THE WORLD WE LIVE IN

Farley On Leave

Washington — Postmaster General James A. Farley is to take a leave of office from his Cabinet position for three months to direct President Roosevelt's campaign for reelection. Farley does not step out until August 1 by which time he will have completed the Postoffice report for the fiscal year that ended July 1.

The Dust Bowl

Washington—With the Middle West again turned into a giant dust bowl from lack of rain, grasshoppers and intense heat that reared up as high as 120 degrees President Roosevelt plans to tour the region in August for a personal view of the devastation. Meanwhile the administration is seeking means to relieve a million drought sufferers.

John D. Is 97

Lakewood, N. J.—John D. Rcokefeller, oil magnate of an earlier generation celebrated his 97th birthday by cutting a giant cake and actually eating a slice of it. For years the venerable philanthropist has followed only a simple diet with cake strictly taboo.

Sparing Soap

Fort Knox, Ky.—If the soldiers at the army post here seem dirty blame it on the drought. They are limited to two baths a week because of water shortage.

Add Home Risks

New York—Rose Sachs was sitting on a sill washing a window when the sash cord broke. The falling window kept her a prisoner four flights above the street until the police emergency squad came to her rescue with a crowbar.

Cops Squared Matters

New York—Three Negro musicians arrested as junk men because one thumped on a washboard came away from jail richer instead of poorer. The cops liked their music so well they were hired for a police outing.

Speedy Speed Cop

Copiague, L. I.—Sidney W. Cook, asked to try out a car for a friend, pushed it up to eighty-five miles an hour on a highway near here when a motor cop spied him. The officer had to pin his own speedometer at ninety-two miles to catch the speeder. Both used new Ford cars but the police had a special engine in his wagon.

Kill Joys

New York—Five bandits turned the New York Good Humor Company into a bad humored company when they tied up the office force and got away with about $1500 loot.

Bonus Bonds Not Seizable

Adams, Mass.—A Federal Court here decided that veterans' bonus bonds are exempt from seizure when they ordered Herbert Mahar released from a 10-day jail sentence for refusing to use his $750 bonus money to pay a bill of $300.

Cost Of Progress

Moscow—Because the famous triumphal arch marking Napoleon's retreat from Russia hampers traffic the Soviet government is planning to tear down the arch, long a mecca for sightseers.

Learn By Doing

Long Beach, L. I.—Fire Commissioner John J. McElligott of New York whose job requires him annually to advise a sane Fourth, will be able to talk from experience hereafter when he preaches about the dangers of fire crackers on the Fourth of July. He was injured by a fire cracker this year, but thus far he hasn't told how ti happened.

Neither Safe Nor Sane

New York—Although deaths from fireworks numbered only six the United States experienced a casualty list for July 4 of nearly four hundred fatalities, the worst since 1931 and greater than any other of the past ten years. Automobiles and drownings caused three-fourths of the deaths.

Hot Dogs

Atlantic City, N. J.—Comfort is better than style to traffic policeman Donald Rockford. It was a hot day, he had heavy traffic to handle and his feet hurt so he cooled his "dogs" with bedroom slippers, fur lined.

No Relief For Cupid

Jefferson, Mo.—Persons on public relief are not eligible for matrimony, rules the Cole county court. The bench and relief workers maintained that those who could afford to get married did not need relief.

Land Without A Country

Denver—A strip of land containing two thousand square miles in the middle of Colorado is to be annexed to the United States. The area happened to lie between the Louisiana Purchase and the Mexican cession and it was taken for granted that it belonged to the nation until some one checked the records. It will join up in August.

Adding Horsepower To Cars

Zurich, Switz.—France's folded arms strike has a stay-at-home parallel here. Swiss auto owners objecting to gas at 50c a gallon are staying home in protest, or having their cars drawn by horses.

FLASH!

ROTARIANS ALL WET

Captain Harry Dill's "Annie L. Wingate", with 18 Centreville Rotarians aboard, grounded in Halley's Hole off Jacob's Nose near Camp Gunston at 11 o'clock last night.

Several came ashore in Capt. Harry's rowboat, and others waded.

There were no casualties.

