For County Surveyor,
THOMAS F. CHANCE.

CHIEF JUSTICE BARTOL, who has been ill at Annapolis for some time, was well enough to be removed to his home in Baltimore last Friday.

WE congratulate the regular Democratic organization of Baltimore upon their brilliant victory, in the election of General Latrobe Mayor of the city last Wednesday.

THE Baltimore city election has cooked the goose of Mr. Holton and Col. Mullikin. McLane will carry the city by at least 10,000 majority. Hang out the banners; on the outer wall the cry is still they come.

THE Gazette says Hart B. Holton don't talk like McLane; his presence is enough to bring out Republican enthusiasm. He probably takes his hat around with him, to enthuse his friends. It will require a bagasse to appease the hunger of Joe Gray and his followers here.

AT the Baltimore election 54,816 ballots were cast, of which Gen. Latrobe received 29,147, and Mr. Heiskell 25,669. About 7,000 Democrats voted for Heiskell. These will all vote for McLane, and also about 10,000 other Democrats, who were absent, and did not vote at the Mayor's election.

JOE GRAY says THE STAR is constantly putting words in the colored people's mouths they never thought of. This is a fact, Joseph. You have tried hard to misrepresent the truth and deceive the colored people, and thus to secure the colored voters and the white republicans' money. The colored people are entitled to know the truth; and if their party has cords of money from "over the water," they are as much entitled to their full share as you are entitled to all of it. You cannot any longer hire your poor colored friends to vote the Republican ticket for a quarter. No, Joe, you must divide the big money with them this time.

THE Democratic speakers last Thursday showed plainly that the republican party of to-day is the "same old coon" that disfranchised the Democrats of Maryland when they had the power, and would do it again, if they had the opportunity. They are not to be trusted. Vote the Democratic ticket, the whole ticket, and nothing but the ticket. Democrats, and put your everlasting heels on the heads of the disfranchisers. They would have put Maryland under carpet-bag rule after the war, as they did the Southern States, if they could have gotten their military enslaving bills through congress. They tried hard but did not succeed. Vote the Democratic ticket. You owe it to your party and your country to keep Maryland out of their clutches.

THE election takes place next Tuesday. Are you ready, Democrats? Have you seen all the voters, and urged them to go to the poll? Have you dissuaded the dissatisfied from cutting the ticket? Have you urged all to vote the whole ticket, and nothing but the ticket? If you have not, you have but a week left you, in which to do this important campaign work. The Democrats have a good ticket. They are all tried men, and will discharge their respective duties properly, if elected. We have the vote and we ought to elect every man on it. We can do it if every Democrat does his duty. Nothing but our own neglect—our own sulkiness—can defeat us. Then go to work. Give the last week of the campaign to your State and party. Make provision for the sick and the infirm. See that all go to the polls and vote the ticket. And if we all do our duty in this respect, the democracy will gain a glorious victory, and the chest of the Republican party of Talbot will be effectually laid.

MR. JOSEPH H. GRAY, the great writer of the Gazette and revival smasher, dodges the school question. We asked him to explain certain things to his colored brethren. He don't come to time. Joseph, face the music, and explain why the Republicans never voted a single dollar for the colored public schools. The colored voters want to know why they did not do it when they had the power; and if the Democrats are such enemies of the colored people, how came they to vote over a million dollars for the colored schools? This is business. The Democrats know how to love mercy and deal justly. That is why they made liberal provision for the colored schools. That is why they pay colored teachers to teach the colored schools. You ought to explain these things, Joseph; they look very bad for the Republicans to all outsiders. The colored people are beginning to understand this matter. And if you won't share your party cash with them, you ought certainly to give them a little of your profound enlightenment.

Having been troubled with a very bad Cough for about two years and having tried almost every cough mixture that was every made, I have found none that has given me such great relief as Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and I earnestly recommend it to all afflicted. BENJAMIN F. DUGGAN, 765 3rd Place, N. Y.

