The Results of Necessity.

What the ancients suffered for the want of knowledge in medical science can only be appreciated by witnessing the vast amount of suffering cured and pain alleviated in modern times, by the use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases. Its introduction was characterized by the necessary withdrawal of a score or more of illusive, quack nostrums, whose evil effects have left living monuments to denounce them. Thus is exemplified the proverb, Necessity is the mother of Invention.

Hillsboro' Sabbath School Picnic.

Tuesday, 20th of June, the Sabbath School teachers and scholars of St. Paul's Church in Hillsborough, together with a number of invited guests from the town and country, assembled for the purpose of holding their annual picnic, and a most enjoyable afternoon was passed by all who attended it.

Near the south-west corner of Hillsborough town stands St. Paul's Church. It is a modest and unpretentious looking little structure, but possesses withal a decidedly neat and cosy appearance. It is nestled among venerable elm trees which stretch out their caressing branches over its roof as if in mute benediction. In their boughs the evening winds sing low and sweet, chanting, it may be, the good deeds of the departed ones, at rest in the church-yard hard by; and in their inviting foliage many feathered songsters with their piping airs resort during the warmers hours of the day, and at times of worship their melodies commingle, not discordantly, with the anthems of praise from organ and choir within. Standing by the pickets that enclose the front yard and looking down the vista of trees towards the rear of the church, you catch glimpses of the stately marble memorials contrasting beautifully in their milky whiteness with the rich green surrounding them. Gazing more intently you observe many of the mounds to be covered with choice flowers which loving hands have carried there and planted and kept alive and nurtured—meet emblems these of that tender regard, of that hallowed remembrance, still cherished by the living for the pale forms that slumber peacefully beneath. Over the street from the little church, and facing it, stands the residence of its Rector, Rev. George F. Beaven. It was in the well-shaded yard of the Rectory that the festivities were held.

Promptly at 3 o'clock P. M. the committees of ladies in charge of the festival initiated the proceedings of the afternoon by relieving themselves of their luscious burdens, the huge basket that were stacked in pyramids upon an ample side table. Soon numerous other tables were spread with snowy covers, extending along down the centre of which was placed a line of vases holding bouquets of pretty flowers. The preliminaries having been gone through, each teacher arranged her class into a body and marched them to a special table, until all the tables upon the green were occupied by rows of boys and girls busy enough with the excellent treat which had been prepared for them. The scene upon the grounds was rather a lively one to witness. There were the young ones in high glee over their feast; their eyes sparkling, their faces aglow with merriment, deporting themselves in that free and easy way which is one of the great charms peculiar to childhood. Pleasant-faced ladies in attendance at the tables flitted about with untiring movement bearing in their hands plates of the golden cake, vessels of the cool and refreshing lemonade, saucers of the delicious cream, or dishes of crimson berries. Gathered about in groups under the shade sat many of the guests engaged in pleasant conversation, while a number amused themselves with games of croquet upon the green. The children having partaken of the refreshments, a second table was quickly prepared, to which the grown folks were invited and served with a sumptuous repast. Thus the delightful afternoon sped on to a close, and all repaired to their homes, bearing with them, we doubt not, many pleasant recollections in association with the picnic in which they had participated.

The managers of the picnic were Mrs. Emma Thompson, Mrs. Mary Eaton, Mr. Albert Morgan, Mrs. Laura Wooters and Mrs. Carrie Wooters. The ladies who assisted the managers in attending at the tables were Mrs. Kate Reynolds, Mrs. Lizzie Stevens, Miss Laura Mason, Mrs. Martha Stevens, Miss Annie Collins and Miss M. V. Beaven.

The Sabbath School of St. Paul's Church has an attendance of fifty scholars These are divided into six classes, as follows:—Bible class, of which Miss M. V. Beaven, who is superintendent of the school, is teacher; Little Workers, Mrs. Beauchamp teacher; Infant class, Mrs. Eaton teacher; Little Jewels, Mrs. Thompson teacher; Little Pilgrims, Miss Annie Collins teacher; and Bishop Lay class, Mr. Albert Morgan teacher. The organist of the Sabbath School is Miss M. V. Beaven, who is also librarian. The superintendent and teachers all seem to be greatly interested in their good work, and the school is making very creditable progress. B.

The Peninsula Peach-Growers' Convention.

