Miss Amye Elizabeth Knotts Weds

ward Gillespie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gillespie, was the ring bearer.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore white satin, entrain, sleeves puffed with slippers of white satin and a long string of pearls that graced her neck. Her headgear was a coronet cap of tulle with a long, flowing veil. Bridal roses, lily-of-the-valley and baby's breath composed the bouquet she carried.

The maid of honor was attired in brown velvet, Queen Anne style, with turban of the same material and veil of tulle, with slippers corresponding. She carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Miss Dorothy Knotts and Mrs. Gillespie, as bridesmaids, wore dresses of "Swingtime" style in green and rose taffeta, respectively, with turbans and slippers to match and bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

The flower girl was daintily dressed in turquoise taffeta and carried a basket of bronze chrysanthemums.

The ring bearer wore a black velvet suit like little Lord Fauntleroy.

The church decroations were of clemetis, pines and dahlias, with shades of bronze and yellow predominating.

At 1:30, preceding the marriage, there was a luncheon at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate families and close friends. The home was banked with dahlias, chrysanthemums, and other colorful fall flowers.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. George Hart, who are cousins of the bride, entertained the wedding party and intimate friends with a reception. Their home was brightly decorated with fall flowers and the receiving room backgrounded with ferns.

Mr. and Mrs. Scrivener left on a two weeks' wedding trip. Her going away ensemble was a rust, tailored suit trimmed with fur and accessories of dark brown.

Mrs. Scrivener, who is a graduate of Sudlersville High, University of Delaware, Newark, and Union Memorial Hospital, Baltimore, has for the past five years been County Health Nurse for Calvert County.

Mr. Scrivener is engaged in the business of contracting and building in Baltimore. The young couple will be at home on November 1st at 71 Edmondson Ridge Road, Catonsville.
