RIOT IN RICHMOND.

The re-admission of Virginia into the Union was a death blow to scallawag and carpet bagger office holders in the old Commonwealth. Under her State Constitution provision was made for the election or appointment of all State, county and municipal officers, which, as soon as the machinery of the State government could be put in operation, would lead, of course, to the eviction of the carpet-baggers and scallawags who had been appointed by Gen. Canby, the military commandant, during the tedious and oppressive process of so called reconstruction. But the time for a radical carpet-bagger named Cahoon, who had been officiating as the Mayor of the City of Richmond, to vacate his office, and turn over whatever it was proper for him to leave behind him, to his successor, Ellyson,—appointed by the civil authority—came last week; when the carpet-bagger refused to surrender, and, sustained by his police of the radical persuasion, and a large body of negroes of the same faith, entrenched himself in one of the station houses and bid defiance to the newly appointed Mayor and his forces. Riot and blood shed ensued, and disorder and strife prevailed in Richmond for four or five days—prolonged because of General Canby's military interference in support of of the insubordinate military incumbent, whose official term had expired. But finally peace was restored and the lawful Mayor is in full possession of the city. Several men were killed during the rioting. The white men of Richmond rallied to the support of Ellyson, while several hundred negroes fought on the side of Cahoon, and his scallawag police.

It has not yet been intimated by Ben. Butler, whether or not this Richmond affair will justify another reconstruction of Virginia. Georgia is now out, although she was far enough in the Union to have her electoral vote at the last presidential election. But there was a sufficient number of negroes voting the democratic ticket to carry the State for Seymour. After that sin, she was counted out, and the effort now is to keep her out of the Union, so as to keep her carpet-bag Governor and other radicals in office. Tennessee is now democratic, and, therefore, the radicals in that State are calling upon Congress to take her in hand and give her a large dose of reconstruction.

Well, we patiently and confidently await results. There must soon be an end of all this villanous business of reconstruction. These States must be sooner or later, all of them, in the Union with the same right to regulate their internal affairs as other States exercise, and when that time comes, all the carpet-baggers and scallawags will have to emigrate, retire in obscurity or turn conservatives. Even the poor deluded negroes of these long oppressed States, will turn their backs upon thier late hypocritical friends, and cast their ballots for the true men of the South, who are the owners of the soil and the capital of the country, and to whom alone they can look for sound advice, compensating employment and just protection. Why is it that Grant delays his proclamation announcing the adoption of the XVth Amendment? Who can tell? Let the Federal troops be withdrawn from the South, and let the Freedmen's Bureau be abolished, and then let radical usurpers try their Fifteenth Amendment. The white men of the South have no fear of being ruled by negroes, unless the negroes are backed up by the seductive and coercive influence of federal bayonets.

GIVE NOTICE.—Such of our subscribers as may change their residences on the 1st of April will please inform us of their new place of residence.

POST OFFICE.—A new post office has been established at plane No 4., on the B. & O. R. R., between Monrovia and Mt. Airy—Thos. P. Mullinix, Post Master.

NEW HARDWARE STORE.—Mr. Samuel V. Doll, formerly of the firm of McGill & Doll, has opened a new store on south Market street one door south of Trego's Grocery store.

REDUCED.—It will be observed by reference to their advertisement in another column that Messrs. Sinn & Tabler will open the spring business in their line with a new stock of horses and vehicles and at reduced price for Buggy hire. The result will be an increase of customers.

SALE OF REAL PROPERTY.—The following real property has lately changed hands in Liberty and vicinity: Three unimproved Lots in Liberty, from Richard Gallaher to Henry Baker, for $300; Mill property, near town, from Edward Mitchell to Edward Albaugh, for $4,700. Small Farm of 45 acres, improved with good buildings, near Johnsville, from J. W. Wilhide to Edward Mitchell, for $4,400.—Banner of Liberty.

RAFFLE.—The silver ware and toilet-box displayed on the table of the Misses Galligher, during the Catholic Fair, in December last, will be raffled on Tuesday, the 29th of March, at 7 o'clock p. m., at St. John's College.

BANK DIRECTOR.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Central National Bank, held on Wednesday last, Chas. W. Ross, Esq., was appointed director in said Bank, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Grayson Eichelberger.

TOOTH WASH.—There is no better article for hardning the gums, cleansing the teeth and purifying the breath than the Dentine Tooth-Wash, prepared and for sale by Williamson & Beckenbaugh, druggists. It is endorsed and recommended by all our city Dentists.

