THE EASTON STAR

TUESDAY, JANUARY 1, 1884.

W. H. HODSON, EDITOR.

JEFF. MILBOURNE & CO., Newspaper Advertising Agents, 10 West Baltimore Street, Baltimore, are authorized to receive advertisements for THE STAR, at our rates.

SPEAKER CARLISLE'S committees appear to give general satisfaction. It is conceded that there is very little favoritism displayed in the make up of the committees. The protectionists would have been better satisfied with a committee of Ways and Means favoring a high protective tariff, but that was out of the question with a surplus revenue of $100,000,000, which must be cut off.

GENERAL GRANT and a bad fall on the ice in New York on christmas eve, and it was thought for some time that he had broken one of his legs, the pain was so intense, but it turned out that the bone is not broken, and he is better. He was about to take a ride, and went to his coachman and gave him some money as a christmas gift, and in turning round to go to his carriage fell. He had to be carried into his house. He will not be able to leave his room for some time.

THE only true platform of the Democratic party for United States Senator is, to take the ablest, the strongest, and the most reliable and conservative Democrat to be found on the Eastern Shore, without regard to locality, and without regard to what offices may be held by Democrats in the several counties. We want the ablest and best man. He is the man for the party to choose, and the man that will give the most satisfaction to the people of the State. It seems to us that Governor Thomas is the man for Senator.

THE appointment of Randall as chairman, backed by Holman and other economists, on the committee on appropriations, is evidence which cannot be mistaken, that Speaker Carlisle is not disposed to squander the surplus revenue in order to get rid of it, or favor any unnecessary appropriations. The lobby will understand perfectly, that the committee on appropriations has not been made up in their interests, and that the lobbyists might as well pack up their carpet-bags and leave Washington at once.

WE thought the Republican barbarities of the war were ended, but it appears that they are not. It seems that they skinned Guiteau, the murderer of Garfield, after he was hung, and have wired his bones, and displayed them in the Army Medical Museum at Washington. We should like to know what law authorized the Republican party to make such use of Guiteau's bones. In the Massachusetts Almshouse, the Republican keeper has been charged with skinning and tanning the skin of dead negroes. In Washington they do not tan the hides of criminals, but, without the shadow of law, appropriate their bones to decorate their museums. Its a sweet party.

THE Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says, "Mr. A. H. Buckner, chairman of the committee on Banking and Currency, is preparing a bill to be introduced when congress reconvenes, which provides for the issuing of treasury notes without the legal tender quality, to take the place of the national bank notes going out of existence." The above must be a misconstruction of Mr. Buckner's bill. He certainly has too much sense to put in circulation a currency without the legal tender quality. The people have been cursed with people currency the land only because it lacked the legal tender quality. And now, after it has been driven out of circulation, because people could not pay their debts with it, Mr. Buckner proposes to flood the country with a similar nuisance, only to be made of paper rather than of silver. He does not know better than to propose such an unpleasing, if not an unpopular, measure. It is certainly not at the position of chairman of the committee on Banking and Currency. Nobody that we ever heard of, no Democrat certainly, wants a currency that is not a legal tender for all purposes. Currency that will not pay a note in bank is not money, and people cannot force currency on the banks that is not money. Why Mr. Buckner ought to know.

THERE is a new Democratic reform organization in the course of formation in Baltimore city, which, it is said, is intended to extend over the entire State. The political philosophers who projected the association have already issued a platform in a leaflet. We hold read the first plank, and dropped the paper in astonishment at its author. It declares that "Every man is entitled to the earnings of his own labor, and no government has the right to appropriate any portion thereof and tax it to uses and other ends than those for which the system of taxation by which the bulk of our citizens is taxed for the benefit of another class is a gross violation of the first principles."

Of course that means that government has no right to appropriate any portion of the earnings of labor to pay the expense of carrying the government, that is, to pay the salaries of officers, which are of a class of citizens who are from the taxpayers, then appropriations have long been illegally and unjustly violated all the principles. We do not see how government can exist without arrant robbery, if this platform is true. But it is not true. It is false. It is downright humbuggery. Men cannot live in society without government, and government cannot be carried on without revenue, and revenue cannot be obtained without taxing the earnings of labor, without taking from one class for the benefit of another. It is wonderful what strange freaks men will commit when they mount the reform hobby, a wily jade which really only a very few people are capable of riding without making a fool of themselves as a clown in a circus.

