STONE CHAPEL

Sunday school 10 A. M. Young people's meeting 7:30 P. M.

Stone Chapel and community are preparing for a great day October 16th when a Methodist Pilgrimage from Baltimore and other points will arrive there at 11 A. M. Lunch will be eaten there, after which services will be conducted by one of our bishops. Definite arrangements to be announced later.

Wedding bells have rung twice in the last two weeks and taken two of our Stone Chapel girls. The first was Miss Ethel Bowers, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Bowers to Mr. Charles W. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. King, Westminster. They were married at the M. E. parsonage at New Windsor, Saturday evening, September 6th, by the bride's pastor, Rev. W. I. Randle. They were accompanied by two of their young friends of Westminster. The bride's gown was gray with hat and slippers to match. They will reside on Mr. King's farm, near Westminster.

The second was Miss Ernestine R. Zile, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Zile to Mr. A. Donald, of Baltimore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cook, near Stone Chapel. They were married at the M. E. parsonage of New Windsor, Thursday, September 18 at 4 P. M., by the bride and groom's pastor, Rev. W. I. Randle. The bride wore dark blue silk crepe with hat to match. The attendants were Miss Emma Bradburn and Mr. Leo Warner, of Westminster. The bride and groom will make their home in Union Bridge. Following the marriage ceremony the bridal party was entertained to dinner at the bride's home.

Miss Beryl Summers accompanied her friend Miss Kaufman to her home in York, Pa.

Miss Katherine Cosgrove, of Westminster, spent Tuesday evening with her friend, Miss Emma Bradburn. While there they visited Mr. Ernest Zile where they took instructions in horseback riding.

The community was sorry to hear of the death of their old friend and neighbor, Mrs. Charles Martin, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jenkins, 1930 E. 30th St., Baltimore. The funeral took place Wednesday at 2:30 P. M. The services were conducted by Rev. William C. Parrish, her former pastor. Some of her friends from this community attended the funeral. The floral tributes were numerous and handsome. The design sent by the Stone Chapel Mite Society was very much appreciated by the family. The community extends deepest sympathy to Mr. Martin and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Duvall made a fine trip to Hagerstown, Saturday afternoon to deliver a load of their canned asparagus and other vege-

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gorsuch and children, David, and John, of Fairmount, spent Sunday with Mrs. Anna Stansbury.

The graduating class of teacher training gave their pastor, Rev. J. H. Lehman, a surprise Saturday evening when they presented him with two neckties and a cake for the faithful services rendered them.

What might have proved fatal accident occurred last Saturday evening about 8:30 o'clock, when Rev. J. H. Lehman, and E. Benton Hann were returning to their homes after attending a meeting of the building committee, when a passing automobile struck Mr. Hann rendering him unconscious and severely bruising his body, with several gashes on his head. The occupants of the machine passed on never stopping to render the least bit of aid or assistance, which is very unkind on the part of any autoist. Owing to the darkness of the evening Rev. Lehman had some difficulty in getting help, but gave a call and a number of the neighbors responded, and Mr. Hann was carried to the home of Mrs. Laura Stansbury where first aid was given him. A doctor was summoned and, after a thorough examination found, no bones broken. Mr. Hann was moved to his home a short distance away, and at this writing is resting as well as can be expected.

Mrs. John Albright, of Hanover, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hann, for an indefinite time.

