MEETING OF WOMAN'S CLUB

On Tuesday last, April 6 the Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. Martha Shaw. The meeting was presided over by the President, Mrs. Ward. There was a short business session. Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Unger were elected delegates, with Mrs. Clemson and Mrs. Thomas as alternates, to the State Federation meeting to be held at Annapolis April 27-30. Mrs. Frank Mather reported that the Club received $30.00 from the benefit films recently shown at the Star theatre. This money is to be sent to the State Federation as our contribution toward the Scholarship Fund. It was voted that the Club subscribe for a page in the High School year book, The Mirror. Mrs. Shipley and Mrs. Forlines read very masterly papers on their subjects. Mrs. Shipley on "The Home Training of the Child" said that the question naturally arises when should this training begin? Heredity answers, with its great, great grandparents. Finley who is an authority on environment says a child's will is the gift of God and as soon as possible the child should be taught to choose and also to respect the rights of others. One of the finest opportunities a parent has is in the telling of stories which will impress kindness, bravery, respect, unselfishness and a regard for truth with no seeming effort to teach these things. Stories also develop the imagination and it is through this medium that our inventions come, also the great thoughts of the ages." Mrs. Shipley also read in an impressive way two short poems "Tell Me the Stories Once More" and "Little White House in the North Country."

Mrs. Forlines' subject "Religion in the Home" was also handled in a practical way. A child cannot be taught religion simply by the ideals held before them for 30 minutes a week or once a month in church nor by the instruction given in the brief period of Sunday School, but a child is what parents, kin, and all the circumstances that have touched him daily and hourly for years have determined he should be. Our age especially needs men and women who think in terms of spiritual values, who rise above the measures of pounds and dollars and who weigh life by personal qualities and worth. No life can be furnished for the strain of our modern materialism that lacks the basis of the idealism that may be developed in the true family. Christianity stands for the highest ideals and it is the duty and privilege of parents to foster and direct the religious life of the home in order to develop their children into the men and women of sturdy Christian character. Religion in the home is not simply to get children ready for heaven but to train them to make all life noble and worthy."

Some interesting current events completed the afternoon's program.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING SCHOOL FOR TANEYTOWN

During the week of April 19 to 24 the progressive community of Taneytown will put on the third of the series of Leadership Training Schools for Sunday School workers being promoted by the Carroll County Association.

Brady, of Taneytown; "A Study of the Pupil," by Miss Crim, of the county public school staff; and "Primary Methods and Plans," by Miss McCormick, of the Maryland State Sunday School Association.

The sessions of the schools will be held partly in the Lutheran and partly in the Reformed churches. They will be open to Sunday school workers of all denominations and anyone will be welcome. Those finishing the prescribed course will be given credit by the International Council of Chicago toward a standard teacher training diploma. An excellent opportunity is afforded Sunday school officers and teachers to study under expert leadership and fit themselves for better work.

CHILD DROWNED IN WELL

Saturday afternoon last John Rosenberger, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Rosenberger of Eastview, this county, fell into a well on the Mengel property and was drowned.

Accompanied by the child, Mr. Plack, an employee of the child's parents, went to the nearby Mengel property to get some vegetables from the cellar, leaving the child on the outside of the house. When Plack came out of the cellar the child was not to be seen. Thinking young Rosenberger had walked home Plack returned to the Rosenberger residence where he learned the child had not returned.

A search was started and the child was found in the well on the Mengel property, having fallen through the platform over the same.

Plack slid down the well as far as possible but could not reach the child, who in the meantime had sunk in seven feet of water and drowned. Later the body was recovered by Dr. Jeanette of Westminster, who was lowered into the well by a rope.

The funeral services were held on Tuesday in Trinity Lutheran church, Rev. W. L. Seabrook officiating, and the interment was in the adjoining cemetery.

REV. MAKOSKY ELECTED PRESIDENT M. P. CONFERENCE

Born in Bohemia.

Dr. Makosky, who is about 50 years old, is a native of Bohemia and came to this country with his parents when an infant. His mother died when he was 7 years old and he was placed at a home for boys in Baltimore. At 13 he was apprenticed to a printer, left the home and went to live with the parents of the Rev. B. F. Ruley, of Baltimore. He became interested in church work early in his youth and at 20 decided to study for the ministry.

He was graduated from Westminster Seminary a few years later and about ten years ago was given the degree of doctor of divinity by Adrian College. Dr. Makosky is married and has three children. One son is in the navy and another is a student at Columbia University.

Dr. Humphreys, the retiring president suggested that the Anti-Saloon League quit playing ward politics and devote its energies to upholding the dry laws. He asserted that heretofore the league has been regarded as the church in action against the saloon, whereas now the saloon has become an outlaw by constitutional amendment. The church, he said, no longer is in action against the saloon, and the business of the church has become the upholding of the dignity of the law.

