The Republican Citizen.

Frederick City, Md.

FRIDAY, JUNE 24, 1870.

J. W. Baughman, Editor and Publisher.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

On the 22d of June, 1845, we became the proprietor and editor of the CITIZEN. Many of the men who at that time took an active part in the politics of the county and encouraged us in our labors have long since passed away. The sons of many of our early friends not then born, are now voters, and are worthily following in the foot-steps of their fathers. While many of our early political friends have passed beyond the dark veil which separates time from eternity, it is gratifying to know that there are still surviving a considerable number of good and true men who cheered us with encouraging approval when only a tyro in the editorial chair twenty-five years ago. Since the beginning of our editorial labors not only have large numbers of local politicians, of power and influence, passed from the stage of action, but numbers of distinguished statesmen, national leaders of political parties have been summoned to the grave. Jackson, Van Buren, Polk, Harrison, Tyler, Taylor, Pierce, Buchanan, Lincoln,—Presidents of the United States, have all paid the great debt of nature since we took charge of the CITIZEN; so also have such luminaries as Clay, Webster, Calhoun, Wright, Benton, Douglas and other great and patriotic men of the two old parties gone to join the grand old founders of the republic. But not only have great men passed away, but great parties have ceased to exist. The chivalric old Whig party gave up the ghost after the contest of 1852, when Pierce defeated Scott. On the death of the Whig party, which many of its former supporters helped to murder, was vitalized the hideous monster of Know-Nothingism. This new party seduced many weak and corrupt men from the ranks of the ever-living Democratic party, and, for a time, achieved general success throughout the country. But the Democracy continued to battle for the principles of the Constitution—Know-Nothingism began to lose ground, and was finally absorbed by a sectional abolition party, defeated in 1856 by Buchanan, but finally clutching the reins of power in 1860 under Lincoln as President. With the triumph of this sectional, fanatical party came war, the subversion of the government and Constitution, which it was the pride of all our Presidents from Washington down to Lincoln to cherish and defend, as it was, also, of all the great dead statesmen who have lived from the adoption of the federal Constitution down to the days of Lincoln. Since the advent of Lincoln and his sectional party, we have had war and taxation, the abolition of slavery, the overthrow of the Constitution and the elevation of the negro to an equality of political rights with white men, who, alone from the establishment of our government down to the adoption of the Fifteenth Amendment governed the country. During all these changes, and the rise and fall of parties, the grand old Democratic party, in victory and defeat, has stood firmly and immovably by the traditions of the past, and the principles of the Constitution established by the fathers of the republic.

How many whigs or democrats, in Maryland, twenty-five years ago dreamed that a negro would ever be eligible to the presidency of the United States? How many ten years ago supposed, that in the year 1870, negro suffrage would be universal, and that many of the States would be absolutely under the political rule of a then servile race; and that one of the sovereign States of the Union would be represented, in part, in the United States Senate by a negro? Is this new, extraordinary and unexpected condition of things, in truth, progress with improvement on our old system, or is it revolution carrying with it the seeds of decay and death? These are questions which the white descendents of the patriotic founders of our government, and the white men of foreign nationalites, now citizens by adoption—provided for in the constitution which bears the august signature of George Washington—will be called upon to consider at the Congressional election this fall, and more especially at the next presidential election. We believe now, as we did when we cast our first ballot in 1836; as we did twenty-five years ago, when we first used the editorial pen, and as all men believed who then claimed to be either whigs or democrats--that this government was established by white men, for white men, and their descendents for all time. On this line we are willing to continue the contest until the old principles shall, under the lead of the democracy, be once more established, or until all hope of a counter revolution—rebuking the usurpations and frauds of the iniquitous and profligate party in power, shall be lost in the hearts of all honest patriots.

At the recent "Memorial Day," for the Confederate soldiers, at Frederick City, Maryland, an excellent poem was read, of which the following is the opening verse:—

Here they rest, the named and nameless,
They who fought with spirits tameless,
Fought and bled and died to conquer Freedom for their cherish'd land—
Meeting, when in life, the rattle
Of the dreadful, murd'rous battle,
With a courage and devotion unsurpass'd by Spartan band.

