Frederick District.

The Democratic voters of Frederick Election District are requested to assemble in Primary Meeting, in the Basement of the Court House, in Frederick city, ON SATURDAY, the 3d of September, at 2 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of selecting delegates to their Congressional Convention, which will meet in Frederick city, on Thursday, the 15th of September, to nominate a candidate for Congress.

THEIR MANHOOD!

We have had any amount of cant in the radical press, and from radical spouters and demagogues, about "manhood suffrage," and, manhood generally, as appertaining to the negro, in connection with the white man. The demagogues of radicalism have represented the negro as the twin brother of the white man; and they have, in their fraternal devotion, insisted that the only difference between the two races was in the surface coloring of the skin—the result, they maintained, of climatic influences. —Well, why did they not carry out their hypocritical professions at the radical county convention, on Saturday last, and pay due deference to negro "manhood"? If they have a bill of sale of all the negro or colored votes in this county, then, at the next election about one-third of the radical vote will come from the colored "manhoods." But what was the treatment these poor dupes of radical scallawags received in their political equality convention last Saturday?

First, only three out of twenty-five were sent as delegates from this district, to the county convention. Some of the districts sent no "manhoods" to the convention! Still, several of them were represented in part by the "new element." Now, when the delegates representing fifteen districts (two were unrepresented) did, by a rule adopted, each select for itself one member on a committee on permanent organization, not a single negro was placed on the committee. Some sharp fellow, anxious that "manhood" should not be outraged, discovered the fatal error, and moved that three colored brethren be added, as honorary members of the committee. This committee finally reported one white president, one white and one black vice president, one white and one colored secretary. Thus the organization was completed. Then came nominations for delegates to the Congressional convention. Some twenty or more names were put in nomination.—Any member had a right to put any person from any district in nomination, yet we are not aware that even one manhood or brother was put in nomination; at all events it is quite certain no negro or colored man was elected as a delegate to the Congressional convention. Seven principal and seven alternates were elected, but the convention never said negro or colored man once. Was this treating "manhood" with respect? was this treating "brothers" with fraternal courtesy, not to say—affection?

On the main question—who shall represent the interests and rights of their race in Congress, no colored man in Frederick county is permitted to have a voice in the selection of the representative. How is this? A few colored men were sent to the county convention. They were complimented with little convention offices. Several of the "patient, industrious and patriotic race," who saved the Union, are placed on the radical county central committee, where they can be voted down at pleasure; but on the delegation to the Congressional convention, where one independent negro delegate might settle, by his one vote, the political destiny of some aspiring radical demagogue and scallawag, NEGRO MANHOOD IS ENTIRELY EXCLUDED!! If the poor negroes are so very blind that they cannot see through all this transparent radical knavery and hypocrisy, it affords only additional evidence of their unfitness for the exercise of political power.—If they are the mere tools of corrupt and ambitious men, then their ballot may prove the curse and ruin of the country. If, however, they have the intelligence which would fit them for voters, they cannot fail to see through the disgusting hypocrisy of the radical leaders; and, if they have in their hearts the natural instincts of a genuine manhood, they cannot fail to resent the contempt they have received at the hands of their pretended friends, in their exclusion from any say in the selection of a candidate for Congress.

DID NOT HEAR THE THUNDER.

It is a remarkable fact that neither the Examiner nor the Republican has heard of the condemnation of Radical villany, which in indignant thunder tones is reverberating all over the country from the North Carolina ballot box. A cowardly subservient attempt to justify the outrages of Holden and Grant prior to the election, informed the readers of the Examiner that an election was about to be held in that State; but neither the Examiner nor the Republican has dared —although a month has elapsed—to let their readers know of the terrible rebuke which the freemen of the "Old North State" have administered to would be tyrants and base scallawags. Come, Gentlemen, let your readers know the result.

Primary Meetings.

