COOLIDGE AND DAWES

Nominated For President and Vice-President By Republican National Convention.

Yesterday President Coolidge was renominated for President, and General Charles G. Dawes, of Chicago, who served in the World War, was nominated for Vice-President, after Former Governor Lowden, of Illinois had refused the nomination. In a telegram from Marietta, Ohio, the General accepted the nomination. He has received a large number of telegrams congratulating him upon his nomination.

The platform adopted by the Republican convention has for its keynote "Retrenchment and Lower Taxes." It is a conservative document and the nominees are men well known for their conservative views.

The nominees should receive the votes of all true friends of safe, economical, and conservative government, be he or she Republican or Democrat, the time having arrived in this country when the line must be drawn between those who believe in an economical and tax reducing government and those who think otherwise.

Any Republican nominee for Congress who does not intend to abide by the declarations contained in the platform adopted by the Republican convention, but, if elected, intends to do as he pleases, should be defeated. Principles, not men, make parties, and no one should be allowed to hold an office, as a Republican, unless he be a true one.

It will be far better for the Republican party to go down to defeat in defense of its principles than to compromise, especially at this time, with the so-called Progressives, or Radicals, who sail under its banner when it suits them and not if it does not suit them.

The coming campaign will develop, probably, a fight between the forces of conservatism and those of radicalism, and if this be true, let's have it out, and damned be he who first cries—"enough!"

CHARLES GATES DAWES, REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

Charles Gates Dawes of Ohio, Nebraska and Illinois, has risen to world fame from a little town of 20,000 inhabitants, Marietta, Ohio, originally settled by veterans of the Revolutionary War.

Born in Marietta nearly 59 years ago, he graduated in 1884 from Marietta College with a Bachelor of Arts degree. He moved to Lincoln, Neb., and there practiced law for seven years until 1894.

It was at Lincoln that the then struggling young lawyer became a firm friend of a youthful second lieutenant of the United States Army, John J. Pershing.

Leaving Lincoln for Chicago, Young Dawes entered upon a varied career in politics, business and finance. His first business venture was in the manufacture and distribution of gas for household use.

In politics, he was an active leader in the William McKinley campaign of 1896. Business led him into politics and politics led him into finance.

The outbreak of the World War gave Banker Dawes a new occupation.

Meantime the young second lieutenant had become a general, the commander of the world's greatest expeditionary force. Dawes knew Pershing and Pershing knew Dawes. Each believed in the other.

Pershing had a problem of finding supplies for the American forces without interfering with the needs of the Allies. He called on Dawes.

Dawes solved it. As general purchasing agent of the American Expeditionary Forces he co-ordinated the gathering of supplies for all the Allied armies. His reward was a promotion, first to the grade of colonel and then to that of brigadier general.

A Congressional committee after the war was inquiring into the conduct of certain phases of the war that had been won. Somebody subpoenaed "Charlie" Dawes. He told them what had been done, assumed full responsibility for his share and challenged the investigators to question the work of those who had struggled overseas.

THE PIONEERS OF WESTMINSTER BY MISS M. B. SHELLMAN

Under the caption "A Book For The Day," Mr. Warren W. Brown, in the Baltimore News of Wednesday has the following to say about "The Pioneers of the Early Days of Westminster," by Miss Mary B. Shellman, of this city:

"There is a description of a sweetmeat shop in "The Pioneers of the Early Days of Westminster" that, we fancy, must have a very familiar sound to nearly anybody who was born during the last 50 years or so in a country village almost anywhere in this part of the country.

"That this particular place happened to be 'Aunt Betsy's' at Westminster makes no difference. It was merely one of a thousand shops all very much alike in general characteristics, though differing radically in the details that go to make atmosphere and individuality. They have nearly all disappeared now as irrevocably and as completely as the gingerbread men who used dejectedly to adorn their windows—or, alas, as the children who bought them.

"Miss Shellman's little booklet about Westminster and its history contains lots of interesting information, and it can be seen at once that its preparation was a labor of love. It was published recently by the Carroll County Society of Baltimore.

"The town, the author states, was laid out in 1764 by William Winchester, an English gentleman, who was born in London in 1710 but who came to Maryland when he was only 10 years old. In 1747 he married Lydia Richards and apparently passed an uneventful but rather influential life.

