The Proposed King of Spain.

Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen, about whose candidacy for the vacant kingship of Spain, France and Prussia are now girding themselves for war, is thus sketched in a late European paper.

He is a Catholic of a Protestant family, a German of French descent, a Prussian closely allied with Portugal, a private personage of royal position, Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen, is son and heir of Prince Charles-Anthony, who is the head of the youngest branch of that House of Hohenzollern of which King William of Prussia is the head. The branches of Hohenzollern-Hechingen, which is the second, and of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen, which is the third of the family scions, abdicated all their ulterior rights and claims to the Prussian crown in favor of the reigning Prussian house twenty years ago. Prince Charles-Anthony, born in 1811, had married, previously to this act of abdication, the Princess Josephine, of Baden, a daughter of Stephanie de Beauharnais, the adopted child of the first Napoleon and the aunt of the reigning Emperor of the French. By this Lady Prince Charles-Anthony has had several children His second son, Charles, born in 1839, was elected Prince of Roumania in 1866, and now rules that inchoate nation, as well as circumstances will permit His eldest son, Leopold, born in 1835, married in 1861 the Princess Antonia of Portugal, a younger sister of the reigning Portugese sovereign, Don Luis. Prince Leopold consequently is now in the very prime of life, but thirty-five years old; he has three young children, all sons; and though he has never been distinguished by any special brilliancy of mind, he has a fair reputation as a well conducted person for a prince and a titular colonel o cavalry in the Prussian service.

The Prince's grandmother was of the Beauharnais family, and he is nearly related, therefore, to Napoleon the Third.

A Great Swindle.

In addition to the enormous subsidies in lands and money voted to Railroad corporations in the Far West, the North American and European Railway, a semi-New England and semi-foreign corporation, has just come in for a share of the Congressional bounty. A bill has passed the House of Representatives appropriating the sum of $677,000 to the States of Massachusetts and Maine, as interest on the claims of those States for expenses incurred on account of the war of 1812, with the understanding that this amount is assigned by Maine, and Massachusetts for the use of the corporation just named. During the debate on this bill, it came out that the claims of Massachusetts (which in 1812 embraced Maine) for expenses on account of the last war with Great Britain, were fully adjusted and paid as early as 1830, that Massachusetts, not satisfied with that settlement, appealed to subsequent Congresses for a re-adjudtment, and that twenty-nine years afterward, (in 1859) when the "Republican" party came into power, her petitition was granted and the whole claim canceled by the government. Now, after the lapse of eleven years more, she insists that the interest is unpaid, and her representatives trump up a claim for a sum larger than that originally demanded by the State. Not a dollar of this claim, however, is to go to the people of Massachusetts and Maine. It is to line the pockets of the foreign and Yankee stockholders of the North American and European Railway company. This is one of the most inquitous of the monstrous jobs lobbied through Congress this session by the Railroad "ring" at Washington. It is nothing less than a deliberate robbery of the Treasury for the benefit of a gigantic corporation.—Bedford Gazette.

THE FARMERS AND THE WAR.—The Chicago Tribune thus addresses itself to the farmers of the Western States, in view of the war in Europe:

"The prospect for an increased demand in Europe for American breadstuffs, in consequence of the war, is advancing prices in this market, and, to a less extent, in those of New York and Liverpool. There is little doubt that quotations will be even higher than at present, as the recent rise in the currency quotations of our exportable products is but a little more than the advance in the gold premium. If the war in Europe should prove to be of considerable duration wheat may touch $1,75 and corn $1,10 per bushel in this market.

"But it should not be forgotten that the probabilities are that there will be but a brief contest. Modern war will be so terribly destructive and expensive that few nations which have large existing debts can indulge in the luxury for more than a few months, without being brought to the verge of bankruptsy. The war for the suppression of the rebellion lasted rather less than four years yet the south which had no debt to begin with was virtually beggared long before its close, and that was much the longest struggle that has occurred in what are properly entitled to be called the days of modern warfare.

"A nation which is overloaded with debt at the beginning of the contest, as France is to-day, and menaced by short crops and internal dissensions, may be able to keep up her spirits through a series of successes, but could scarcely pre-erve them after a few defeats in the field. The probabilities are that active hostilities betw en France and Prussia wil not be continued beyond one campaign, and may be ended by one encounter, as was the case at Sadowa.