How true it is that the Confederate soldiers "fought and bled and died for the freedom of their cherished land!" But what did the Northern soldiers fight for? It brings a blush on the cheek of every patriot to answer that question.—N. Y. Day-Book.

The largest lumber contract ever taken in this country, was entered into a few days ago by a lumber dealer at Grand Rapids, Mich. He took a contract from the Grand Rapids and Indianapolis Railroad Company to furnish 200,000,000 feet of lumber.

DEATH FROM INJURIES.—We learn that Mrs. Mary J. Fout, widow of the late David Fout, of this city, died recently at Alexandria, Va., from injuries sustained by being thrown from a vehicle. We have not been able to ascertain the particulars of the accident that resulted so sadly. She had many warm friends in this city, who will read this announcement with feelings of deep sorrow.

CONCERT AT THE F. F. SEMINARY.—The concert that usually follows the close of the commencement exercises at the Frederick Female Seminary, came off on Wednesday evening, and was patronized by a very large and select audience. Both the vocal and instrumental music were of a very high order, and the auditory frequently evidenced their delight by applauding the performers.

APPOINTMENT.—His Excellency, Gov. Bowie, has appointed Wm. F. Gatton Registrar for Buckeystown district, vice G. Eichelberger, resigned; John W. England, Registrar for Mt. Pleasant district, vice Jacob Burrier, resigned; and Conrad Easterday Justice of the Peace for Urbana district, provided for by Act of Assembly of Maryland.

TURNPIKE ELECTION.—The stockholders of the Catoctin Mountain Road Company held a meeting on last Saturday, and elected the following directors for the ensuing year: John Sifford, T. L. McLean, Theodore Schultz, W. M. Feaga, Jno. A. J. Zimmerman, W. T. Preston, L. M. Nixdorff, and John H. Bruner.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.—The Board of County School Commissioners have appointed the following persons "District School Commissioners" for School District No. 3, in Election District No. 3, to serve the ensuing year: Henry Keafauver, G. C. Rhoderick and George Kesselring.—Valley Register.

MERINO SHEEP.—Mr. David C. Heime, residing at Catoctin Switch, brought to this city, on Saturday last, six merino sheep for exhibition, and sheared them in the presence of a number of our citizens—a very fine large buck produced 20 pounds of wool—The six together producing 71 pounds.—These splendid merinos will be exhibited by Mr. Heime at our next cattle show.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Luther Duvall, of this city, an employee in the sash factory of D. J. Markey & Co., had two of his fingers cut off between the first and second joints, on Friday of last week, in attempting to adjust a strap on the wheel of the morticing machine. Dr. Wm. H. Baltzell was called in and found it necessary to amputate one of the fingers at the third joint, owning to a severe injury the bone in it had received.

TRIAL OF REAPERS.—Under the supervision of the Frederick County Agricultural Society, a trial of reaping machines will take place to-day, the 24th inst., at 10 o'clock, a. m., on the farm of Col. Chas. E. Trail, occupied by Mr. Wm. A. Hargate. The Agricultural Society has appointed the following gentlemen as judges: Cornelious Staley, Abraham Hargate, John S. Best, Joseph G. Miller, Benjamin J. Snoufer, Jonathan Routzahn, Ezra M. Thomand Elias Coblentz.

AN OLD BELL.—On one of the bells which has been taken from the steeple of the Lutheran Church of this city, for the purpose of having it recast, in consequence of a crack in it, bears the following inscription: "Peck & Chapman of London Fecit 1771." The bell is, therefore, ninety-nine years old, and was presented to the Lutheran church in that year or the year following, by Author Schaaff, who a hundred years ago, was an eminent member of the Frederick Bar, but removed to Georgetown, where he has relatives still residing.—Examiner.

