MANCHESTER

The members of the Parent-Teacher Association should not forget the meeting on April 2nd. On account of the regular meeting coming on Good Friday night the change was made. Let there be a grand rally as matters of importance will be presented and discussed. Everybody come and bring some one along.

The roads in our section must have been worse for several months than they usually got at this season of the year. Since the snow has gone the fair weather and the winds seemed to dry up the mud that would better the driveways, but from the condition of their autos they have a good reason to complain, as the carriers must face it everyday. No. 2 had quite an experience when the snow came. He had to change to a sled, then to a sleigh, then to a sulky, then to his automobile, and then to the sulky again, but now he expects the Henry Ford will carry him all right during the season.

Miss Fannie G. Ross enjoyed two weeks in Baltimore on a rest cure. She came home and went to Glen Rock on a visit.

John Theiret was enjoying Friday the 20th passing his 17th mile stone and in the evening was taken a run to Hampstead as a blind. Getting to his home he ran into the house where he was met by a crowd of romping girls and boys that hustled him around without gloves for quite a time. The romping period enjoyment was right there amid the games and music that soon was in full swing all along the line, with now and then a dance until mother called to seats and served fine refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Hoffman and Mrs. Wink. Those of the company were Margaret Stoffle, Margaret Miller, Ella Smith, Romain Lessner, Naomi Burgoon, Valley Brilhart, Edna Gephart, Eva Gilbert, Goldie and Ruth Wolf, Julia Royer, Margaret Theirit, Mary and Annie Foglesanger, Isabel Wentz, Mr. and Mrs. Cassiner, Mr. and Mrs. Foglesanger, Miss Manahan, Mrs. Warehime, Mr. H. S. Musselman, and Mr. and Mrs. Theiret.

This new section, "York Heights," can soon enjoy electric lights in their homes and street lights. If one is planted on the summit it will light several homes out the road. That too can soon be said west of town to Cranberry valley.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wentz and little grandson, of York, motored here on Sunday afternoon bringing to Walter and Mrs. Wentz the sad news that their sister, Mrs. Raughauser, died during the night and would be buried on Tuesday afternoon in the York cemetery. After being entertained to supper they left for home. Walter and Mrs. Wentz attended the funeral on Tuesday. She is survived by her husband and six children, two sisters, and five brothers of the home family. On Walter and Mrs. Upton's return home near Spring Grove a mule broke away from a man and came full speed toward them, jumped a fence and into their auto, damaging it.

We are having a mad dog scare. Starting on Monday when a dog of Royer Wolf went mad and left home. What damage he did in his wanderings on Monday night is not known, but he put in an appearance on Tuesday morning here and was shot near the old oak tree.

Kunkle was out on Tuesday evening with a truck load of players, and a lot of new instruments of the steel and tin pan kind. They held quite a crowd on the square getting ready to motor to Melrose to serenade Vernon Krebs and bride, who was Miss Shaffer, of Melrose. Their motto was anything that will make a noise. They certainly had a full set.

GREENMOUNT

M., Evangelistic services, sermon by Rev. J. W. Houseman, of Mechanicsburg, Pa. The building is erected of granite stone from the granite quarries of Port Deposit, Md. Two carloads of ornamental trimming stone were used in its construction giving its walls a beautiful appearance. There is a basement underneath the entire building, divided into a social room, and an equipped kitchen. The windows are all of beautiful art glass. They have been given by members and friends of the church as memorials. A number of splendid gifts have been given to the church through the labors of organizations of the church and by individuals. The large 1000-pound bell was donated by Dr. H. K. Gorsuch and wife, of Baltimore. The marble corner stone was given by Mr. Joseph L. Mathias, of Westminster. The pulpit was made and given by the architect, I. M. Myers, of Hanover, Pa. The baptismal font was given by Mrs. B. F. Bosley, of Greenmount.
