold game these men are playing, and it behooves the Democratic party to be on the alert and defeat their conspiracy. Their cry of reform is all bosh, as every sensible Democrat knows. Read the card we publish this morning from Comptroller Keating and Treasurer Compton, on our State finances. It utterly refutes the allegations made in Gov. Hamilton's Baltimore speech against the treasury officials. It is remarkable that a man of Gov. Hamilton's reputed astuteness, should have so misapprehended the Constitution and the laws, when he deliberately prepared his attack on Messrs. Keating and Compton, and the past legislatures of the State, which enacted the legislation that has controlled these intelligent and faithful treasury officers in the policy that has been pursued. They show conclusively that it is Gov. Hamilton and not the treasury officers, who is outside of the law: Their vindication is complete and triumphant, and we commend it to our readers. The would be Bosses will have to squat that rabbit and start another, if they intend to continue the campaign.

The Mission of Democracy.

The democratic conception is fundamental. Any other conception of government, outside of its most vulgar sense, is absurd. To incarnate the State is materialistic, like the Church of the Middle Ages or the government of England, whose crude ideas and inspirations were expediency and rusty tradition. Upon the Continent of Europe colossal manifestations of force are necessary, from the proximity, jealousy, and ambition of rival governments; but with us they are irrational and dangerous. Ours is a prescriptive and not a traditional government, and Mr. Jefferson, whose instinct and prescience were prophetic, although fresh from the tremendous panorama of revolutionary France, rode on horseback into Washington and took his inaugural oath. His was the broadest intellect we ever had, and his the noblest philosophy—the philosophy of individual liberty. We believe that the dissemination of this instinct, like an inheritance, is the only safeguard of our institutions, and we believe our institutions the most precious that man has known in all the tide of time. Look what the Netherlands underwent for eighty years for it; and how supinely Spain sink amid the nations, by ignoring it. Look what a splendid promise France had in cherishing it under Henry and Sully, and how it fell into the very dust under Louis, to whose fatuous and ignominious policy, came the awful retribution of the Revolution. Look, how England grandly seized the idea in 1688, and how it has dismantled her old idols. Look what it promises poor but glorious Ireland. And look what a rebuke it gave to Grant and to Conkling. The issue here affected our ora no life. The issue of the Civil War, the true issue, was accidental, inseparable from human institutions, and largely the responsibility of England. We ought to be reverently grateful that after the conflict and clamor of twenty years the old instinct so superbly reasserts itself. We are too near to it as yet to discern its true perspective; but the historian will one day emblazon it in glowing colors. Beside it, how shrunk and shriveled are pomp and pageantry! how tattered and limp is Royalty. Political tendencies, which are moral, work out their own results; and we feel a large assurance that tendencies now at work will set our government upon a renewed career of honour and safety.

By and by the historian will record that between 1880 and 1885 the people of this country fully reverted to their sober, and and serene judgment, placed the old Ship in safe waters, and once more gave her into the guidance of the Democratic party, whose progenitors builded her, rigged her, launched her and piloted her for sixty or seventy prosperous years, and surrendered her clean and trim and stately. Unless this occur, historical progress will receive a bewildering if not fatal check. Emancipated France, partially emancipated Italy, eager and expectant England struggling Ireland, and almost dismembered Russia have their hopes in the success of our institutions. Contingencies will strike the hope.

FERDINAND C. LATROBE.

America Bears off the Great Paris Prize.

The American horse, Foxhall, owned by Mr. James R. Keene, of New York, won the grand prize of Paris of [illegible] in specie, on Sunday. The greatest interest was taken in the race. Foxhall was the only American horse present and he won against some of the best English and French horses. There was great rejoicing among Americans in Paris and London.

WE do not believe the effort that is being made here and elsewhere, by broken down or disappointed politicians, to discredit Hon. Thomas J. Keating as Comptroller of the Treasury will succeed. Mr. Keating has administered the Comptroller's office with marked ability, and not even his enemies dare assail his integrity. The attempt to make him responsible for the sins of Republican legislation, enacted ten years before he took office, if sins they were, will utterly fail. The people of Talbot know Mr. Keating, and have every confidence in his capacity and fidelity, and they will take care to send a delegation to the State convention in favor of his renomination, as the best way of vindicating his official character from the aspersions attempted to be cast upon it, by innuendoes. The Eastern Shore is entitled to the comptrollership, and there is no better or more capable man on the Shore than Mr. Keating.

(St. Louis Chronicle.)

Advice is cheap.—Dreadfully cheap. But we must be true to our instincts of humanity and tell our suffering friends to use St. Jacobs Oil, and surprise their rheumatism and themselves also at the result. J. D. L. Harvey, Esq., of Chicago, says: I would be recreant to my duty to those afflicted, did I not raise my voice in its praise.

