UP AND DOWN THE Eastern Shore

Barytone May Quit Air

Easton—Denied the privilege of closing his radio programs with the song "Good Night, Mother" because the Federal Radio Commission says signing off with these words constitutes a personal communication, a practice banned on the air, John Charles Thomas, opera barytone and summer resident of Talbot County, has threatened to discontinue his program. The singer's mother lives at Towson.

To Reenact Decatur Exploit

Snow Hill—Worcester Countians who have made a shrine of the birthplace of Stephen Decatur, near here, have learned with interest that the Commodore's greatest exploit—burning of the frigate Philadelphia under the guns of the Tripolitan forts in the war with the Barbary Corsairs in 1804—will be reenacted as a part of the June Week ceremonies at the Naval Academy.

Sleep-Walker Falls

Chestertown—Believed to have been walking in his sleep, Lewin Wethered Wickes, Jr., 20 year old son of the late Judge Lewin Wethered Wickes of the Second Judicial Circuit, fell from a fourth story window of Pinkney Hall at St. John's College, Annapolis, where he is a freshman. He sustained injuries to his chin and knee and was rendered unconscious.

Faculty "Plot" Charged

Elkton—Dr. Norman W. Cameron, of Elkton, who last fall was dismissed as president of West Chester Teachers' College when Gov. H. Earle of Pennsylvania reorganized the Board of Trustees, still has his "friends", it was indicated last week at the installation of his successor, Prof. Chrales W. Swope. Signed "The Committee", anonymous circular letters reached 3300 students in which two men and three women faculty members were charged with hatching a plot to bring about Dr. Cameron's dismissal.

Crack Orchestra Visits

Salisbury—Devotees of terpsichore on the lower Shore had an opportunity Monday night to dance to the strains of Ozzie Nelson's orchestra. Accompanying the famed radio orchestra leader was Harriet Hilliard, vocalist, who in private life is Mrs. Ozzie.

Summers Sits Tight

Easton — Notified by State Roads Commission Chairman H. E. Tabler that he must either give up his job as Chairman of the State Central Committee for Talbot County or resign as County Roads Engineer, J. Russell Summers replied: "I don't intend to quit either job."

Robot Aids Drys

Federalsburg—A mechanical "man" electrically driven, was placed on display here over the week-end by the W. C. T. U. Named "Dr. Wise", the robot turns the pages of a book entitled "The Evils of Alcohol", rings a bell and gesticulates.

Buxton Trial Postponed

Chestertown—The trial of Mrs. Thelma Buxton, who allegedly slew her mother-in-law with a hatchet, has again been postponed from May 18 to May 25. Pressure of court activities in the Second Judicial Circuit was given as the reason for postponement. Mrs. Buxton is in the Kent jail pending trial.

Dr. Maddox to Princeton

Princess Anne—Dr. William P. Maddox, a native of this town who for the past seven years has been an instructor at Harvard will become assistant professor of politics in the school of Public and International affairs at Princeton University next September.

State Gets Park

Elkton—A 350-acre farm in Elk Neck originally bequeathed to the Wilmington Area Boy Scout Council by the late Dr. William L. Abbott on condition that it be converted into a forest reserve has been diverted by codicil to the State Forestry Department of Maryland for a state park. The scout council lacked sufficient funds to carry out the work. Dr. Abbott was a big game hunter, scientist and explorer.

Singer for the Major

Crisfield—Stanley L. Laird, oil truck driver who has charmed Crisfield audiences with his splendid baritone voice, has been granted an audition on Major Bowes' amateur hour.

Midshipmen Cruise

St. Michaels—With 14 midshipmen and 2 sailors, the "Alligator", 50-ft. ketch built recently at Norfolk, put into St. Michaels Harbor on the first of the spring training cruises from the Naval Academy. Capt. C. W. Haywood U. S. N., was in command.

Sexton Hangs Self

Port Deposit—Eli Coulson, 69, for twenty years sexton and superintendent of West Nottingham Presbyterian church, hanged himself from a tree in the church cemetery. He is survived by his wife and nine children.

Plane Locates Lost Lad

Cambridge—While posses scoured the neighborhood of Blackwater river in search of two-year-old Wallace LeRoy Schoupe who had wandered from his home an airplane piloted by Hubert H. Wright swept low over the region, located the lad who was none the worse for a night spent in the woods.

Frampton Memorial Award

Federalsburg—As a memorial to their son, Henry A. Frampton, who was killed last year in an automobile accident, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome J. Frampton have placed a gold character medal in competition to be awarded each year to the student senior at Federalsburg High School who best exemplified character and worth throughout the four year course.

Regatta Dates Set

Chestertown—The American Power Boat Association has sanctioned Friday and Saturday, Aug. 14-15 as the dates for the annual Chester River Yacht and Country Club regatta.

Queen Spurns Trappe

Trappe—Residents of this little town located at the northern approach to the Choptank River Bridge registered a protest last week when the Preakness Queen and her entourage sped by at a fifty-mile-an-hour clip without pausing to rub elbows with the townsfolk.

Farmers Asked To Set Aside Nesting Cover

Game Warden Makes Plea For Birds In Planting, Mowing

With planting time just ahead E. Lee LeCompte, State Game Warden, has made an appeal to farmers to aid birds by setting aside cover for nesting, planting bird feed patches and using flushing bars when mowing.

Birds, especially the native bob white, are beneficial and essential to farming. Wild life can be attracted and increased by providing proper cover and feed.

Cover can be furnished with little expense or inconvenience when farmers are cleaning up land in the spring. Suggestions: Placing brush piles or leaving a strip of ungrazed blue grass, timothy, clover or alfalfa near a fence or a woods; leaving gulleys with briar bushes, ragweed or other growth; planting bottoms when washes occur with willows, osage, buck brush, wild plum locusts, blackberry or any tree or brush which spreads by suckering.

Bird feed patches should be planted between June 1 and August 15. The Conservation department recommends areas along fence rows or near woods seeded with clover, sesbania, rape, buckwheat, millet, cowpeas, blackeyed peas, kaffir corn, sugar corn, sorghum, field corn and sunflower seed.

Actually three or four of these varieties planted together in a strip will furnish excellent cover if left uncut through the winter and will also furnish food when natural food is scarce. A number of small patches rather than one large one is recommended.

Those who wish to cooperate but do not feel justified in furnishing the seed should get in touch with John W. Perry, county game wadden, Mr. LeCompte suggests.

As thousands of nests are destroyed annually during the mowing season farmers are asked to use a flushing bar.

This is a simple device and saves the nests of birds by sweeping low over the ground well in advance of the cutting bar, thereby flushing the sitting bird from the nest before he and her nest and eggs are destroyed.

It may consist of a long pole attached across the yoke on which may be draped chains or burlap sacks weighted to keep in position or ropes at the ends of which old bolts or weights of some kind are placed just far enough above the ground to make a noise.

In this way birds will be flushed from their nests before the cutting bar reaches the point where the nest is located.

If the driver will raise the knives and leave a small patch uncut when the bird rises from the ground great benefit will be derived.

Any device sweeping low over the grass or grain will accomplish the purpose of flushing the bird.

Cooperation in any of these matters will be appreciated by the Conservation department and will be beneficial to farmers.
