Chain Stores Aid Dried Fruit Growers

With two successful Produce-Consumer campaigns completed, the Food and Grocery Chain Stores of America have announced the two weeks beginning October 12 and October 19 as the dates for a nation-wide sales drive on California dried fruits.

This extension of the "cooperative distribution" movement, through which food chain stores averted a crisis in the California canned peach industry and aided millions of cattle raisers with a domestic beef sales drive, will be launched by 33,000 retail outlets to help a $300,000,000 industry on which 30,000 families are dependent.

Sales of raisins, figs, prunes, dates and dried peaches, apricots, pears and apples will be stimulated through newspaper advertisements, elaborate store displays and the circulation of thousand of recipes for dried fruit dishes among housewives and chefs in hotels and restaurants. Carload lots of the fruits are moving eastward to stock the shelves of the chain stores to supply the demand.

"Star For A Night" At Stevensville

Chorus girls turn a musical show topsy-turvy to make a mother's dream come true in "Star For A Night", film headed for the Stevensville Opera House on Friday and Saturday. Pictured above are Jane Darwell and Claire Trevor, who head the cast. Others in the film are Arline Judge and Evelyn Venable.

Grit Only Poultry Feed That Has No Food Value

Although grit has no definite food value in the poultry ration, tests completed recently at the National Agricultural Research Center by the Bureau of Animal Industry showed that it cuts the volume of feed needed in making economical gains when fed with a mash ration or field peas.

The reason is simple and was discovered some time ago. The gizzard serves as a "grinding" mill, so that the chicken can utilize carbohydrates, proteins, and especially fats. The insoluble grit in the gizzard merely helps the grinding process.

The value of grit was more apparent when field peas were fed. This pointed to the need of grit when coarse and granular feeds make up a large part of the ration.

Field peas alone did not constitute a complete diet for birds in confinement, although digestibility was sufficient to justify the use of the legume in poultry feeds. Despite having a generally lower protein digestibility than corn, field peas contain approximately 60 percent more digestible protein per pound.

Church Hill To Get Dial Phones

A dial telephone switchboard, the first to be placed in Queen Anne's county, will be installed at Church Hill to serve Church Hill, Roberts and Price, according to word received by H. B. Towers, manager of the Centreville exchange. Equipment has been ordered and it is expected the installation will be completed by December 1.

With the new system persons having dial telephones within the Church Hill, Price and Roberts area will be able to call each other without the aid of the central operator. Calls to persons outside the area will be handled as usual by the Centreville operator.

Mr. Towers estimates that about sixty telephones will be served by the new switchboard, of which about thirty are in Church Hill. Similar dial switchboards have been installed on the Eastern Shore at Deals Island, Trappe and Oxford.

Jays Even Up Series, Final Game Sunday

Kent Islanders Rout Schelberg In Sixth, Win 8-2 Kidd Stingy

Knocking the veteran John Schelberg out of the box in six innings and runing up a grand total of seventeen assorted blows, the Kent Island Blue Jays turned on the Queenstown Terps last Sunday to score a decisive 8 to 2 victory and force a rubber tilt in the Little World Series for the county championship.

The deciding game is to be played at Queenstown Sunday.

Schelberg was handled roughly from the outset. The Jays jumped him in the first inning for a run when Newberry, Bosley and O'Neill, the first three men up, lashed out hits. In the third they bunched three singles, a walk, two errors and a double for three runs.

John got by the next two rounds without damage, but in the sixth the Jays again strung a skein of five successive hits, after two men had been retired, for four runs to drive Schelberg from the box and score an easy victory. The longest blow was a triple by Tormillen, Jay backstop. Warner pitched the remainder of the game without being scored upon.

Kidd pitched steady ball throughout, holding the Terps to four hits and striking out eight.

The Terps got their first run in the second inning when Casper Clough walked, stole second and came home on an error and a wild pitch. They earned their second one in the fourth on a triple by Barlage and a double by Eddie Turner. A single by Warner in the seventh and a similar thump by Burkman in the eighth were the only other hits allowed by Kidd over the rest of the distance.

Newberry, Bosely, O'Neill and Gehirman each got three hits to lead the Kent Island offensive.

The deciding tilt on Sunday should be a humdinger.

Terps	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	0—2	4	3

"Join Party" Contest Attracts Attention

In connection with its "Join the American Party" campaign, the American Oil Company has instituted an interesting $10,000 Cash Prize Contest.

The first prize is $2500, and there are 563 other cash prizes. In order to become eligible, entrants must make a forecast as to how the 48 states will vote in the forthcoming Presidential election. In addition, a slogan with a political touch to it is required.

Full details of the Contest are included in Official Contest Blanks which must be obtained from American Oil Company dealer and company station.

FARM ACREAGE DOWN

According to estimates of committees of farmers in the several counties, the number of farms and the land in farms in Maryland over a long period of years will be slightly less than those reported in the 1935 census. While the trend in general is downward, there will be some increases in certain areas, especially around the cities.

The highest plant life observed by the latest Everest climbing expedition was at 17,800 feet.