WE copy the following article from the Marlborough Gazette. It is as applicable to Talbot as it is to Prince Georges county, and contains sentiments that all Democrats should well consider. United we assist in reclaiming the Federal Government from the corruptionists who for the past twenty years have reveled in plunder at Washington. The Conkling-Blaine split in the Republican party must accomplish the utter overthrow of that party, if Democrats will but continue united, and hold every democratic State to its allegiance to the party. If Democrats quarrel and divide, and play the fool like Conkling and Platt, and lose Maryland and Virginia, the loss of New York will not necessarily route the Republicans. To recover the control of the Federal Government, Democrats everywhere must stand together, and not permit the false cry of reform to divide them:

LET US BE UNITED.

Acting under the direction of the Democratic State central committee the central committee for this county issues its call to-day for primary meetings, for the purpose of selecting delegates to a county convention to select delegates to the State convention, to be held in Baltimore, on the 23d instant, when a candidate for State Comptroller will be nominated. With this call begins a political fight, in which it is the duty of every Democrat to become enlisted. Important State offices are to be filled, judges, senators, &c., are to be elected, and with such important issues at stake every Democrat who has the best interest of the party at heart should counsel moderation and unanimity in the deliberations of the party. At this time ours is far from being a united party. Under the plea of reform, men are being led away from the broad principles of Democracy, and are pursuing a course which must ultimately lead to their own destruction, and the serious weakening of the party—a course which can but tend to strengthen the hopes and redouble the efforts of the Republican party in our State. No one doubts that the Democratic party in this State and county is largely in the majority. With such an advantage defeat ought to be impossible, and will if the people pull together. The serious dissensions in the ranks, which alone encourage the threat of defeat, are no doubt confined to comparatively few, but those few have in their associations and surroundings a weight that can make success improbable. All that is needed to avoid such calamity is to see that the conventions, which shall be long assemble, will come with no debts to pay nor grievances to vindicate, and above all with no personal prepossessions that would lead to weaken the ticket. In a dangerous war of factions let men be chosen whom faction does not control. With such a ticket success is assured. Without it danger threatens.

(Troy, (N. Y.) Telegram and Wnig.)

Rubbing the Midnight Oil.

In the Philadelphia Times of recent date, we notice an item referring to the miraculously quick cure of a prominent druggist of that city, Mr. J. M. Higgins, Germantown Road and Morris street, who had an awful attack of rheumatism of the knee. He applied St. Jacobs Oil, at night, and next morning was well and in his store as usual.

Letter From Mayor Latrobe.

The Democrats of Baltimore have nominated Hon. William Pinkney Whyte for Mayor. The following is Mayor Latrobe's letter declining to be a candidate for re-election. As the charge has been made by the Gov. Hamilton's pseudo reformers that the so-called "ring" has not given the city of Baltimore good government, we commend the letter to our readers. We think they will agree with us that it completely refutes the libelous charges.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, CITY HALL, BALTIMORE, June 8, 1881.—Robert T. Baldwin, Esq.: I have been asked whether or not I would be a candidate for renomination by the majority at the approaching Democratic primaries. I take this opportunity of replying through you to the many kind friends who have addressed me the question that I have decided not to permit my name to be used in this connection. The majority of a great city like Baltimore is an office worty of any man's ambition, and I shall never forget my obligations to the people for intrusting me with its important powers and corresponding responsibilities; but I am indisposed to enter a personal contest which, whether successful or not, would not be agreeable. During the three terms of service with which I have been honored by my fellow-citizens I have earnestly endeavored, at all times, to so discharge the duties of the majority as to promote the best interests of the city. As one of the finance commissioners, closely connected with the administration and intimately acquainted with the practical results of its policy, you are in a position to judge of the success of my efforts to secure good municipal government. You will pardon me, I trust, if, referring specifically to some of the measures with which my administration has been identified.

The old city yard has been replaced by an unpaid commission, constituting the present harbor board. The municipal expenditures have been largely curtailed, and the floating indebtedness, which was $622,000 in 1878, reduced to 155,000 in 1880, with an excellent prospect, owing to the increased collection of taxes, current and in arrears, that it will be entirely extinguished during the present year. At the same time that these retrenchments have been made in the cost of the city government, the tax rate has been reduced from $1 90 in 1878 to $1 37 in 1880 and 1881, accompanied by the exemption from taxation of all plant used for manufacturing purposes and a decrease in the charges for city water to manufacturers from 20 cents per 1,000 gallons in 1880, and 15 cents in 1879 and 1880, to 12 in 1880 and 8 cents in 1881—making the rate for the present year, with ten per cent. deducted for prompt payment, but 7 20-100 cents per 1,000 gallons. The sinking or redemption funds have been increased during the past three years by the handsome sum of $1,000,000, and so firm is the city's credit that its 4 per cent. bonds are selling at a premium of 11 per cent, equivalent to a 3.50 per cent. bond at par.

