Red Sox Defeat Cambridge 12-1 In Easy Victory

Steffens Holds Cards To Five Hits. Johnson's Throw Turns Tide

RED SOX, 12; CAMBRIDGE, 1

The Red Sox combined heavy hitting with tight pitching to romp away with Cambridge 12-1 at Queen Anne's Park Saturday night. Steffens, Sox moundsman, allowed only five hits, no two an inning, and was never in serious danger. His five walks made the crowd a bit anxious in the early stages.

Cambridge got two runners on in the first by virtue of a single and walk but Steffens bore down, fanned one batter and got the next on a pop up to first.

The Sox started after Renkwitz, a one-time jinx. Freeman walked, took third on Williams' single and scored when Bell grounded out to second. Walsh singled Williams home and scored himself when General Grant lofted the ball over the right field fence, completing a four inning rally.

A walk and sacrifice fly scored the Cards' lone run in the third.

After Grant's homer Renkwitz set down ten men in order . Then the storm broke. Freeman singled to open the fifth. Williams pushed him on with a sacrifice. He took third on Bell's single and scored when Walsh shot a basehit to right. As Bell slid into third on the play the ball hit him and caromed off, Bell scoring and Walsh taking third. Clark sent Walsh home with a single over first. Johnson also singled but he and Clark were left on the bags.

The Sox eighth run came in the sixth on Freeman's single, a passed ball, Williams' grounder and Bell's basehit.

Ewing took over for the Cards in the seventh. Walsh whaled a double to left. Grant belted a single to second, admitting Walsh and taking second on the throw-in. After Clark flied out Johnson shot a single to left, Grant scoring and Johnson getting to second on the throw. King's single sent Johnson in but Steffens ended the rally by grounding into a twin-killing.

A double play cut off a rally in the eighth. Freeman and Williams walked but Williams was doubled on Bell's grounder. Walsh then belted a triple for his fourth hit of the game and sent Freeman home with the twelfth run.

The Sox helped themselves to sixteen hits, Walsh getting four, Freeman, Bell, Grant, Johnson and King two each and Williams and Cap Clark one apiece.

The Red Sox beat Cambridge 1-0 in the first game of a double header at Cambridge Friday night and missed taking the second game when an error helped Cambridge tie the score in the ninth inning. Neat twirling by Harold Brosnan and Frank Mussel made up for the Sox weakness with the willow.

The curtain raiser was a seven-inning affair, Brosnan and McLaughlin tangling in a close duel. Brosnan allowed five hits and fanned six while McLaughlin permitted four blows and fanned nine . However,, Brosnan scattered the hits he gave.

Centreville eased the winning run across in the first half of the second. Red Walsh belted a single to left to open the frame.. General Grant sacrificed, putting Walsh on second. He took third as Johnson grounded out. Ding Dong Bell prove the man of the hour by inserting a timely single sending Walsh home with the run that grew bigger every minute.

Grant and McDuffie pried Centreville's other two hits.

RED SOX, 6; MILFORD, 3

Rain that lasted up until game time cut down the expected crowd at Fans' Night, at Queen Anne's Park Monday night but the Sox played the game nevertheless and whipped Milford, 6-3 in a closer contest than the score indicates.

Harold Brosnan won his game for the Sox but his wildness and eight hits kept him in hot water. He coolly pitched himself out of repeated jams, however.

Gruber laced a triple for Milford to open the game. Brosnan then walked three batters in succession, forcing a run. He fanned Orban, a second run came in on a fielder's choice that failed. With the bags loaded Red Walsh nailed a grounder, pitched to McDuffie, who completed a double play at first.

The Sox went down in order for two innings. Then Johnson slammed a hard hit ball to third and reached second when the baseman tossed wild. McDuffie slapped the first ball down the third base alley for a double, admitting Johnson. Brosnan sacrificed and McDuffie scored on Freeman's slow bounder to second.

Milford pulled in front in the fifth. Syring walked, two men fanned. A double and a walk filled the sacks and Jaeger shot a single to center. Syring scored but Johnson made a spectacular throw from center nipping a runner at the plate to end the inning. Johnson's throw was the turning point of the game.

The Sox started in on Syring. King got a texas league double to right. Johnson walked, was forced by McDuffie. After missing a bunt on an attempted squeeze Brosnan lined a hit to left scoring King and McDuffie with the tallies which put the Sox ahead to stay. Williams tripled Brosnan home and Bell's single sent Williams across. Red Walsh belted a mighty fly which was picked off left field fence to end the rally and the Sox scoring.

Milford threatened in the sixth when a double and single put two on. Two infield balls and a strikeout took the steam from their attack.

Grant and McDuffie got basehits the same inning but were stranded. Walsh opened the eighth with a sharp single to center. Grant walked. Walsh was picked off second when a sacrifice missed fire. King walked and was doubled on Johnson's grounder.

Milford threatened again in the ninth when Gunning opened with a double. Pinch hitter Tansey fanned. The next batter walked but Brosnan inserted his ninth strikeout at this point and got the final out on a soft liner to Freeman.

The latter pulled a gem of a fielding play when he leaped to stop Steinman's liner in the fourth and wiggled around to catch the ball before it hit the dirt.

Score by innings:

Red Sox	0 0 2 0 4 0 0 0 x	6	9	0
Milford	2 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0	3	8	1

Batteries — Centreville: Brosnan and McDuffie; Milford: Syring, Kallenberg and Gunning.

DOVER, 4; RED SOX, 2

The Red Sox bowed for the tenth time this season when they were defeated 4-2 at Dover Sunday afternoon. Harold White, Sox moundsman, lost by the same score as he ran up against with Dover Thursday night with the third inning jinx.

Dover scored all their runs in the third. Singles by Ramsey and Gaulin started the trouble, Ramsey scored on a wild pitch after which a walk and fielder's choice filled the bags. Monchak tripled to score three more runs and salt the game.

The Sox scored twice in the fifth. Red Walsh nicked his twenty-third homer. A single by Grant, Clark's out plus King's sacrifice put Grant across. A hit by King later completed the Sox batting.

DOVER, 4; RED SOX, 2

Ladies' Night luck finally fell down for the Red Sox when they were defeated by Dover 4-2 in a game abbreviated by rain Thursday night at Queen Anne's Park. The largest crowd of the season turned out with ladies predominating and saw a tight tilt which ended abruptly in the last of the eighth when a heavy thunderstorm broke.

Harold White, Sox moundsman, was victim of bunched hits in the third. He fanned eleven, yielded eight hits but could not get over the big inning.

Dover threatened in the first, a single and error putting men on second and third with one out. White fanned the next two batters to get out of the hole. In the second Schluter's walk and steal followed by Phillips' single and trip to second on the throw in, put men on second and third with none out. White again rose to the occasion and fanned the side.

The Sox broke through in their half of the second, Johnson singling and scoring on Cap Clark's double.

Dover's third opened tamely enough when two batters popped up. Then Howell belted a mighty triple, which was followed in order by a single, walk, single and error to let three runs in.

The Sox got one run back in the fourth when Grant doubled, took third on a wild pitch and after Duncan walked romped in on a bad throw to catch Duncan stealing.

Vergnani's triple and a fielder's choice brought Dover's final tally.

Centreville missed a couple of chances to score through inability to hit the visiting hurler. Grant's double and triple led the Sox attack.

Score by innings:

Dover	0 0 3 0 0 0 1	4	8	2
Red Sox	0 1 0 1 0 0 0	2	5	2

Batteries. Dover — Desmond and Howell. Centreville—White and Clark.