WILMINGTON, DEL., July 6.—The convention of Peninsula Peach Growers at Dover today was attended by Dr. Henry Ridgely, J. Alexander Fulton, Manlove Hayes, Thomas Draper and Thomas H. Denny, of Dover; R H. Cummins and George W. Cummins, of Smyrna; A. L. Hudson, of Clayton; E. R. Cochran, of Middletown; Wm. F. Causey, of Milford, and other prominent growers. Dr. Ridgely presided, and J. A. Fulton acted as secretary. The following resolutions were adopted, after some discussion:

"Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed whose duty it shall be to confer with the proper railroad officials without delay for the purpose of making suitable arrangements for running the trains for the transportation of fruit at such hours as will give to peach-growers ample time to pick and deliver their fruits in the cars; also to impress them with the necessity of using the Shore Railroad from Jersey City to Boston, in order that we may have better facilities, shorter time and more prompt delivery of the fruit for sale at the earliest market.

"Resolved, That fruit destined for Boston and other markets East should be delivered in Boston early in the morning of the day after shipment, so that it may be sold in time to be sent by the purchasers and dealers to all the markets accessible by rail in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, where it should arrive in the morning of the third day after delivery in the cars by the growers.

"Resolved, That the transportation charge on fruit hitherto has been so high that in many cases the growers have absolutely not received any money for their fruit after deducting freight, cartage and commission, and that after many years experience very many growers have been obliged to abandon peach culture, pull up their trees and go back to the cultivation of the usual farm crops; that in the county of New Castle alone from the most reliable sources of information it is estimated over half a million trees have been pulled out during the past five years.

"Resolved, That the peach-growers should receive at least one-half of the price the fruit sells for in market as their just proportion, the other half being taken to pay freight and other expenses, and therefore it is the judgment of the most experienced growers that the freight on a carload of fruit to New York should not exceed $75 from Dover Station, and to Boston not over $175, and a pro rata from all other stations along the Delaware Railroad.

"Resolved, That the committee be and are hereby instructed to present these resolutions to the proper railroad officials, and urge upon them the importance of making all necessary arrangements for transporting the prospective large peach crop that may be for the mutual interest of the growers and transportation companies, but more especially the importance of making connection with the Shore Railroad, shorter time, more prompt delivery of the fruit and a reduction of transportation charges."

The chair appointed a committee, consisting of R. H. Cummins, Smyrna; E. R. Cochran, Middletown; Robt. S. Griffith, Sassafras, Md.; Jacob G. Brown, Wyoming, and James J Ross, Seaford, to confer with the railroad officials. The convention then adjourned to meet at the call of the president.

The Story of a Shooting Cracker.

About 2 P. M. on Friday, Mr. James Matthews stopped his horse and cart on Railroad Avenue, opposite Mr. Hacklaway's billiard room, with his head towards Washington street, and went off to transact some business. Some one (we were about to say a boy, but we give the boys credit for more sense, and won't say it) threw a lighted shooting cracker under the horse's legs; the explosion started the horse in a run; turning the corner at the bank, the left wheel of the cart struck the post planted near the bank pump, upset the cart, and instantly the horse was flat of his back, heels upwards. The people in the neighborhood ran to his relief, and soon had both horse and cart right side up with care. The only injury done him was the knocking a piece of skin off one of his legs. In the fall the horse, or cart, or both, struck one of the display tables in front of Minnick's news store, and smashed it to smithereens. The question now is, not who struck Billy Patterson, but who threw that shooting cracker? Nobody seems willing to throw any light on the subject, and the man that did it won't own it.

Another Steam Boiler Explosion—Another Man Killed.

Quite a commotion was created in town on Saturday evening by the arrival here of Mr. William P. Powell, of Miles River Neck, with the news of another boiler explosion, and the death of the engineer. The engine belonged to Mr. Jacob C. Barbourton, in Trappe district, and in charge of Mr. William P. Kelley, a competent manager, was run by a negro man of six or eight years experience in the business, named Lewis Conivey, and was at work on the farm of Mr. William P. Powell, in Miles River Neck. The engine was of the make known as the Wood, Tabor & Morse, and was manufactured at Eaton, in the State of New York, was six horse power, and cost $900. It had been run four years, only for threshing wheat, and was considered a good engine of its kind, though the opinion is, that it is of a bad kind, owing to its high crown sheet, and its liability to low water and explosion.

