Fruit Of Radical-Democratic Control

This Congress has been in session four months. It has not passed any major legislation. It has passed but one appropriation bill. It has not enacted any laws to relieve the agricultural situation. It has not enacted a tax reduction law. With the exception of a few private bills it has done nothing in the way of legislation.

It has not even proposed or advanced any constructive program. On the other hand, it has blocked the program outlined by President Coolidge in his message to Congress in December.

It has sought to create political sensations rather than enact laws.

It has usurped the powers of the courts and grand juries and made a mockery of them rather than perform its functions of a legislative body.

It has retailed slander and gossip rather than discussed economic problems.

It has been a continuous performance of wind jamming and ballyhooing. On the part of the Senate, it has been a rather low type of vaudeville in which Heflin, Caraway, Harrison and other yowlers held the stage and monopolized the spotlight.

The blame for all this does not rest with Republicans. They are not in control of either branch of the Congress. Test votes in both the House and the Senate clearly show that the radical-Democratic combination is in control of both branches of Congress. The fact that this combination is in control of both branches of Congress proves that it could put over a legislative program had it the desire to do so.

This should be of especial significance to the agricultural sections of the country, where the need for relief of some kind is very urgent. Democratic and radical members of Congress elected in 1922 made their campaign upon the ground that they wanted to go to Congress to help the farmer. Those who were loudest in their promises to this effect have been the least concerned to redeem them. They have not made any effort to carry out their pledges.

The radical senators and representative elected from agricultural sections have spent their time since coming to Congress reveling in political gossip, all of it untrue, most of it mischievous, and some of it malicious and slanderous.

They have resolved themselves into amateur Hawkshaws to unravel mythical villainies which never existed except in the perverted minds of ex-convicts, cheap liars and blackmailers, and vengeful individuals smarting under criminal indictments in Federal courts.

The things done and the things left undone by this Congress must be charged directly and solely to the radical-Democratic combination, which was effected early in the session in both houses over the protest and the opposition of Republican leadership and membership.

The whole situation should forcibly remind the country of the necessity for a legislative body which has a dependable and a reliable Republican majority which will cooperate with the Republican administration in carrying out a consistent program of legislation which is dictated by common sense, honest motives, and the fundamentals of political economy.

PASSION WEEK SERVICES

The services on Wednesday and Friday evenings will be held in the Methodist Protestant church and on Thursday evening a communion service in Centenary Methodist Episcopal church. Appropriate messages and music will make the services worth while. Both congregations are earnestly asked to attend and all other friends are most welcome.

SMALLWOOD

Quite a number of flittings took place in our neighborhood this spring. Mr. Bauerlein moved from Mr. John Nelson's house to near Westminster; Mr. George Arnold moved from Mr. Mitchell's property to John Nelson's; Mr. Albert Magins moved from Mr. Harmon Wardenfelt's farm to Mr. Mitchell's; Mr. Frank Freyman moved from Mr. Levi Davis' property to Mr. Marmon Wardenfelt's; Mr. Inda Logue moved from Mr. Bowers' place to the Davis place; Mr. James Bowers moved from Westminster back to his own property.

The snow and rain are still coming nearly every day and the school children have to walk down the muddy road where it is impossible for automobiles to travel. It is a wonder to me that their parents do not see the county commissioners about it. Something could be done. On the Deer Park road are situated three school houses and the school children have to walk the road nine months out of the twelve. Think of that. A number of their parents would take them in automobiles but can't pull through.

The pupils of Deer Park that made all the days that school was open in March are as follows: Lewis Beard, Howard Link, Mabel Blizzard, Alice Logue, Louise Logue, Helen Beard, and Margaret Beard.

We are glad to hear Rev. J. N. Link has returned to the Deer Park charge for another year. All he needs to make a successful year is the co-operation of the members.

The Easter service at Deer Park will be held on Easter Monday night. A good program will be given.

Some of the citizens of your community visited the historical home of the Beasmans last Monday night to meet some of their friends from that community. The evening was spent very pleasantly and socialably in playing games. The host and hostess did credit to their colonial ancestors in dispensing hospitality.

NEW PEST HITS ORCHARDS IN MARYLAND

The appearance in Maryland in large numbers of a camparatively new insect pest, the European Red Mite, will necessitate a change in the spraying operations of fruit growers in this State, especially in the leading apple and peach growing sections. This announcement was made Wednesday by Dr. T. B. Symons, director of extension service of the University of Maryland.

Investigation work conducted by C. C. Hamilton of the Department of Entomology has shown it is advisable to apply what is known as delayed dormant spray to kill the winter eggs of the mite.

Eggs are reported to be present in sufficient quantities in most ocrhards in the Hancock, Hagerstown, Smithsburg, Frederick, Westminster and Havre de Grace sections to necessitate the use of oil sprays.

MARYLAND BOY'S SUCCESS WITH HOLSTEIN COW

College Park, April 8.—It took a Maryland agricultural club boy to bring into the limelight a new State champion in milk and butterfat production for junior three year old Holstein dairy cows.

The new claimant for State honors is Bess Clothilde Pontiac Burke whose new record of 606.1 pounds of milk and 26.6 pounds of butterfat in a seven day advanced registry test is the best made by a junior three year old Holstein in Maryland. Her fourteen day test, completed in March, showed a total production of 1222.5 pounds of milk and 52.026 pounds of butterfat. Her best seven days of milk production during the test totaled 645 pounds of milk.

The owner of the new title-holder is Norman E. Pennington, of Kent county, who purchased her in May, 1921, as a seven month's old heifer. Norman paid $65.00 for his little treasure and made the money raising tomatoes. In the fall of the same year, however, he had the pleasure of winning back the entire purchase price of the heifer on prizes which he was awarded when Bess was exhibited in the club class at the Timonium State Fair. His premiums consisted of a first prize of $40 and an additional $25 presented by the Maryland State Holstein Association.

The following year Bess Clothilde Pontiac Burke as a senior heifer again won a blue ribbon in the club class and entered in open competition took second prize in her class among all the Holsteins at the Timonium Fair. Her winnings at that time totalled $110. In the spring of 1923 she freshened and on advanced registry test made a production of 460 pounds of milk and 20.25 pounds of butterfat in seven days.

At the Timonium Fair in 1923 Bess had the pleasure of seeing her daughter duplicate her own previous performance by winning the blue ribbon in the calf club class. Later her calf went to the National Dairy Show at Syracuse and placed seventh in the strong competition of the junior club show ring.

J. Shroyer, of the Westminster Theological Seminary. Their subject will be "Better Teaching in Our Sunday Schools."

EXPENSES OF NEAR EAST RELIEF

There seems to be considerable speculation regarding the overhead expense of the Near East Relief and this has created much misunderstanding.

The entire overhead of the Near East Relief, including local administration, National and overseas distribution has never been more than 5%.

Each year a statement of receipts and expenditures is forwarded to Congress at the time of our annual report.

Having been incorporated by a Special Act of Congress this statement is annually prepared and submitted.

"THE COVERED WAGON" TO BE SHOWN AT OPERA HOUSE

Saturday evening, April 19, the celebrated film "The Covered Wagon," depicting the rough experience of the early settlers of the western part of this country, will be shown at the Opera House, this city. This is not a cheap melodrama frequently seen in cheap theaters, but the author Emesron Hough, presents a true picture of Americanism as founded by the early settlers. The late Theodore Roosevelt once said: "The pioneer days are gone, with their roughness and their hardships, but the need for pioneer virtues remains the same as ever." Go see the film and learn how the American pioneers lived.
