Milk Directors Shape Plans For Uniform Prices

Interstate Leaders Meet At Courthouse. Production Up, Price Down

Maryland and Delaware directors of the Interstate Milk Producers Cooperative associations met with officials of the Cooperative at the Courthouse in Centreville Friday afternoon to discuss general market conditions and the proposed state of Pennsylvania and Federal hearings to be held soon.

Present at the conference were A. H. Lauterbach of Philadelphia, general manager of the Interstate; Ralph Zollers of Philadelphia, secretary of the Interstate; Clayton Reynolds of Denton, assistant supervisor of the field; J. William Keith, director for Queen Anne's; and directors John Sutton, Kennedyville; Wilbourn Wheatley, Hurlock; J. D. Reynolds, Middletown, Del.; Ralph Bower, Chesapeake City; Edward H. Donovan, Smyrna, Del.; and A. R. Marvel, Easton.

The meeting is in keeping with the Interstate efforts to establish uniform prices for milk in the Philadelphia milkshed. In recent years Philadelphia dealers buying milk in Maryland and Delaware have not paid as high prices in these states as they have for milk bought in Pennsylvania.

Meetings were held recently with Control Boards in Pennsylvania and New Jersey in an effort to establish uniform prices and the Federal hearing to come soon is expected to pass a ruling on the problem. The full board of directors of the Interstate is to meet in Philadelphia on March 16 to further consolidate plans for securing uniformity of price regardless of the state from which milk is shipped.

Regarding the milk situation in the Interstate territory Mr. Lauterbach said that production is from five to ten percent above last year's figure, due primarily to the good weather prevailing during the winter and the plentiful supply of feed available. Sales in the northeast section of the United States have been down three percent from last year's figures, with the business recession and decreased amount of money available to the buying public as contributing factors to the drop.

Wildcats, Aces Ride Rough Over Rivals

however, said that the Tigers died from two-bids and that they needed a swig of something to make them reckless on the firing line.

The Pointers ran into the bitterest evening they have ever spent. All set for a feast of Wildcat meat they saw game after game slip away until the Cats had a commanding 5-0 lead. The Pointers had tried a litle strategy in rearranging their seating, beswitching buxom Charlie Cannon and Joe Handley. Charlie's seat got so hot he insisted on switching back and Joe found the spot uncomfortable.

Joe Handley called for a new deck to try to shift the luck and John Moffett will have to order two pair of pants with every suit to make up for his squirming.

Fundamentally the Pointers were outlucked in the early play but they battled through the final eight games on even terms. Leonard Binebrink and Paul Brown were the particular battlewagons for the Cats, pouring heavy bids constantly under their rivals.

But next Monday will be another night and it should be the turn of the Tigers and Pointers to kiss Lady Luck.

Queen Anne's To Test Federal Tenant Aid

TENANTS—Head To Come .... .. .. for the program, nor are owners of farms.

All tenants applying will be given a thorough examination as to their merits for being chosen and the county committee will eventually recommend the tenants to be aided.

The program contemplates an outright purchase of farms for tenants with the government putting up the money and the tenant repaying as outlined above. Down payments ranging from twenty per cent of the cost to nothing may be required as the committee finds it feasible in individual cases. Farms bought for tenants will not necessarily be ones upon which they are living or which they may desire but will be those approved for purchase by the committee, the aim being to secure farms of a type on which the tenant may become self supporting and successful.