The explosion precipitated the engine forward nearly 100 feet, killing the fireman, Lewis Conivey, instantly, and blowing his body 150 feet out in the field, to the rear of the engine. The door of the fire box was blown off, striking Conivey in the face, about the eyes, mashing in his skull. The steam blew all his clothes off him, taking the skin with them, leaving the negro's body perfectly white. Mr. Kelley was slightly scalded about the face. No one else was injured, although the men were thick about the engine when the explosion occurred. Conivay was in, the act of drawing the fire at the time, Mr. Kelley was very near him, Mr. Powell near Mr. Kelley, and Messrs. James E. Rice, Isaac Griffin and Herbert Gale were near enough to touch the engine. James Peck and George Cooper, negroes, were near. The rest of the hands were out of danger, the machine not running at the time.

After the explosion Conivey's body presented a ghastly appearance, and was badly mutilated.

It seems that the boiler had been leaking some during the day, by the giving away of one of the bolts

Just before the explosion the machine had been stopped and moved; the engine had been leveled and chucked; the work of leveling and chucking the thresher was progressing, when Mr. Kelley gave orders to Conivey to fire up and prepare for work. Mr. Gale was engaged in bringing up the wood. The water barrel had been brought up to the new position. The evidence is that there was plenty of water in the boiler, and that the steam gauge only registered 17 pounds of steam, whereas it took from 60 to 80 pounds to run it.

After the fire had been made and the pump started, a slight report was heard of escaping steam, caused by the giving away of one of the bolts. Mr. Powell at once called Mr. Kelley's attention to it, Mr. Kelly promptly ordered Conivey to draw the fire. In a second afterwards the explosion occurred.

On Saturday night Mr. Justice Robinson ordered Constable Grace to summon a jury, to hold an inquisition over the body of Conivey. The following jurors were summoned and sworn in the case:—A. A. Pascault, foreman; C. R. Leonard, M. M. Higgins, G. W. W. Haddaway, R. H. T. Councell, Samuel E. Tucker, Chambers Harden, Edward Roberts, Theophilas Tunis, Greenbury Marshall, Rob't. Hough, Frederick T. Suhr.

The jury under the direction of States' Attorney Bateman, visited the scene of disaster on Sunday morning, and took some testimony, eliciting the facts herein stated, and adjourned to meet at Justice Robinson's office, in Easton, at 9½ o'clock Monday morning. A large number of persons visited the wreck on Sunday. On Monday the jury met, heard additional testimony, all of which exhonerated Mr. Tarbutton and all those engaged about the engine from all blame in the premises. The engine was in competent hands, and all did their work promptly and properly. The explosion is one of those unaccountable accidents which could not be guarded against by ordinary foresight.

The experts—engineers—Wm. H. Withgott, Wm. H. Wilson, W. W. Tunis, and Wm. T. Wrightson, although differing in opinion on some minor points, agreed that the construction of the boiler was not safe. There have been several explosions of the Wood, Taber & Morse engines—four we think—in this county, which speaks bad for the machine. The investigations of the jury were directed principally to the safety of this particular engine in comparison with others. The following is the verdict of the jury: "That the said Lewis Conivey came to his death on the 8th of July, 1882, by the explosion of a boiler, which explosion was caused by a defect in said boiler which was unknown to the owner.

Personal.

Bishop Lay preached at Church Hill on Sunday.

Rev. Mr. J. W. Larmour and family left here Wednesday night for West Point, Virginia.

Hon. Michael Bannon was in Easton Sunday, and took the steamer for Baltimore Sunday night.

Henry Lay, Esq., son of Bishop Lay, and an engineer on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, is visiting his parents in Easton.

Mr. D. D. Burroughs, our efficient night watchman, and assistant town bailiff, has resigned his office and gone to Clayton and accepted the place of switchman on the Delaware road, in the place of Charley Spencer, promoted to the conductorship of the Smyrna branch of the Delaware road. Easton deeply deplores the loss of Mr. Burroughs.

Mr. I. Nelson Benjamin, of North East, Cecil county, came down to Easton to spend the 4th of July. Mr. Nelson Benjamin is a son of Mr. Isaac Benjamin, who kept the Easton hotel in 1841-2. He was a member of Captain George W. Sherwood's company, the Easton Guards, in 1846, and in 1847 volunteered is Capt. John Egar Howard's company in the Mexican war, and took part in the storming of Contreras, Cherebusco, Chepultepec, and the City of Mexico. Returning from the war unscathed, he left Easton immediately afterwards for Cecil county, and settled at Port Deposit, thence he went to Rising Sun, and about 25 years ago went to North East and engaged in the hardware business. He was appointed register of voters by Gov. Swann in 1866, resigned to accept the office of Justice of the Peace, which he has held ever since, until removed last winter by Gov. Hamilton. He is still in the hardware business at North East. Mr. Benjamin expressed himself very much pleased with the improvements which have taken place in Easton since he left here in 1848. He met a number of his old acquaintances here during his visit, whom he had not seen since he was a boy, for he was not more than 19 years old when he went to Mexico.

