THE EASTON STAR

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1883.

T. E. ROBSON, Editor.

L. DEF MILBURN & CO., Newspaper Advertising Agents, Baltimore and Holliday street, Baltimore, Md., are authorized to contract for advertisements for THE STAR, at our best rates.

CHARLES THORNE, Jr., the actor, is dead.

EX-GOV. MARSHALL JEWELL, of Connecticut, chairman of the Republican National Committee, is dead.

WE do not believe as has been represented, that the Eastern Shore wants or expects two of the candidates on the Democratic State ticket next fall, namely, the Governor and Comptroller; and we do not consider it would be good policy for the Democrats to take two of the three candidates from this congressional district, and give the other five districts but one. Other parts of the State must be looked to, as well as the Eastern Shore, and there is no use in our making a false issue and claiming what we have no right to, and what we cannot expect to get. We write this to let our friends of the Western Shore know that the Democrats on this side of the bay are not all cranks. If the object of the two candidates from the Eastern Shore organs is to get up a contest between the friends of Messrs. McKenney and Turner, with a view to kill off both of these gentlemen, they have doubtless, gone to work in the right way; but how they can be for both, when their interests are antagonistic, we cannot comprehend. It seems to us that they might just as well attempt to ride two horses at once going in opposite directions, as to support two candidates when one of them only can possibly be nominated.

WE have received a pamphlet, dated March 28th, 1882, from one David M. Richardson, of Detroit, Michigan, and a supplement to the said pamphlet, dated January 10th, 1883. The pamphlet and supplement are intended to enlighten Congress on various subjects:—Our Foreign Commerce; The Inter-Oceanic Canal; Our Navy and Coast Defences; The Improvement of the Mississippi River, including an Adequate System of Levees; Polygamy in the Territories; Public Schools; The Revision of the Tariff; and a Modification of the Internal Revenue Laws." We do not know who Mr. David M. Richardson is, never having heard of him until we saw his signature printed on these pamphlets. He invites adverse criticisms, but would doubtless prefer commendations of his views. On page 9 of the pamphlet, Mr. Richardson says:

"I have always been in favor of a protective tariff and am now, but I am not clear that excessive protection is in the long run the best thing for the domestic manufacturer."

And on the 14th page of the supplement he says:

"To reduce the revenues of the Government at the present time to a point that would preclude the possibility of the Government entering upon these undertakings, is to cast a shadow upon the future prosperity of the country. Therefore there should be no reduction of the Internal Revenue until Congress shall have time to consider these great and important and far reaching questions."

These "great and important and far reaching questions," involve an annual appropriation of $80,000,000; namely, for "Foreign Commerce and Mail Service, $15,000,000;" for "Construction of a Navy and Coast Defence, $25,000,000;" for "Construction of the Inter-Oceanic Canal, $25,000,000;" for "Public Schools, $15,000,000." Mr. Richardson suggests that these expenditures may possibly be through with in some fifteen years, and will, therefore, only involve an aggregate expenditure of about $1,200,000,000. And from the way he tosses about the big figures in connection with the congressional appropriations, he must suppose the means of paying taxes by our people are inexhaustible and their patience is everlasting. Hear him: "Doubtless the right of way and the cost of constructing such a water way, (the Nicaraguan canal,) would not exceed $150,000,000. Such a canal as is herein contemplated, once an accomplished fact, would be a good investment for the United States at two or three times the amount herein stated." This is certainly going it strong.

Mr. Richardson figures most handsomely as a philanthropist. He says "there are 200,000 polygamists among the Mormons of Utah, of which 70,000 are children born in plural wedlock," and he would seize these 100,000 unfortunate women, tear them away from their polygamous husbands, and have the Federal government support them and their 70,000 children. On these "wards of the Government" he is quite willing to spend the snug little sum of $10,000,000 annually for 10 or 15 years; in the meantime the 30,000 polygamous husbands who have been robbed of their wives would be left free to get 100,000 other wives, if they can find them, and 79,000 more children, on which the Government may spend an additional $150,000,000, and so on ad infinitum! We call this real heroic philanthropy at the expense of other peoples pockets. Mr. Richardson desires to be the head of a commission which shall go to Utah and seize and triumphantly bear away these polygamous wives and children. Of course he would not fail to have his life insured before embarking in the speculation.

He wants $60,000,000 expended on the Mississippi river and the Rock Island and Lake Michigan canal, and is willing to spend $300,000,000, that is fifteen millions a year for twenty years, on educating the illiterate wards of the nation; and $225,000,000 towards restoring the American merchant marine to something like its former superiority.

Mr. Richardson actually makes our head swim, by his unique way of treating of millions. The U. S. Navy he tells us has cost the nation since 1869 the enormous sum of $300,000,000, and now amounts to nothing, and he wishes $400,000,000 more spent on it, with no guarantee that we shall have any better navy after paying the additional four hundred millions of dollars for it.

Mr. Richardson in his supplement manifests real alarm, lest the present Republican Congress should reduce the taxes, and thus spoil his grand schemes for squandering the money of the people in wild and extravagant appropriations; but from present appearances we deem his alarm premature and entirely groundless. The lesson taught the Republican party at the last election, however, will not be likely to raise it to "a clear comprehension of the magnitude of the benefits to be derived from entering upon" Mr. Richardson's grand "undertakings." It will most likely ask to be excused from "carrying them forward to successful completion" at this time, in the present state of the political weather. And we are quite sure he will find no comfort in the XLVIIIth congress, which being Democratic, we take for granted can have no possible use for Mr. David M. Richardson and his Utopian schemes.

A Communication from Parnell.