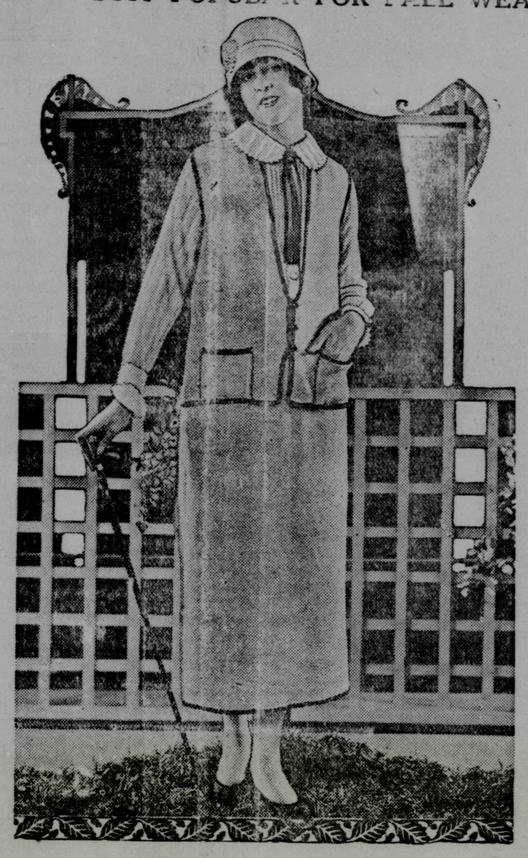

Mr. and Mrs. Carnes Ports, Baltimore, visited relatives here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Utz, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Utz, and Miss Viola Utz, of Baltimore, spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Utz.

SLEEVELESS TWO-PIECE KNITTED SUIT POPULAR FOR FALL WEAR

NOW comes autumn with its cool days and its warm days with "Indian summer" yet to be. Though the thermometer play pranks, a two-piece knitted suit will prove equal to the capriciousness of most any sort of weather. If one owns a knitted skirt with matching sleeveless coatee, the possibilities for adjusting to meet the circumstances are many.

When mellow days are bathed in sunshine unwanted are sleeves in one's knitted suit. That is why the sleeveless kind are so popular, being not too warm, too cool, too burdensome, just right!

Yet there come times between when autumn winds are sure to chill. A sleeveless jacquette-with-skirt, plus a lightweight knitted jumper substituted for the lingerie blouse proves equal to the occasion. Not only does this combination assure comfort, but more than that it converts a two-piece suit into a swagger three-piece knitted ensemble.

Take as a working basis this very model shown in the picture. It is a suit trimly tailored and knitted of lemon yellow mohair with striking black bordering. Admirable indeed for the warmer fall days, but, when winds do blow, fancy its comfort and its effectiveness if its sleeveless jacquette be worn over a lightweight jumper knitted, say, in gay plaids with yellow and black predominating. Perhaps, a heather mixture introducing ruddy autumn tones would make even more of a pleasing color study. At any rate the experiment is worth trying, especially as designers anticipating this demand for sleeveless jacquette, skirt and jumper to match, have employed the method this season of making individual garments which harmonize in coloring. Thus one may buy separate or ensuite scarf, jumper and two-piece suit, which are related to each other in color and design.

NEW FROCKS TO WELCOME THE OPENING OF SCHOOL

THRIFTY mothers and alert seamstresses delight in the vogue for combining two materials in frocks for school girls. This allows the use of short lengths of cloth, remnants and of one color, or two contrasting colors may be chosen and the two different materials used—as twill or serge with velveteen, flannel and duvetyn or wool goods with taffeta. For a pretty

DOES YOUR CHILD GET ENOUGH SLEEP

"At the beginning of the school year, one of the most important habits to be established," says a bulletin from the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Department of Health, "is that of an early bed-time with plenty of sleep for growing children. People who are thoughtful in every other way about the health of their children are carelessly indulgent when it comes to the question of sleep. Parents in one of the large cities in the West have set an example to fathers and mothers elsewhere by signing a new sort of pledge—one in which they promise to do all within their power to see that their growing children get the requisite hours of sleep that are necessary for healthy developmenet. The pledge is issued in connection with the work of one of the Parent Teacher Associations and its object is to raise the standards of health and school efficiency in the city. The action was based on the realization, first, that there can be no real and permanent health without sufficient sleep, and second, that the responsibility for getting the necessary rest for the children, falls upon the parents. They therefore 'resolve and agree', to make every reasonable effort to have their children, under twelve years old, in bed not later than half past eight, and those from twelve years old, in bed not later than nine o'clock for five nights of the week during the school year.

"In connection with this plan it is interesting to note that the minimum sleep requirements agreed upon by medical authorities for children of various ages, are as follows:

Ages in yrs.	Hours of sleep required
under 5	12 hours every night
5-7	11 to 12 hours
8-11	10 to 11 hours
12-15	10 hours

"There should always be plenty of fresh air in the room and if possible the child should sleep alone."