Pippin vs. Wood.

This was a spicy case tried before Justice Nicols one day last week; Mr. Pippin being represented by Mr. J. F. Bateman, and Mr. Wood by Major Wm. E. Stewart and Mr. Baker. The claim was $6 for the season services of a stallion. Mr. Pippin alleged that the contract was for the horse to go to Mr. Wood's once in two weeks, through the season, which he did; Mr. Wood contending that there was a special contract made with the groom to be at his place every other Saturday, which was violated. Mr. Pippin testified that his groom had no authority to make such a contract, and Wood's farm hand testified that he heard what was said between Mr. Wood and Pippin's groom, but heard nothing about his engaging to be there every other Saturday. The Justice gave Pippin a judgment for the amount of his claim. What made the case interesting, there were a large number of witnesses summoned, and behind the contention a bet of $25 between Pippin and Wood on the result of the trial.

The Fourth.

Business was suspended in Easton on the 4th.

About 12 o'clock on the 4th it commenced to rain heavily in this section, and rained hard throughout the afternoon; and the rain was general throughout the county.

The rain interfered with the festivities at Oxford on the 4th. The ladies only took in about $150 for the dinner; but had it not rained they would have taken in at least $300.

The Easton Mozart Band excursion on the 4th would have been a great success but for the rain. Many of the excursionists were caught at Cambridge during the rain; the stores were closed, so that they could not buy umbrellas; and most of them got a good wetting.

(Communicated.)

EDITOR STAR—We noticed that the Gazette editorial of last week speaking of the number of Binders sold in our county, gave credit in these words, "While these machines have not reached perfection, they worked with more satisfaction than ever."

We are glad to inform Mr. C. that there were machines that went through the entire harvest without a single objection made to them, and every machine put out in the county has been sold upon the excellency of their work. Already some ten or twelve have been spoken for to be delivered next year. This has raised the cause of perfection. Would it not be better to say the machine he bought had not reached perfection.

Court.

The July term of the Circuit Court for Talbot county meets next Tuesday week. We understand the important case, removed from Kent county, of Hinson, Bannon and Pearce, trustees, against Blackstone, will be argued at this term. Among the eminent counsel expected to take part in the argument are Hon. Michael Bannon, of Anne Arundel; Hon. Richard Hinson and Hon. James Alfred Pearce, of Kent; Elligood and Blackstone, of Cumberland; Ex-Judge Daniel R. Magruder, of Prince George's; and J. B. and E. H. Brown, of Queen Anne's county.

Good News for the Farmers.

By advertisement in to-day's STAR, it will be seen that Numsen & Sons will open their canning factory at Easton Point the last of July or first of August, to can peaches, damsons, tomatoes, etc., and will pay cash prices for all kinds of stock packed in the factory. Those having peaches or tomatoes in large quantities should lose no time in making contracts with them. It is better to sell for less at home than to take the risk of getting more by shipping abroad.

5 cts. MUSIC 5 cts.

When retrograding o'er the past,
We must confess this age is fast,—
The great desideratum's attained at last
By Goldsborough's 5 cent Music.

Where'er you wander on the street,
The air seems filled with music sweet;
And in almost every house a sheet
Of Goldsborough's 5 cent Music.

The stranger, as he passes by,
With careful, scrutinizing eye,
Is amazed when invited in to buy
Goldsborough's 5-cent Music.

He buys, and to his home repairs,
Laden with all the latest airs;
Astonishes the family when he declares
'Tis Goldsborough's 5 cent Music.

To those who would their parlors grace,
Must this great offer now embrace,
And straightway note the only place
To buy Goldsborough's 5 cent Music.

New and Fashionable

MUSIC

FOR

Five Cents

Big Lot Just Received.

This music is NOT the cheaply gotten-up five cent TRASH of late so largely disseminated in the cities. Neither is it stale, accumulated, shopworn stock. It is executed in the highest style of the art from Electrotype Plates, on Best Plate Paper, such as formerly sold for 30, 50, 75 and 100 cents, and now sold by us for FIVE CENTS. This departure from long established rates is really a Great Revolution in the Divine Art.

Genuine, Legitimate, Copyright and non-Copyright Popular Music of the Day,

The above big lot, together with the large stock previously on hand makes our collection

Larger than Combined Stock of all Dealers on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

We will freely give sensible and practical hints in the art of playing any Music bought of us.
