UP AND DOWN THE Eastern Shore

Mayor's Daughter Crafty

Elkton—This Gretna Green which often catches celebrities or satellites by reflection in its marital web, chalked up another in the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Wilson, daughter of Philadelphia's Mayor, Wilson, to Donald G. Howard, also of the Quaker City. Taking no chances on complications, the bride waited until after the wedding to reveal her identity.

Wire Officials Fish

Crisfield—Aboard J. Millard Tawes' yacht, the "Pathfinder", Thomas W. Carroll, General Manager, and R. C. Folger, Assistant to the First Vice President, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, of New York, cruised into choppy Tangier Sound, had fine sport in pulling in trout, mullet, hardheads and other fish.

World Power Inspection

Conowingo — The giant electric plants at Conowingo and Safe Harbor were inspected by more than 300 delegates to the World Conference on Power which convened in Washington last week. Fifty six nations were represented among the delegates who came here.

Holiday vs. Holiday

Salisbury—Adhering to a tight schedule to get in the required minimum of 180 school days before next June 1, at which time truck-growing Wicomico County parents need their children in the fields, the Board of Education ordered classes on Saturday despite the fact that Defender's Day, a Maryland holiday, fell on that date. Thus the Board balanced its calendar for time out on Labor Day.

Crash off Town Point

Chesapeake City—Heavily laden with tomatoes, the freighter R. & A. Jeffries crashed into the 39-ft cabin cruiser "Verga" off the mouth of Elk River. The force of the collision locked the two craft, permitted the rescue of a family cruising party of ten headed by John Schaeffer. The lighter boat sank.

Firemen Add Truck

St. Michaels—The St. Michaels Fire Department will step up its equipment to three trucks, two usable outside the town limits, by the purchase of a new Dodge chassis and the installation of the necessary paraphernalia. Commented the St. Michaels Comet: that will equal any department in any city the size of St. Michaels in the United States".

Copperheads Strike

Salisbury—Bitten by a copperhead snake while plowing a field, Lawrence Littleton, 33, is expected to recover following an inoculation of anti-venom serum. The next day a valuable police dog belonging to John J. Huey, Delmar farmer, died when struck by a copperhead while the dog was playing in the yard.

Cambridge Clean-Up

Cambridge—Cambridge's new Chief of Police Grason W. Price, with the cooperation of State's Attorney J. Gorman Hill, is making a drive on gaming devices. Twenty two pin-ball and slot machines valued of $1800, were seized in a series of raids. The machines also contained several hundred dollars, reports indicated.

Cosmetic Give-Away

Princess Anne—Alleged to have opened packages containing cosmetics and presenting the contents to two girls in the Upper Fairmount vicinity of this county, Archie T. Ford, 60-year-old mail carrier, has been indicted by a Federal grand jury in Baltimore on a charge of rifling the mails. Postal agents trapped him by turning over marked packages to him for delivery.

Ancient Razor Still Cuts

Federalsburg—A 150-year-old razor still capable of conquering the beard of her husband is the highly-prized possession of Mrs. J. Hall Poyner, who had it handed down to her by her father, the late James Gambrill. An English make, the razor has Masonic emblems on the handle.

Deposed Pastor Wins

Elkton—In July, 1935, following a general complaint from the residential section against the placing of marriage license signs, Elkton's Town Commissioners passed an ordinance forbidding the markers. Last week Justice Walter A. Miller held the ordinance unconstitutional on the plea of Edward Minor, unfrocked minister. The Council will appeal the case to the Circuit Court.

Auditing Report Filed

Chestertown—Kent County has uncollected taxes totaling $51,414.98, the annual auditing report published last week revealed. The county's finances were shown in a healthy condition with a cash balance of $5,884.52, with income for the past fiscal year of $395,620.48 against outgo of $389,735.96.

School Bell Silent

Ridgely—For the first time in 64 years the bell atop the five-room primary school here failed to ring out, thus depriving the townsfolk of something to set their clocks and watches by. The primary and high schools were consolidated this year in the latter structure.

Merchants Fleeced

Rising Sun—A wave of $20 checks victimized local merchants when a man using the name of James J. Ryan and posing as a relative of Contractor Perry A. Gibson made small purchases at several establishments here and pocketed the difference. Apparently the forger left this community via Oxford, Pa., as merchants there had similar tales of woe.

Stone Thrower at Large

Princess Anne—Parties unknown with a yen for heaving stones at women has terrorized the town and police are on the lookout. On one occasion a group of women gathered on the porch of a home were driven indoors by a shower of rocks. Others said they had been stoned on the streets.