Senator Lloyd Opens Race For Congress With First Visit Here

Wicomico Countian Calls On Republican Leaders; Will Be Back

State Senator O. Straughn Lloyd of Wicomico County, minority leader in the upper branch of the General Assembly and Republican candidate for Congress against T. Alan Goldsborough, Democratic incumbent, provided the first ripple on the political waters in Queen Anne's County last week when he came here to met local leaders of his party.

Senator Lloyd had no speech to make, no broadside to fire and nothing of a disturbing nature to reveal. He simply came to shake a few hands, get acquainted, and study the lay of the land.

He came to Centreville late last Thursday afternoon, spent the night here, and continued his sentiment-sounding talks until noon Friday. Then he returned to Salisbury.

"I'll be back again, probably many times before November rolls around, and maybe I'll have a speech or two to make when the campaign warms up", he told his friends here.

From the comments of those with whom he talked it was obvious that he impressed all with the fact that he has a mind of his own and will speak it when the time comes.

Short and stocky, with a mop of graying hair and a firm jaw, he was all the appearance of a scrapper. The fact that he is willing to fight at the drop of a hat was indicated in the General Assembly at the special session when he tangled with Governor Nice and the supposedly orthodox Republican organization on a number of issues.

On Handshaking Tour

O. STRAUGHN LLOYD

Senator Lloyd was a visitor to the Record on his rounds but said he had nothing for publication. He was willing to talk on any subject—crops, relief, national politics, the Eastern Shore in general but nothing in particular for the press.

Just a friendly tour with the fireworks to come was the tenor of his talk.

Walter Wright, Once Business Leader, Dies

Was Bank Head, Hardware Merchant And Pioneer Ford Dealer

Walter Turpin Wright who as hardware merchant, automobile dealer and president of the Queen Anne's National Bank was one of Centreville's foremost business leaders for a period of about forty years, died at his home on Commerce Street at 6 o'clock Thursday morning after a long illness. He was 71 years old.

Mr. Wright was born at Whitemarsh just outside the eastern edge of Centreville on December 25, 1864. He was the son of the late John Spencer Wright and Anna Turpin Wright. On both sides he was descended from prominent Queen Anne's county families, his mother being a half sister of the late Senator W. P. T. Turpin.

After his early education in Centreville Mr. Wright became a student at Villanova College. He was eager to be earning his way in life ,however, and left college without taking a degree.

Once entered in mercantile work, Mr. Wright showed early in life the shrewd business judgment and keen insight into affairs that later made him one of the county's outstanding citizens.

He started out as a clerk in the hardware store of Feddeman and Clash, which later became Feddeman and Earle. While still in his early twenties he embarked in business for himself when he formed a partnership with Charles N. Clash under the firm name of Clash and Wright.

In 1892 with the late William McKenney he created the hardware firm with which he was identified with successive partners for thirty-four years. In all these changes in ownership Mr. Wright was the senior partner in the firm.

At first known as Wright and McKenney the establishment prospered from the start. When R. E. C. Lowe, an associate of the firm, was admitted to partnership the name was changed to Wright, McKenney and Lowe. Later Mr. Lowe purchased the McKenney interests and the firm was known as Wright and Lowe.

Wilson and Democratic Leaders Schedule Pair Of Crab Feasts

To Get Solidy Behind Roosevelt And Goldsborough At Rallies

Rumblings of the political guns to boom later were heard Tuesday in Centreville when Senator William R. Wilson and other leaders of his Democratic Organization tentatively outlined plans for the first two rallies of the campaign.

These will take the form of crab feasts and general get-togethers and are scheduled for the middle of August. Actual dates were not set.

One rally is to be held at Rolph's Wharf near the home of Orphans' Court Judge Henry H. Evans. The other is scheduled for Kent Narrows in the bailiwick of Representative Joseph W. A. Evans.

Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough is to be the guest of honor at both blowouts. The purpose of the rallies, a Democratic spokesman said, is to get solidly behind President Roosevelt and Mr. Goldsborough in their races for reelection.

The two rallies at opposite ends of the county are designed for the convenience of the faithful. Those who can't get to Kent Narrows probably can go to Rolph's Wharf, and vice versa.

It was not stated which crab feast would come first but both will probably be held within a week of each other. The delay until August was designed to give farmers a chance to get their wheat and midsummer work out of the way so they would be free to attend.

The acceptance of Congressman Goldsborough to both affairs was gained in a telephone conversation with him Tuesday.

