In the Court of Common Pleas of Baltimore, a few days ago, a verdict was rendered in favor of the Farmers and Mechanics National Bank of Westminster against Jay S. Strouse, for $602.15, on a promissory note. The plaintiff was represented by Messrs. Bond & Parke and the defendant by Mr. Jos. D. Brooks.

The weather was extremely warm in this locality, for several days the early part of this week. The humidity was great, with rain and fogs. The Weather Bureau predicted a drop of 30 to 40 degrees Sunday night, and kept on predicting colder weather, day after day, but the change did not come till yesterday and then was not extreme, the mercury only reaching about the freezing point.

Very low temperature prevailed in the extreme West and Northwest from Saturday till Wednesday last. At Denver, Col., the mercury dropped to zero, and throughout Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska and other States it was bitterly cold. A heavy snow

The Dinterman Case.

The case of Goodwin, Foutz and Hurst, receivers of The Fraternal Association of Baltimore City, against John M. Dinterman, of Frederick county, which ended in the Circuit Court for this county on Saturday with a verdict for the plaintiffs, created widespread interest in Carroll and Frederick counties. The case was removed from Frederick to Carroll, after having been twice tried before juries of the former county, each of which failed to agree upon a verdict. It was what was known as a lightning rod case. Mr. Dinterman had some of his buildings rodded and testified that he paid $13 for the work. Subsequently a promissory note for $200, payable to J. C. Gray, or order, signed with Mr. Dinterman's name, turned up in the hands of the Fraternal Association. Mr. Dinterman denied that he had signed the note and when the association failed the receivers brought suit to recover.

Mr. Dinterman denied the authenticity of the signature, and his brother, [illegible] known that it was not his true name.

John H. Taylor.

Mr. John H. Taylor, a widely known native and citizen of Woolery's district, died very suddenly, at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Edward Sprinkel, with whom he resided, near the Bethel of the Church of God, shortly before six o'clock, Sunday morning, of disease of the heart, aged 71 years, 4 months. He had been afflicted for some time by the malady which caused his death, but his demise was entirely unexpected. He was in this city on Saturday and after returning home ate a hearty supper and retired to his room at the usual hour. He was heard moving about the room a couple of times in the night and, fearing that he might be ill, towards morning a member of the family went to inquire about his condition and found him speechless and he soon afterwards passed away. Mr. Taylor was generally and familiarly known for many years as "Carter" Taylor and but for his connection with public affairs few persons would have
