NEAR EAST RELIEF

CARROLL COUNTY IN ARREARS.

"Carroll county has not yet made up the amount necessary to bring the county's quota up-to-date", said Harold F. Pellegrin, Potomac Division Director, Near East Relief, in a statement issued from headquarters, 14 West Franklin street, Baltimore.

"I hope that every contributor in the county understands that just so much as Carroll falls behind its quota, just so much is the relief work affected and just so many orphans must leave the orphanages because of this lack of funds," continued Mr. Pellegrin. "There is a direct ratio between the money received to care for the orphans and the money expended and a falling off in funds means just so many little ones affected. For this reason I again appeal to the regular contributors to make a 25% increase in their subscriptions and to those who have not given, to give something. If this is done, Carroll will meet its quota."

Money may be sent to J. Pearre Wantz, Westminster, Md., the county treasurer, or to the Near East Relief, 14 West Franklin street, said Mr. Pellegrin.

MR. WALSH ADDRESSES W. C. T. U.

Citizenship is claiming the attention of the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, probably more this year than ever before in the history of the organization. Friday afternoon, March 29th, Eugene Walsh, Attorney, addressed the Westminster local union on that subject. Mr. Walsh impressed his hearers with the fact that since the adoption of the Nineteenth Amendment it was not only the privilege, but the absolute duty of every woman to register and vote. He also emphasized the fact that since the adoption of this Amendment every woman's responsibility to the government had increased many times. Mr. Walsh said there were two ways to make people good, one by legislature, the other, and the one he thought, most effective and lasting, was by appealing to their morals, their better nature. He urged the organization to keep on with, and push their educational program, begun many years ago, which had done such effective work. Mr. Walsh said it was the sworn duty of every officer of the law to enforce, not only the Volstead law, but all laws, and it was the duty of every citizen living under the stars and stripes to help this enforcement. You cannot have Government without law enforcement, for the two are synonymous, this is true whether it relates to a stamp tax, or a prohibition act. Some men feel perfectly justified in breaking the Volstead act, it is also true that there are men who justify and commit murder to accomplish their own purposes.

The address was very timely and much appreciated. A short business session followed. Mrs. Fenby, County President, reported plans for Mrs. Mary Armor's meetings in Alumni Hall, May 9th, about completed. Miss Carrie Greene, who was present, was named publicity chairman. Mrs. Frank Myers, was named in charge of ushers, and collectors; and Mrs. McDaniel to secure the music.

The county convention will be held the last week in August. Place of meeting will be announced later.