Whether State Democratic leaders such as Senators Tydings and Radcliffe, Mayor Jackson, Attorney General O'Conor, Comptroller Gordy, State Senator Sasscer and others of that calibre would be invited was not learned. Plans had not yet advanced to that stage. It is altogether probable, however, in view of various eyes already focused on the Governor's Mansion in 1938 that Maryland bigwigs will show up.

Definite plans for the rallies are now being shaped and will be announced.

Guest Of Honor

CONGRESSMAN GOLDSBOROUGH

County To Make Bid For Shore Poultry Station

Dr. Jull To Speak At Association Meeting Here Wednesday

With a branch station of the University of Maryland Poultry Department definitely forecast for the Eastern Shore, members of the Queen Anne's County Poultry Association this week launched a drive to interest University and Extension Service officials in locating the branch in this county.

To bring support to a focal point and at the same time outline the advantages of having such a station located here, a dinner meeting has been scheduled for the Centreville Hotel next Wednesday evening, July 15, at 7:30.

At this meeting Dr. Morley A. Jull, newly appointed head of the Poultry Department at the University and former senior poultry husbandman at the United States Department of Agriculture Experimental Farm at Beltsville, will be the principal speaker.

Dr. Jull is recognized as one of the foremost poultry authorities in the world and is credited with building the Beltsville farm into what it is today.

In urging that the branch station be located in this county, officials of the Poultry Association will point to the fact that Queen Anne's is now the leading turkey raising county, and that the value of chickens and eggs produced here is increasing by leaps and bounds. The annual poultry show in Centreville has also in recent years been recognized as the finest on the Shore.

The convenience for the entire Shore of an experimental station in Queen Anne's will also be stressed because of its central location and the fact that this and adjoining counties is the hub of the poultry industry.

In addition to a research laboratory for poultry diseases in charge of a specialist it is also likely that field inspector would be attached to the station who would be of great help in pointing out errors in present methods.

John H. Moffett, head of the Poultry Department at Pioneer Point Farm and President of the County Poultry Association, is active in polling members of the body as well as all poultry growers on the proposal, and is in charge of arrangements for the meeting.

Legionnaires Attend Rites For Price Bryan

Salute As Body Is Lowered. Death From Natural Causes

With the American flag draping the casket and a delegation from Jeff Davis Post of the American Legion standing at salute, final rites for Howard Price Bryan, a private stationed at Camp Dix and a veteran of the World War were conducted at Chesterfield cemetery Friday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. Harry V. Branford, pastor of Centreville Methodist Episcopal Church officiated.

The Legion delegation was headed by F. Bennett Carter, vice-commander. Legionnaires who comprised the bearers were Harper Fesmyer, Robert R. Price, Francis E. Thomas, W. Ray Tabler, A. Sydney Gadd, Jr., and W. Marion Councill.

The body of Private Bryan accompanied by Private E. J. Fitzpatrick arrived on the 10:37 train and was immediately transferred to Chesterfield cemetery.

Mr. Bryan, a soldier of twenty years' experience had been found dead at Wrightson near the Camp Dix reservation on Tuesday of last week. He had

Healthmobile Tour Starts Off Favorably

First Two Days Draw 70 Children For Examination

A satisfactory attendance of infants and children including the pre-school group marked the opening days of the annual tour of the State Healthmobile which started in Queen Anne's county on Monday. Twenty-seven children were presented for examination on that day and forty-three on Tuesday.

The total of 70 compare favorably with last year when 90 white children and 114 colored children were examined, the largest number in the history of the child clinics.

Health Officer Dr. James A. McCallum in charge of the county tour is well pleased with the turnout thus far. He reports a large showing of the children who are to enter school next fall, the group with which the Healthmobile is particularly interested.

Mothers with children from infancy up to pre-school group are invited to present them at the clinics. Physical examinations including that of teeth are furnished.

Assisting Dr. McCallum in the Health tour are Health Nurses Mrs. Anne S. Green and Miss Madeline Moore, and Dr. E. B. Sherman and Dr. M. S. Baker of the State Board of Health.

The schedule for the remaining clinics is as follows:

Thursday, July 9

9:30 a. m.—Price White school.
11:00 a. m.—Hope Colored school.
2:30 p. m.—Queen Anne White school.