"We find him naming the town (modestly, as is the universal human custom) after his own family and designating its one thoroughfare King street. He thought better of this, however, after the colonies decided they had had enough of the Georges, and boldly, if not originally, selected Main street instead."

Sunday last Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Arnold, near this city, entertained Mr. and Mrs. George A. Shipley, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hill, Miss Violet Gist, and Mr. Thornton Haines.

RECEPTION TO WOMAN'S CLUB

Last Tuesday afternoon from three to five o'clock Mrs. George K. Mather, and her sister Miss Evelyn Rinker gave a very delightful informal reception to the Woman's Club at the home of Mrs. Mather on Willis street. Mrs. Carroll Albaugh, president of the Club, spent eleven weeks of the past winter touring Florida. To entertain the club members and invited guests, Mrs. Albaugh was asked to tell of her southern trip which she did in a most interesting way, beginning with the morning she left home, the 19th of February, in a blizzard storm, but for lack of time, was obliged to leave the ladies at Stone Mountain, near Altanta, Georgia, on her return home. Most of the places visited, and interesting and ususual things seen, were not only described by Mrs. Albaugh, but pictures and post-cards were shown which made the description much more real and interesting.

Another very pleasant feature of the afternoon was the music furnished by Miss Evelyn Mather and Mrs. Paul Wimert. Delicious refreshments were daintily served. The very attractive home, with its beautiful surroundings of blooming shrubbery, peonies and iris, made it a most fitting place for the ladies to lay aside their club work for the year, and start summer activities and vacations.

Sunday last Mrs. Anna Haines Battenfield, Baltimore, who had been visiting her mother, Miss Wilmer Haines, this city, returned home with her husband who spent the week-end here.

GRACE LUTHERAN CHURCH ADOPTS NEW CHARTER AND BY-LAWS

Wednesday evening, despite the rain, a large number of the members of Grace Lutheran church, this city, attended the annual congregational meeting of the church. Among other important business transacted, was the adoption by the congregation of an entirely new constitution and by-laws in order to conform with all other Lutheran churches in America that are members of The United Lutheran Church in America; the abolishment of the offices of elder and trustee, which never had a standing in the Lutheran church proper, and the substitution for the same of the office of deacon only; changing the annual meeting of the congregation to the second Wednesday after the first Monday in December; fixing the fiscal year from January 1st. to December 31st, and increasing the minister's salary from $1800 to $2000.

Hereafter all governing authority is lodged in a Church Council consisting of ten deacons, two of whom shall be elected annually and the rights and privileges of each and every member of the congregation are well defined by the constitution and the by-laws.

By its action the congregation of Grace church has blazed the way for all other Lutheran churches of this county in the matter of adopting a new charter in conformity with the United Lutheran Church in America, and that of the Maryland and all other synods in America.

Up until the consolidation of all Lutheran churches in America the several synods constituted the governing bodies and each one had its own peculiar rules and regulation, but by the consolidation the church in America now has a supreme ruling body and a perfect organization from the General Synod down to the humblest member of a congregation. In other words it has a first-class organization, which, in the future, will mean very much to the church in the matter of its temporal and spiritual affairs.

In order to inaugurate the new fiscal and church year ten deacons were elected to serve until the First day of January 1925, and ten, most of whom are the same members elected to serve until January 1st, 1925, were elected, two of whom will serve for one year, beginning January 1, 1925, two for two years, two for three years, two for four years, and two for five, or until their several successors are duly elected and installed, which installation shall take place on the first Sunday in January in each and every year beginning on the First day of January 1925.

Practically all congregations now use the encelope system for the collection of money and most all of them have their accounting for the same reported from January 1st, to December 31, thereby completing the 12 calendar months of the year, as marked on the envelopes. Heretofore Grace church's treasurer made his report for parts of two years, a method which has become obsolete, the calender year having been found very much more satisfactory. This year's report, however, will not be made until after January 1st, 1925, and will enbrace the period from July 1st, 1923 to January 1st, 1925, a year and six months, in order to start the new year, beginning January 1, 1925, properly, and continue the same regularly thereafter for each of the twelve calendar months in future years.

For the Sentinel.