It is a source of constant gratification to know that these results are in some degree the outcome of the policy to which I have rigidly adhered, of withholding my assent from all appropriations unprovided for in the tax levy, and I am persuaded that this course, if faithfully followed out in the future, will prove an effectual bar to the accumulation of any floating indebtedness. With the assurance of my warm personal regard, I am very truly and sincerely yours,

FERDINAND C. LATROBE.

Temperance Mass Meeting at Centreville.

The Centreville Record of Thursday says:—Pursuant to announcement the advocates of Temperance and prohibitory laws met at the Town Hall last Tuesday night, and were addressed by Mrs. M. E. Stewart and Rev. F. T. Tagg of Easton. The meeting was under the auspices of the Temperance Alliance which was organized in this town some weeks ago, with Mr. W. H. Wright as president and Rev. A. C. Hanford as president. It was the first public meeting of the Alliance since its organization, and it proved a grand success in every particular. The Hall was crowded to its utmost capacity and much enthusiasm prevailed. Not only was the town represented, but a large [illegible] of the surrounding country. At about 8 P. M. the president called the meeting to order and briefly announced the object, which he frankly stated to be to induce the next Legislature of the State to grant the people the right to vote upon the question of prohibitory laws where they do not now prevail, and also to elect a delegation from this county at the next general election, that will support such a measure.

The exercises were then opened by Miss Mamie Snyder, Capt. Jas. Smith and Mr. Charles Snyder, singing to organ accompaniment, "Ask me not to sip the wine." Dr. Chas. B Straughn kindly played the accompaniments during the evening. After prayer by Rev. Mr. Tagg, Major W. E. Stewart was introduced, who made an elaborate and forcible address in support of Local Option laws. He presented the legal and moral views of the question and gave many practical illustrations. His address was listened to with much attention and frequent-elicited applause. The audience believed Major Stewart in earnest. He is one who has seen the error of his ways. At the conclusion of the address, which occupied about an hour or more Capt. Jas. Smith sang a solo with organ accompaniment entitled "Let the nations awake." This was well done and elicited much applause. Here a recess was taken and four members of the Alliance were appointed to take the names of those who wished to join. Without an effort the membership was increased from about 20 to considerably over one hundred. A member is not required to sign a pledge not to drink but is simply expected to support Local Option or prohibitory laws, when an opportunity offers. During the canvassing for members Miss Mamie Snyder sang "The Drunkard's Child" with marked pathos and effect. The applause was continued and earnest.

Rev. Mr. Tagg was then introduced who showed the good effects of local option laws in Easton from a moral and business standpoint. This address was also well received. The exercises closed by a duet and chorus "Who has Sorrow." The meeting shows that the temperance people are in earnest.

Church Property at Oxford.

MR. EDITOR:—Some thirty years ago Genl Tilghman and others secured a gift of land in Oxford and erected the stone walls of the uncompleted church.

When I came into the diocese I found that no writings had ever passed. Guided by some notes that had been preserved, I invoked the aid of Mr. J. F. Bateman, the county surveyor, who succeeded in identifying the boundaries. Application was then made to the owners, and a deed was executed and recorded by which the land was securely conveyed to the Bishop of the Diocese of Easton for the future uses of the church.

I have been importuned to sell the stone for building material. I have replied that poor as is the Church, it is not ready to sacrifice for a little money some sacred memories, or to wound the sensibilities of some good people.

And then I am urged to sell the land. I answer no. It was not given to us that we might alienate it.

Moreover, all true Church policies regard the distant future. This ground may lie idle during my time and that of my successor next in order: but the day will come, sooner or later, when this property will be very valuable.

Of course it will be valueless if filled with graves. It is no wise suited for a cemetery, and those who had friends buried there expect to remove them.

Interment on this lot has been forbidden and notice thereof duly posted. Is it too much to ask that it may be respected?

I know not how to make difficulties with people who are sorrowful under recent bereavement, nor can I bring myself to wrangle over a new-made grave.

And so I give notice thus publicly that I am responsible for this property and that NO PERSON WHATEVER is authorized to allow any interment to be made therein or any liberties to be taken therewith. And I do appeal to the justice and the kindness of the community not to invade that which does not belong to them, and not to make the charge of this property an occasion to embroil me with friends or strangers.

