QUEENSTOWN

Invitations are out by Mrs. Charles E. Bishop for the marriage of her daughter, Roberta Muriel, to Mr. John Lawrence Livingston on Saturday, December 11, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at Grace Methodist Protestant Church, Centreville.

The little flurry of snow this afternoon was very welcome to Miss Roberta Muriel, as she has seen nothing but showers after showers since saying "YES" (seems to have taken me a long time to wrtie it.) Monday evening, the cousins of the clan and their name is legion, gave Miss Roberta Muriel a personal shower. Here's hoping someone thought of an umbrella.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Clyde Embert were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lovelace on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Urban Golt motored to Allentown, Pa., on Monday for a few days' visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shortall and family.

Hostess to the contract club this week was Mrs. John T. Bishop at her home which has just been enlarged by the addition of a thoroughly up-to-date kitchen and a side porch. The top score was won by the invincible, Miss Daisy McConnor, while Mrs. W. I. Tuttle was totaled up for low score. Mrs. J. Griffin Embert and Mrs. H. C. Reynolds were going it neck to neck, but Mrs. Embert won out by a length of a nose at the home plate. Guest players were Mrs. Embert, Mrs. C. P. Carter and Mrs. Mary C. Onley.

The local Farm Bureau meeting which was to have been held on December 10, at the school house has been changed to January 21, 1938, tentatively. Further notice will appear.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Onley entertained at dinner on Wednesday evening, Miss Pearle Bishop and the Misses Dorothy and Mary Bishop Keith.

If the shade of William Claiborne was hovering over the Island on Wednesday and Thursday nights, he surely would have been proud of his indomitable spirit living again in the hearts and successful doings of the Woman's Club of Stevensville. Their bazaar was a big success. The Lions Club in strong force were in attendance and did full justice to the supper part as well as the bazaar proper. Quite a few ladies, lionesses or not, were in evidence with Mrs. C. P. Carter, Mrs. John T. Bishop and Mrs. H. C. Reynolds acting as judges of the booths. These booths represented the twelve months of the year and were surely done well, in fact so well that the deciding as to first, second and third was a mighty difficult proposition.

Never were so many horses seen at a race track as are depicted upon the blouse of an amanuonsis of Lawyers' Row. Selah.

Woodlands Often Help With Farm Expenses

Many farmers are reporting to the United States Forest Service that growing fuel and lumber and pulpwood or other forest products cuts down the running expenses on a farm. Good cash returns also are obtained when some of the forest products are sold off the farm.

One farmer says: "Farm your woods as you do a crop of corn. Take out the weed trees and the unhealthy and crippled ones and give the best trees a chance to develop. Cut the good trees only when they are ripe."

Still another farmer says: "My woods are my bank. I keep going to it and getting money, and each time the money keeps right on coming back."

A fourth farmer says: "Cross ties are legal tender around here. We bring in our ties and take home flour, sugar, coffee, tobacco, calico, and overalls."

Another farmer says: "Money from the sale of timber has helped to pay for the farm, taken care of taxes, and assisted in giving the children a good education. In addition, our farm woods has furnished lumber, posts, and fuel for the farm."

And another reports: "Timber farming is different now from the old days when woods work was just chopping down trees and cutting them up just as you came to them, one after the other. Now you take care of trees as a paying farm crop."