Queenstown Breaks Ground For Water Plant

Storage Tank 129 Feet High To Hold 57,000 Gallons Pipe Lines Charted

Work on the installation of Queenstown's modern water plant got going Friday morning as a crew of about twenty men directed by S. W. Buckley of Wilmington, engineer and Harry Roberts of Queenstown, foreman, broke ground for foundations of the 57,000 gallon storage tank.

Specifications for the new system call for a storage tank ,hydrants and pipe lines to all parts of the town. Bonds of about $15,000 have been issued to pay for the system which is expected to be in operation by September 1.

Insurance rates on residences in Queenstown will be reduced from an average of 60c per $100 to 30c. The rates on business properties will also be reduced 50%.

The storage tank is to be 130 feet high at the tip and will be automatic in action, cutting off and filling at designated levels. It will rest on piers which will contain twenty-seven cubic yards of concrete.

A pump capable of handling 350 gallons per minute is attached and with the capacity of the tank is expected to give fire protection for seventeen consecutive hours, if necessary.

Nine new hydrants and eleven controlling valves to regulate water service in all parts of Queenstown are to be installed. Six-inch pipe is to be laid throughout the town except at the outlet from the storage tank, where eight-inch diameter will be used.

The threads on the hydrants will be so arranged that any fire engines in the county may be connected to them without difficulty. It will be possible to pump from any hydrant 500 gallons a minute.

All water mains will be laid below freezing. The system together with the wells will be placed in accordance with the State Board of Health rules so that residents of the town may connect to the water system.

Plans for the new system were drawn by the Queenstown Town Commissioners in March.

The Pitsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company of New York, contractors, are installing the water system.

Kent Island Ends Colorful Carnival Week

Cosdens Win In Two Bouts. Chestertown Man Takes Car

The Kent Island Business Men's Association closed a successsful ten-day celebration on Monday evening with the award of a Terraplane coach to Corbett Reed of Chestertown who held the winning ticket, 339-W. 2d series.

Despite unfavorable weather for most of the carnival the attendance was up to expectations.

Included in the celebration were work boat and speed boat races, a baseball game, boxing card and Prom and Mardi Gras nights. The ball game on the Fourth of July was won by the Queenstown Terps who defeated the Washington Red Sox 8-3.

Philip Klinekamp of Crumpton captured the workboat race with William Ozman, Love Point, 2d, and J. E. Sparks of Love Point 3d.

The open race for speed boats held at 11 o'clock on the morning of the Fourth was taken by T. Heffner of Severna Park with Charles Stevens of Baltimore 2d.

John Gardner, of Grasonville, snared the event for standard speed boats with Wilmer Thompson, also of Grasonville second. The event for outboard motors was called off because of rough seas. Captain Frank Akers of Rock Hall acted as referee for the races.

The boxing program at the Love Point open air arena on Friday evening resulted in sparkling fights which kept the audience on edge.

Bob Cosden of Cordova won a close

Purebred Mary Tops Test Cows In Butterfat

Chambers' Stock Leads In June. Old Speckle Finishes 10th

Mary, a purbred Guernsey owned by John H. Chambers was high cow in production of butterfat in the herds of the Queen Anne's County Dairy Herd Improvement Association according to the tabulations made for June by Wilbur H. Morris, tester for the association. Mary's record showed a total of 54.3 pounds of butterfat from 1290 pounds of milk which tested 4.2% fat.

A graded Holstein known simply as No. 66 and owned by Leon A. Andrus was second in butterfat production with 49.8 pounds. No. 66 was tops in amount of milk produced with 1311 pounds. Her butterfat ratio was 3.8%.

Royden H. Powell's graded Guernsey No. 7 was fourth in butterfat production but showed the richest milk. Her yield was 804 pounds of milk of which 5.7% or 45.8 pounds was butter fat.

Eleven cows or 5% of all tested produced 40 pounds or better of butterfat during June.

Of the herds in the association the one owned by Mr. Chambers consisting of twenty-four graded and purebred Guernseys led with an average of 755 pounds of milk and 31.5 pounds of butterfat per cow.

The figures for the next four herds

Bridge and Road Contracts Let

Corsica Span And Ruthsburg Stretch Awarded

Contract for erection of the Corsica River bridge as well as the approaches to the span has been awarded to the James Givens Company of Baltimore at a price of $11,776.25, the County Commissioners learned from the State Roads Commission on Tuesday.

