The Pause That Befuddles In "Whipsaw"

Myrna Loy gets her first opportunity in a starring role in "Whipsaw", film slated for the Centreville Opera House screen on Friday and Saturday. A jewel thief and a secret service agent matching wits are the main ingredients. Pictured above are the headliners—Spencer Tracy, Myrna Loy and Wade Boteler.

Report Shows Activity Of Demonstrator

Wide Range Of Work Indicated In Survey Of Miss Isabel Bewick

Designed to give a more complete picture of the accomplishments and plans of the Home Demonstration work in Queen Anne's county than would be achieved by a mere statistical table the first annual report of Miss Isabel Bewick, Home Demonstration Agent, made its appearance Friday in a neat, hand-made booklet of 100-odd pages.

Copies have been filed with the Board of County Commissioners, Miss Venia M. Kellar, State Home Demonstration Agent, and the Department of Agriculture.

The booklet includes maps and typewritten summaries, copies of circular letters and programs of events held during the year, clippings of news items, editorials and cartoons from county newspapers and a statistical summary.

The report practically turns the work of the Home Demonstration office inside out.

It lists every activity of the Agent, the number of days spent in the office with the sort of work done and the time spent outside with the exact function mentioned. The number of office callers and telephone calls, items inserted in newspapers, letters written and circulars mailed out are given to the exact digit.

The report shows 299 visits to 189 homes with changes of practices found in 35 homes as the result of the Agent's program.

The total attendance at events in Miss Bewick's field is placed at 2164.

Previous to Miss Bewick's appointment this year there has been no Home Demonstration work in the county since 1919. One club, the Church Hill Community Club, remains from the previous period.

Twelve new Homemakers' clubs are planned for 1936. An additional 4-H Girls' club was organized this year with hopes for three more in 1936.

Wants Dry Preaching

Yorktown, Va.—A leaky roof on the Methodist Church brought a letter and a check from E. K. Bunz. "I hear tell how the shingulls leek on the preacher and he get rane down his nek. Now I tell you how can preacher talk with rane down his nek. I give $500 to get shingulls fix so preacher don't get rane down his nek."

The body temperature of a hen is approximately 106 degrees which is considerably in excess of the 98 3-5 degrees temperature of the normal body.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM
By Dorothy Holland

To show that the sophomores had the spirit of Christmas, we put on a program before the class. It consisted of a play entitled "Mr. Richey Changes His Mind."

The characters were: Elizabeth Walling, Henrietta Quimby; Upp, the head of the delivery department, Elmer Allen; Mr. Walker, floorwalker, Elias Tarbutton; Messenger Boy, Billy Connolly; Miss Gregg, stenographer, Mary E. Mullikin; Miss Pitman, Thelma Callahan; Red Cross Salesgirl, Elizabeth McClyments, Mr. Richey, Warren Slemmer.

We also had two poems one called "The Holly", by Elizabeth McClyments and "New Christmas" by Dorothy Holland. We ended the program by the class singing "Silent Night."

LET'S GO DRAMATIC
By Shirley Dewing

Do you like the idea? Twenty-five students did in November when the school clubs were started, and now, even though five have deserted us, we still have an interesting group attending the Friday afternoon sessions.

In an hour, we accomplish a surprising amount of work.

Our members started the first Friday by giving one of three impersonations. The next week, we started on real drama.

A ten-minute play entitled "Manikin and Minikin" was enacted by Betty Armstrong and Shirley Dewing. Another short play, "The Rising of the Moon" was given by Edith Chance, Betty Bartlett, Eleanor Whitely, and Rose Lane.

Friday we had more impersonations, with a three-minute limit. Among others, we heard Kate Smith, Lizzie Gish, and Major Bowes, accompanied by a female, French, amateur singer (some application!)

At present, we are working hard on two other plays which we hope to produce successfully after Christmas.

And that sums up our dramatic activities so far. Doesn't this make you wish you were a member of our club?

HECTIC HAMPTON

Our play was a success! Everything went off as planned, and then some!

The Seniors gave the school somewhat of a surprise! When the curtain fell on the final scene a senior stepped in front and made an announcement stating that we had prevailed upon Santa Claus to visit us in order to prove that there is such a person.

In the distance a jingle of bells was heard following this statement and close upon the heels of the bells came "Old Kris" himself.

He ascended the stage, made a speech and upon the close of this monologue, he gave the presents to the faculty in the customary manner.

Much fun was the result and everyone was pleased, except Hampton Brown who was hot and hectic under his beard!

HOME EC.

With Christmas coming near the Home Ec. girls started early to have their "hand in", as the saying goes, for that batch of home-made candies. Last week we made Peanut Brittle pinwheels, Stuffed Prunes, Glazed Fruits and Nuts and Sea Foam. It seemed, from the good results that our "hand was in."

The faculty was surprised Friday near noon time by a Home Ec. girl who brought a tempting looking Christmas plate to each door. This plate was very gay and consisted of Christmas Box Salad, stuffed prunes, and Christmas roll sandwich. It was enjoyed by all—the faculty.

SOPHOMORE NEWS
By Carlyle Blevins

Miss Roe, our history teacher, is certainly making it obvious that she is one of the most ambitious teachers in our school.

In addition to her making previous decorations in our classroom, she is beautifying it with sweet smelling pine branches, holly, and red paper bells.

The two decorators are Gibson Meredith and Carlyle Blevins. I think that we should all give Miss Roe a big hand for such a splendid idea!

1-A HAPPENINGS
By Frances Brown

Ruth Mandrell spent the past week-end in Easton with her brother.

Margaret Rhodes will spend the week-end in Baltimore where she will join her mother who has been there for several days.

Miss Tolson was away on Friday and our chairman, Marguerite Dudley, took charge.

Kathryn Whitby has finished her sampler and has started knitting a blue sweater.

In Algebra on Friday morning we had a fine easy time, learning the history of math. It seems that James Andrews was the only one to solve a very complicated puzzle concerning math.

Edward Covell reported many interesting facts of nature in science on Friday also.