* In accordance with a resolution passed at a meeting of the Democratic Conservative Central Committee of Frederick county, in Frederick city on Saturday last, the 13th instant, the Democratic Conservative voters in the different Election Districts of Frederick county, are hereby requested to hold Primary Meeting in their respective Districts on Saturday, the 3rd of September, to send delegates to a County Convention to be held in Frederick city on the 10th day of September, 1870, at 10 o'clock A. M., to select delegates to a Congressional Convention to be held in Frederick city on Thursday, the 15th day of September, to nominate a candidate for Congress in the Fourth Congressional District of Maryland. Let there be a full attendance. By order,

THOS. H. O'NEAL,
Chairman Dem. Con. Central Committee.

5,000 Scallawags and Carpet-Baggers.

In an able review of the difficulties through which the Conservative party of Virginia had to pass to their triumphant deliverence from radical domination in 1869, and a dispassionate consideration of the responsibilities of the present situation, and the obligations imposed on Conservatives in this fall's elections, the Central Executive Committee of the State makes this statement:

Figures show (in round numbers) that of 101,000 votes cast for Wells for Governor, 97,000 were colored votes, solidly cast, leaving about 5,000 whites as the Republican party, so-called; for the poor negroes were the inpaid capital with which they boasted they would begin the campaign, and with which they hoped to disfranchise and dispoil the white population of the State. And the calculation is still the same. The scheme will be quietly pursued in every county, town, and township, to organize this vote, and cast it in compact mass in the election."

Now, notwithstanding these 97,000 negro votes, the Conservative party carried the State by 18,000 majority Only think of 5,000 whites, with the aid of the solid negro vote seeking to rule the great commonwealth of Virginia. But the scallawags were disappointed. At least 100,000 white men voted solid against the iniquity, and supported by many negroes carried the State by 18,000 majority over the Radical faction.

In Maryland the white scallawags are more numerous than in our sister State; but here as there, their only hope of carrying a county, town or district is by voting solid the poor negroes, whom the radicals here as in Virginia consider as so much inpaid capital. Our Democratic friends in this Congressional district should remember, that the Radical press and leaders boast of their "inpaid capital"—that is the solid negro vote—as the basis of their anticipated success in the approaching Congressional as well as in all future elections for county officers; but by strict organization and a judicious canvass we shall succeed, as the Conservatives of Virginia did, last year, in defeating the white Radicals notwithstanding their inpaid capital in negro votes. Although the State is safe from the control of Radicalism, even with the aid of the solid negro vote, still it would be folly for us to suppose that we can maintain our present universal supremacy—no matter how well organized, or howsoever enthusiastic our rank and file, without a strong infusion of common sense in our councils and our policy, which at all times dictates the propriety of securing, by honorable means, all the elements of victory.

EXCURSION TO NIAGARA FALLS.

Last summer a number of gentlemen belonging to "the Maryland Editorial Association," accepting the courtesy of the B. & O. R. R. Co., enjoyed a delightful excursion, in special cars, to Jordan's White Sulphur Springs. The President of the Association, the Hon. G. W. Wilson, now informs the members through W. H. Ruby, Esq., corresponding secretary, that through the kindness of Hon. James C. Clarke, the authorities of the Penna. Northern Central Railway, have generously tendered the Association an excursion over the line of that road from the city of Baltimore to Niagara Falls. Special cars, for the exclusive use of those joining in the excursion, will leave Calvert Station, in Baltimore, at 7.55 o'clock on Tuesday morning, the 6th of September. Those of the editorial fraternity, who, like ourself, and our cotemporaries in Frederick, have remained at their posts of duty, all through this heated term will, no doubt, gladly seek the mental and physical relaxation which the social reunion, and the grand scenery on the line of the Northern Central will afford.

NORTH CAROLINA.—The height of impudence has been attained by the Radicals of the Old North State. After calling out negro troops to carry the election, and obtaining U. S. Regulars to help them, after murdering and imprisoning some of the best citizens to carry their point, they were beaten by twenty thousand majority. The last news from there is that a deputation is to visit Beast Butler to see if some means cannot be devised to get the Democratic Congressmen who were elected out, and the defeated Rads in their places. The reason they allege for this is the strangest of all—that the Radicals were intimidated! It sounds like one of Æsop's fables, the wolf and the lamb.

