Former U. S. Senator O. E. Weller who was defeated for National Committeeman by William P. Jackson, the present member was conspicuous by his absence, but his representative, Galen L. Tait, U. S. Internal Revenue Collector at Baltimore was present and was elected one of the delegates-at-large to the National Convention.

Hoover's name was presented by Oliver W. Metzerott, of Prince George's county, and all delegates were instructed to vote for his nomination. Former Governor Goldsborough was endorsed unanimously as a candidate for U. S. Senator.

In accepting the nomination, Mr. Goldsborough said:

"I enter the fight, strong in the belief that with your whole-hearted and undivided support, aided, as I trust I shall be, by independent voters, victory will be achieved."

There was more applause accorded Mr. Goldsborough, former Governor of the State, than any other person who appeared on the stage or whose name was mentioned from it. When he first entered the auditorium and again when he appeared on the stage, everyone arose and shouted while a band played "Maryland, My Maryland."

CLUB WOMEN IN WASHINGTON

The Woman's Club of Westminster, sponsored a trip to Washington on Friday, May 25, the party consisting of twenty-three women, members of the club and some of their friends. The other part is available for club women who visit Washington and wish a congenial place to stay. The building formerly used as a stable on these premises has been renovated and is now used as a lunch room, the former stalls forming semi-private lunchrooms, and decorated with pine boughs in the hay racks.
