Action Pends On Potts Estate

First Md. Soldier To Fall In War Left Fund

Proceedings over the estate of Corporal J. E. Potts, native of Church Hill and first Marylander to fall in the World War are now in progress before the Orphans' Court of Kent County with Congressman T .Alan Goldsborough representing heirs of the deceased.

An administrator named to settle the estate of the deceased died several years ago, since which time a will has been found, which bequeathed most of Corporal Pott's estate to Mrs. Julia E. Clark, of Betterton, who has also died.

Congressman Goldsborough represents Fred A. Wallace, athletic director at Haverford College, a nephew of the deceased corporal, and Earle Potts and and William Wallace, also nephews. It is reported that there is a fund of $10,000 with interest in Washington due the deceased. Congressman Goldsborough asked appointment as administrator of the estate in order that he may secure the $10,000 for the legal heirs. The Court will render a decision later.

CAPT. ROE BAGS BUCK

Capt. William T. Roe, now assigned to the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit with headquarters in Cumberland where he moved his family on Dec. 26, was among the Queen Anne's Countians who got themselves a deer this year in Pennsylvania.

The Record learns at this late day that Capt. Roe bagged an 8-point buck in Potter County the first week in December.

Wade Arledge Dies On South Carolina Visit

Prominent Kent Islander Is Victim Of Heart Attack At Rock Hill

Stricken with heart disease on a Christmas holiday spent in his boyhood town, Wade Arledge, 57, of Chester died Sunday morning shortly after midnight at Rock Hill, S. C.

Mr. Arledge and his wife, the former Miss Anna Phillips, had gone to South Carolina for a brief visit with Mr. Arledge's two children by a former marriage. On the return trip on Saturday evening Mr. Arledge suffered a heart attack while driving.

His wife took the wheel and stopped at a filling station where a physician who was summoned administered first aid. The couple returned to Rock Hill but Mr. Arledge died a few hours later at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Carl Hovis.

Earlier on Saturday his brother-in-law, Owens L. Phillips of Centreville, had received a post card from Mr. Arledge telling of his successful arrival in South Carolina and ending with the cryptic message, "All's well—Wade."

Mr. Arledge was cheery and friendly in disposition and was widely known on Kent Island and the upper Eastern Shore. He was an agent for the distribution of seafood in Queen Anne's and Kent counties and in Delaware. He was also active in promoting the success of the Stevensville Opera House in which he was engaged as motion picture operator. In 1933 he was appointed Justice of the Peace, filling the office for about a year.

Mr. Arledge was born in Columbia, S. C., April 22, 1878, and was named after Wade Hampton ,the former Governor of the Palmetto State. When he was six years of age his parents moved to Rock Hill where Mr. Arledge lived for about 25 years.

He was employed as a musician on the James Avon Floating Theater for a dozen years and traveled up and down the South Atlantic coast and Chesapeake Bay on that boat. Following his marriage to Miss Phillips in 1920 he made his home at Chester.

Mr. Arledge became a member of Centreville Lodge, No. 180, A. F. & A. M. in 1927. He was also a member and a trustee of Stevensville Methodist Protestant Church.

Besides his widow he is survived by two children, William H. Arledge and Mrs. Carl Hovis, both of Rock Hill.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rock Hill Lodge of Masons on Tuesday with interment in Rock Hill cemetery.

HARRISON—FONTAINE

A wedding prominent in Eastern Shore social circles is that of Miss Alice Elizabeth Fontaine, daughter of State Superivsor of schools and Mrs. E. Clarke Fontaine, of Chestertown, to Mr. Robert Butler Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Norris Harrison, of Centreville and Rydal, Pa., which took place at the Fontaine home on Saturday, December 28. The Rev. J. W. Walker, headmaster of Meadowbrook School and rector of the Protestant Episcopal Church at Rydal, officiated.

Miss Mary Ellen Robinson, of Lancaster, Pa., was maid of honor. Mr. Harrison was attended by C. Leland Harrison, his brother.

Following the reception at the home of the bride's parents, the young couple left for a brief honeymoon trip.

Mrs. Harrison is a graduate of Chestertown High School and a former student at Hood College, Frederick, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison will live at State College, Pa., where the bridegroom is completing a college course.

COPPAGE—LEAGER

Miss Miriam H. Leager, teacher at Ingleside school, and Mr. Arthur L. Coppage, were married on Monday, Dec. 23, at 5 p. m. in the M. E. Parsonage at Denton with the Rev. Milton Andrews performing the ceremony.

The bride was attired in aqua blue with brown accessories and carried a bouquet of snapdragons. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Leager and is a graduate of Towson State Normal School. Following her graduation she taught near Washington, D. C. before returning to this county to take up her assignment at Ingleside.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Clay Coppage, of near Sudlersville.

Following the ceremony they motored to Washington on their wedding trip. They will reside at Price where the groom has accepted a position.