THE "HEATED TERM," DOGS, &c.—The attention of all concerned is directed to the advertisement of his Honor, the Mayor, who calls upon all the citizens of Frederick to clean up their cellars, yards, &c., and lime them, so as to preserve the health of our city. He further notifies the owners of dogs that, from the first of July to the last of August, they must prevent their dogs from running at large unless they are securely muzzled with a wire muzzle. The laws in regard to these matters will be strictly enforced, and parties are warned of the penalties incurred from disobedience or neglect.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.—The July number of this excellent American monthly has been received, and contains, as usual, contributions of a high standard. The following are the contents: The Petticoat in the politics of England; The Winds; Two letters; On the Hypothethis of Evolution, physical and melaphysical; A week among the Mormons; Shall we despair of the Republic; A Ghost as a modern convenience; Lake Superior and the Sault St. Marie; Epigram; Sir Harry Hotspur of Humblewaithe; Negro Superstition; A Glance at Fairmount Park; Miss Tiggs' Secret; Russia in Central America; Monthly Gossip, &c. Published by J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia, at $4 per year. Now is the time to subscribe for this able monthly as the July number commences a new volume.

WATER SUPPLY.—We are pleased to state that the work of furnishing Frederick with an additional supply of water is being pushed forward with considerable vigor, and that it is expected everything will be completed by September, when we will have an abundance of water for all purposes. The Tuscarora is to be tapped about 5 miles north of this city, near the mill of Mr. Chas. Broadrup. A large basin will be constructed and so contrived as to prevent, in case of high waters, the reservoir from being flooded with muddy water. There is nothing our city stands more in need of than the extensions of its water works, as their construction will insure greater safety to property, and contribute to the health and cleanliness of our delightful mountain city.

CHURCH REPAIRS.—St. John's Catholic Church, of this city, has been repainted and is undergoing repairs, and the fine appearance it now presents is no doubt a source of gratification and pride to its members, while it is one of the handsomest ornaments of our town.—The Lutheran Church is also being repaired and receiving a new outside finish, which when completed, will add greatly to the beauty of this splendid edifice.

THE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO CANAL.—There was a meeting of the newly-elected president and board of directors of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company, held at Annapolis on Thursday last, when they were sworn into office before Judge Robison. The president, Hon. James C. Clarke, appointed the standing committees, as follows: Finance—Messrs, Brown, Meredith, and McPherson. Construction and Repairs—Messrs, McPherson, Dodge and Young. Transportation—Messrs, Berret, Young and McPherson. The committee on construction and repairs, accompanied by the president, will start to Georgetown soon and make a tour of the entire line of the canal, to thoroughly investigate its condition and requirements, &c.

THE WAR BETWEEN THE STATES—in 2 volumes by Alex. H. Stephens, Vice President of the Southern Confederacy.

The second volume of this most able and interesting work upon the causes, conduct and results of our late civil struggle has just been issued from the Press; and Mr. W. H. McLanahan is the agent for its sale and distribution in this locality.

Mr. Stephen's reputation as a statesman and writer is national, and he is conceded to be among the most powerful and cogent advocates of the doctrine of States' Rights. The argument is presented in the form of a colloquy, in which Mr. Stephens maintains the Southern view of our form of government; Judge Bynum, the Radical Republican; Prof. Norton, the Conservative Republican; and Major Heister, the view of the War Democrats. The last three are fictitious names, but the discussion is a literal and fair presentation of all these different shades of opinion. Every impartial reader of American history will concede that Mr. Stephens has done full justice to the respective disputants and fully stated their positions; and, we humbly submit, has thoroughly and conclusively vanquished them. Additional weight is given to Mr. Stephens' conclusions from the fact, that he, at the outset, opposed a dissolution of the Union, while always maintaining the right of the States, from their inherent sovereignty, to secede if they saw fit. In addition to the political discussion embodied in the work, a vast amount of useful and entertaining information is compiled as to the progress of the war, and the agency of prominent men in both sections in its conduct It is a most valuable and entertaining work for all classes of society.

Death of Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, Esq.