Among the other charges that that reliable, just and immaculate Radical Congressman, R. R. Butler, of Tennessee, will be called upon to answer are forgery in absorbing pensions, mail robbery, by which correspondence between the pensioners and Pension Department was intercepted, and perjury for taking the iron-clad oath to practice before the Court of Claims. We would recommend him to get up a voucher that he is "regular" in his political habits, and get certain Radical journals hereabout to whitewash him. Their argent polish has a wonderful disinfecting power.

WHO CAN BEAT IT?—Mrs. Charlotte Stull and youngest daughter, residing near this place, gathered during the late season, which continued six weeks, 987 quarts of blackberries, or an average of 164½ quarts per week. Besides these, they gathered a considerable quantity of Raspberries. Mrs. Stull is a very industrious woman as the above statement plainly indicates.—Valley Register.

UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD—IMMENSE SALES OF LAND.—The aggregate sales of Union Pacific Railroad lands for the year ending July 26th, 1870, was $945,531; average price, $4.60 per acre. On July 29th, the receipts for sales of land were upwards of $20,000 for that day.

Governor Holden, of North Carolina, arrested the editor of the Raleigh Sentinel without authority of law, and the people of the State have elected a Legislature which will impeach the Governor and remove him with the authority of law.

A Radical candidate for Congress in Arkansas originally went there as "bones" in a minstrel show.

The European War.

THE BATTLES AROUND METZ!

Terrible Fighting and Great Slaughter of Men!

The despatches from the seat of war in Europe are still conflicting as to the situation to the armies of France and Prussia. The following is a summary of the events of last week's operations:

After McMahon, who commanded the French right wing, was defeated at Saarbruck, the main French army under command of Marshal Bazaine commenced retreating. On Sunday, the 14th, the Prussians under Prince Frederick Charles and Gen. Steinmetz, attacked the French west of Metz in order to intercept their retreat. The battle lasted all day, and both sides suffered severely. The French, in this day's encounter, succeeded in repulsing the Prussians.

On Monday the fighting was renewed, the Prussians having been reinforced, and again night closed upon a battle field covered with the dying and dead.

On Tuesday and Wednesday the contest waged with unabated vigor the Prussians all the time steadily extending their left flank in order to sever the French commander's communication with Paris, and thus prevent him from receiving reinforcements and supplies. Wednesday night still found the two armies confronting one another in almost the same position.

On Thursday morning the battle was renewed with terrible violence. The French army, about 100,000, strong was combating two Prussian armies that numbered 200,000 or more men. All day the deadly conflict raged at and around Gravelotte, a village situated between Metz and Verdun, the French endeavoring to secure their retreat on the latter place. It was to prevent this that the Prussian commanders fought so hard for five days, and when night closed in on the scene, the Prussians were masters of the situation, having forced the French army to retire on Metz, and thus seemingly severing their communication with Paris, and rendering their situation perilous. But the carnage was terrible. The annals of war will hardly furnish a bloodier record than the five days fighting around Metz. It is said 100,000 Prussians fell in these battles, while the French losses—though not so heavy from the fact that they were fighting behind fortifications and breastworks—was also very great.

For miles around the dead and dying covered the ground. So severely crippled were both armies at the close of Thursday's battle, that both were compelled to rest from their terrible and bloody work. King William writes to his Queen that he shrinks from mentioning his losses, so horrible have they been.

Since then we have had no news of any further fighting; and were our wishes and prayers gratified there would be an end to the slaughter of so many human beings, and the two nations would settle their difficulties and be at peace with each other.

