By our connection with the Sheriff, the Bankrupt, and Assignee, we are able to offer Bargains heretofore unknown to the People, and which will attract the Masses from every quarter. We shall receive direct from the Auction Rooms of New York, every day, every description of embracing many rich and costly goods thrown away to meet the dreadful emergencies of this terrific financial storm.

DRY GOODS AND NOTIONS,

Read the Story of this Terrible Sacrifice!

ALL FIRST-CLASS GOODS.

Sewing Silk 3c., Hair Nets 3c., Elastic 2c., Hooks and Eyes 3c., best Pins 5c. Needles 5c., standard 200 yds. Spool Cotton 4c., Skirt Braid, ordinary, 6c., best quality 8c., Shirt Buttons 5c per gross; Ladies' hemstitched Handkerchiefs only 10c.; Lace veils 10c., Stamped Aprons 10c. No wonder these merchants stand aghast with quaking limbs and distorted features, awaiting the inevitable hour when this awful and terrific panic will cause their high priced goods to lay "high and dry" upon their shelves, and they shall fall asleep upon their counters, and dream of trade that will never again be theirs.

Clarke's, Coats' and Brooks' best 200 yds. Spool Cotton 7c.—CHEAPER THAN THEY CAN MAKE IT.

Hosiery, Notions, Gents. Furnishing Goods, Trimmings, &c., at prices that will remind you of times when a dollar was worth its face in gold, and Ben Butler's rest was not disturbed by Visions of Silver Spoons.

Standard yard wide Muslins 12c.; Calicoes as low as 6½c.; best American Prints 11c.; Linen Crash for towels only 10c.; Carpets, Oil Cloths and Mattings cheaper than the cheapest.

We Believe in Selling Cheap Goods, in buying from forced cash sales, where goods scarcely ever bring fifty cents on the dollar, thus enabling us to offer to the people many articles at much less than they can be bought in the regular way by the case or package. Our Strongest Fort is in

Ladies' Dress Goods,

Silks, Reps, Poplins, Merinos, Alpacas, Plaids, DeLaines, &c., at prices that will really surprise you. Only come and see. You will find our clerks polite and accommodating, if they are not so good looking.

We are here, this is our battle ground, and from these ramparts we defy competition in whatever shape. From time to time, day after day, we shall throw upon the market here, Goods at some such unheard of prices that will cause the people to wonder whether the stories of these Merchants may not be true, "that we stole them." Then save your money in these dreadful times, when even the wealthy cannot afford to waste it, and the poor require double duty of every dollar and every penny, and buy where you can get the most goods for the least money

Twelve doz. Shirt Buttons for 5c—the man that made them has died in the cold embrace of poverty long ago. But why this long advertisement! Every dollar's worth of goods we sell will be an advertisement.

Goods delivered to all parts of the city. Remember the name and place