Great Democratic Mass Meeting at Easton.

Senator Thomas F. Bayard, Robert M. McLane, and Bradley T. Johnson the Stump.

GREAT OUTPOURING OF THE PEOPLE.

The grand democratic mass meeting of county was the largest [illegible] of people that has taken place in Easton at any time since 1860. The democracy of Talbot turned out in their strength to hear Senator Bayard, the Hon. Robert M. McLane, Gen. Bradley T. Johnson, and other democratic orators. Many ladies attended, and manifested great interest in the eloquent addresses. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed throughout the day. The demonstration satisfied the intelligent observer that old Talbot is good for a large democratic majority on the 6th of November. The Easton Marsit Band was present and played a number of stirring airs.

The meeting was called to order at 10½ o'clock by J. Frank Bateman, Esq., of the State Central Committee, and organized by electing Col. Samuel Wetherill, of Oxford, President. The following Vice Presidents were elected:—John Mason, J. Thomas Kirby, John Chilcoat, Edward Bay, A. A. Pascault, Spedden Orem, John B. Fairbank, Joseph H. Harrison, James Benson, James H. Covey, William Collins, R. R. Butler, R. W. Norris, Joseph P. McKnett, Solomon S. Hopkins, Dr. Jas. Seth, Edward Lomax, James H. Caulk, William F. May, Isaac B. Gibson, Chas. R. Wooters, John R. Hopkins, James H. Covington, J. T. Barton and Tilghman N. Chance. Secretaries—Charles G. Wright, John T. Harrison, G. Marcus Markland, Frank G. Wrightson and P. Addison Morgan.

Gen. Bradley T. Johnson was the first speaker. Col. Wetherill introduced the General with a brief speech. He spoke on national and State politics for over an hour, presenting the most cogent and unanswerable reasons why the work of reform should be entrusted to democrats and under no circumstances should the State of Maryland be turned over to the Republicans who had proven their hostility to republican government by disfranchising, when in power, all opposed to the republican party.

At the conclusion of Gen. Johnson's speech, which was repeatedly applauded, Col. Wetherill called for three cheers for the distinguished orator, which were given with a will, the Democrats making the welkin ring with their plaudits for the eloquent defender of constitutional government and equal rights.

A recess of two hours was then taken for dinner, which was provided for all present, and the multitude showed their appreciation of the collation by discussing it with great zest. The tables were spread on the green, at the north of the court house, with plates for one thousand people.

After dinner the playing of the band was the signal for the multitude to reassemble in front of the stand to hear the address of Senator Bayard, who was soon introduced by Col. Wetherill. Mr. Bayard is a noble looking gentleman. His countenance plainly indicates that he is as good as great. He spoke for over an hour, and held the large audience together as if they had been enchanted. Never was a speech in the open air listened to with more attention. His style is so simple that the most illiterate could understand his unanswerable argument. He was received with rounds of applause, he said the reputation and interests of the State of Maryland were never better sustained in the floor of Congress than they had been by Mr. Robert M. McLane. Nor did the State ever have a more faithful and honorable representative than Mr. Chas. B. Roberts. They are well-approved and tried public servants, as is also Mr. Turner.