This esteemed and well-known citizen of Baltimore died at his residence, on Park street, about half-past four o'clock yesterday morning, after a lingering and painful illness. He was the son of Jerome Bonaparte, the brother of the great Napoleon, who visited Baltimore in the early part of the century and married, in 1803, Miss Elizabeth Patterson, daughter of one of our leading merchants. The married couple sailed shortly afterwards for Europe, and Mrs. Bonaparte was refused permission to land in France. She went to Holland and thence to England, where her late son was born in 1805. Napoleon caused the marriage of his brother to be pronounced in Europe a nullity, and the latter subsequently was made King of Westphalia, and married the daughter of the King of Wurtemberg. By this lady he had three children, of whom the Princess Mathilde and Prince Napoleon are still living. The late Mr. Bonaparte leaves two sons; one of whom graduated at West Point, and after seeing some service on the Texan frontiers, entered the French army, in which he now holds the rank of Major. His venerable mother still survives him. Mr. Bonaparte was of quiet and unostentatious habits, and was universally respected for his courteous bearing, his amiability, his frankness and his integrity. About two hours after his death, and also at his residence, died Mrs. Williams, the mother of Mrs. Bonaparte, at an advanced age.—Balt. Gazette.

HOW TO GET BIG CROPS.—As a rule farmers are much more ambitious to get big prices, than big crops. There are few farms whose average production could not be doubled in a very short time by more capital and labor. It is safer to use capital in farming than in any other business. The credit of the plow is quite as good as that of the loom and anvil; and the capital will come if it is called for. Use more manure, and get thirty bushels of wheat where you now get fifteen, and eighty bushels of corn where you know get forty. The quantity of grain per acre is mainly a question of manure and tillage. A big compost-heap makes a full grain bin. With high manuring, the soil needs deeper stiring and a gradual bringing up of the subsoil to the surface. With the present horse harrows and cultivators, nearly all the cultivation can be done by horse-power at saving of expense and great increase of the crops.

DECADENCE OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.—The following, from its Washington correspondent, appears in a late number of the Cincinnati Commercial, a very square Rapublican journal. The significance of the paragraph cannot but be appreciated by all sensible men:

"There is no denial of the fact that the late election in New York has had a somewhat depressing effect upon the government people here, who, up to that event, counted their two-third majority in Congress and swung on as if there were no constituencies taking note of their shortcomings. That the city of New York should exhibit a huge majority in favor of the Democracy was expected. But the result in the rural districts fills our friends with dismay. It is the hand writing on the wall, AND MEANS DEATH.

ANOTHER VICTORY!—Oregon responds to New York, by electing a Democratic Governor, (S. H. Crover,) by 2,000 majority, a Democratic Congressman, (James H. Slater,) and a Democratic majority in the Legislature, thus securing the United States Senator, in place of Williams Radical. This is a magnificent victory—the most sweeping ever achieved in that far-off State. Three cheers for the white men of Oregon! This must be a white man's government yet.

The projected China cable is to run by the way of the Sandwich Islands, Midway Islands and Yokohama to Shanghai; and its length, including the allowance of twenty per cent. for slack, will be 9,121 miles.

A company of negro volunteers has just been armed and equipped in Carlisle. They are furnished arms by the State authorities.

[From the Philadelphia Age, June 16.]

The Republican Nominating Conventions in Philadelphia.

