

Senator Bruce Wins Widespread Praise

Senator William Cabell Bruce, Democratic candidate for re-election to the United States Senate, has been accorded more recognition for his knowledge, ability and courage than any other Maryland Senator for many years. Here are some of the expressions by fellow-Senators, others in public life and leading newspapers.

By His Colleagues of All Parties

Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri (Democrat).

"Senator Bruce, of Maryland * * * made * * * the ablest presentation of the anti-prohibition case, submitted by any public man, since the ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment." (New York Times, April 6, 1926.)

Senator Wm. H. King, of Utah (Democrat).

"The eminent Senator from Maryland, a lawyer of ability, and a historian of recognized standing, has reached the eminent station occupied by him * * * by energy and genius and courage and ambition." (Congressional Record, February 3, 1928, p. 2507.)

Senator Wm. E. Borah, of Idaho (Progressive Republican).

"Senator Bruce is one of the ablest men in the United States Senate. He is a man of intellect, of great culture, and of magnificent courage." (Debate with President Butler, of Columbia University, p. 33.)

"A few days ago the able Senator Bruce from Maryland addressed the Senate upon the question now pending (World Court). I think we will all agree that this scholarly address is one of those in this debate which will likely be referred to in future times." (Congressional Record, January 22, 1926, p. 2555.)

Senator Henrik Shipstead, of Minnesota (Farmer-Laborite).

"The Senator from Maryland (Mr. Bruce), who is a man of very notable character, has a very charming personality, and is recognized as having one of the keenest and ablest minds in the Senate at the present time." (Congressional Record, February 11, 1927, p. 3499.)

By Others of Prominence

Hon. James M. Beck (former Solicitor General, United States, now member of the House of Representatives).

"I have known the senior Senator (Mr. Bruce) for years and know him to be a man of equal courage and integrity. When he, with his profound knowledge of American history and Constitutional law, reached a different interpretation of the Constitution than that which I have suggested, it makes me wonder whether my interpretation * * * may not be erroneous." (Address before the Eastern Shore Society of Maryland, March 9, 1928.)

Hon. John Sharp Williams, ex-Senator from Mississippi.

"I thing he (Governor Ritchie) and Senator Bruce represent an element in present-day American politics that is worthy of all praise. Unlike the average politician, they are not lacking in political courage and that means a lot in this day and generation." (In an interview with Mr. L. C. Speers of the New York Times.)

By Leading Newspapers

Baltimore Sun (Independent).

"Mr. Bruce has the distinction of rising to the height of comprehension and leadership on a subject of immense national importance (Taxation). * * * Mr. Bruce's patriotic vision and understanding promise to lead it (the Democratic Party) once more into the promised land of success. We have a right to be proud that a Maryland Senator is putting Maryland to the front in a situation so vital to the country and to the Democratic Party." (Editorial.)

New York Times (Independent Democrat).

"By such frank and explicit utterances Mr. Bruce confirms the good opinion of those who maintained * * * that his election would be an honor to the State of Maryland and a strong reinforcement for the United States Senate." (Editorial.)

New York Herald-Tribune (Independent Republican).

"It is no news to Maryland voters that they have in Senator Bruce a representative of high capacity and courage."

New York Evening Post (Republican).

"Senator Bruce is evidently a man who knows what he thinks and is not afraid to let the country know." (Editorial.)

New York Commercial.

"The country needs more men in the Senate like Senator Bruce." (Editorial.)

Chicago Journal of Commerce.

"Mr. Bruce is an honor to the Senate and an honor to Maryland." (Editorial.)

Philadelphia Public Evening Ledger (Independent.)

"Senator Bruce of Maryland * * * has, by the courageous exercise of a little political common sense, lifted himself into a position of intellectual leadership, which makes him a force to be reckoned with."

Philadelphia Inquirer (Republican).

"It is the voice of a Democrat of the old school. These words might well have been uttered by sturdy Grover Cleveland himself."

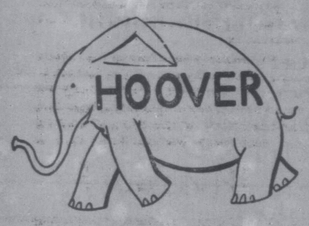

Frederick William Wile, Washington Evening Star (Independent).

"Senator William Cabell Bruce, Democrat of Maryland, is a master of the English language, as becomes the man now generally regarded as the scholar of Congress."

Greenville, S. C., Democrat-Sun.

"The Senator from Maryland is like one of those giants of pre-Civil War days, who thought of their country, first and last and all the time." (Editorial.)

The election will be merely in the nature of a ratification.—Lynn [illegible] Item.
