—The showmen who played at St. Michaels Thursday evening, left that place at 12 o'clock Thursday night for Easton, with four strong mules to a 'bus to draw them. They were 8 hours on the road, and barly reached here in time to take the 8 o'clock train, and had to go off breakfastless. The roads were almost untravelable.

—A Methodist itinerant preacher of the colored persuasion, one Sunday, found when his hat was returned that there was narry a red in it. A few perch were caught, but most of the fish were rock. They were nearly all sent to Philadelphia, this market not even getting a taste of them.

—London Punch sent a pleasant greeting to Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes on his retirement from the professorship at Harvard, in this form:

Your health, dear "Autocrat!" All England owns
Your instrument's the lyre, not "the Bones."
Yet hear our wishes—trust us they're not cold ones!
That tho' you give up bones, may you make old ones.

—St. Valentine's day is near at hand, and from appearances will be more generally observed this season than for many years past, and designs of the dainty love and friendship missives are more unique and elegant. The latest designs in Valentines are mostly on the style of the beautifully decorated cards adorned with silken fringe borders and silk cord and tassels. In the esthetic line are varieties of pretty cards, which after serving their love mission as Valentines, will make admirable parlor mantel ornaments. Large variety for sale at J. C. Henry's Drug Store.

—Mr. Henry Walkart has his new saloon now in complete eating order, and advertises for trade. Easton has long needed a first-class saloon, where a hungry man or woman could drop in and enjoy a good meal, and Mr. Walkart's effort to establish one should be sustained.

—The friends of Rev. Mr. McDonald, the Southern Methodist preacher, gave him a handsome donation party last Thursday evening, to the great surprise of himself and family. The brethren and sisters all assembled at the Parsonage, on Harrison street, at the appointed hour, and proceeded to the kitchen and pantry to unload. A winter's supply of eatables was the result of the party to Mr. McDonald, and an evening spent in delightful social intercourse was the reward his visitors received for their trouble in getting up the pleasant affair.

—"Throw Physic to the Dogs" is a command, disobedience to which has cut short many a useful life. The remedy called Wilsonia, advertised on another page, strikes us a most reasonable one.

Treatment by electricity has often been found beneficial, and could it be applied constantly might do more.

By the Wilsonia method, mild, almost imperceptible, currents of magnetism are constantly given, which in an almost marvellous way restore health. Its achievements in the east are the universal theme.

—One of the most reliable and pleasant advertising agencies that we have ever had any dealings with is the firm of Geo. P. Rowell & Co., No. 10 Spruce Street, New York. We have never had any trouble in closing contracts with these gentlemen, and we have yet to ask them the second time for money. Those of our readers who would like to advertise through an agent can find no more responsible firm than Geo. P. Rowell & Co. This is no paid-for notice, but is a gratuitous, unasked-for expression of our opinion, because we think they deserve it.—[The Ishmaelite and Times and Planter, Sparta, Ga., Jan. 3, 1883.

—Mr. Charles W. Long, a farmer residing about two miles from Princess Anne, has practically tested the theory that iron driven into apple trees will promote fruit bearing. He has a Winter Golden Pippin apple tree in his front yard which bore in the fall of 1882 nine barrels of apples, some of the fruit remaining on the tree until the 30th of November. The tree never held its fruit or bore heavily, until some old horseshoes became imbedded in it by its growth. Now it bears heavily every other year, and the fruit is of the best quality, and can be kept until the last of March. Mr. Long is of the opinion that rusty nails or old bits of iron, driven in almost any scanty-bearing fruit tree would increase the product very much. It is worth a trial.

First-Class Store For Sale.

It will be seen from an advertisement which we publish this morning, that the Dry Goods establishment of Messrs. J. J. Jump & Co., is for sale. We understand the store will be sold at a bargain, and on very easy terms. We know of no better opening for any one who may wish to go into the dry goods trade. The room is one of the handsomest and best arranged on the Shore. The store is most desirably situated, and has done a heavy business from the start, and is now doing a heavy business. It is a splendid stand and best opening in the State. Mr. Jump does not want to renew the stock, on account of his age, but must do so in the Spring unless he sells out this winter. He offers a long lease on the store room to any one who may purchase the stock. We consider this a rare chance for a number one stand.

The Lenten Season.

The Lenten Season opened last Wednesday and is being strictly observed by the Catholic, Episcopal, Lutheran and Reformed German churches throughout the globe. Of late years other christian denominations have commenced to observe Lent to a certain extent, and we have no hesitation in expressing the opinion, that in a few decades the season will be appropriately observed by many other sects.

An Odd Street Scene.

He was seen in front of the office rubbing himself against the telegraph post like a fleabitten dog. "What is wrong?" we ventured to ask. "Got 'em, gent," he said laconically; "have 'em every Spring, small lumps form about the rectum; sore to the touch; they itch like blazes; a telegraph pole's like an oasis in the desert to me." Here then was poor humanity suffering from a complaint which a few applications of Swayne's Ointment for Itching Piles would have thoroughly eradicated.

