Gay Table Pompons Give Modern Touch

Here is a simple but very effective way to decorate a table, either during holiday festivities or, by changing the color scheme, for any occasion. The flower-like pompons, shown between the candles in the picture, are made from red transparent drinking straws of Cellophane cellulose film, wired together in clusters. The leaves are fashioned from crystal-clear film, the stems being wound with bright viscose thread—in all, a cheery note of modernity for any table.

and gave permission for the body to be moved.

At this juncture a match carelessly tossed fell into gasoline streaming from the wreckage. Flames burst immediately around the wrecked cars, sent bystanders scurrying to safety and caused an explosion in one gas tank which shot a blaze thirty feet in the air.

For a few moments it appeared that the body of Young ,hanging out of the window of one car, would be consumed with the car. A tow rope provided by Policeman Anderson held long enough to drag the vehicle from immedate danger. The Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company was summoned to extinguish the blaze.

The dead man, Young, came to Queen Anne's county a number of years ago to take care of the horses on Mr. Ryan's farm. He was considered an expert with them. Later he became caretaker of the farm and lived alone in a dwelling there.

School Enrollment Decreases In 1936

and 1672 colored, a total of 5559. No similar age figures are obtainable for previous years, since the count only included children up to 18 years of age. Yet the 1924 figures disclose 4059 white and 1720 colored children, a total of 5779, up to the age of 18, or 220 more than were found this year up to 21 years of age.

The loss in school enrollment will have no effect upon the aid received by the state for schools. Losses that would ordinarily accrue for this reason will be offset by increase in the equalization. funds.

One future effect may be a slight curtailment in number of teachers employed perhaps the closing of one or more one-rom schools.

Here's A Free Book Of Grand Chocolate Recipes

The other day I ran across a collection of lovely chocolate recipes all bound into a cute little book.

They ought to be in every woman's kitchen library, and though there are too many to include in this page, there are recipes for fudge cake, mocha frosting, coconut devil's food, tier cake, (like you see in expensive French pastry shops — but not hard to make if you know how)—and many others in this book.

The publishers told me I could have fifteen hundred copies to offer to "Three Meals a Day" readers. If you want a copy, just write me a postal care of this paper. Remember that over three quarters of a million homes get this page in their home newspaper and so fifteen hundred copies of the book will go out fast. So write early to make sure you get a copy. Just write to Sidney Snow, care of this paper.

Lloyd Beaten By Galiano In Armory Windup

Sharp, Roche, Win By K. O.'s. Program Packed With Action

Belting his opponent for three knockin the early rounds Pete Galiano, Baltimore slugger, outpointed Kid Lloyd of New Church, Va., Shore welterweight champion, at the Centreville Armory Friday night in a sizzling eight round bout that topped one of the best fight cards shown locally in years. Both boys took a terriffic beating but the knockdowns told the story. Lloyd, a far better boxer took four of the eight rounds.

The New Church battler, apparently several pounds lighter than his rival, opened up fast, landing repeated lefts and rights with few returns until Galiano pulled up a left uppercut that floored Lloyd for a nine-count. Lloyd came back to take the second round easily and the third by a shade.

The fourth canto was tough for Lloyd. Hard right hooks dropped him twice for nine and he went to his corner wobbly. He was back in stride to win the next two heats, cutting Galiano's mouth in the fifth and hitting him on the ropes in distress in the sixth. The Shore boy, however, lacked the punch to dent the rugged Baltimorean.

Galiano discarded science to take the closing heats. He rushed into close quarters, hooking in short rights, took what Lloyd threw and won going away.

Red Sharp of Hillsboro, now a CCC boy at Vienna, continued his winning ways by scoring an easy technical knock out over Johnny Stilson of Baltimore when the latter was unable to come for the fourth round. Stilson a rangy blond, put on a game exhibition but was badly outclassed. He was floored twice in the second and a half dozen times in the third.

Pete Lasick of Washington eked out a decision over Lou Demario in a whirlwind semi-windup that could as well have been a draw. The boys started off at a hot pace and maintained it to the finish. A rally by Lasick in the sixth when he had Demario bewildered in a corner won the nod.

Joe Roche, Ridgely Adonis, staked Harry Lombardi of Baltimore to a nineteen pound advantage and then whipped the steam out of him. Referee Ed Brockman stopped the fight in the second when Roche cut a two-inch gash over Lombardi's eye.

In the first preliminary Art Bessick of Betterton, decisioned Dave Cecil of Cordova. Cecil put up an aggressive battle but Bessick had too much experience. Two amateur bouts opened the show.

Unusual Recipe Given For Novel Apple Cake

An apple cake, is nothing unusual in itself, but when made as follows it is truly unusual, being smiple to make, delicious to eat and novel to say the least.

2 cups graham cracker crumbs
3 eggs, separated
1 1-3 cups sweetened condensed milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Grated rind of 1 lemon

Myrna Loy, William Powell, Elissa Landi and Sam Leven are grouped above in a tense scene from Dashiell Hammett's new mystery story, "After the Thin Man", which will be shown at the Centreville Opera House on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. It is said no one in the audience will guess the solution in advance.

Picked Eggs Popular With Beer, Oysters

In a great many homes in the west and in a few in the east, pickled eggs have been adopted as the popular accompaniment for a glass of beer with or without a platter of raw oysters. A woman whose husband is inclined to entertain quite a bit and serve beer, finds that pickled eggs are ideal as she can prepare many in advance and keep them on hand, and as this fine accompaniment also tastes good, its merits are doubled.

PICKLED EGGS

16 eggs, hard boiled
1 quart vinegar
1 level teapsoon black pepper
1 level teaspoon allspice
1 level tespoon ginger

The shells of the hard boiled eggs can be either removed or slightly cracked. Arrange the eggs compactly in a wide-necked jar. Boil the pepper, spices, and vinegar until some of their flavor is gone and pour, while boiling hot, over the eggs. When cold, cover closely and store in a cool, dry place.

Novel Breakfast Dish Acceptable With Men

The housewife who entertains at Sunday morning breakfasts, often finds herself in a quandry. Breakfast dishes, though numerous, are seldom novel and novelty is always flattering to the hostess. For parties of this type where men are being entertained, dishes of a heavier sort are always acceptable as is this one for:

SAUSAGE SCOOPS

3 large pork sausages
2 slices of bacon
6 or 8 mushrooms, coarsely chopped
3 tablespoons tomato sauce
½ teaspoon finely chopped parsley
milk
1 egg
Bread crumbs

Fry the bacon until rather crisp; prick the sausages, and fry them in the bacon fat. When cool, cut both into small dice first removing the skins of the sausages. Put sausages, bacon, mushrooms, parsley and sauce into a pan and reheat, seasoning to taste. Make bread scoops by cutting 1 inch slices from a loaf of stale bread. Cut out six rounds and scoop out the centers, forming a hollow to hold the sausage mixture. Dip the rounds in milk, then in egg and breadcrumbs and fry in hot fat until nicely browned. Have the sausage mixture ready, fill the scoops, garnish with friend parsley and serve.

The center of the rounds can be made into breadcrumbs for future use.

SPANISH POTATOES

2 cups diced cooked potatoes
2 tablespoons chopped pimento
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 ½ cups milk

Melt the butter, add the flour, salt and paprika and then add the milk. Cook, stirring frequently,, until creamy. Add all the rest of the ingredients. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for about 20 minutes.