Yours very respectfully,

HENRY C. LAY,
Bishop of the Diocese of Easton.

Easton, June 10th, 1881.

(COMMUNICATED.)

MR. EDITOR:—I have received through the post office several copies of a paper called the Baltimore Tribune, containing scurrilous and slanderous attacks on the democratic party. I never subscribed for it. I believe it is gotten up by republicans. I am a democrat, and support the democratic party. I don't want any such paper. It is a pirate sailing under false colors. They keep sending it to me, hoping no doubt to corrupt my democracy, and if I don't corrupt I suppose they will want me to pay for it. How am I to get rid of the dirty thing? Please inform me.

A DEMOCRAT.

In answer to our correspondent, we have simply to say, if he does not want the paper, and never subscribed to it, and does not mean to pay for it, he must refuse to take it out of the post office. Have the postmaster write on the margin "refused", and tell him to return it to the office of publication. If he takes it out of the office, he makes himself liable for the subscription, and will have to pay it. This is the law.

Trustee's Sale

OF VALUABLE

Real Estate

In Chapel District

By virtue of a decree of the circuit court for Talbot county, sitting in equity, I will offer at public sale, in front of the Court House in Easton, on

Tuesday, June 14th, 1881, between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock P. M., all that farm or plantation situate near Cordova, in Chapel district, Talbot county, adjoining the lands of Capt. Levi T. Dukes, John R. Fisher and others, on the west side of the public road running from Cordova to St. Paul's church, and containing the quantity of

117 Acres, 2 Roods & 17 Perches including a detached wood lot of 22 acres and 20 perches, leaving 95 acres, 1 rood and 37 perches, more or less, in the farm proper, nearly all of which is arable land.

The soil is a light, rich loam, and highly productive.

The improvements consist of a small, single story

Dwelling House.

The place is a most desirable property. The farm and wood lot will be sold separately, and then as a whole, and the right is reserved to accept the bid or bids that brings the most money. There is a stream of water through the farm.

ALSO,

At the same time and place, I will offer for sale the two-story DWELLING HOUSE and LOT, situate at Cordova, now occupied by Mrs. E. V. W. Councell. The lot will embrace all the land south of a line commencing at the Northeast corner of Edward M. Hardesty's lot, and running eastwardly in a straight line as far as the lands of the late Dennis L. F. Councell extend.

TERMS,

The terms prescribed by the decree are one-third of the purchase money to be paid in Cash on the day of sale; the balance in two equal instalments of one and two years from the day of sale, the deferred payments to be secured by the bond of the purchaser with security to be approved by the trustee, bearing interest from the day of sale. On the payment of the whole purchase money, a good title will be conveyed, the title papers at the expense of the purchaser.

PRIVATE SALE,

that highly improved and well-known farm or plantation near the western limits of the town of Easton, called and known as the beautiful suburban residence of the late William M. Hollyday, containing the quantity of more or less.

"GLENWOOD,"

108 ACRES OF LAND,

The improvements consist of a large and commodious located in a grove of stately forest trees, extending from the Ratcliffe road to the Third Haven river. Also Barn, Stable, Corn House and other farm buildings amply sufficient for the purposes of the farm.

DWELLING,

The public road leading from Easton to St. Michaels divides the arable portion of the property nearly in half, rendering it susceptible of partition into two very convenient sized farms of about 250 acres each.

The proximity of this property to the town of Easton renders it very desirable on account of the advantages of stores, churches, schools, market, railroad, steamboats, etc., etc.

The Farquhar Separator

THE BUCKEYE BINDER!

Is the Most Perfect Product of invention in Binding Machines.

It has Fewer Gears and Fewer Parts than any other Binder.

It has greater Durability and Reliability in Binding.

Makes Round Bundles and consumes the least material.

Ties as Tightly as the Material used will admit of.

Is as easily Handled as any Reaper.

Is as Light or Low Down as any Binder.

Saves all the grain, whether Straight or Tangled.

Works as well in Wet, Tangled Grain as any other.

Saves Crops Cheaper and Easier, and in Better Shape.

Requires less Horse Power than any other.

Has the Simplest and best form of Compressor, and the Best Adjustable Apron.

Elevators are 55 inches wide, having a larger capacity than those of any other Binder.

Is furnished with either Wire or Twine Binding Attachments, as may be desired, and challenge the world to produce harvesting machines of any description whatever that have given better satisfaction in the field for perfect work, for durability or for simplicity, than the Buckeye Binder.

No Binder is more Perfectly Balanced.

Binds Long and Short Grain with Equal Facility.

Makes Bundles Automatically, or at will of the Driver.

Threshes no Grain in Process of Binding.