After holding the bid for some time, it was learned that the 1.51 mile stretch of traffic-bound macadam road toward Ruthsburg has been awarded to the Hannaman Burroughs Company of Salisbury. The figures on this was $10,621.60.

In addition to the contract price on both contracts certain other costs such as surveys, rights of way, and legal and recording fees have been incurred.

The Commissioners urged that all possible speed be used in getting work under way on both projects.

Md. Fresh Airs To Come Again

Committee Formed To Entertain Youngsters

Maryland Fresh Air Children will again be entertained in Queen Anne's County this year and the tentative date for their vacation here will be from August 3d to August 17th.

A group of women acting independenly of any club or organization are working to place the children in county homes. Mrs. Jewel Fesmyer is Chairman and her co-workers thus far named are Mrs. Alfred M. Green, Mrs. A. Sydney Gadd, Jr., Mrs. William Freestate, Mrs. Vachel Downes, Mrs. Paul Weldie, Mrs. William Green, and Mrs. E. O. Willis.

Last year there were 26 of the youngsters who came here from Baltimore for two weeks of abundant food, fresh air and sunshine.

An appeal is being made to everyone interested in entertaining children to communicate with Mrs. Fesmyer or any member of her committee.

No concerted drive is being made this year to bring children here from New York, as has been the case for some time under the auspices of the Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund, although it is understood that certain families who have entertained New York youngsters in the past and have become attached to them, will, again do so.

FOURTH FREE OF VIOLENCE

Queen Anne's county had a most orderly Fourth of July. Not a single arrest for law violation of any sort was made with the exception of a few traffic cases picked up by by the State police. Establishments selling beer were open and reported no disorders. According to Deputy Sheriff Louis Perkins, a veteran in county law enforcement, the record of no arrests by county officers was the first made on the Fourth of July within his recollection.

STEVENSVILLE VS. CENTREVILLE

The Stevensville Blue Jays and the Centreville Red Sox will lock horns next Sunday on Kent Island. Centreville has won both games thus far played in the series. Since then the Islanders have lined up several new players and Sunday's game should be a ding-dong

Quimby Heads Horse Breeders

New Staff Chosen At Annual Election

Charles S. Quimby heads the new staff of officers named by the Queen Anne's County Horse Breeders Association at the annual election held last Wednesday. Others chosen were Charles Chew Mickle, Jr., vice-president; Thomas J. Keating, Jr., secretary; and Oliver C. Jones, treasurer.

The Board of Directors includes Mr. Quimby, Mr. Mickle, Mr. Keating, Joseph C. Bishop and A. Temple Blackwood. The race committee consists of J. Mason Shaw, H. K. "Boney" Lane, J. Harman Whitely and Charles S. Quimby.

A meeting of the association to discuss plans for the summer and fall is scheduled to be held at the office of the Eastern Shore Estates this evening, Thursday. About twenty-five members are already enrolled for the coming year.

Terps To Play Coca Colas Next Sunday

The heated rivalry between the Queenstown Terps and the Cambridge Coca Colas will flame again at Queenstown Sunday at 2:30 p. m. The Cambridge lads took it on the chin in a seven-inning encounter below the Choptank on the Fourth and are said to be right much wrought up.

The soda water boys immediately started a clamor for a return game. The Terps, after ribbing them unmercifully along the line that they (The Cokes) should first go out and build up a reputation, finally agreed to another battle.

Reports indicate that Cambridge will load up for the fray.

Curve Hugging Causes Queenstown Collision

An Oakland sedan operated by G. E. Berry, Narrows Negro was badly damaged in a collision with a Plymouth coach operated by Alfred H. Tucker of Tunis Mills near Ye Olde Tavern at Queenstown about 2:30 a. m. Sunday morning.

The Negro who was driving toward Queenstown took the inside of a curve on his wrong side of the road forcing Tucker's car to th shoulder. The machines sideswiped and a Negro woman in. Berry's car was cut in the face about the eyes when she was thrown through the windshield. She was treated by Dr. Theodore Sattelmaier of Stevensville.

Both drivers were charged in Police Court with reckless driving. Tucker was acquitted. The Negro was fined $5 and costs.

Benefit For Easton Hospital Is Planned

Ticket Committee Named For Shows At Church Hill

As a county-wide benefit for Easton Emergency Hospital, tickets are now on sale for Gene Stratton Porter's "The Harvester", talking picture to be shown next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Church Hill Theatre.