MOORE—SEYMOUR

Mrs. Maude B. Seymour and Samuel Bernard Moore, of Centreville were quietly married in the Methodist Protestant parsonage in Easton Tuesday evening at 10:15 by Rev. Dr. Edgar Reed.

Their attendants were Miss Katherine Seymour, daughter of the bride, and Spencer C. Hammond.

Mr. Moore is employed at the Spencer C. Hammond store and Mrs. Moore is cashier at the American Store.

The couple will make their home in the vicinity of Centreville.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO MEET

The Centreville Woman's Club will hold their regular meeting at the Little Theatre Monday afternoon at 2:30.

Receiving Congratulations

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Jester, of Queenstown, are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of an 8½ pound girl, born December 28. The little one has been named Winnie Mae after her two grandmothers. Mrs. Jester will be remembered as Miss Madeline Higdon, a graduate of Centreville High School. Mother and daughter are getting along nicely.

—o—

Mr. and Mrs. H. Kennard Lane, of Centreville, are being congratulated upon the arrival of a daughter. The youngster was born on Christmas afternoon at Easton Emergency Hospital. Mrs. Lane before her marriage was Miss Isabel Butler and taught at Stevensville High School.

Card Party Set For Wednesday

Committees Named For Little Theatre Event

The community card party to be held at the Little Theatre in Centreville next Wednesday evening, January 8, is to get under way promptly at 8:15, according to word from Mrs. E. O. Willis, general chairman of the event.

A Happy New Year To You All---Everyone

Facts Are Cited On Farming In Queen Anne's

Extension Service Book Says Dairying Advancing. Better Farming Seen

Marking the second ten years in the history of the Extension Service in Maryland an attractive 180-page booklet, "The Passing of a Decade" has just been issued by the Extension Service of the University of Maryland.

Slightly more than half the booklet, which is edited by Dr. Thomas B. Symons, director of the Service, is devoted to consideration of crops and farm activities on a state-wide basis. The remainder summarizes the argicultural aspect of the various counties individually.

Speaking of Queen Anne's county the booklet states:

"Although this country ranks 17th in land area with 233,000 acres, it is second in size of farms with an average of 143 acres. More than half of the farm land in the county is under a landlord-tenant system which is a factor in the development and improvement of agriculture.

"Dairy farming is still advancing although several lean years have been experienced. The bulk of the fluid milk is shipped to Philadelphia through the Inter-State Milk Producers Association.

"Poultry raising has increased in the last few years and the county ranks 6th in total number of poultry raised. It ranks first in production of sheep and wool, indicating the diversified system of farming practiced.

"The main crops are wheat, corn and canning crops. Total benefit payments of $81,000 on wheat adjustment contracts and $50,000 on corn-hog contracts have aided materially in relieving financial obligations of farmers.

"The farmers of the county have shown a fine spirit of cooperation with the Extension Service."

A list of some sixty items of better farm practices installed or continued during the past ten years is cited, such as the introduction of purebred rams and sires, development of certified wheat, barley and potatoes, improvement in quality of lambs marketed, eradication of poultry disease by blood testing, increased use of green manure and legume crops, and better planned and constructed farm buildings.

In the table of County Agents which have served Queen Anne's are H. S. Koehler, 1914, 1916; E. A. White, 1916; Oliver C. Jones, 1917-1923; Ernest W. Grubb, 1923-1933; and Kenneth W. Baker, 1933 to date.

The record of Home Demonstration Agents includes Miss L. E. Allen, 1917-1918; Miss M. L. Byrn, 1919-1920; no agent from 1920 to 1935; and Miss Isabel Bewick, 1935.

Police Court

It cost Jim Taylor, Centreville Negro, a little more than $12 for a turkey that he did not eat after he had settled his account with the law in Police Court before Magistrate J. West Thompson Monday night.

Taylor was found guilty of stealing a turkey from the American Stores on Christmas Eve and was fined $5 and costs which he paid.

Vincent Harris, Centreville Negro, also found store goods expensive when he carried away without the usual formality of payment when he was assessed $5 and costs, or a total of about $12, for stealing a box of groceries from the store of Spencer C. Hammond on Christmas Eve. Like Taylor, Harris did not even have the groceries to show he had paid his bill in court.

Kirby Bryan of Grasonville escaped with a suspended sentence on payment of costs for socking Edna Dawkins on Christmas night. He also paid $5 and costs for drunkenness and disorderly conduct in the course of which he battled officers sent to arrest him and later broke a window in jail.

In the second case to come out of Sandy Bottom since the November Term of Court cooling process Buck Barnes, Negro, went to jail in default of $10 and costs for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Perry Ringgold, Burrisville Negro, was given a suspended sentence for assault and battery on Steve Teat, his previous record of good conduct saving him from a greater penality.