BRILLIANT AND PROFOUND.—The article in the last Examiner under the caption: THE COLORED SENATOR. But many of our friends laughed, and then said—vapid, stupid. We often differ, however, from men of most excellent discernment.

NEW STORE.—Mr. George H. Wolfe late of Baltimore, though a native of this city, has opened a Ladies' and Gentlemen's Furnishing Store on Market street, one door north of the First National Bank. His stock is extensive and selected with care. He intends keeping a first-class establishment.

THANKS.—We return our unfeigned thanks to the Board of Aldermen and Com. Council for selecting the CITIZEN as the official organ of the Corporation. Were we not restrained by our well known modesty we would venture the opinion that it was an appointment fit to be made.

NEWSPAPER CHANGE.—Col. Black has disposed of the one half interest in the Republican (weekly and daily.) to Mr. W. T. Cochran, a practical printer, formerly of Alabama. The business of the paper will hereafter be conducted under the firm of Black & Cochran. Although Mr. Cochran is from way down in Dixie, it is not intimated there will be any change in the politics of the Republican.

LOSS OF A VALUABLE HORSE.—A valuable Mare owned by Mr. Loyd H. Herring, of this place—the best one in his Livery—was kicked on the left hind leg on Sunday evening by another horse, while standing in the stable, breaking the leg just above the hoof. Every effort was made to set the broken limb, but failing, it became necessary to kill her in order to put an end to her sufferings. The loss of this valuable animal is a heavy one to Mr. H., who since the first of May has lost five horses.—Valley Registster.

CORPORATION OFFICERS.—At the annual meeting of the Board of Aldermen and Common Council, held on Monday last for the election of officers for the ensuing year, J. Alfred Ritter, Esq., was re-elected President of the Board of Aldermen, and Philip B. Kunkel, Esq., Pres't of the Council Board—R. Brown Henderson was re-elected Clerk to the B. of A., and A. Gault Clerk the of B. C. C. The two Boards being duly organized and ready for business, a joint committee was appointed to inform his Honor the Mayor, that the Boards were prepared to receive any communication he might desire to present. Thereupon the Mayor appeared before the two branches of the Legislative body, in joint session, and read his Annual Message. The document discusses a number of interesting and important topics, and is written in the perspicuous and spirited style for which his Honor is distinguished. We commend it to the attentive persual of our fellow-citizens. Although the Message may be regarded as lengthy, the gravity of the subjects discussed, on all of which his Honor gives his views with emphasis, will no doubt command for it a patient and critical examination on the part of all who feel a proper interest in the prosperity of our city. After the delivery of the Message the Boards proceeded to the election of officers, the balloting resulting as follows: Register, Andrew Henderson, continued; Collector of Water Rents, Samuel Ebert, continued; Superentendent of Water Works, Geo Rice, continued; Lighter of Coal Oil Lamps, N. Dist., Geo F. Kussmaul; South district., Patrick Quinn; Commissioners of tax, James Elliott, James Hergesheimer and Frederick Zumstein; Clock Winder, Hy B. Fessler; Printer, John W. Baughman; City Commissioner, Thos. H. O'Neal; Market Master, Henry K. Hilton; Chief of Police, John Bender; Police, John A. Simpson, Frederick Schleigh, Wm. Bruchey, Luther C. Derr, and James Lambright. There is an increase of one in the police force, but new duties have been assigned them under a recent ordinance and by which an economy will be effected. Lambright, Derr and Bruchey will act as night police and perform the duty of lighting and extinguishing the gas lamps; Simpson, and Schleigh will act as day police. Neither the Mayor nor any of the police are to receive any fees—which will go into the treasury—but instead, an annual salary. The salary for the Mayor is fixed at $1,000; Cheif of Police $600, and Assistant Police $550 each. Under this system it is anticipated that the expenses of this department will be largely reduced. His Honor the Mayor nominated Capt. James McSherry, for re-election as Counsel to the Corporation, which nomination was promptly confirmed.—The election of City Tax Collector was postponed until May next.

ADDRESS.

To the Honorable, the Boards of Aldermen and Common Councilmen of Frederick City.

GENTLEMEN AND FELLOW-CITIZENS:—The swift wheeled chariot of Time, propelled by the power of Omnipotence, in its onward progress towards the shores of eternity, has brought us safely to the third and last year of our official term. While not claiming for our judgment the merit of infallibility, it has been our constant aim, and ceaseless endeavor, to do our whole duty, and nothing but our duty; and to do it without fear, bias or affection—more with a view to receive the approbation of our own conscience, and to fulfil the obligations of our official oath, than with a reference to the popular applause; yet, by no means insensible or indifferent to the latter. If that followed—well! if it did not—well also! Panoplied with the armor of an approving conscience in all my public acts I am not here to day for either defence or apology.

