UP AND DOWN THE Eastern Shore

American Aintree

Fair Hill—The Foxcatcher National Steeplechase, held here for the past three years and rapidly becoming known as the American Aintree, was won by Frank M. Gould's "What Have You." Left flatfooted when the field of eleven went away, the gallant chestnut made up nearly thirty lengths and beat Campbell Weir's "Soldiers' Fate" a head in a thrilling drive to the finish. The race carried a purse of $3,250 and was held on the estate of Mrs. William du Pont.

Sightseers Lured

Ocean City—Sunny skies, a calm sea and a pleasant breeze coming from the same direction into which the hurricane had vanished drew thousands of sightseers to Ocean City on Sunday to view the wreckage of the storm. Only 250 feet of the long boardwalk remained intact, but all signs of inundation at the causeway and on the resort's streets had disappeared. Insofar as Ocean City was concerned, the hurricane brought no fatalaties.

Rocko the Magnifico

Easton—Rock Ferris, Talbot County's touring pianist now in South America, has scored a hit in Montevideo, Uruguay, press reports reaching his friends here indicate. Says the El Pueblo, Uruguayan newspaper: "An exceptional year of extraordinary pianists; Iturbi, Cortot Vrallowsky, Hoffman, and today Rock Ferris. . . Indeed a great pianist!" Outstanding Maestro. Bravo: Rocko the Magnifico!

Deer Hunters Dismayed

Snow Hill—Sportsmen in this region who had become excited over reports that deer in Worcester County had multiplied to the extent that an open season would be declared, had their hopes dashed when State Game Warden E. Lee Le'Compte announced that the penalty for shooting and killing wild deer in Worcester is a $300 fine. Further, said Le'Compte, before an open season can be declared, it would be necessary for the General Assembly to enact enabling legislation.

Dr. Mead to Harvard

Chestertown—Dr. Gilbert W. Mead, President of Washington College, represented the local institution at Harvard"s Tercentenary celebration in Cambridge, Mass., last week.

Befriended, Robs Widow

Princess Anne—Authorities here and police of five adjacent states are looking for Theodore Mitchell, 23-year-old farm hand, who allegedly robbed Mrs. Frank Greenwood, aged widow, of $360 representing her life savings. Mrs. Greenwood returned from the funeral of a relative to find her 18 months' old grandchild locked in a room, the house in disorder, and the money gone. Mitchell had been befriended by Mrs. Greenwood, coming here from a Salvation Army Rescue Mission in New York.

Experimental Road

Ocean City—Highway officials in Maryland, Delaware and Virginia are watching with interest the laying of an experimental harbor road. Construction is of a combination sand and asphalt mixture to a depth of eight inches at a cost ranging from $5,000 to $6,000 a mile. It is 20 ft. wide with 10 ft. shoulders on each side. Laying proceeds at the rate of a third to a half mile a day and the State Roads Commission says hundreds of miles of this type construction in the South under similar conditions have proved successful.

Land Dirt Cheap

Federalsburg—Believed to have been the lowest price paid for land in Caroline County, in many years, a tract of 81 acres of partly cut-over wood in the Fifth Election district sold for $75—a rate of 92½c an acre. It was at an Executor's Sale.

Good Night, Mother

Easton—John Charles Thomas, famed baritone who got into a squabble with the radio powers over saying "Good Night, Mother" at the end of his programs, air officials contending that this form of leave-taking constitutes a personal message, hence not permissible, apparently has won his point after threatening to quit radio. Featured on the Ford Sunday Evening hour, Thomas sang his final song on the program last Sunday, the stirring ballad "Danny Deever", then softly into the mike came "Good Night, Mother".

Mare Still Wins

Chestertown.—"I'm Alone," a fine black mare once owned by Bill Loller, now competing under the name "Dixie Belle" and owned by Ward Sullivan in Philadelphia, has won 83 ribbons in the past two years. Jumping is her specialty and the five-foot leaps are taken with ease.

Man Loses Foot

Cambridge.—While working at the plant of the Atlantic Ice Company, Thomas Dodson caught his foot in a machine, sustained injuries so serious that amputation was necessary at the Cambridge-Maryland hospital.

Civil War Relic

Rising Sun.—Workmen digging ditches for the new sewer unearthed a shell about ten inches long, three inches in diameter, still charged and believed to be a Civil War relic. Other shells dug up in the same section indicate the area might have been an ammunition dump during the war.

Democrats To Rally

Crisfield.—With Somerset one of the four counties in Maryland in the Landon column in the Sun's presidential poll, Democrats have arranged a monster rally here tonight, Thursday, with Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough the principal speaker. Streets have been roped off to accommodate the crowd and Goldsborough will shoot the works from the postoffice steps.

Whoppin' Crab

Easton.—A crab weighing 2 lbs. 2 ozs. and measuring 8 inches across the top of the shell has been caught by Herbert Gibson. Despite the fact that the crustacean had one undeveloped claw, the claw-spread was still 19½ inches.

"THE GORGEOUS HUSSY" REENACTS BITTER ELECTION CENTURY AGO

The tumult and shouting of a presidential election ran rampant a century ago when a crowd which came to heckle Andrew Jackson changed its mind and remained to cheer him on the announcement of his election as seventh President of the United States. The above scene is from "the Gorgeous Hussy" which came to the Centreville Opera House yesterday for a four-day run, continuing through Saturday. Lionel Barrymore portrays Andrew Jackson, Joan Crawford is the beautiful and fiery tavern-keeper's daughter who became the First Lady of the Land, and Robert Taylor is the dashing young naval officer who woos the "Hussy" and becomes her first husband. Among others in the cast are Franchot Tone, Melvyn Douglas, James Stewart and Allison Skipworth.
