Monday last Mr. William F. Helm, W. M. R. R. gateman, this city, repainted his "hut" under the supervision of Dr. Harry Jones, the famous chicken (feathered) expert, of this city. A number of other friends and relatives made suggestions, from time to time, and if Mr. Helm had taken their suggestions singly, in pairs, or collectively, his "hut" would now resemble the famous "Joseph's Coat," or a piece of old "Dolly Varden" calico. However, as usual, Brother Helm followed his own ideas, and fully demonstrated the old saying that "unsought advice is never appreciated, or wanted" When Brother Helm puts on the finishing touches he wants all those "free advice" rubes to stay away—he must not be interrupted.

MANCHESTER

The supply of news items is scarce at this writing and everybody is busy house cleaning when every thing is turned up side down and the stoves are made pipeless and set away in the closet or an out of the way corner with mercury crawling down towards the thirties, no doubt to consult Jack Frost to have a showing among the early vegetation by morning not to nip them but to give them a shiver before Old Sol puts in its influence.

Just at this period I met a friend who informed us that Mr. and Mrs. J. R. L. Wink and Miss Edna LaMotte drove to Gettysburg on Saturday where they took on Howard Wink and Paul Leatherman, students at the college, and continued their drive to Hummelstown, where they received a warm welcome from Rev. and Mrs. Leatherman. After a pleasant social period they made an enjoyable trip to Herschey and Palmira with much to see and enjoy. On their return they took in Herschey again and enjoyed some of the sweets. After enjoying a fine supper a most pleasant evening was spent socially to a late hour. On Sunday morning all attended the Sunday school and then the morning service. There was a large congregation present, who joined in the usual opening service. After the creed was a solo, "Hold thou my hand," by Miss Edna LaMotte in her usual easy manner that was much appreciated. The congregation had quite a per cent of musical talent present. In the afternoon the whole company enjoyed sight seeing along the Susquehanna river. At one place the water fall is beautiful. They also gathered a fine coal deposit in the sand, of which they have samples. Not heeding the on coming clouds that had a storm wrapped in their folds burst upon them giving all a drenching. The visitors speak praise of the beautiful church and parsonage the Rev. and family enjoy. The visit will be a red letter item in the diaries of the visitors.

Mr. J. E. Masenhimer, daughter Sadie, and J. B. Baker accepted the invistation from officers of the Thurmont Bank and motored there on Thursday evening to a banquet in honor of the finished repairs of the building at a cost of $50,000. The decorations were grand and added much to the occasion. The banquet was bountiful and on a par with the extensive repairs, making it an ideal home and banking house.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hawk, mother and grand daughter Miss Mollie Hawk, of Los Angeles, arrived here on Friday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. J. LaMotte, after a run of 2,150 miles from Stuart, Florida. They left home January 4th, by water from Philadelphia where their car was taken aboard and landed at Jacksonville. They enjoyed a fine temporary home at Stuart from whence they made trips to a number of places of interest. They not only saw but made use of their kodak, coming home with more than a hundred views that makes Mrs. H. an open book fully illustrated and worth the while to enjoy her talks. When the time of home coming came it was decided to come overland in their car that was quite a hit, to pass through many towns, also giving them a general lay of the country with its improvements, both good and bad. They enjoyed a day and night with our folks in Richmond, Virginia, enjoying the sights. They left for home from here on Monday.

On Whit Sunday afternoon a religious community service will be held on the carnival grounds. A large chorus of a hundred or more voices, accompanied by an orchestra, will sing at this service. One rehearsal has been held and the next one will be held on June 3rd, at 8:00 P. M., in the school house. Let there be a general attendance that evening so as to make it a success at the service. Come!

Mr. Horace P. D. Garrett died, May 19, 1924, at 7:30 P. M. at his home in Baltimore, after a long period of suffering from a goiter that would not yield to the best treatment at home and at the hospital. A short service was held at the home on Wednesday, after which the friends with the remains were brought here and laid to rest beside his parents in a family lot in the Lutheran cemetery. He was 45 years old. After which church service was held in the church by Rev. Rehmeyer. Messrs. D. O. Reed, H. Fultz, J. C. Keck, H. Wertz, H. Leese, and C. V. Lippy pallbearers. W. L. F. Bergman had charge of the body. The deceased was a professor in the Baltimore Business College for more than a decade and had a high standing as a teacher. In his younger manhood he was a teacher in the public schools of the county for a number of years.

Mayor J. R. L. Wink swore the councilmen elect into office last week and organized by electing J. W. A. Abkin secretary; G. F. Theiret, treasurer; H. Theiret, bailiff; C. D.