"Thrice is he armed who hath his quarrel just—
And he, but naked, though locked up in steel,
Whose conscience with injustice is corroded."

Gentlemen: Your office and mine are thankless ones—and however much we may strive, honestly, to discharge the public duties devolved upon us; there are, always, those at hand, ready to disparage and discredit our best efforts for the public good. But this shall neither discourage nor dishearten us in the discharge of official duty—not as they, but as we understand it. These vermin of bad odor, and of a worse than bad eminence, have been swept by the popular breath from your path and mine like chaff before the wind—mere insects of an hour they buzz for a season—then disappear forever, harming nobody but themselves, and to-day, gentlemen, your public spirit and indomitable will is respected and honored of all men. You have demonstrated to the most skeptical, that, while you possessed the genius to conceive, you were not deficient in executive talent. Your energies have proved more than equal to the accomplishment of all you undertook, and although discouragements were thrown in your way, nothing daunted, you persevered, fought your way through, every difficulty vanishing as you approached. But, gentlemen, while your public character is such as to command the confidence and applause of your fellow citizens, you should not be unmindful of the wise and beneficent hand that directed your labors, and guided your counsels in consolidating your efforts for the public good. As your mouth-piece on this occasion, I am happy to recognize the presence in all your official acts of the Supreme Ruler of the Universe; without whose efficient aid and constant care, your best efforts for good must prove barren and fruitless. I would, therefore, invoke the divine benediction upon your public labors, in the future, as I have done it in the past.

THE NEW BRIDGES.

Gentlemen: I feel that this is a subject not unworthy the opening of my annual address—I shall, therefore, offer no apology for its introduction: Our series of Iron Bridges have all received their finishing touch. In the construction of these elegant, substantial and beautiful Iron Bridge structures, I see great cause of pride and gratulation. This was an achievement fit to be accomplished, worthy alike of you, and of the constituency you represent. This triumph of genius and mechanical skill will live undimmed in the remembrance of your descendants, and be transmitted as a legacy to their children's children. I cannot, therefore, dismiss this branch of my subject without congratulating you, and through you, the public at large, on this achievement of art; blending as it does in one harmonious whole symmetry, strength, and durability. At the incipiency of this undertaking, it encountered some opposition on the score of its presumed improvident expenditure of the public money; now, happily regarded as one of the wisest investments the city has ever made, and not a hostile echo is heard from any quarter; and everybody not only approves, but, everbody is proud of these magnificent Iron Bridges.

WIDENING OF THE CREEK.

Gentlemen: The enlargement of your chartered powers by the Legislature, will enable the Creek Committee to complete the widening of the Town Creek, commenced last Spring, but suspended for the time for the want of funds and the necessary power—now [rendered ample by the favorable action of the General Assembly.] Old Carrol widened through the city to its eastern terminus;—there need be no future apprehension of danger from any sudden rise of the water in the bed of the stream; its width being sufficiently capacious to carry off all the water that may come down from the mountain in the event, at any time, of a freshet. This was demonstrated satisfactorily, on two occasions during the past Summer by some of our citizens, who had the curiosity to test it. The result was, that a larger body of water was found to have fallen on these occasions than had fallen in the great freshet of 1868, and yet, with the widening of said stream only half done, this great body of water passed off without damage to any one. Thus demonstrating the great value to the city of widening said stream.

MORE WATER.

Gentlemen: Since I last had the honor and the happiness of addressing you, the propriety of introducing into your city an additional supply of water, has received, as it deserved, your wise and discriminating attention. The result has been the issuance of your Water Bonds, as well to expedite, as to facilitate the payment of the debt thereby created. These Water Bonds, it must be conceded, are equal in every respect to any Bonds in the market, unless it be the Bonds of the Corporation, issued to the F. & P. L. R. R., and are in as active and ready request, so that the public expectation, looking to an additional supply of water, may be considered on the point of realization. The means and appliances are at hand; the skill and labor within easy reach; and nothing, now, in the way to interpose an obstacle to success. Too much stress cannot be laid upon the immense value to the city of this much needed public improvement, now, at last, to be consummated, and in a manner, not unsuited to the progress of the age, and to the exigencies, present and prospective, of our condition and destiny as a city. In this connection it is gratifying to know, that, when the works now contemplated are completed, you will not only have an abundant supply of water for all ordinary and extraordinary purposes; but the quantity will be more than sufficient to supply every manufacturing interest, either present or contingent, that may tempt capital here for investment. The vast interests involved in this vitally inportant measure demand that you give to it your earliest and best attention.