THAYER'S NEW CIRCUS COMING.—We take occasion to remind our readers that the Circus of Dr. Jas. L. Thayer will exhibit in Frederick on next Monday, the 29th inst., afternoon and night.—This is an entirely new Circus, composed of the best stud of horses, most celebrated artists, and gives one of the best and most varied entertainments of anything of the kind travelling. Dr. Thayer is the present manager, an old hand at the business, who will produce anything he advertises and that of the best. This veteran showman has won for himself an enviable name, and he is bound, if talent and good animals combined can make a first class show, not to be behind the times in the least.—Conducted, as it always has been, with lavish liberality, coupled with never yielding scrutiny as to the faultless character of its attractions, it is now recommended to our people as an entertainment worthy of patronage. Some of the artists are familiar to the public, and, therefore, need no words of praise at our hands. The wagon and fixtures are all new, the horses fresh, while the tent is of a capacity to comfortably accommodate large audiences in any weather. A splendid band accompanies it to enliven the entertainment, the music of which alone is worth the price of admission. Everywhere this great circus has appeared, the press speaks of it in flattering terms. Remember the day and date, Monday, August 29th. Admission fifty cents. Children under 10 years, twenty-five cents. Doors open at 1 and 7 o'clock p. m.

TERRIBLY BURNED.—Mr. Jacob Beard, merchant at Daysville, two miles west of Liberty, was badly burned on Monday night last, 12th instant, under the following circumstances:—Having occasion to fill the lamp, he went into the cellar, and with the wick still burning, unscrewed the top and putting a funnel in the lamp, proceeded to fill it with "Petro" oil from a pint cup. The gas ignited immediately, setting fire to his clothes and burning his right thigh, side and arm—the latter very badly, the skin and flesh hanging in strings on it. His recovery is considered doubtful. It seems strange that although these accidents are almost of daily occurrence, persons will continue to fill their lamps with oil while burning. It is time too, that "Petro" oil is regarded as dangerous.—Banner of Liberty.

MEETING OF THE REGISTERS.—The officers of registration will meet at the Court House on Saturday, the 10th of September, for consultation.

Persons desiring to avail themselves of the advantage of insuring their lives, can do so by calling on Mr. Koontz, in Frederick city.

CENSUS.—The official returns of the census statistics of Frederick will disappoint many persons, who have heretofore supposed that we had a population of over 10,000. There has been, however, no foundation upon which to base such an increase. The following are the official statistics given by Deputy Marshal R. H. Goldsborough:

Paris vs. Richmond.

The loss of a battle in which but a single wing of an immense army was engaged, say 40,000 out of 150,000 men, two hundred miles off, has thrown Paris, a city of two millions of souls, into apparent consternation. An easy promenade there by the Prussians in the course of a few weeks is anticipated by many journals in this country and in Great Britain. If such an event is realized it will strongly contrast the American with the French style of fighting In 1861 the United States called out as large an army to conquer the South, which did not have to exceed six millions of white people, as the Prussians have to overthrow the Empire of France with its forty millions of people. The objective point was Richmond, the Southern Capitol. It was but one hundred and twenty miles from Washington. Hardly any regular fortifications existed until the confines of Richmond were approached. Yet, with over one million of men in arms, we failed to capture Richmond for four long years. Army after army was launched against it, commanded by our ablest officers. They were repeatedly beaten and turned back. Such was the way in which the American citizens in the South, who were opposed to the Government, contended for their capital. Unlike Paris, it did not have in its own population men sufficient to combat an army of hundreds of thousands. But the Southern people were desperately in earnest, and fought in that spirit. If Paris is taken in a short time, it will be because the French nation is not united, and will not rally in behalf of the Government They have resources enough to keep all Europe at bay for four years, if they were united among themselves.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The political outlook in Ohio is very favorable for the Democracy. It is conceded that all the Districts in that State at present represented in Congress by Democrats will return Democrats at the October election. The Radicals concede three additional Districts, while they admit several more to be in doubt. The Democracy will gain not less than six and probably nine in the Congressional delegation, and from present appearances are likely to elect their State ticket Within the last seven years the Radical majority in Ohio has been reduced something over ninety-five thousand, and it is altogether probable that it will be wiped out entirely in October. Let the Democracy of Pennsylvania be alive to the importance of the occasion, and the old Keystone State will not be behind the Buckeye State in overthrowing Radical rule.—Pittsburg Post.
