Skipton Packet Line.

The Fast Sailing Schooner

ELIZA ANN,

Capt. JOHN A. CAPLIP, Master, Capacity 5,500 bushels, makes regular trips between Wye River and its tributaries and Baltimore. Grain and all other kinds of freight freighted on moderate terms. Ample store room for grain at Skipton Landing. Orders left with George E. Bowdoin & Co., Bowley's Wharf; Keeler & Tilghman, Bowley's Wharf; and Emory & Newitt, 88 South street, Baltimore, promptly attended to. The patronage of the public solicited. All orders for goods must be accompanied with the CASH. Orders received at Skipton by the Captain or J. A. F. Neal.

N. B.—The Granary at Skipton landing has been raised two feet above tide, thoroughly repaired and strengthened, and made perfectly secure for the storage of grain. Having leased the granary for a number of years, and embarked permanently in the boating business, I have ample granary and boating facilities for accommodating the business of the neighborhood, and respectfully solicit the public patronage. in general. Having requisite tools and machinery, strict attention will be given to all repair work, especially Farm Engines, Grain Threshers, and Saw Mills.

This branch of the business will be attended to by E. J. BIERY, in person, whose long experience in handling the Wood, Tabor & Morse, Watertown, Nicols & Shepard, and all other Engines used in this and adjoining counties, gives him a thorough knowledge of their natures, a trial of which will be convincing proof of what we assert. We have also in our Smith Department a First-Class Horse-Shoer, who will give this grade of Blacksmithing his particular attention. The

Carriage Department

will be under the sole supervision of C. P. P. MATTHEWS, whose long experience in building fine Carriages, Dearborns, Sulkys, and all repair work in connection with the trade, justifies him in saying that he will give entire satisfaction to each and every customer who may favor him with orders. In our AGRICULTURAL.

Farm Work for February.

Seeds of all kinds should be procured now, that they may be on hand as soon as spring comes. Dealers are overrun with orders just at sowing time, and they do not then give the quickest and most careful attention. It is of the greatest importance that only the best seed of the choicest sorts be sowed. Canvass the whole subject of seeds with much care, and it will be time well spent. There is no economy in sowing cheap seeds, and when there are weed seeds presents it is a great mistake and a source of much future trouble.

Manure.—The making and saving of manure are among the most important labors on the farm in winter. The value of this product depends upon the character of the food given animals, the kind, age, and care of the stock, and the attention that it receives after it is dropped. Manure from the stables may be put in square, compact piles, which will retain sufficient heat to keep out the frost and rot rapidly. By adding the fresh manure to the top, and forking in the sides the whole heap will be in fine condition for use in the spring, and will give quick returns on any field crop. The worst arrangement is to have the droppings scattered over a large open yard, to be frozen and trampled into the mud

Farm Animals should be kept neat and clean. Examine your cattle for lice the pests may be found along the back and neck of the animal. Rub the infested parts with kerosene oil, diluted with an equal quantity of sweet oil, or lard.

Horses that are idle may be kept in a yard with an open shed for shelter, and if fed with a few ears of corn for their grain, will keep in good condition. Work horses need good stables and an abundance of wholesome food. Use the curry comb and brush daily, thus keeping the surface of the skin in a vigorous and healthful condition. A sharp curry-comb is to be avoided, as it irritates the animal. The keen points may be filed down.

Pigs thrive in dry warm and well ventilated pens. A large portion of the swine troubles come from too much dampness and filth. The brood sows need special attention, and should be provided with a large, warm room, with fine litter. Give them a mixed diet.

Poultry.—To do well in winter, fowls need a sunny place where they may have sufficient exercise. Brood hens need a warm and quiet place to bring forth their early chicks. These will be ready for the early market, and bring good prices.—American Agriculturist.

Select the Seed Now.

A little later in the season there will be much hurry to do the pressing work and any labor like that of selecting the needed seed for spring sowing and planting, should not be delayed. It is important that only the best seed be sown, and to this end much attention should be given. A great many weeds are unintentionally sown with the various field and garden seeds. The number of weed seeds sometimes sold with that of clover is very large. In this way Eastern weeds have been introduced into Western States. It is not an easy matter to detect some of the weed seeds, and therefore the farmer should buy where he feels certain that only pure seed is sold. The seed should be of the best varieties, plump and sound and free from "foul stuff". Let every farmer now see that such seed is at hand when seed time comes.

Food from Corn Crops.

Usually the stove gets the most of the corn cobs, but a writer recomends that where corn is fed largely in the cob, the cobs to be raked together and converted into charcoal. He says; "It is our custom to rake the cobs into neat winrows about a foot high, and after the wind has swept through them an hour set fire to them. When charred, we rake them down and sprinkle water on the mass, stir them again, and sprnkle again to be sure they do not go on burning and go to ashes. If now a seasoning of salt be thrown over the pile there will be a lot of feed for the pigs and hogs that they will enjoy hugely." But our readers need not be told that good farmers aim to get varieties of corn with as little cob to it as possible. There will always be cobs, nevertheless, and the above-mentioned way is a good one to utilize them.