The democratic party, he said, starts on the firm foundation of high and honest private character in its candidates, without which you cannot move a step in safety. The executive of a State ought to represent the free, unfettered voice of the people, and will do so if Mr. McLane is your Governor. But looking at Virginia, he warned the people of other States against letting their executive fall to be the representative of the will of the federal executive. The republican party freed the colored man only as a means to keep the party in office. He knew no poorer, meaner, baser hypocrisy than the republican party's treatment of the negro. In the South a handful of adventurers skimmed the cream for themselves and left the skimmed milk for the colored man and brother. Can they show a single office of honor and profit held by a citizen of the colored race in a republican State? Every statement made by the democrats of the iniquities of the civil rights bill has been sustained by the Supreme Court, every judge of which was appointed by a republican President. A republican Governor elected in a Southern State will be a pro-consul of corruption. In Virginia the President has shamelessly struck hands with the party which has brought her to shame. It is not enough for the democratic party to prove the republican party is wrong; it must prove the democratic party is right. We must offer a sure guarantee that the people's interests will be safer in our hands before we will be entrusted with power. Not one act of the democratic party in its seventy years of power has been declared unconstitutional, but a dozen acts of the republican party have been so decided by the Supreme Court. There is trouble brewing for the manufacturer, capitalist and working man when the markets, not of the whole world, but of the United States only, are open to the manufacturers of this country. It is said that when British India is ribbed with railways, as it can be by capital, wheat from India can be laid down in London at twenty-five cents a bushel. What will then remain for our farmers to do but to burn their grain, as they once did their corn in Illinois? He gave a lucid exposition of the tariff question, and explained to the feebleest understanding the injustice of the protective system. He showed that the government was entitled to all the revenue necessary to pay the public debt, to provide for the public defense, and to meet the expenses of all of its departments, but every dollar levied and taken from the people not necessary for these purposes, was simply public robbery, which the tax payers ought not to submit to. Much worse was it for the government to tax one portion of the people to enrich another portion, which was systematically being done by the Republican party. He analyzed and fully explained the latest republican dodge, to tax the people through a high tariff to create a surplus to be distributed among the States, showing conclusively that it was a plan of the rich property-holders to evade paying their just proportion of taxes. He was very clear and earnest in exposing the injustice of this outrageous republican scheme of robbery.

After music by the band, Col. Wetherill introduced Hon. Robert M. McLane, the Democratic candidate for Governor, who was received with rounds of applause. Mr. McLane proceeded to make a very able speech, which was listened to with marked attention and repeatedly applauded. He is a forcible and charming speaker, and made a most favorable impression. Talbot will not fail to give him a handsome majority.

He said, in making his canvass, he could not fail to note that our opponents present but one issue, to wit: That the Democratic party in the State and in the country at large had lost all title to respect because of corruption and fraudulent methods, whilst they, the republicans, offer on the contrary the opposite spectacle, and he was challenged to meet and discuss the relative merits of the two parties in this connection. This obliged him to refer to the past, when the Republican party was in power in this State and to review the history of the Republican party in the national administration. They do not desire, indeed they protest against such reference, but their own mode of attack renders such reference an absolute necessity. He then sketched the history of the Republican party from its origin in 1861 to 1867 in the State of Maryland, stating that it consisted of only one-fifth of the people, but it conspired [illegible] to overthrow the constitution and form [illegible] upon all the [illegible] and form [illegible] by the combination [illegible] the Democratic party. For six years this minority held possession of the State, wasted the public treasure, [illegible] the foundation of the war, petitioned the Federal government to interpose with military force and authority [illegible] them in possession of their ill-gotten power. Conspicuous among them in all this vicious, scandalous work was the honorable gentleman nominated by the Republicans as their candidate for governor. He not only took a seat in the State Senate to which he was not elected, but being there and having sworn to support the constitution and laws of the State, actually petitioned the Federal Congress, as late as March, 1867, to destroy the State constitution and subject our people to military rule; in all of which proceedings he was in perfect harmony with the Republican party of the United States, for this was the period when State after State was invaded and trampled upon by the military power of the Federal government, and when honorable judges on the bench, even in this State of Maryland, were brutally assaulted, torn from the bench where they were administering the law, and incarcerated in prison.