DUBLIN, Feb. 8.—Mr. Parnell, in a communication asking the attendance of the Irish members of the House of Commons at the opening of Parliament next week, says events of the greatest import ance to Ireland will be discussed. A preliminary meeting of the party will be held on the 14th instant to consider the action of the Irish members during the session. Mr. Parnell, writing to Mr. Joseph Walsh concerning a possible vacancy in the representation for the county of Mayo, deprecates the election of a member who will refuse to take his seat. If the time came for the Irish members to retire from the House of Commons, he says, they should do so in a body. He earnestly advocates the adoption of some system of pecuniary compensation to members. If the constituencies do not make an effort in that direction he would be obliged to consider whether he could persevere in the thankless task of endeavoring to keep together an independent Irish party.

The Western Floods.

THREE HUNDRED PEOPLE HOMELESS—THE RIVER RISES FORTY FOUR FEET.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Feb. 8.—This is the highest flood known here since 1860, and will probably exceed that memorable flood before it gets through. At the present time—9 A. M.—the river stands forty-four feet above low-water mark. All the houses on the Ohio river side to Ann street and on the Kanawha side nearly to Court street are inundated. Over three hundred people are homeless.

A dispatch from Pittsburgh says: The flood in the Monongahela river reached the highest point (25 feet) at 3 o'clock this morning and soon it began to recede. Dispatches from towns along the Monongahela report great damage from inundation. The water at all points is subsiding, and no more danger is apprehended.

Rough Times at Chihuahua.

CITY OF MEXICO, Feb. 9.—A telegram from Chihuahua says that on Sunday afternoon about 200 dissolute characters who had often given trouble attacked the store of the Pinos Altos Mining Company. The employes resisted, and Manuel Anchou, a clerk was killed. Buchan Hepburn, the principal member of the company, addressed the attacking party. As he returned to his house he was shot and killed. Four hours later, in a fight between the employes and ruffians, four men were killed. Aid was asked from adjoining towns, and the authorities and citizens turned out en masse and captured five of the ruffians, among them Hepburn's murderer. They were tried and executed Monday. Order is now restored.

The Perpetuity of Fame.

As the name of the immortal Washington has been most sacredly perpetuated as that of a hero and statesman, so also has the fame of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases descended into perpetuity as the only reliable remedy in the market for every character of skin disorders, and as the reward of well-deserving merit. Worth and merit go hand-in-hand. It is useless to contradict the worth of this article.

The Murders of Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke Unearthed.

THE CAB DRIVER KAVANAGH TURNS INFORMER.

LONDON, Feb. 10—4 A. M.—A Dublin dispatch to the Central News says: Michael Kavanagh, the coachman, has turned informer against the prisoners charged with conspiracy to murder government officials.

The court was again crowded this morning with privileged spectators, including many ladies. Joseph Brady, Timothy Kelly, James Carey, the boss carmen, the carman, Fitzharris, alias "The Goat," Laurence Hanlon, Joseph Mullett, James Mullett, Edward O'Brien, Wm. Maroney, Daniel Curley and Daniel Delaney were placed in the dock. The informer, Kavanagh was then sworn.

Great excitement ensued when Kavanagh was placed in the witness-stand. Kavanagh apparently labored under great excitement. He deposed that on the 6th of May last he was at the Royal Oak public house in Park Gate street. He was engaged by four men—Brady and Kelly and two strangers.

Kavanagh then pointed to Patrick Delaney as another of the men present. He drove the four men into the park by the island bridge gate to the Phœnix monument and along the main road to the Gough monument, and they then got down; they said there was no sign of "Skin The Goat," meaning Fitzharris, a carman.

After the prisoners had said there was no sign of Fitzharris the witness saw him with a cab coming from an opposite direction, and saw four men alight from the cab; the cab stayed a long way up the road with the horse's head turned toward Dublin.

Kavanagh identified Fitzharris as the driver of the cab. He deposed that he saw Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke approaching; James Carey and Delaney who had come back on the car from the place where it was waiting, jumped down and joined the group; the witness heard some one say, "It is the tall man;" Kavanagh was then ordered to go further away by some of the conspirators; as he did so, witness heard some one, he could not tell whom, repeat, "Mind, it is the tall man;" as the gentlemen came along, either Carey or Delaney raised a white handkerchief.

The witness said on looking round he thought he only saw one gentleman fall, and saw that the other, who had an umbrella, was lying on the ground. On driving from the scene of the murder they took a turn to the left, then crossed the bridge to the right along the road. Delaney directed him where to drive. He drove rapidly until he reached Round town, three miles from the park. Here Tim Kelly alighted. He then drove round to Lesson Park, stopping at a public house near Lesson bridge. He (witness) paid and dismissed him. On Sunday morning he met Brady again at Townsend street and received £2. He allowed the car to remain as it was for some time; afterward he had it painted; his mare was dark brown. On the night Mr. Field was attacked he was on the College street stand; Joe Brady again engaged him; they drove into Fleet street; Delaney then got on the car and they drove to Hardwick street, where they alighted; they told him to wait; while waiting Kelly and Lawrence Hanlon came up.

1 P. M.—Kavanagh's evidence makes it certain that Mr. Burke was first murdered, and that the plot was primarily against him.

3 P. M.—Kavanagh's evidence is felt to be conclusive. Little can be added to it, as the crown will not accept the evidence of the actual participants.

3.30 P. M.—Kavanagh further deposed that Fitzharris on one occasion told him that they were after Judge Lawson.

Independent witnesses corroborated having seen Kavanagh previous to the Phœnix Park murders at the public houses he mentioned in his evidence as having visited before he drove to the park. The case was adjourned to Thursday next.

Mrs. M. Pifer, Baltimore, says: "I have derived great benefit from theuse of Brown's Iron Bitters in dyspepsia."