Sowing Grass Seeds with Oats.

Alluding to the practice which some have of sowing oats with grass seeds, Professor Shelton remarks that the argument is that the oats will protect and shade the young grass. But grass does not need shade when sown in proper season; it needs the sun, and especially it needs moisture, and this the oat plants are continually taking from the soil, thus robbing the young grass plants from the start. I am aware, writes a correspondent, that upon favorable seasons considerable success is often obtained by seeding the grasses with another crop. But, even with these favorable seasons, a better and more vigorous start will be obtained without the rivalry of vigorous grains, and upon dry seasons a failure of the grass is almost certain when seeded with a grain crop.

Fertilizers from the Fowl-House.

There is no fertilizer produced on a farm so good as that from the fowl-house. Peruvian guano of the stores is from sea-birds, whose food is fish, but the guano of the chicken-house is exceedingly valuable and well worth saving. Mixing it with soil or ashes and sowing over a garden plot, rather thinly, for it is very rich, its effects are seen to the row. However, the dung of fowls, and especially of pigeons, is best applied in the form of solution. It is not so apt to burn up the plant in this manner. One part of manure to ten parts of water will make a fine wash for vines or for fruit trees; it is unexcelled. The droppings of the birds should be preserved, mixed with dry earth, and stored away until Spring.

Sensible Advice.

The Practical Farmer gives the following sensible advise regarding plowing: "There is a certain number of pounds a team can draw day after day and not worry them, but if a little more be added the horses walk unsteadily, fret and soon tire. Every pound taken from the draught of the plow is a gain to them. For any soil, except sand and gravel, use a steel plow, and in plowing sod the cutter does a great deal of the work, and should be kept sharp by grinding every day if necessary. It will wear out soon, but new coulters are cheaper than a new team. When the share is worn out replace it with a new one at once."

In taking a recent census, it was found that St. Louis supported nearly 7,000 cats. What a fine opening for a fiddle-string factory.

Mr. Hunn has a list of names of over 50 of the Farmers and Mechanics of Queen Annes county who endorse his machine as a practical working machine, and have engaged the same for their own use, or will let the agent do their repairing at 50 cents a wheel when required. jan16

THE AMERICAN FARMER,

Aptly and justly styled by its friends

"OLD RELIABLE,"

in whose pages experience and progress go hand in hand, and to which the ablest and most sucessful men and women of this section contribute their best thoughts in every department of Farm Life and Work.

Abreast of the times, alive to the discoveries of Science, yet testing all by the touchstone of practice, new acquaintances will soon prove it a trusty companion for thinking farmers and planters, fruit-growers and gardeners, stock-raisers and dairymen, whilst its old friends will realize that, as during the lifetime of two generations, (since 1819,) it continues to be the sincere and unpurchasable advocate and representative of the farmers' interests and rights.

Special devotion is paid to Fertilizers including those of commerce and of the farm; to Live Stock, the Dairy, Market Gardening, Fruit-Growing, the Poultry Yard, &c.

Reports of Advanced Farmers' Clubs are a regular feature in each issue

The Home Department is always attractive to the ladies of the country household. Flower and Ornamental Gardening, the care of Window and House Plants, receive regular attention from cultivators admitted to be at the head of their profession in the United States.

The American Farmer is published twice every month, (on the 1st and 15th.) It is beautifully printed on fine white paper in clear type. $1.50 a year. To clubs of five or over, $1.00 each.

Handsome, Valuable and Useful Premiums are given to all those who will make time and trouble to collect subscriptions.

THE

HANCOCK INSPIRATOR

THE BEST FEEDER KNOWN,

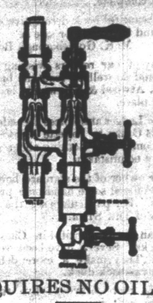
—FOR—

Stationary, Marine & Portable Boilers.

Has No Rival For Pumping Purposes

IS SIMPLE, RELIABLE AND ALWAYS IN ORDER.

CONSUMES LESS STEAM THAN ANY OTHER BOILER FEEDER KNOWN.



REQUIRES NO OILING

They will lift water 25 feet, and deliver to boiler at comparatively High or Low Pressure, as desired. No adjustment required for varying steam pressures. Has no movable parts to get out of order.

One important advantage of the Inspirator over a pump is that all the steam required to operate it is condensed in the water, thereby heating it and returning it all into the boiler, and enabling us to feed hot water to the boiler without the use of a heater (although a heater can be used with the Inspirator as well as with a pump). The Inspirator requires no repairs, no oiling, and is noiseless in its operation, whereas a pump requires repairs, it has to be oiled, is usually noisy, and all the steam used in operation is wasted. The only loss of steam by using the Inspirator is by radiation from the pipes, and this is no greater with the Inspirator than with the pump.