"This is really an important point for the grain growers and dealers of the Northwest to consider. The crops of the present year will be bounteous, especially corn, and large quantities of the old crop yet remain in the cribs, while the elevators of this city contain more grain than is usual in this season of the year. The farmers will scarcely find it to their interest to hold back their grain in hopes of a large advance in the future. It will be much the safest, and will, in all probability, prove to be the the wiser course, to send their grain forward while they can realize good prices, than to wait till the opertunity has passed away with the return of peace."

SPRING CAMPAIGN OF 1870.

TERRIFIC TUMBLE IN GOLD!

Dry Goods away down below old prices!

REVOLUTION!

CARPET BAG LAYED OUT!

Sauve qui peut. Quem deus vult perdere.

Smash of Eighty-seven Dry Goods Houses in February!

ONE THOUSAND cases of Dry Goods thrown into the Auction Rooms every week

FOR THE ALMIGHTY DOLLAR.

Two Hundred Cases of Domestics every day

FOR THE EVERLASTING DOLLAR!

Crowding everything into the Auction Rooms. Converting every available article into Gold.

This is our battle-field—Here where we fight the old fogies, swindlers, high prices, monopoly and speculation—and here we shall some day in the not far distant future, crush them.

STAND FROM UNDER!

Read these unanswerable lines and save your money. Standard Prints, 10c; Standard Muslins, 12½c; all fifty cent Dress Goods at 25c; seventy-five cent Dress Goods at 37½c.

EVERYTHING DOWN ABOUT HALF.

Pins, 3c; Needles, 3c; Hooks and Eyes, 3c. Ribbons and Velvets less than half price. Laces and Embroideries about quarter price. Best 200 yard Spool Cotton, 3 and 4c.

The entire stock from the failure of C. H. Bowman & Co.—upwards of one thousand dozen Handk'fs, at about 28 cts. in the dollar. About half the Notion Stock of Payne, Foster & Brink, of 32 Leonard street, 32 cents in the dollar. Large share of Zinn, Aldrich & Co. Bulk of Loder Bros. & Co., Broadway. Thus they have gone down in the pitiless storm, and we have watched and embraced the hour of our opportunity to gather the fruits of the victory. Through the inevitable Auction Machines, they have gone crashing by hundreds, and thus in the general smash, we have with money, sleepless energy and brains, gathered in these grand and splendid drives.

THIS IS ABOUT THE STORY:

Here lies the power of the Almighty Dollar. We live in the Auction Rooms day and night. Through these avenues are cleared out day after day, thousands upon thousands. It is the principle of buying under the relentless hammer of the Auctioneer, for a half, quarter, or tenth their value, entire stocks, and in turn giving them to the people at a small advance, that has built up this enormous business.

A few short years ago we came out of the fighting ranks—penniless; aye, poorer than poverty itself, and to-day we are the monarchs of the Auction Rooms.

Like sheep we have driven them. We have the inside track, and shall hold it.—The old tale, "Goods at Cost," avails nothing when we give them away at one-fourth gold cost. Everything below its market value. The Syren Song of the swindler is played. They must learn how to buy and how to sell, or go down. Everything down upon the panic basis. Twelve dozen Buttons for 4 cts. Ante Bellum prices no where. Why waste your money when you can save it? Such goods at such prices will at once and forever drive into obscurity every man, who, in these dark days of panic and poverty, has the face to ask a profit upon his goods. Eternal curses upon a man who would rob the people now. Linen Handkerchiefs, 6c. Hair Nets, 3c. Envelopes, 4c. for 25. Best Writing Paper, 10c. Hosiery in every variety, about 40 in the dollar. Terrific breakdown in Notions.

White Goods from failure of McDonald and McCauley, 114 Walker street, 40 cents in the dollar.

And thus it is that we are enabled to clear out goods at less than other merchants can buy them. Carpets and Oil Cloths—grand panic here. Then on with the ball. Deal where you can get the best goods for the least money, and call upon us often and get posted.

Read! Remember! and Never Forget!