The scenes of riot, drunkenness and ruffianism which marked the election of delegates to the different nominating Conventions of the Radical party were repeated yesterday in many of these bodies, heightened by the debauch of the intervening night. Each candidate had his gang of hired bullies and desperadoes, armed, desperate and excitable. No latitude of opinion was allowed. Words were followed by blows, and the pistol, knife and black-jack substituted for facts, reason and argument. White men contended with negroes, and negroes filled to the lips with bad whiskey stalked through the Conventions and insulted, elbowed and jostled white men in the most insulting manner There was no decorum, no decency of behavior, no regard for law, order or propriety in many of the conventions. Men shouted and fought and blasphemed in the most sickening and disgusting manner. The leaders in this wild tumult of greed and passion looked only at the prize ahead, and cared not by what steps the goal was reached, while their tools and agents, selected from the lowest class of our population, drained the drunkard's glass, counted their pay and trampled alike upon rights of person and rights of property at their master's bidding. As the most money is at stake in the nomination for Sheriff, of course the rudest riot took place in that body. Here the Leeds and Walton champions crossed swords, and the contest was fiercely waged. Two men claiming to be Chairmen of the Convention mounted the stand at the same time. Then commenced a regular battle. Blows were given and received, clothing torn, tables and chairs upset, gas fixtures demolished, hats mashed, pocket-books stolen, and all this to an accompaniment of oaths, curses and yells fearful to hear in a christian land. After the combatants exhausted the surplus steam, something like order was established, and the body proceeded with the farce of making general nominations in the name of the respectable portion of the Radical party. A similar scene, though not quite so disgusting in its surroundings, occurred in the Judicial Convention. There three men claimed the office of President, and noise, confusion and wrangling ensued. Appeals for order were grected with bursts of derisive laughter, and the friends of the different aspirants for judicial positions menaced each other, and prepared for personal violence if success could be reached by no other road. There was also a fine exhibition of Donnybrook Fair tactics in the Second Congressional District Convention. Several rounds were fought, some claret drawn, a few potatoe-traps damaged, and the pugs separated, each to their own cribs.—This is by no means an exaggerated picture of the field of battle as it appeared in the Radical Convention yesterday. Plunder, robbery and association with degraded negroes seems to have obliterated all traces of decency from the office-seekers of the Radical party their followers and hangers-on. They care not by what means an end is gained. They bribe, bully, cajole, cheat, use any and all methods of bending the delegates to their interested purposes. Now, what are nominations worth made in such dens of crime and profligacy? They are not the will of the people, announced in a just, proper and decorus manner, nor will they be so accepted. Ruffians, rowdies and political gamblers and adventurers may make nominations, but respectable people will not endorse them at the polls.

Attorney General Hoar has resigned at last. While this step on his part will be little regretted by the people at large, it cannot be denied that the Administration will suffer a grievous loss. Jack Bunsby was an oracle to Captain Cuttle, but Hoar was even a more useful expounder of law and fact to the Federal authorities. In vulgar parlance, he could deliver an opinion, "as was an opinion." He had a knack for confounding sense and nonsense that was amazing. Father Tom himself never proved that black and white are the same thing more quickly and conclusively. No political measure or trick has ever been concocted by the Administration that Hoar did not undertake to find or invent some legal justification for it. No man in the country has probably framed so many absurd and dishonest defences for utterly indefensible acts as has this shallow-brained and bigotted adviser of the President. His opinion, which declared the Legislature of Virginia to be a Legislature in respect to all matters upon which the Radical party desired it to take action, and no Legislature at all so far as all other matters were concerned, was beneath contempt. As dull as he was wrong-headed, his reputation will stand even below that of Judge Holt, whose frantic rhetoric served to conceal his absurdities to a certain extent, or to confuse the public mind. But he was an unscrupulous and serviceable servant, and is therefore a serious loss to the Administration.—Balt. Gazette.

The Washington correspondent of the N. Y., Sun (Republican) says:

It is not to be disguised that the breaking up of the Republican column is most seriously threatened. Superadded to the reason already given, the class legislation here, the enormous land grants, the vast spoliation on the Treasury, the partisan violence which sets aside all justice, and wide-spread corruption, have tended to alienate and even to disgust moderate and upright men, who do not think it part of their political mission to countenance frauds and to cover up plunder for the benefit of Republicans in Congress.

TABLE OF DISTANCE.—The following exhibit of the number of yards contained in a mile will often prove a matter of useful reference to readers:

Mile in England or America, 1760 yards.
Mile in Rusia, 1160 yards.
Mile in Italy, 1467 yards.
Mile in Scotland and Ireland, 2200 yards.
Mile in Poland, 4400 yards.
Mile in Spain, 5028 yards.
Miles in Sweden and Denmark, 7223 yards.
Miles in Hungary, 8800 yards.
League in England and America, 5280 yards.