Fall Fashions.

If you want a cheap and fashionable suit of clothes made, go to John Satterfield's; he has just received the fall and winter fashions, 1882; has a splendid line of samples; sells at wholesale prices, and guarantees a perfect fit. All kinds of cutting done to order.

Re-Opening of the Methodist Protestant Church—A Disagreeable Day—Interesting Exercises.

Despite the inclement weather of last Sunday large congregations assembled in the M. P. Church to witness the re-opening services of that structure. Several months ago the members of the church and the pastor conceived the idea that the old building needed an entire renovating and remodelling, and they immediately started at it, since that time the people have been worshipping in the basement. On Sunday, for the first time, the main auditorium was thrown open and the many changes it had undergone under the hands of skillful mechanics and artisans made it look entirely new. The cost of the improvements was $7,793. The exterior of the church is of low Gothic architecture; the building being built of stone. On the interior the elaborate frescoing of the ceiling and walls was highly spoken of, while the bright, super-ingrain carpet of a handsome design adds greatly to the appearance of the room. The windows are stained in Gothic style, and are perfect in both coloring and finish, and the pews have all been newly grained in imitation of walnut. The new chandeliers are beautiful. Three handsome pulpit chairs will be put in next Sunday.

The exercises opened at 10½ A. M., with a voluntary "How Beautiful upon the Mountains" rendered exquisitely by the choir under the leadership of Mr. John Mortimer. Rev. E. J. Drinkhouse, D. D., editor of the Methodist Protestant, and one of the most distinguished divines in that conference, preached eloquently from the text, "In Him was life, and the life was the light of all men."—St. John, I chapter, 4th verse. A collection of $759 was taken up to help pay off the debt made by the improvements.

At 3 P. M., the regular re-opening services took place, and were conducted by the pastor and Rev. Dr. Drinkhouse, after which a collection was taken up amounting to $188.

At 7½ P. M., Dr. Drinkhouse preached again, taking as his subject "Crucifixion before Glorification. Amount of collection at night, $103: a total of $1,000 for the day, leaving a balance of $1,000 still owing, as nearly all of the expenses of the improvements were defrayed previously by the members of the church.

Too much credit cannot be given to the pastor, Rev. Mr. Tagg, for his unceasing efforts in pushing the work forward to completion before conference meets. It is a beautiful building, both inside and out, and reflects credit alike upon the members of the church and the mechanics who were employed upon it. Mr. M. P. Flowers was the contractor for the woodwork, and Mr. R. H. T. Councell for the painting.

"Two Orphans"—"Hazel Kirke."

A rare treat was given to our citizens last Monday and Tuesday evenings by Abbey's New York Company in their superior rendering of the "Two Orphans" and "Hazel Kirke," both being master works of dramatic power and beauty. In the "Two Orphans" the fine acting of Miss Howard as "Mother Frochard" has been favorably commented upon by all who witnessed it, while the rendition of the part of "Louise, the blind girl" by Miss Pierce was grand. Miss Armond as "Henriette," showed marked ability as an actress and played with much spirit and fervor. Miss Westbrooke as "Marianne" and "Countess de Limieres" sustained her parts well Clarke Earle, a favorite in Easton, gave a fine conception of "Pierre, a cripple," and in the churchyard scene and the knife combat won rounds of applause. Edwin Browne, as "Jacques, an outlaw," could not be surpassed, if even equalled. There was no rant about him but an easy, smooth working of the part assigned him, which he did so satisfactorily. "Picard," the comedy part of the play was performed by W. D. Stone, and his admirable acting won for him a host of friends; his burlesque love-making to "Henriette," and his entry into the "Marquis'" room were splendidly done. T. C. Hamilton played "Marvuis de Presles" finely. Charles M. Guinness, the manager of the company, as "Chevalier Maurice de Vaudrey" could not be improved upon. This gentleman is an actor of the old school—something rare now-a-days, and from the time of his entree to his exit from the stage he held the audience spellbound with his rare elocutionary powers and conception of the character. In the duel scene he rose to a height of sublimity, and when he dared the "Marquis" to investigate into the history of the "DeVaudrey's" the audience were wild with excitement. The performance throughout was fine, and never has Easton had such a company here before.

Tuesday night the beautiful pastoral drama of "Hazel Kirke" was performed. Each actor and actress sustained their parts to perfection while Browne as "Dunstan Kirke" and Guinness as "Pittacus" divided the honors between them.

The same troupe will play in Easton some time in April the laughable comedy "My Mother-in-Law; or Lemons," under the auspices of the Owens' Comedy Association. Our young men seem determined to have only good troupes play here and are as equally determined that our people shall not be imposed upon by worthless companies.

Sometime about the 22d inst., "Sam Sanford's Old-Time Minstrels" will give a performance under their auspices at cheap prices.

Some Agree and Others Disagree with "Dad."

