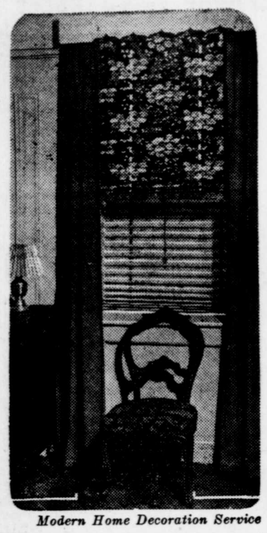
Accordion Shades Of Flowered Chintz



Modern Home Decoration Service

A new step in the current vogue for decorative window treatment is an accordian plated shade of flowered chintz backed on the street side with plain Tontine, a fabric that is impregnated with pyroxlin wihch makes it washable. The chintz side gives the room an added touch of color and design while the coated fabric on the other side presents a neutral tone at the exterior of the house and resists rain spatters and street dust. When soiled, this washable cloth can be cleaned with soap and water without soaking th chintz. The two materials are sewed together at the edges and interlaced with vertical tapes of harmonizing color. In the picture above, the lower shade is made entirely of the washable fabric, showing how the chintz shade looks from the street.