A certain prominent member of the Grand Army of the Republic promised to crawl on his belly from Washington to Georgetown, and back, if Bowen was not elected. This pledge he made while addressing a crowd of negroes the night before the election. It is to be hoped he will be forced to keep his promise.

Cash girls are running out the cash boys in New York. In nearly all the principle dry goods houses in New York girls have the handling of the cash, and the system of cash girls is also gaining ground in Boston.

One day last week, John Snyder, of Uniontown, Pa. caught with a hook and line, eighty-three fine plump trout, within the space of four hours.

WHITTEMORE.—This gentleman, whom the House of Representatives pronounced an unworthy member, on account of his traffic in cadetships, has been re-elected, and has presented his credentials. The question of his admission is a knotty one, and no precedent exists. A motion to expel Keith and Brooks, after the assault on Sumner, failed, though a majority voted in the affirmative. Both of them resigned, were re-elected, and took their seats without objection. The House, however, did not proceed as in the case of Whittemore, after resignation, to pronounce them unworthy of membership. In an English case a member of Parliament having been expelled for corrupt frailties, was returned. He was refused recognition, and was subsequently re-elected. Parliament then declared him ineligible, and admitted his competitor, who had received but a few hundred votes.

"BLOODY WORK ON THE BORDER."—We have accounts of no less than eight homicides or attempts at homicide within twenty-four hours in Kansas City, Mo. This is "bleeding Kansas" over again, but this time it happens to be on the other side of the State line—that is, in Missouri. If this bloody work had occurred in North Carolina it would have been laid to the account of the Ku-Kluxes, and the whole militia of the State ordered out to crush out "incipient rebellion."—N. Y. Herald.

VIRGINIA CROPS.—Accounts from Virginia state that the crops throughout the State generally give promise of a good yield, the rains in that State not having been as excessive as in this section of country. It is encouraging to learn that somebody is rejoicing in the prospect of a plentiful return for their labor.

The Living Machine.

Injure the main spring of a watch and every portion of the works become disordered. The human stomach is to the human system what that elastic piece of metal is to a chronometer. It influences the action of the other organs, and controls, to a certain extent, the whole living machine. The comparison may be carried further: for as the weakness or other imperfections of the main spring is indicated on the face of the timepiece, so also is the weakness or other disorder of the stomach betrayed by the face of the invalid. The complexion is sallow or faded, the eyes are deficient in lustre and intelligence, and there is a worn, anxious expression in the whole countenance which tell as plainly as written words could do, that the great nourishing organ whose office it is to minister to the wants of the body, and to sustain and renew all its parts, is not performing its duty. It requires renovating and regulating, and to accomplish this end Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be truly said to be the one thing needful. The broken main spring of a watch may be replaced by a new one, but the stomach can only be repaired and strengthened, and this is one of the objects of the famous vegetable restorative which for eighteen years has been waging a successful contest with dyspepsia in all climates. As a specific for indigestion it stands alone. When the resources of the pharmacopoia have been exhausted, without, at best, doing more than mitigating the complaint, a course of this wholesome and palatable, yet powerful, stomachic effects a perfect and permanent cure. In all cases of dyspepsia the livar is more or less disord red, and upon this important gland, as well as upon the stomach and bowels, the Bitters act with singular distinctness, regulating and reinvigorating every secretive and assimilating organ on which bodily and mental health depend.

Beneath the stone there sleepeth one
Who was our joy, our pride,
A flower that was but lent to us,
That budded, bloomed and died;
He was too fair and beautiful
For a dark world like this;
He has become an angel now,
Within the realms of bliss.

We may weep for the loved one
Now under the sod,
But the soul shines in beauty
Now borrowed from God,
Where with joy we shall meet him
When life's from us, fled,
For they are the living
Whom we call the dead.