[Last week a short communication appeared in THE STAR, signed "Dad," which attacked the present style of ladies hair-dressing, and asked for communications on the subject. The following extracts are from letters received relative to it from different persons.—ED.]

TRAPPE, Feb. 6, 1882.

"Dad" is wrong, and we can prove him to be so. Do you remember that about 1870 the hair was piled up on top of the head, thereby giving the wearer a frightful looking top-heavy headdress? Are not bangs much prettier? "Dad" must be an old fossil.

MANY LADIES.

EASTON, Feb. 6, 1883.

In to-day's issue of THE STAR I notice an attack, by "Dad," on bangs and shingles. Why did he not vent his spleen on the eel-skin pants and apologies for coats the cigarette-puffing youngsters indulge in? They are ridiculous specimens of manhood when arrayed in such habiliments.

MAM.

EASTON, Feb. 8, 1883.

"Lunatic fringe" is the latest for bangs and shingling. We should petition the next court to appoint a jury de lunatico inquirendo to inquire into the lunacy of those who wear those hateful things. Give it to 'em, "Dad."

STIRRUP.

ST. MICHAELS, Feb. 9, 1883.

It is none of "Dad's" business; and he writes as if he was a fool. This is plain but I mean it.

MAD.

EASTON, Feb. 9, 1883.

We colored ladies cannot with any great unanimity and correspondingly good taste wear those hideous and distasteful things called bangs and shingles, and we sympathize with "Dad" in his efforts to abolish such a fashion.

COLORED LADIES.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 9, 1888.

I have always cut my horses' manes so as to cause them to wear bangs. For horses they are pretty, but for ladies—well.

JOCKEY.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine.

The number for March presents several new and attractive features, and fully sustains the high character of this popular magazine. Rev. Dr. Porter contributes No. 3 of "Religious Denominations in the United States—The Reformed (Dutch) Church." The editor, T DeWitt Talmage, has an interesting article, "The Blessings of Short Life." The exterior and interior view of the new church of St. Francis Xavier are given, accompanied by a descriptive article. De Leon's "The American Pilgrim in Palestine" is continued, with beautiful illustrations. The new serial story, "Justice Warren's Daughter" is continued, and "Weighed and Wanting" concluded; and there are other delightful short stories, essays, sketches, etc., by some of our most popular writers, several excellent poems, etc. The Home Pulpit has a sermon by Dr. Talmage, "Garrison Duty," and besides a comprehensive and entertaining miscellany, are the interesting features, "The Collection Basket," "Record of Important Events," "Personal and Editorial Notes and Comments, etc. The number is elaborately illustrated. Price, 25 cents a copy; 3 a year, postpaid. Address, Mrs. Frank Leslie, Publisher, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

Cupid's Day.

To-morrow being St. Valentine's Day it will be in order to send some loving missive to those upon whom you bestow your affections or friendship. Avoid as much as possible from wounding the feelings of adults by sending them coarse and vulgar caricatures of what you may consider their weakness. If you are going to send any valentines at all let them be those that will not offend.

Cattle Wanted.

The highest cash prices paid for veal calves, fat cattle, and bulls. Address

THOMAS R. TODD,

Easton, April 4th, 1882 1y

My Valentine.

Her eyes are just as blue a hue
As ever painter's palette knew;
Why, look! She's pretty as a picture-book!
Her hair,—oh yes, her hair, her hair,
Is as gold as anywhere;
Her lips eclipse the rose; I think
She's sweeter than a pink!

And though she only stares and wears
The most aristocratic airs,
I guess it's owing to her style of dress!
For I am but a Jicky-Jack,
With tons of trouble on my back,
And she, oh, me! as grand and tall!
She's Alice's best doll!

DELAWARE ITEMS.

Senator Bayard's wealth has been estimated to be $150,000.

The State Treasurer, John M. Houston, gave a supper at the Bayard House, Dover, on Thursday night, to the members of the Legislature and his friends. It was quite an elaborate affair.

Dover, at the present time, is supplied with the most efficient fire apparatus of any town in the State, outside of Wilmington. Her fire department consists of two hose carriages, and nearly 1,000 feet of hose. The town boasts of two efficient hose companies, with a sufficient number of members to insure good work in time of fire.

He Planted Them.

A good story is told of a New Yorker who recently removed to Caroline county and commenced farming. A few days after he arrived one of his new colored "help" went down to the creek and dug up about a peck of fine mananoses which he carried to the house and presented to his employer. The New Yorker asked him what they were, and he told him their name.

"Where did you get them?" queried the gentleman.

"I dug 'em down by the branch, boss."

"Do they grow in the ground, Eph?"

"Oh cos'e dey do, sah!"

The gentleman thought they were worth experimenting with, so he went out to a field adjoining the house, dug a trench and planted them about a foot apart. Going back to the house he explained to his wife that they were a new kind of a vegetable and he wanted to see what kind of a crop they would make.