WE remember that the subject of calling a constitutional convention by the coming legislature, to reform the present constitution of Maryland, is being discussed in the State press. There is no doubt but the present constitution is not the best possible one, and attention at this time would improve or mar it, is a doubtful question. We do not think its imperfections press very heavily upon the people, if they do, they have certainly borne their burden with a great deal of patience. The most important constitutional question, the question of negro suffrage, and the changed condition of the freedmen may require a change in our organic law, but we appear to be getting along moderately well under the constitution of 1867, even with negro enfranchisement. We do not like our judicial system, and never did. It is cumbersome, to say the least, and to pay three men to do what one can do just as well, or better, is an unnecessary expense. We think it would be very much better to abolish the county courts, and an independent court of appeals. But our judicial system might be changed in the manner provided in the constitution, if the people want it changed, at much less expense than would attend the calling of a convention. A great many people think we ought to have a [illegible] which the Bill of Rights [illegible] is very doubtful if a [illegible] ing for a poll tax would [illegible] the people. The will of the [illegible] subject could be [illegible] trifling expense by submitting to the amendment repealing the prohibitory clause in the Bill of Rights. We see no great necessity at this time for a constitutional convention, but have no serious objections to submitting this question to a popular vote, which would most probably result on the side of economy.

THE STAR most heartily endorses the following article which we reprint from the Maryland Republican, of Saturday week. Gov. McLane merits all the praise the Republican gives him, and we feel entirely confident that his administration will fully meet the high expectations of the democracy of Maryland. He is a man of great independence of will, liberal ideas, strict integrity, and consummate abilities, and not likely to be warped by cunning politicians.

THE INCOMING ADMINISTRATION.

In a few days the inauguration of Governor McLane will take place, and a new administration of state affairs will begin. That it will be wise and patriotic, no one who knows the incoming executive will for a moment doubt; and that it will be Democratic to the core, is a truth that history will broadly affirm when its record is made up and its results are surveyed, from the position of impartial and unbiased observation. Governor McLane enters upon the discharge of his high duties enjoying in the greatest degree the confidence and respect of the united Democracy of Maryland. He is a man of pronounced ability, of enlarged experience, of varied accomplishments, and of unquestioned integrity. In every public position he has been called to fill, he has exhibited qualities of the highest order and has met every requirement demanded of him with fidelity and honor. He did not seek his present office, but, on the contrary, strove in every way to escape its grave responsibilities. He was not the candidate of a clique or faction, and, if we judge him rightly, it is safe to say that no outside influence will control his official actions, and that no one will be permitted to shape his policy, which a sense of right and justice will alone dictate.

At no period in the history of our State and party was such a public servant more needed. He is just the man for the times, and the times require just such a man. The Democracy are now, and ever have been, the true friends and most effective supporters of honest government, both in spirit and in form. The rights and liberties of the people and the fair and unbought expression of their will at the ballot-box, which the spirit and form of our government establish and guarantee, are the bulwarks of freedom on which the Democracy have placed themselves to defend and protect against all assaults. This has been their duty in the past, and never in the history of men to whom liberty is a birthright, is this duty more imperative than now. As the chosen representative of this great Democracy, the new Governor, we feel assured, will faithfully execute the sacred trust imposed upon him, and by his sagacious counsels and prudent action will add fresh lustre to his honored name and fasten more firmly than ever a love for the Democratic organization in the hearts of a grateful and confiding people.—[Maryland Republican.

When others are suffering, drop a word of kindness and sympathy. If they are suffering from a cold, give them Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup; a few doses of this valuable remedy will afford instant relief, and a twenty-five cent bottle will cure the worst cough.

An Awful Responsibility.

EVERYBODY has something to say about consumption. We all deplore its terrible ravages, but only a few of us seem to have enough common sense to take the proper means of preventing it. It is as simple as two and two are four, that HALEY'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR WILL AT ONCE relieve the cough, heal the lungs, and by one of the many means which pave the way for that terrible destroyer, will effect a radical cure of the affection, and avert all danger. Whoever, under these circumstances, neglects to resort to the true specific,