Dr. Makosky, who was elected president of the conference, received 127 votes. The Rev. Dr. R. L. Shipley, of Salisbury, received eighty-seven votes, the next highest. Scattered votes were cast for the Rev. J. Franklin Bryan, the Rev. J. H. Straughn, the Rev. W. H. Litsinger, the Rev. L. B. Smith and the Rev. N. O. Gibson.

GEORGE H. HAGOPIAN AN ARMENIAN SPEAKS IN ST. PAUL'S CHURCH ON NEAR EAST RELIEF BUNDLE DAY

Wednesday evening Mr. George H. Hagopian, an Armenian engaged in Near East Relief work, spoke to an appreciative audience in St. Paul's Reformed church, this city, on the affairs of the Near East Relief, and recited the many difficulties he personally, was forced to overcome in his work for the relief of the suffering Armenians, and to resist the onslaught of the Turks, who delight in killing Christians.

Mr. Hagopian's special work at this time is an effort to arouse an interest in Bundle Day for the Near East Relief which will be held Wednesday April 21, 1926, and it is hoped that every one who can will endeavor to make it a success.

Mr. Hagopian brought a message from his own country. For seven years he served in the Turkish army and then deserted to go to his native Armenia to engage in missionary work. The Russian government sent him to Siberia and he returned via America. He contended that the Armenians are the oldest Christians in the world and because of their faith in Christ the Turks delight in killing them.

Mr. Hagopian informed his audience that many churches, colleges and schools in America are helping to support Armenians, Greeks, Syrians and Assyrians, and have been doing it for the past nine years, for all of which they thank the Americans.

Blankets, shoes and warm clothing are the greatest needs at present and receiving stations have been established at Western Maryland College, the Seminary and the high schools of the county.

Thursday morning Mr. Hagopian spoke at Western Maryland College, the Seminary and the Westminster high school. Among those present were Dr. Forlines, of the Seminary, Dr. Ward, president of the College, and Prof. Seitz, of the high school.

Those present were: Miss Marcia Rayme, Miss Virginia Wilson, Miss Margaret Smith, Miss Dorothy Nygren, Miss Miriam Royer, Miss Virginia Wright, Miss Anna Lauder, Miss Charlotte Zepp and Miss Blanche Ford.

Wednesday delegations from New Windsor, Sykesville and Manchester appeared before the County Commissioners asking for the erection of high school buildings. They were informed that requests for school buildings must come through the Board of Education. The law fixes the levy for schools and it is up to the Board of Education to take care of school buildings through its budget, subject to the review and veto by the County Commissioners. The Board told the delegation that to grant their request the tax rate would have to be raised to over $2.00.

For the Sentinel.

THE CARROLL COUNTY SOCIETY OF BALTIMORE CITY

Baltimore, Md., April 6th, 1926.

Dear Carroll Countian:

The Annual Meeting for the election of Officers of The Carroll County Society of Baltimore City will be held on Thursday evening, April 15, 1926 at Peabody Institute, Lecture Hall, Mount Vernon Place at 8 p. m.

Complying with the terms of the By Laws of the Society, your President appointed a nominating committee, which committee held its meeting a short time ago, and recommends that the following persons be nominated for the offices to be filled by the Society for the coming year:

President—Harry E. Houck.
Vice Pres.—Geo. M. Englar.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. Laura V. Kooke.
Rec. Sec.—Louis H. Dielman.
Cor. Sec.—George R. Babylon.
Treas.—George F. Frock.
Board of Governors—
J. Leonard Eckenrode.

Your Society has always been extremely fortunate in having among its members ladies and gentlemen who when necessary come forward and contribute their talents to help entertain the members at its meetings. At this meeting Mr. Louis H. Dielman will show many pictures of Carroll County by lantern. He will explain in his talk what they are. If there is a man or woman in or from Carroll County who is interested in the best County in the United States here is the opportunity to see and hear about things of his native section that he will nowhere else find.

Peabody Institute produces some of the world's best musicians, both vocal and instrumental, and it gives us pleasure to state to you that we will have at this meeting a number of Peabody trained musicians, who will ably give us a musical program that cannot be excelled anywhere. You hear of programs arranged for other affairs but this one, every one having the opportunity, should see and hear, because it is one very seldom produced anywhere.

You have the privilege of bringing your friends, no matter where they were born or reside, because we are proud of our County and our people and we like our friends to see what it and they are like.

In order to make our Society one of larger numbers we also hope that you will either bring a new member or furnish us with the name and address of one.

Hoping to see you with us on the 15th, I am,

Sincerely yours,
WILLIAM E. MOORE,
President.
