UP AND DOWN THE Eastern Shore

Smashing Out

Federalsburg—Dick Lore, detained in the calaboose, tried a jail break that almost meant a broken jail. He tore a pipe from the plumbing, went to work on the concrete block wall, smashed four blocks before being discovered. P. S. They removed him to the Caroline county jail at Denton.

Struck Two

Showell—A single shotgun blast that hit both a rabbit and a man caused Worcester county's first hunting accident of the season. While four Smith brothers were gunning in a woods near here Clifford fired at a cottontail. Part of the shotgun charge bounced upward from a tree, hit brother William standing on a stump behind underbrush forty-five yards away. The wounds were painful, not serious.

Town Chorus

Easton—Plans are being formulated by Miss Elinor Hughes well known in Talbot musical circles for a municipal chorus of mixed voices here. John Charles Thomas, noted operatic and radio singer, has expressed interest in the idea.

Safe Travels

Rising Sun—Burglars pausing long enough to take some eggs also carried off a 250-pound safe from a chain store. They took the strong box to a gravel pitt, smashed it open with a sledge hammer, rifled it of $50. When Asher Robinson, store manager, went looking for the safe he learned that a junk dealer had carted it to Havre de Grace. State Police recovered it.

Cat Wouldn't Die

St. Michaels—Joe, pharmacy pet cat, had such a bad case of mange that his owner regretfully decided to put him out of his misery. After a dose of 70c worth of chloroform, seven hours of apparent death, Joe was shoveled into a box, carried out, forgotten. Next morning Joe was sitting on the front steps waiting to get to the warmth of the stove. He's back now, for life.

Memorial To Founder

Cambridge—An oil painting of the late Dr. Brice W. Goldsborough, founder of the Cambridge-Maryland hospital, its chief of staff for thirty-one years, and brother of ex-Senator Phillips Lee Goldsborough, was unveiled here at a dedicatory ceremony. Colonel Albanus Phillips, chairman of the Memorial Fund presided, two grandsons unveiled the painting, several noted Baltimore physicians and others paid tributes to the hospital fouder.

Hunting Druggist

Princess Anne—Gunners reported a total bag of 160 quail and two ring-necked pheasants in the first ten days of the season. Burdelle Daugherty, druggist, had the best prescription. He bagged thirty-eight in the ten days.

Intimate Touch In Drama At Churchill Theatre

Frank McHugh, apron and all, seems all set up to lather the little fellow in the washtub in the drama, "A Woman Rebels", also featuring Katharine Hepburn and Herbert Marshall at the Churchill Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Subscription Racket

Chestertown—Two young men working a new racket here used the name of the Rev. Winfred Roberts, pastor of Christ M. P. Church in soliciting subscriptions to church papers from his parishioners. Their story was that they were seeking funds to study for the ministry. A number subscribed only to learn that Mr. Roberts knew nothing of the matter.

Fishermen's Luck

Ocean City—Varying the usual custom the Eastern Shore Times trophy presented annually to the sportsman catching the largest fish here was awarded at a meeting of the Maryland Sportsmen's Luncheon Club in Baltimore. The trophy was presented by Mayor Jackson to Clay Jewell who snagged a 112-pound marlin for the prize catch.

Gunning Fires

Princess Anne—An epidemic of fires through Somerset county woodlands were termed spite fires by district forester Nelson H. Fritz. In one tract alone 524 acres were burned . Said to be set by gunners in retaliation against the posting of woodland against hunting, property owers none the less declined to place definite charges of incendiarism. Several hundred acres in the vicinity of Tolchester in Kent county were also burned over but this fire was believed due to hunters' carelessness, not intention.

Christmas Wreaths

Pittsville—Holly shippers on the lower Eastern Shore are busy marketing holly and other Christmas evergreens, most of whcih goes to the big city shopping centers. J. Allis Hamblin who numbers cities, towns and department stores among his customers reports business one-third larger than usual. Holly trees have almost no berries this year due to late spring frosts killing blossoms. Artificial berries of colored plaster of paris take their place.

Shore Airports

Salisbury—Fred E. Ennis, operator of a flying field on the Zion Road a mile from city limits announced purchase of the 190-acre property and plans for a permanent field with 3,000 foot runways, to be designated as the Salisbury Airport. The port will be included in aviation maps for use of military and civilian flyers. It has already been visited by military and naval planes in tacticul flights. Meanwhile Pocomoke citizens have formed an aviation club, plan a flying field, hope to make it the Pocomoke City Municipal Airport.

New Fire House

Chestertown—First drafts for a proposed new fire house for the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company were displayed at a meeting of the company by architect Henry P. Hopkins. They will be studied for alterations. Meanwhile a committee is pricing sites for the proposed buildng.

Hon. T. A. Goldsborough Lists Conference Hours

Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough requests that those who desire personal interviews with him call at his office in Denton between 2 and 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon. He adds that it would be much more satisfactory to those desiring to see him if personal appointments were made with him either by mail or telephone, as otherwise those calling upon him may have to wait some time.

While Mr. Goldsborough states that he would like to see anyone at any time, if time permitted, his duties in preparing for necessary legislation for the next Congress and the answering of correspondence necessitate systematizing appointments as above indicated.

Here's a Newsogram From Santa Claus Telling Us That He Is Coming To Centreville In An Airplane

NORTH POLE | NEWSOGRAM | SANTA CLAUS

BARTLETT HARDWARE CO.,
CENTREVILLE, MARYLAND.

DEAR MR. BARTLETT:

I am sorry that I will not be able to attend the opening of TOYLAND in Centreville this coming Saturday. I have such a big load of gifts that I will have to bring them in an airplane. We have had so much snow and ice up here at the North Pole that I will have to postpone my trip to Centreville until Saturday, Decembre 12th. So as not to disappoint all your little boys and girls I am sending one of my helpers to your store and he will arrive at 2:00 o'clock this Saturday afternoon. Tell the kids to give their lists to my helper and he will give them to me when I arrive the following Saturday. I hope all the boys and girls will be at your store to meet my helper when he gets there. Signed—SANTA CLAUS.