Mr McLane reviewed in great detail the proceedings of the Republican party during their six years' rule in Maryland, indicating the individuals responsible for all this vicious government, and showing that they are the same persons now controlling the Republican party of Maryland, expressing his astonishment that men who had so dishonored themselves and the State had the face to inaugurate a canvass, the keynote of which was the alleged fraud and corruption of the Democratic party. In strange contrast to this picture of Republican misrule was the period of 1867 to the present day, when Hamilton, Groome, Whyte and Davis administered the State government, with Democratic Legislatures to support them. In this connection he said he sympathized with the efforts each had made to reform abuses existing in the State government, and to give our people an honest and economical administration. He said their administrations would bear the severest criticism, and without surrendering his own individual independence of opinion as to details, he promised to co-operate in every measure of reform necessary to satisfy and enlighten public opinion. Conspicuous in proposed measures of reform would be the question of taxation. He said he believed a proper revision of our tax laws would greatly increase the basis of taxation and enable the Legislature to reduce the direct tax from 18¾ cents to 10 cents. Considerable progress had been made in this direction in 1876, and in 1878, and in other matters of detail to reduce expenses. He proposed to take up the legislation of 1878 for the relief of the laboring classes, the establishment of courts of arbitration, legalizing the association of workmen as well as of masters. He referred to the Legislature of 1876; he had introduced and had passed a law to prohibit the sale of the product of convict labor within the State of Maryland, and thus protected the laboring classes of the State against this competition; all of which could be done without any extraordinary increase of expenditures for her criminal institutions.

THE Baltimore city Mayoralty and Council election took place last Wednesday. The Democratic candidate was General F. C. Latrobe. The mongrel Republican candidate was J. Mource Janney. Many ladies attended, and manifested great interest in the eloquent addresses. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed throughout the day. The demonstration satisfied the intelligent observer that old Talbot is good for a large democratic majority on the 6th of November. The Easton Marsit Band was present and played a number of stirring airs.

Hopkins, James H. Covington, J. T. Barton and Tilghman N. Chance. Secretaries—Charles G. Wright, John T. Harrison, G. Marcus Markland, Frank G. Wrightson and P. Addison Morgan.

Gen. Bradley T. Johnson was the first speaker. Col. Wetherill introduced the General with a brief speech. WHAT a sight for republican government! 400 white republicans ruling 1700 colored republicans! These 1700 have no say in the election except to vote as the 400 direct. Talk about Boss rule! here we have it that out-Herod's Herod! Lift up your hands you 400 white Bosses, and tell the truth; is this right? is it fair? is it just? If these 1700 colored people are fit to vote, certainly some of them are fit to hold office. As it is, they are but the slaves, abject slaves of their white bosses What kind of rights have the negroes in the Republican party? They have literally none, except to vote.

Notice to Hotel Keepers and all Others who Deal in Liquors.

For the information of all persons concerned, the following Act of the Legislature, passed March 24th, 1882, is published.

CHAPTER 191.

AN ACT prohibiting the sale of spirituous or fermented liquors in the several counties of the State on the day of Election.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That it shall not be lawful for the keeper of any hotel, tavern, store, drinking establishment, or any other place where liquors are sold, or for any person or persons, directly or indirectly, to sell, barter, give or dispose of any spirituous or fermented liquors, ale, beer, or intoxicating drinks of any kind, on the days of election hereafter to be held in the several counties of the State.

SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That any person violating the provisions of this Act shall be liable to indictment by the Grand Jury of the county where the offence is committed, and shall upon conviction before a Judge of any Circuit Court of the State, be fined a sum not less than fifty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each and every offence—one-half the fine shall be paid to the informer, the other half to the County Commissioners, for the use of public roads.

To the Public, Property Owners and Consumers of House Paints.

During the past ten years every gallon of our paints have been sold under our Positive Guarantee—that any building would be repainted at our expense if not satisfactory for a proper term of years thereafter. In view of the apparently low prices at which cheaply made benzine and water paints are offered, and the difficulty experienced by inexperienced buyers in discriminating between the best paints and paints of inferior character, we now add to our previous guarantee the additional guarantee of cost, thus placing the low price of our paints beyond doubt.

We authorize any dealer to furnish our paints free of cost to any buyer, who having painted his building with our paints, can demonstrate that our paint has not cost 10 per cent. less for paint used, than cost would have been for either pure white lead and linseed oil or any other mixed paint in this country.