FRED'K & PENN. LINE RAIL ROAD.

Gentlemen: Of scarcely less importance to you as a Corporate Body, and to the citizens of Frederick, is that of the F. & P. L. R. R., its present status, progress and future promise. By the opening of Spring, as I am advised, a large proportion of this road, perhaps three-fourths of it, will be ready for the rails, and within the cycle of another year, the Iron Horse richly caparisoned and in full railroad regalia, stamping and prancing, "with head and tail up," puffing and snorting, will be seen passing over this road in the direction of the coal mines of the "old key-stone" State. In this connection it will not be out of place to remark as a matter of interest to the friends of this road, that the Legislature of Maryland, having empowered the city authorities of Baltimore to endorse the Bonds of the Western Maryland R. R. Co., to the amount of fourteen hundred thousand dollars, ($1,400,000,) will enable that company to finish its road, and when finished, it must by the necessities of the case, and its surroundings, exert a powerful influence, favorable to the early completion of the F. & P. L. R. R. That this road, when finished, will cheapen lumber and coal, as well as all other commodities by means of its cheaper transportation, is too self-evident to admit of a doubt that it must have the effect to loosen the iron-grip of that mammoth monopoly, the B. & O. R. R. Co., no man in his senses can gainsay or controvert; and if the F. & P. L. R. R., have no other effect, no other advantage to our growing city, this alone would vindicate not only the wisdom but the utility of the enterprise. But when we add to this the still wiser policy of connecting with it the gigantic project of a railroad leading out from the National Metropolis, through Frederick city to the great Northern Highway by means of this road until lost in the great net-work of railroads, connecting our great cities with the Lakes, the F. & P. L. R. R., looms up in perspective; and assumes proportions, grand, commanding and peculiar. Gentlemen: Holding as I do these sentiments, and occupying the position I do, I will be pardoned when I say to you, in your corporate capacity give to this laudable enterprise all the encouragement and material aid compatible with your chartered prerogatives, and in thus commending this enterprise to your favorable regards, I feel that I but echo the common sentiment of our common constituency. Therefore, I would beg to say and repeat, that, instead of checking its progress, we, and all good citizens, should bid it Godspeed, and lend it a helping hand until it is able to help itself, besides which to cheer it on with our encouraging voices and our approving smiles.

A NEW MARKET HOUSE.

Gentlemen: With your permission I would again recur to the propriety of taking the initial during the current year towards the construction of a new Market House. The present dilapidated condition of the old structure is such as to make this an object, at this time, not only of paramount, but of pressing importance, to say nothing of the present edifice being much too small to meet our present and prospective needs. When the old structure was built, now more than a hundred years ago, our population as a city was sparce, and not one fourth of what it is to-day. To meet this necessity I would respectfully advise the issue at once of three classes of Market House Bonds, to mature in ten, twenty and thirty years from date; redeemable at the pleasure of the corporation of Frederick; the interest to be paid semi-annually in gold; and to make them attractive and popular I would exempt them from city taxes. In order to meet the interest on these Bonds, and at the same time to provide a sinking fund with which to liquidate the principle, I would connect with said new Market House edifice, the construction of a building, that, while it would be an ornament to the city, should be of sufficient magnitude to furnish three large store rooms, fronting on Market street, with an immense Town Hall above of a size to tempt to our city the elegant and refined entertainments from our larger and more populous cities, such as paintings, sculptures, operatic, theatrical and other exhibitions and works of art. Hitherto, the great difficulty has been to find a hall large enough for the purpose. Such a structure as that indicated would supply this desideratum, and all this can be done, startling as the fact may appear, without adding to your city taxes one dollar.—How? The rent of these three store rooms, and of this immense Town Hall added to the sale to the butchers under ground rent of the butchers' stalls, would bring in a revenue more than sufficient to meet the accruing interest on these Market House Bonds, besides providing a sinking fund with which ultimately to extinguish the principle. Connected with this said Market House structure could be arranged an office-room for the Mayor, and with it a lock-up, with but little additional outlay—"a desideratum devoutly to be wished."

STREETS AND ALLEYS.

Gentlemen: Permit me in behalf of citizen tax-payers to invite special attention to the condition of many of the streets and alleys, located in the Northern section of your city, the same being at times, during the winter especially, almost impassable. The propriety of either paving or macadamizing the said alleys with a good substantial side-walk to each, must be apparent to every one, and especially so, to those having business in said localities. Complaint has been made, time and again, with some appearance of truth, that invidious distinctions are made in favor of localities where the
