MELROSE

We should not complain about the abundance of rain, as parts of Minnesota near the Great Lakes, claim five snows during the month of May.

Highway cops are making their rounds on our state road, and they are needed already. One chaueffer paid a fine for speeding.

Those who were the guests of Mrs. Beniah Bankert and sister on Sunday were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lemmon, and five children, of Taneytown; Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Bankert and children, Edna Remus, Raymond and Jesse B., of Ebbvale, and Miss Minnie Shaffer.

On Saturday afternoon a queerly-built automobile hustled up to the Melrose garage for oil and gas. Soon a curious crowd gathered, your correspondent among the rest. The machine built funnel shaped, with the aid of wood and galvanized sheet iron built on a Ford chassis, certainly did not cost a fortune, the owner vieing with Henry Ford in building a cheap car, and speed. The owner, a Pennsylvania man, built it himself, not with 1,500 separate parts, as is reported constitutes a complete Ford, but it was geared high, the owner declaring he can go sixty miles an hour with ease.

On Sunday, June 1st, was a great day at the U. B. church in Bachman's Valley when the Otterbein Brotherhood of the Third U. B. church, Baltimore, sent a crowd of 150 of their "Christian Boosters Club," including an orchestra of 24 members, on a visit.

These "Boosters" gathered at 6:30 in the morning at their church in the city to have prayer and praise service for an hour before starting on their auto pilgrimage to Bixler's church. It is said the procession of cars, including others in line was nearly a mile in length. Their first stop was at Greenmount, where a new church building is in the course of erection, the cornerstone being laid just one week ago. After a season of music, vocal and instrumental, and prayer, they went on to Bixler's U. B. church, where a large enthusiastic crowd welcomed the visitors. The church was crowded, standing-room being at a premium, when the 150 "Christian Boosters" had their program of singing, orchestra music, and a general revival to reclaim those outside of the fold of Christ. After the services, so impressive that time will never erase from the lives of those present, a sumptuous repast prepared and set out by the Ladies' Aid Society before the visitors on the spacious lawn of the church, and, after asking a blessing on the food and on the generous hearted people of "The Valley of Maryland," all did ample justice to the good things for the inner man. Besides a thank-offering in words, a generous contribution was given to the Ladies' Aid Society for its untiring efforts in making these services the success they deserved to be. Much credit is due Rev. Wachter, the minister of Bixler's congregation for his painstaking efforts to bring about the success of the meeting.

It is indeed very encouraging to both church members and Sunday school workers that there were three Union Sunday schools organized in public school houses, within a radius of five miles. Wentz's, Krideler's and Deep Run, recently, and all have a good attendance every Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Becker visited at the home of Chester Geiman on Sunday last.

Week-end visitors at the home of Mr. Harvey Yingling and family were Mrs. George Hines and Miss Helen Day, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Strevig and Mr. and Mrs. George Stermer, of Hanover; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Geiman, Misses Nellie A. Zepp, Hilda Shauck and Florence Frock.

Formerly this country used to resound with Indian warwhoops, but now it will resound with political whoops, so it remains to be seen if real progress has resulted.