All reports from the hospital indicate the great amount of free work done for patients from Queen Anne's County and Chairmen in all communities are energetically pushing the sale of tickets. The public is warmly urged to support the undertaking.

Ticket Chairmen are: Centreville, Mrs. Edwin H. Brown, Jr.; Queenstown, Mrs. Urie Cross; Grasonville, Mrs. Ben Miller; Stevensville, Mrs. Calvert Jones; Crumpton, Mrs. Gilbert Brown; Barclay, Miss Eleanor Stevens; Ingleside, Mrs. Howard Dukes; Price, Mrs. Arthur Coppage; Roesville, Mrs. Howard Stant; Church Hill, Mrs. Charles Roe; Wye Mills, Miss Pauline Bailey; Ruthsburg, Mrs. Norman Mason; Queen Anne, Mrs. Fred Sylvester.

Among those assisting Mrs. Brown in Centreville are Mrs. Marvin Barton, Mrs. Oliver C. Jones, Mrs. Walter Blackwell, Mrs. William E. Grose, Mrs. E. Stephens Valliant, Miss Lillian St. James and Mrs. W. Ray Tabler.

GRASONVILLE CLUB TO MEET

The Grasonville Homemakers' Club will hold its monthly meeting today, Thursday, at Robinson's Beach. An all day picnic has been planned for both the Homemakers and members of the Girls' 4-H Club.

GARDEN CLUB TO MEET

The Queen Anne's Garden Club will hold its July meeting next Monday afternoon at "Conquest", the home of Mrs. Wilson P. Foss, Jr., "Birds of Eastern Shore Gardens", a talk by Mr. William Baker is to be a feature of the meeting.

Boxing Slated For Love Point

Four 6-Round Fights With Bob Cosden Booked

Built around the battlers who thrilled the fight crowd during the carnival Friday night another card of six round bouts has been arranged for the Love Point open air arena Saturday night under the auspices of the Kent Island Business Men's Association. The thumping is scheduled to get going at 8 o'clock.

Earle Cosden and K. O. Unsworth who opened Friday night's bop swopping program with a slashing six round setto in which Unsworth got up from the floor in the first round to even matters will again square off for a canter. Unsworth was going great guns when the last shindig ended.

Bob Cosden will also show his wares during the program taking on Bob Price, a glovester unknown to these parts.

Clark Harrison the gent who cooled Art Bessick in five hectic heats is slated to face Bill Cecil. The fourth tussle arranged will see Bill Willis with Henry Bridge.

A fifth item of ear scrambling is likely to be added to the program if the desired contenders can be signed up in time for the festivities.

The scuffling will be held on the slope behind Snug Harbor Inn where two hundred and fifty fans can be easily accommodated.

HORSE KICKS BUSIC FARMER

Luther Tolson, a farmer near Busic, was kicked unconscious and sustained injuries about the head and face and arms when a horse he was working became unmanageable last Saturday. The animal, after kicking Mr. Tolson, ran away tearing up the plow and jumped a wire fence.

Elwood Gibbs, a colored farmer, rendered aid to Mr. Tolson and caught the horse.

Rotarians Take Twilight Cruise Down Corsica

The Centreville Rotary Club varied the routine of weekly meetings with a twilight cruise down the Corsica and Chester Rivers to Love Point Wednesday evening. The outing was held aboard the Annie L. Wingate skippered by Captain Dill.

The party embarked at Centreville wharf with a suitable cargo of refreshments.

The cruise took the place of the regular session held on Thursday evenings which was advanced one night because of the district meeting to be held at Annapolis this evening, Thursday. Clyde E. Walls, Robert T. Newell and W. John Connolly will represent the club at the Annapolis meet.

Little Theatre Group Picnics At Picnic Point

A picnic to celebrate the conclusion of a successful year was held by the Little Theatre group at Picnic Point Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock with about fifty members present. Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Grant were host and hostess for the affair. Group singing, refreshments and brilliant efforts at the "knock, knock" oddity provided entertainment.

The committee in charge was J. Hall Barton, Miss Helen West and Letha E. Taylor.

Abner says—

Ya c'n always tell a crank by gettin' in an argument with him. If he don't agree with you he's a crackpot.
