A new and faster telephone service has been installed between this city and Baltimore. Heretofore it was necessary to call "Long Distance," but now it is only necessary to give the desired number to the local operator, and while you hold the receiver to your ear, she will ring the desired telephone. On calling for a "particular person" you should ask for "Long Distance" in the usual way.

MELROSE

Thursday of last week Mr. Chester M. Geiman, of near here, took some of his neighbors on their initial trip to Baltimore to visit relatives and friends, and have a good time sightseeing, which was all accomplished, getting home in time to hear the clocks strike the hour of midnight.

Those in the party were Mr. Edward Krideler, in his 82nd year, Mrs. Edward Krideler, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. John J. T. Baumgardner. Among their ramblings they visited the wharf where the waves of Chesapeake Bay brush up against "Maryland, My Maryland. All the persuasion the chauffuer could command did not influence the leader, Mr. Knideler, who is 81 years young, to consent to take his party on an aeroplane or steamboat ride, but the party did not refuse to visit the important centers of interest, even to going up into some of the "skyscraper" buildings.

We do not think any of the party made the impression, as a party from this neighborhood once did when they arrived in the city, to ask, "Where is Baltimore?"

When they arrived at the door of "Home, Sweet Home," they were all tired, foot-sore and weary.

New And Faster Telephone Service To Baltimore

You can now call Baltimore by simply giving the desired number to your local operator.

For example, when your operator asks, "Quote number, please," say quote, "Baltimore Plaza 3912." While you hold the receiver to your ear, she will ring the desired telephone.

This improved service is very much speedier than that which was formerly in effect and is on the economical station to station basis.

On calling for a particular person you should ask for "Long Distance" in the usual way.
